

Hello,

My name is Rosario Ojeda. Here, I'll send you my ideas to deal with the economic crisis in Puerto Rico.

1. Give us our place as American citizens and treat us with respect as so.
2. Eliminate the elections for this year, and substitute them with a general plebiscite and that every ideology has the chance to be exposed in a clear way, and that it can be understandable for the people.
3. That the federal funds are investigated in a meticulous way and that the use of this is real and that is used for what it is designed for.
4. That most of the obsolete offices in the government are eliminated, and that at the time, they get done by website.
5. That the salaries of the senators, governors, positions of trust get reduced.
6. That the amount of legislators, senators, mayors, and the privileges to those that have it today, gets reduced as well (for example, escorts, credit cards, free food, livings, bills, etc).
7. If in the plebiscite, most of the people choose statehood, their decision should be respected.
8. Instead of lower the minimum federal salary, eliminate the unnecessary millionaire contracts, that have already been handed, and you understand that wasn't done in a right or honest way.
9. That, Besides paying the debt, priority should be given to health, education, retirement, veterans, elderly, children, etc.
10. Supervise, at all time, all those governors, and their components, about the management that they give to all the funds that belong to the people of Puerto Rico.
11. And last, but not least, to investigate from the point where the country's economy irregularities started to spread, and that you make all those who got wealthy with bleary and fraud managements pay, and that they return, whether it is by confiscating their goods and properties and bank accounts. And to send them to prison, if necessary.

Thanks for your attention. These are my ideas, I hope you take them in consideration.
