

Curtail political power.

*PR is nothing more than a totalitarian state under a “two party” socialist system. It is very similar to china except we have a “change of control” every four years. Government activity should be greatly reduced and its participation in the economy should be limited to at best 15% of GDP. This should foster free enterprise and increase direct investment flows.