TITLE I—PROVISIONS RELATING TO SAVINGS IN HEALTH AND INCOME SECURITY PROGRAMS

Subtitle A—Medicare

PART I—CHANGES IN PAYMENTS FOR SERVICES

Subpart A—Amount of Payment for Institutional Services

PAYMENT FOR INPATIENT HOSPITAL SERVICES

SEC. 101. (a)(1) Title XVIII of the Social Security Act is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new section:

"PAYMENT TO HOSPITALS FOR INPATIENT HOSPITAL SERVICES

"SEC. 1886. (a)(1)(A)(i) The Secretary, in determining the amount of the payments that may be made under this title with respect to operating costs of inpatient hospital services (as defined in paragraph (4)) shall not recognize as reasonable (in the efficient delivery of health services) costs for the provision of such services by a hospital for a cost reporting period to the extent such costs exceed the applicable percentage (as determined under clause (ii)) of the average of such costs for all hospitals in the same grouping as such hospital for comparable time periods.

"(ii) For purposes of clause (i), the applicable percentage for hospital cost reporting periods beginning—

"(I) on or after October 1, 1982, and before October 1, 1983, is 120 percent;

"(II) on or after October 1, 1983, and before October 1, 1984, is 115 percent; and

"(III) on or after October 1, 1984, is 110 percent.

"(B)(i) For purposes of subparagraph (A) the Secretary shall establish case mix indexes for all short-term hospitals, and shall set limits for each hospital based upon the general mix of types of medical cases with respect to which such hospital provides services for which payment may be made under this title.

"(ii) The Secretary shall set such limits for a cost reporting period of a hospital—

"(I) by updating available data for a previous period to the immediate preceding cost reporting period by the estimated average rate of change of hospital costs industry-wide, and

"(II) by projecting for the cost reporting period by the applicable percentage increase (as defined in subsection (b)(3)(B)).

"(C) The limitation established under subparagraph (A) for any hospital shall in no event be lower than the allowable operating costs of inpatient hospital services (as defined in paragraph (4)) recognized under this title for such hospital for such hospital's last cost reporting period prior to the hospital's first cost reporting period for which this section is in effect.

"(2) The Secretary shall provide for such exemptions from, and exceptions and adjustments to, the limitation established under paragraph (1)(A) as he deems appropriate, including those which he deems necessary to take into account—

"(A) the special needs of sole community hospitals, of new hospitals, of risk based health maintenance organizations, and of hospitals which provide atypical services or essential community services, and to take into account extraordinary circumstances beyond the hospital's control, medical and paramedical education costs, significantly fluctuating population in the service area of the hospital, and unusual labor costs,

"(B) the special needs of psychiatric hospitals and of public or other hospitals that serve a significantly disportionate number of patients who have low income or are entitled to benefits under part A of this title, and

"(C) a decrease in the inpatient hospital services that a hospital provides and that are customarily provided directly by similar hospitals which results in a significant distortion in the operating costs of inpatient hospital services.

"(3) The limitation established under paragraph (1)(A) shall not apply with respect to any hospital which—

"(A) is located outside of a standard metropolitan statistical area, and

"(B)(i) has less than 50 beds, and

"(ii) was in operation and had less than 50 beds on the date of the enactment of this section.

"(4) For purposes of this section, the term 'operating costs of inpatient hospital services' includes all routine operating costs, ancillary service operating costs, and special care unit operating costs with respect to inpatient hospital services and such costs are determined on an average per admission or per discharge basis (as determined by the Secretary).

"(b)(1) Notwithstanding sections 1814(b) but subject to the provisions of sections 1813, if the operating costs of inpatient hospital services (as defined in subsection (a)(4)) of a hospital for a cost reporting period subject to this paragraph—

"(A) are less than or equal to the target amount (as defined in paragraph (3)) for that hospital for that period, the amount of the payment with respect to such operating costs payable under part A on a per discharge or per admission basis (as the case may be) shall be equal to the amount of such operating costs, plus—

"(i) 50 percent of the amount by which the target amount exceeds the amount of the operating costs, or

"(ii) 5 percent of the target amount, whichever is less; or

"(B) are greater than the target amount, the amount of the payment with respect to such operating costs payable under part A on a per discharge or per admission basis (as the case may be) shall be equal to (i) the target amount, plus (ii) in the case of cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982, and before October 1, 1984, 25 percent of the amount by which the amount of the operating costs exceeds the target amount;

except that in no case may the amount payable under this title with respect to operating costs of inpatient hospital services exceed the maximum amount payable with respect to such costs pursuant to subsection (a).

"(2) Paragraph (1) shall not apply to cost reporting periods of hospitals beginning on or after October 1, 1985.

"(3)(A) For purposes of this subsection, the term 'target amount' means, with respect to a hospital for a particular 12-month cost reporting period—

"(i) in the case of the first such reporting period for which this subsection is in effect, the allowable operating costs of inpatient hospital services (as defined in subsection (a)(4)) recognized under this title for such hospital for the preceding 12-month cost reporting period, and

"(ii) in the case a later reporting period, the target amount for the preceding 12-month cost reporting period, increased by the applicable percentage increase under subparagraph (B) for that particular cost reporting period.

"(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the 'applicable percentage increase' for any 12-month cost reporting period shall be equal to 1 percentage point plus the percentage, estimated by the Secretary, by which the cost of the mix of goods and services (including personnel costs but excluding non-operating costs) comprising routine, ancillary, and special care unit inpatient hospital services, based on an index of appropriately weighted indicators of changes in wages and prices which are representative of the mix of goods and services included in such inpatient hospital services, for such cost reporting period exceeds the cost of such mix of goods and services for the preceding 12-month cost reporting period.

"(4)(A) The Secretary shall provide for an exemption from, or an exception and adjustment to, the method under this subsection for determining the amount of payment to a hospital where events beyond the hospital's control or extraordinary circumstances, including changes in the case mix of such hospital, create a distortion in the increase in costs for a cost reporting period (including any distortion in the costs for the base period against which such increase is measured). The Secretary may provide for such other exemptions from, and exceptions and adjustments to, such method as the Secretary deems appropriate, including those which he deems necessary to take into account a decrease in the inpatient hospital services that a hospital provides and that are customarily provided directly by similar hospitals which results in a significant distortion in the operating costs of inpatient hospital services.

"(B) Paragraph (1) shall not apply to payment of hospitals which is otherwise determined under paragraph (3) of section 1814(b).

"(5) In the case of any hospital having any cost reporting period of other than a 12-month period, the Secretary shall determine the 12-month period which shall be used for purposes of this section.

"(6)(A) The Secretary shall provide for an adjustment under this paragraph in the amount of payment otherwise provided a hospital under this subsection in the case of a hospital which, as of August 15, 1982, was subject to the taxes (hereinafter in this paragraph referred to as the 'FICA taxes') imposed by section 3111 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and which is not subject to such taxes for part or all of a cost reporting period beginning on or after October 1, 1982.

"(B) In making such adjustment for a cost reporting period the Secretary shall estimate the amount of the operating costs of inpatient hospital services that would have resulted if the hospital was subject to the FICA taxes during that period. In making such estimate the Secretary shall reduce the amount of such FICA taxes that would have been paid (but not below zero) by the amount of costs which the hospital demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary were incurred in the period for pensions, health, and other fringe benefits for employees (and former employees and family members) comparable to, and in lieu of, the benefits provided under title II and this title of the Social Security Act.

"(C) If a hospital's operating costs of inpatient hospital services estimated under subparagraph (B) is greater than the hospital's operating costs of inpatient hospital services determined without regard to this paragraph for a cost reporting period, then the Secretary shall reduce the amount otherwise paid the hospital (respecting operating costs of inpatient hospital services) under this subsection for the period by the amount by which—

"(i) the amount that would have been paid the hospital if (I) the amount of the operating costs of inpatient hospital services estimated under subparagraph (B) were the treated as the amount of the operating costs of inpatient hospital services and (II) subsection (a) did not apply to the determination,

"(ii) the amount that would otherwise have been paid the hospital if subsection (a) (and this paragraph) did not apply;

except that, in making such determination for cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1984, clause (ii) of paragraph (1)(B) shall continue to apply.

"(c)(1) The Secretary may provide, in his discretion, that payment with respect to services provided by a hospital in a State may be made in accordance with a hospital reimbursement control system in a State, rather than in accordance with the other provisions of this title, if the chief executive officer of the State requests such treatment and if—

"(A) the Secretary determines that the system, if approved under this subsection, will apply (i) to substantially all nonfederal acute care hospitals (as defined by the Secretary) in the State and (ii) to the review of at least 75 percent of all revenues or expenses in the State for inpatient hospital services and of revenues or expenses for inpatient hospital services provided under the State's plan approved under title XIX;

"(B) the Secretary has been provided satisfactory assurances as to the equitable treatment under the system of all entities (including Federal and State programs) that pay hospitals for inpatient hospital services, of hospital employees, and of hospital patients; and

"(C) the Secretary has been provided satisfactory assurances that under the system, over 36-month periods (the first such period beginning with the first month in which this subsection applies to that system in the State), the amount of payments made under this title under such system will not exceed the amount of payments which would otherwise have been made under this title not using such system.

"(2) In determining under paragraph (1)(C) the amount of payment which would otherwise have been made under this title for a State, the Secretary may provide for appropriate adjustment of such amount to take into account previous reductions effected in the amount of payments made under this title in the State due to the operation of the hospital reimbursement control system in the State if the system has resulted in an aggregate rate of increase in operating costs of inpatient hospital services (as defined in subsection (a)(4)) under this title for hospitals in the State which is less than the aggregate rate of increase in such costs under this title for hospitals in the United States.

"(3) The Secretary shall discontinue payments under a system described in paragraph (1) if the Secretary—

"(A) determines that the system no longer meets the requirement of paragraph (1)(A) or

"(B) has reason to believe that the assurances described in subparagraph (B) or (C) of paragraph (1) are not being (or will not be) met.".

(2) Section 1861(v)(1)(L) of such Act is amended by striking out "(i)" and all that follows through "(ii)".

(b)(1) The amendments made by subsection (a) shall apply to cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982.

(2)(A) The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall first issue such final regulations (whether on an interim or other basis) before October 1, 1982, as may be necessary to implement such amendments on a timely basis. If such regulations are promulgated on an interim final basis, the Secretary shall take such steps as may be necessary to provide opportunity for public comment, and appropriate revision based thereon, so as to provide that such regulations are not on an interim basis later than March 31, 1983.

(B) Chapter 35 of title 5, United States Code, shall not apply, until January 1, 1984, to collection of information and information collection requests which the Secretary of Health and Human Services determines to be necessary to carry out the amendments made by this section.

(3) Section 1135 of the Social Security Act is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(c) The Secretary shall develop, in consultation with the Senate Committee on Finance and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, proposals for legislation which would provide that hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, and, to the extent feasible, other providers, would be reimbursed under title XVIII of this Act on a prospective basis. The Secretary shall report such proposals to such committees not later than December 31, 1982.".

(A) by striking out "section 1813" in the matter before paragraph (1) and inserting in lieu thereof "sections 1813 and 1886"; and

(B) by striking out "until the Secretary determines" in the second sentence and inserting in lieu thereof "until the first day of the seventh month beginning after the date the Secretary determines and notifies the Governor of the State".

(2) Section 1833(a)(2)(B) of such Act is amended by inserting "and except as may be provided in section 1886" after "except those described in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph"

(d) Section 1861(v)(7) of such Act is amended by inserting "(A)" after "(7)" and by adding at the end thereof the following new subparagraph:

Such change will take effect with respect to services furnished, or cost reporting periods of providers, on or after such date as the Secretary shall provide in the certification. Such change for a class of provider shall be discontinued if the Secretary determines and notifies Congress that such change has resulted in an increase in the amount of payments made under this title for services provided by that class of provider.

"(I) are required due to exceptional medical circumstances,

"(C) The annual per capita rate of payment for each such class shall be equal to 95 percent of the adjusted average per capita cost (as defined in paragraph (4)) for that class.

"(D) In the case of a eligible organization with a risk-sharing contract, the Secretary shall make monthly payments in advance and in accordance with the rate determined under subparagraph (C) and except as provided in subsection (g)(2), to the organization for each individual enrolled with the organizaton under this section.

"(E) The amount of payment under this paragraph may be retroactively adjusted to take into account any difference between the actual number of individuals enrolled in the plan under this section and the number of such individuals estimated to be so enrolled in determining the amount of the advance payment.

"(2) With respect to any eligible organization which has entered into a reasonable cost reimbursement contract, payments shall be made to such plan in accordance with subsection (h)(2) rather than paragraph (1).

"(3) Payments under a contract to an eligible organization under paragraph (1) or (2) shall be instead of the amounts which (in the absence of the contract) would be otherwise payable, pursuant to sections 1814(b) and 1833(a), for services furnished by or through the organization to individuals enrolled with the organization under this section.

"(4) For purposes of this section, the term 'adjusted average per capita cost' means the average per capita amount that the Secretary estimates in advance (on the basis of actual experience, or retrospective actuarial equivalent based upon an adequate sample and other information and data, in a geographic area served by an eligible organization or in a similar area, with appropriate adjustments to assure actuarial equivalence) would be payable in any contract year for services covered under parts A and B, or part B only, and types of expenses otherwise reimbursable under parts A and B, or part B only (including administrative costs incurred by organizations described in sections 1816 and 1842), if the services were to be furnished by other than an eligible organization or, in the case of services covered only under section 1861(s)(2)(H), if the services were to be furnished by a physician or as an incident to a physician's service.

"(5) The payment to an eligible organization under this section for individuals enrolled under this section with the organization and entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled under part B shall be made from the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund and the Federal Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund. The portion of that payment to the organization for a month to be paid by the latter trust fund shall be equal to 200 percent of the sum of—

"(A) the product of (i) the number of such individuals for the month who have attained age 65, and (ii) the monthly actuarial rate for supplementary medical insurance for the month as determined under section 1839(c)(1), and

"(B) the product of (i) the number of such individuals for the month who have not attained age 65, and (ii) the monthly actuarial rate for supplementary medical insurance for the month as determined under section 1839(c)(4).

The remainder of that payment shall be paid by the former trust fund.

"(6) If an individual is enrolled under this section with an eligible organization having a risk-sharing contract, only the eligible organization shall be entitled to receive payments from the Secretary under this title for services furnished to the individual.

"(b) For purposes of this section, the term 'eligible organization' means a public or private entity (which may be a health maintenance organization or a competitive medical plan), organized under the laws of any State, which—

"(1) is a qualified health maintenance organization (as defined in section 1310(d) of the Public Health Service Act), or

"(2) meets the following requirements:

"(A) The entity provides to enrolled members at least the following health care services:

"(i) Physicians' services performed by physicians (as defined in section 1861(r)(1)).

"(ii) Inpatient hospital services.

"(iii) Laboratory, X-ray, emergency, and preventive services.

"(iv) Out-of-area coverage.

"(B) The entity is compensated (except for deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments) for the provision of health care services to enrolled members by a payment which is paid on a periodic basis without regard to the date the health care services are provided and which is fixed without regard to the frequency, extent, or kind of health care service actually provided to a member.

"(C) The entity provides physicians' services primarily (i) directly through physicians who are either employees or partners of such organization, or (ii) through contracts with individual physicians or one or more groups of physicians (organized on a group practice or individual practice basis).

"(D) The entity assumes full financial risk on a prospective basis for the provision of the health care services listed in paragraph (1), except that such entity may—

"(i) obtain insurance or make other arrangements for the cost of providing to any enrolled member health care services listed in subparagraph (A) the aggregate value of which exceeds $5,000 in any year,

"(ii) obtain insurance or make other arrangements for the cost of health care service listed in subparagraph (A) provided to its enrolled members other than through the entity because medical necessity required their provision before they could be secured through the entity,

"(iii) obtain insurance or make other arrangements for not more than 90 percent of the amount by which its costs for any of its fiscal years exceed 115 percent of its income for such fiscal year, and

"(iv) make arrangements with physicians or other health professionals, health care institutions, or any combination of such individuals or institutions to assume all or part of the financial risk on a prospective basis for the provision of basic health services by the physicians or other health professionals or through the institutions.

"(E) The entity has made adequate provision against the risk of insolvency, which provision is satisfactory to the Secretary.

Paragraph (2)(A)(ii) shall not apply to an entity which had contracted with a single State agency administering a State plan approved under title XIX for the provision of services (other than inpatient hospital services) to individuals eligible for such services under such State plan on a prepaid risk basis prior to 1970.

"(c)(1) The Secretary may not enter into a contract under this section with an eligible organization unless it meets the requirements of this subsection and subsection (e) with respect to members enrolled under this section.

"(2) The organization must provide to members enrolled under this section, through providers and other persons that meet the applicable requirements of this title and part A of title XI—

"(A) only those services covered under parts A and B of this title, for those members entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled under part B, or

"(B) only those services covered under part B, for those members enrolled only under such part, which are available to individuals residing in the geographic area served by the organization, except that (i) the organization may provide such members with such additional health care services as the members may elect, at their option, to have covered, and (ii) in the case of an organization with a risk-sharing contract, the organization may provide such members with such additional health care services as the Secretary may approve. The Secretary shall approve any such additional health care services which the organization proposes to offer to such members, unless the Secretary determines that including such additional services will substantially discourage enrollment by covered individuals with the organization.

"(3)(A) Each eligible organization must have an open enrollment period, for the enrollment of individuals under this section, of at least 30 days duration every year, and must provide that at any time during which enrollments are accepted, the organization will accept up to the limits of its capacity (as determined by the Secretary) and without restrictions, except as may be authorized in regulations, individuals who are eligible to enroll under subsection (d) in the order in which they apply for enrollment, unless to do so would result in failure to meet the requirements of subsection (f) or would result in the enrollment of enrollees substantially nonrepresentative, as determined in accordance with regulations of the Secretary, of the population in the geographic area served by the organization.

"(B) An individual may enroll under this section with an eligible organization in such manner as may be prescribed in regulations and may terminate his enrollment with the eligible organization as of the beginning of the first calendar month following a full calendar month after the request is made for such termination (or, in the case of financial insolvency of the organization, as may be prescribed by regulations) or, in the case of such an organization with a reasonable cost reimbursement contract, as may be prescribed by regulations.

"(C) The Secretary may prescribe the procedures and conditions under which an eligible organization that has entered into a contract with the Secretary under this subsection may inform individuals eligible to enroll under this section with the organization about the organization, or may enroll such individuals with the organization.

"(D) The organization must provide assurances to the Secretary that it will not expel or refuse to re-enroll any such individual because of the individual's health status or requirements for health care services, and that it will notify each such individual of such fact at the time of the individual's enrollment.

"(4) The organization must—

"(A) make the services described in paragraph (2) (and such other health care services as such individuals have contracted for) (i) available and accessible to each such individual, within the area served by the organization, promptly as appropriate and in a manner which assures continuity, and (ii) when medically necessary, available and accessible twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week, and

"(B) provide for reimbursement with respect to services which are described in subparagraph (A) and which are provided to such an individual other than through the organization, if (i) the services were medically necessary and immediately required because of an unforeseen illness, injury, or condition and (ii) it was not reasonable given the circumstances to obtain the services through the organization.

"(5)(A) The organization must provide meaningful procedures for hearing and resolving grievances between the organization (including any entity or individual through which the organization provides health care services) and members enrolled with the organization under this section.

"(B) A member enrolled with an eligible organization under this section who is dissatisfied by reason of his failure to receive any health service to which he believes he is entitled and at no greater charge than he believes he is required to pay is entitled, if the amount in controversy is $100 or more, to a hearing before the Secretary to the same extent as is provided in section 205(b), and in any such hearing the Secretary shall make the eligible organization a party. If the amount in controversy is $1,000 or more, the individual or eligible organization shall, upon notifying the other party, be entitled to judicial review of the Secretary's final decision as provided in section 205(g), and both the individual and the eligible organization shall be entitled to be parties to that judicial review.

"(6) The organization must have arrangements, established in accordance with regulations of the Secretary, for an ongoing quality assurance program for health care services it provides to such individuals, which program (A) stresses health outcomes and (B) provides review by physicians and other health care professionals of the process followed in the provision of such health care services.

"(d) Subject to the provisions of subsection (c)(3), every individual entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled under part B or enrolled under part B only (other than an individual medically determined to have end-stage renal disease) shall be eligible to enroll under this section with any eligible organization with which the Secretary has entered into a contract under this section and which serves the geographic area in which the individual resides.

"(e)(1) In no case may—

"(A) the portion of an eligible organization's premium rate and the actuarial value of its deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments charged (with respect to services covered under parts A and B) to individuals who are enrolled under this section with the organization and who are entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled under part B, or

"(B) the portion of its premium rate and the actuarial value of its deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments charged (with respect to services covered under part B) to individuals who are enrolled under this section with the organization and enrolled under part B only exceed the actuarial value of the coinsurance and deductibles that would be applicable on the average to individuals enrolled under this section with the organization (or, if the Secretary finds that adequate data are not available to determine that actuarial value, the actuarial value of the coinsurance and deductibles applicable on the average to individuals in the area, in the State, or in the United States, eligible to enroll under this section with the organization, or other appropriate data) and entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled under part B, or enrolled under part B only, respectively, if they were not members of an eligible organization.

"(2) If the eligible organization provides to its members enrolled under this section services in addition to services covered under parts A and B of this title, election of coverage for such additional services (unless such services have been approved by the Secretary under subsection (c)(2)) shall be optional for such members and such organization shall furnish such members with information on the portion of its premium rate or other charges applicable to such additional services. In no case may the sum of—

"(A) the portion of such organization's premium rate charged, with respect to such additional services, to members enrolled under this section, and

"(B) the actuarial value of its deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments charged, with respect to such services to such members exceed the adjusted community rate for such services.

"(3) For purposes of this section, the term 'adjusted community rate' for a service or services means, at the election of an eligible organization, either—

"(A) the rate of payment for that service or services which the Secretary annually determines would apply to a member enrolled under this section with an eligible organization if the rate of payment were determined under a 'community rating system' (as defined in section 1302(8) of the Public Health Service Act, other than subparagraph (C)), or

"(B) such portion of the weighted aggregate premium, which the Secretary annually estimates would apply to a member enrolled under this section with the eligible organization, as the Secretary annually estimates is attributable to that service or services, but adjusted for differences between the utilization characteristics of the members enrolled with the eligible organization under this section and the utilization characteristics of the other members of the organization (or, if the Secretary finds that adequate data are not available to adjust for those differences, the differences between the utilization characteristics of members in other eligible organizations, or individuals in the area, in the State, or in the United States, eligible to enroll under this section with an eligible organization and the utilization characteristics of the rest of the population in the area, in the State, or in the United States, respectively).

"(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the eligible organization may (in the case of the provision of services to a member enrolled under this section for an illness or injury for which the member is entitled to benefits under a workmen's compensation law or plan of the United States or a State, under an automobile or liability insurance policy or plan, including a self-insured plan, or under no fault insurance) charge or authorize the provider of such services to charge, in accordance with the charges allowed under such law or policy—

"(A) the insurance carrier, employer, or other entity which under such law, plan, or policy is to pay for the provision of such services, or

"(B) such member to the extent that the member has been paid under such law, plan, or policy for such services.

"(f)(1) Each eligible organization with which the Secretary enters into a contract under this section shall have, for the duration of such contract, an enrolled membership at least one-half of which consists of individuals who are not entitled to benefits under this title or under a State plan approved under title XIX.

"(2) The Secretary may modify or waive the requirement imposed by paragraph (1) only if the Secretary determines that—

"(A) special circumstances warrant such modification or waiver, and

"(B) the eligible organization has taken and is making reasonable efforts to enroll individuals who are not entitled to benefits under this title or under a State plan approved under title XIX.

"(g)(1) The Secretary may enter a risk-sharing contract with any eligible organization, as defined in subsection (b)(1), which has at least 5,000 members, except that the Secretary may enter into such a contract with an eligible organization that has fewer members if the organization primarily serves members residing outside of urbanized areas.

"(2) Each risk-sharing contract shall provide that—

"(A) if the adjusted community rate, as defined in subsection (e)(3), for services under parts A and B (as reduced for the actuarial value of the coinsurance and deductibles under those parts) for members enrolled under this section with the organization and entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled in part B, or

"(B) if the adjusted community rate for services under part B (as reduced for the actuarial value of the coinsurance and deductibles under that part) for members enrolled under this section with the organization and entitled to benefits under part B only is less than the average of the per capita rates of payment to be made under subsection (a)(1) at the beginning of an annual contract period for members enrolled under this section with the organization and entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled in part B, or enrolled in part B only, respectively, the eligible organization shall provide to members enrolled under a risk-sharing contract under this section with the organization and entitled to benefits under part A and enrolled in part B, or enrolled in part B only, respectively, the additional benefits described in paragraph (3) which are selected by the eligible organization and which the Secretary finds are at least equal in value to the difference between that average per capita payment and the adjusted community rate (as so reduced); except that this paragraph shall not apply with respect to any organization which elects to receive a lesser payment to the extent that there is no longer a difference between the average per capita payment and adjusted community rate (as so reduced). If the Secretary finds that there is insufficient enrollment experience to determine an average of the per capita rates of payment to be made under subsection (a)(1) at the beginning of a contract period, the Secretary may determine such an average based on the enrollment experience of other contracts entered into under this section.

"(3) The additional benefits referred to in paragraph (2) are—

"(A) the reduction of the premium rate or other charges made with respect to services furnished by the organization to members enrolled under this section, or

"(B) the provision of additional health benefits,

"(h)(1) If—

"(A) the Secretary is not satisfied that an eligible organization has the capacity to bear the risk of potential losses under a risk-sharing contract under this section, or

"(B) the eligible organization so elects or has an insufficient number of members to be eligible to enter into a risk-sharing contract under subsection (g)(1), the Secretary may, if he is otherwise satisfied that the eligible organization is able to perform its contractual obligations effectively and efficiently, enter into a contract with such organization pursuant to which such organization is reimbursed on the basis of its reasonable cost (as defined in section 1861(v)) in the manner prescribed in paragraph (3).

"(2) A reasonable cost reimbursement contract under this subsection may, at the option of such organization, provide that the Secretary—

"(A) will reimburse hospitals and skilled nursing facilities either for the reasonable cost (as determined under section 1861(v)) or for payment amounts determined in accordance with section 1886, as applicable, of services furnished to individuals enrolled with such organization pursuant to subsection (d), and

"(B) will deduct the amount of such reimbursement from payment which would otherwise be made to such organization.

If such an eligible organization pays a hospital or skilled nursing facility directly, the amount paid shall not exceed the reasonable cost of the services (as determined under section 1861(v)) or the amount determined under section 1886, as applicable, unless such organization demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that such excess payments are justified on the basis of advantages gained by the organization.

"(3) Payments made to an organization with a reasonable cost reimbursement contract shall be subject to appropriate retroactive corrective adjustment at the end of each contract year so as to assure that such organization is paid for the reasonable cost actually incurred (excluding any part of incurred cost found to be unnecessary in the efficient delivery of health services) or the amounts otherwise determined under section 1886 for the types of expenses otherwise reimbursable under this title for providing services covered under this title to individuals described in subsection (a)(1).

"(4) Any reasonable cost reimbursement contract with an eligible organization under this subsection shall provide that the Secretary shall require, at such time following the expiration of each accounting period of the eligible organization (and in such form and in such detail) as he may prescribe—

"(A) that the organization report to him in an independently certified financial statement its per capita incurred cost based on the types of components of expenses otherwise reimbursable under this title for providing services described in subsection (a)(1), including therein, in accordance with accounting procedures prescribed by the Secretary, its methods of allocating costs between individuals enrolled under this section and other individuals enrolled with such organization;

"(B) that failure to report such information as may be required may be deemed to constitute evidence of likely overpayment on the basis of which appropriate collection action may be taken;

"(C) that in any case in which an eligible organization is related to another organization by common ownership or control, a consolidated financial statement shall be filed and that the allowable costs for such organization may not include costs for the types of expense otherwise reimbursable under this title, in excess of those which would be determined to be reasonable in accordance with regulations (providing for limiting reimbursement to costs rather than charges to the eligible organization by related organizations and owners) issued by the Secretary; and

"(D) that in any case in which compensation is paid by an eligible organization substantially in excess of what is normally paid for similar services by similar practitioners (regardless of method of compensation), such compensation may as appropriate be considered to constitute a distribution of profits.

"(i)(1) Each contract under this section shall be for a term of at least one year, as determined by the Secretary, and may be made automatically renewable from term to term in the absence of notice by either party of intention to terminate at the end of the current term; except that the Secretary may terminate any such contract at any time (after such reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the eligible organization involved as he may provide in regulations), if he finds that the organization—

"(A) has failed substantially to carry out the contract,

"(B) is carrying out the contract in a manner inconsistent with the efficient and effective administration of this section, or

"(C) no longer substantially meets the applicable conditions of subsections (b), (c), and (e).

"(2) The effective date of any contract executed pursuant to this section shall be specified in the contract.

"(3) Each contract under this section—

"(A) shall provide that the Secretary, or any person or organization designated by him—

"(i) shall have the right to inspect or otherwise evaluate (I) the quality, appropriateness, and timeliness of services performed under the contract and (II) the facilities of the organization when there is reasonable evidence of some need for such inspection, and

"(ii) shall have the right to audit and inspect any books and records of the eligible organization that pertain (I) to the ability of the organization to bear the risk of potential financial losses, or (II) to services performed or determinations of amounts payable under the contract;

"(B) shall require the organization with a risk-sharing contract to provide (and pay for) written notice in advance of the contract's termination, as well as a description of alternatives for obtaining benefits under this title, to each individual enrolled under this section with the organization; and

"(C) shall require the organization to comply with subsections (a) and (c) of section 1318 of the Public Health Service Act (relating to disclosure of certain financial information) and with the requirement of section 1301(c)(8) of such Act (relating to liability arrangements to protect members); and

"(D) shall contain such other terms and conditions not inconsistent with this section (including requiring the organization to provide the Secretary with such information) as the Secretary may find necessary and appropriate.

"(4) The Secretary may not enter into a risk-sharing contract with an eligible organization if a previous risk-sharing contract with that organization under this section was terminated at the request of the organization within the preceding five-year period, except in circumstances which warrant special consideration, as determined by the Secretary.

"(5) The authority vested in the Secretary by this section may be performed without regard to such provisions of law or regulations relating to the making, performance, amendment, or modification of contracts of the United States as the Secretary may determine to be inconsistent with the furtherance of the purpose of this title.".

(b) Section 1861(s)(2) of the Social Security Act is amended—

(1) by striking out "and" at the end of subparagraph (F);

(2) by inserting "and" after the semicolon in subparagraph (G); and

(3) by adding after subparagraph (G) the following new subparagraph:

"(H) services furnished pursuant to a contract under section 1876 to a member of an eligible organization by a physician assistant or by a nurse practitioner (as defined in subsection (aa)(3)) and such services and supplies furnished as an incident to his service to such a member as would otherwise be covered under this part if furnished by a physician or as an incident to a physician's service;".

(c)(1) Subject to paragraph (2), the amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply with respect to services furnished on or after the initial effective date (as defined in paragraph (4)), except that such amendment shall not apply—

(A) with respect to services furnished by an eligible organization to any individual who is enrolled with that organization under an existing cost contract (as defined in paragraph (3)(A)) and entitled to benefits under part A, or enrolled in part B, of title XVIII of the Social Security Act at the time the organization first enters into a new risk-sharing contract (as defined in paragraph (3)(D)) unless—

(i) the individual requests at any time that the amendment apply, or

(ii) the Secretary determines at any time that the amendment should apply to all members of the organization because of administrative costs or other administrative burdens involved and so informs in advance each affected member of the eligible organization;

(B) with respect to services furnished by an eligible organization during the five-year period beginning on the initial effective date, if—

(i) the organization has an existing risk-sharing contract (as defined in paragraph (3)(B)) on the initial effective date, or

(ii) on the date of the enactment of this Act the organization was furnishing services pursuant to an existing demonstration project (as defined in paragraph (3)(C)), such demonstration project is concluded before the initial effective date, and before such initial effective date the organization enters into an existing risk-sharing contract, unless the organization requests that the amendment apply earlier; or

(C) with respect to services furnished by an eligible organization during the period of an existing demonstration project if on the initial effective date the organization was furnishing services pursuant to the project and if the project concludes after such date.

(2)(A) In the case of an eligible organization which has in effect an existing cost contract (as defined in paragraph (3)(A)) on the initial effective date, the organization may receive payment under a new risk-sharing contract with respect to a current, nonrisk medicare enrollee (as defined in subparagraph (C)) only to the extent that the organization enrolls, for each such enrollee, two new medicare enrollees (as defined in subparagraph (D)). The selection of those current nonrisk medicare enrollees with respect to whom payment may be so received under a new risk-sharing contract shall be made in a nonbiased manner.

(B) Subparagraph (A) shall not be construed to prevent an eligible organization from providing for enrollment, on a basis described in subsection (a)(6) of section 1876 of the Social Security Act (as amended by this Act, other than under a reasonable cost reimbursement contract), of current, nonrisk medicare enrollees and from providing such enrollees with some or all of the additional benefits described in section 1876(g)(2) of the Social Security Act (as amended by this Act), but (except as provided in subparagraph (A))—

(i) payment to the organization with respect to such enrollees shall only be made in accordance with the terms of a reasonable cost reimbursement contract, and

(ii) no payment may be made under section 1876 of such Act with respect to such enrollees for any such additional benefits.

Individuals enrolled with the organization under this subparagraph shall be considered to be individuals enrolled with the organization for the purpose of meeting the requirement of section 1876(g)(2) of the Social Security Act (as amended by this Act).

(C) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "current, nonrisk medicare enrollee" means, with respect to an organization, an individual who on the initial effective date—

(i) is enrolled with that organization under an existing cost contract, and

(ii) is entitled to benefits under part A, or enrolled in part B, of title XVIII of the Social Security Act.

(D) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "new medicare enrollee" means, with respect to an organization, an individual who—

(i) is enrolled with the organization after the date the organization first enters into a new risk-sharing contract,

(ii) at the time of such enrollment is entitled to benefits under part A, or enrolled in part B, of title XVIII of the Social Security Act, and

(iii) was not enrolled with the organization at the time the individual became entitled to benefits under part A, or to enroll in part B, of such title.

(3) For purposes of this subsection:

(A) The term "existing cost contract" means a contract which is entered into under section 1876 of the Social Security Act, as in effect before the initial effective date, or reimbursement on a reasonable cost basis under section 1833(a)(1)(A) of such Act, and which is not an existing risk-sharing contract or an existing demonstration project.

(B) The term "existing risk-sharing contract" means a contract entered into under section 1876(i)(2)(A) of the Social Security Act, as in effect before the initial effective date.

(C) The term "existing demonstration project" means a demonstration project under section 402(a) of the Social Security Amendments of 1967 or under section 222(a) of the Social Security Amendments of 1972, relating to the provision of services for which payment may be made under title XVIII of the Social Security Act.

(D) The term "new risk-sharing contract" means a contract entered into under section 1876(g) of the Social Security Act, as amended by this Act.

(E) The term "reasonable cost reimbursement contract" means a contract entered into under section 1833(a)(1) of the Social Security Act or under section 1876(h) of such Act, as amended by this Act.

(4) As used in this section, the term "initial effective date" means—

(A) the first day of the thirteenth month which begins after the date of the enactment of this Act, or

(B) the first day of the first month after the month in which the Secretary of Health and Human Services notifies the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committees on Ways and Means and on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives that he is reasonably certain that the methodology to make appropriate adjustments (referred to in section 1876(a)(4) of the Social Security Act, as amended by this Act) has been developed and can be implemented to assure actuarial equivalence in the estimation of adjusted average per capita costs under that section, whichever is later.

(d) The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall conduct a study of the additional benefits selected by eligible organizations pursuant to section 1876(g)(2) of the Social Security Act, as amended by subsection (a) of this section. The Secretary shall report to the Congress within 24 months of the initial effective date (as defined in subsection (c)(4)) with respect to the findings and conclusions made as a result of such study.

(e) The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall conduct a study evaluating the extent of, and reasons for, the termination by medicare beneficiaries of their memberships in organizations with contracts under section 1876 of the Social Security Act. Such study may be coordinated with the study provided for under section 2178(d) of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981. In conducting such study, the Secretary shall place special emphasis on the quantity and quality of medical care provided in such organizations and the quality of such care when provided on a fee-for-service basis. The Secretary shall submit an interim report to the Congress, within two years after the initial effective date (as defined in subsection (c)(4)), and a final report within five years after such date containing the respective interim and final findings and conclusions made as a result of such study.

PROHIBITION OF PAYMENT FOR INEFFECTIVE DRUGS

SEC. 115. (a) Effective September 30, 1982, section 131 of Public Law 97-92 is repealed, and the provisions of such section, and of section 210 of the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1982 (H.R. 4560), as passed by the House of Representatives on October 6, 1981, and of section 209 of such Act as reported by the Senate Committee on Appropriations on November 9, 1981, shall not apply to any sums appropriated for fiscal year 1983 or any succeeding fiscal year.

(b) No provision of law limiting the use of funds for purposes of enforcing or implementing section 1862(c) or section 1903(i)(5) of the Social Security Act, section 2103 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981, or any rule or regulation issued pursuant to any such section (including any provision contained in, or incorporated by reference into, any appropriation Act or resolution making continuing appropriations) shall apply to any period after September 30, 1982, unless such provision of law is enacted after the date of the enactment of this Act and specifically states that such provision is to supersede this section.

MEDICARE PAYMENTS SECONDARY FOR OLDER WORKERS COVERED UNDER GROUP HEALTH PLANS

SEC. 116. (a) Section 4 of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

"(g)(1) For purposes of this section, any employer must provide that any employee aged 65 through 69 shall be entitled to coverage under any group health plan offered to such employees under the same conditions as any employee under age 65.

"(2) For purposes of paragraph (1), the term 'group health plan' has the meaning given to such term in section 162(i)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.".

(b) Section 1862(b) of the Social Security Act is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(3)(A)(i) Payment under this title may not be made, except as provided in clause (ii), with respect to any item or service furnished during the period described in clause (iii) to an individual who is over 64 but under 70 years of age (or to the spouse of such individual, if the spouse is over 64 but under 70 years of age) who is employed at the time such item or service is furnished to the extent that payment with respect to expenses for such item or service has been made, or can reasonably be expected to be made, under a group health plan (as defined in clause (iv)) under which such individual is covered by reason of such employment.

"(ii) Any payment under this title with respect to any item or service during the period described in clause (iii) shall be conditioned on reimbursement to the appropriate Trust Fund established by this title when notice or other information is received that payment for such item or service has been made under a group health plan. The Secretary may waive the provisions of this clause in the case of an individual claim if he determines that the probability of recovery or amount involved in such claim does not warrant the pursuing of the claim.

"(iii) The provisions of clauses (i) and (ii) shall apply to an individual only for the period beginning with the month in which such individual becomes entitled to benefits under this title under section 226(a) and ending with the month in which such individual attains the age of 70 and shall not include any month for which the individual would, upon application, be entitled to benefits under section 226A.

"(iv) For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'group health plan' has the meaning given to such term in section 162(i)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

"(B) Where payment for an item or service under a group health plan is less than the amount of the charge for such item or service, payment may be made under this title (without regard to deductibles and coinsurance under this title) for the remainder of such charge, but—

"(i) such payment under this title may not exceed an amount which would be payable under this title for such item or service in the absence of such group health plan; and

"(ii) such payment under this title, when combined with the amount payable under such plan, may not exceed—

"(I) in the case of an item or service payment for which is determined under this title on the basis of reasonable cost (or other cost-related basis) or under section 1886, the amount which would be payable under this title on such basis; and

"(II) in the case of an item or service for which payment is authorized under this title on another basis, the greater of—

"(a) the amount which would be payable under the group health plan (without regard to deductibles and coinsurance under such plan), or

"(b) the reasonable charge or other amount which would be payable under this title (without regard to deductibles and coinsurance under this title).".

(c) The amendment made by subsection (a) shall become effective on January 1, 1983, and the amendment made by subsection (b) shall apply with respect to items and services furnished on or after such date.

"(d)(1) Payment under this part may be made for hospice care provided with respect to an individual only during two periods of 90 days each and one subsequent period of 30 days during the individual's lifetime and only, with respect to each such period, if the individual makes an election under this paragraph to receive hospice care under this part provided by, or under arrangements made by, a particular hospice program instead of certain other benefits under this title.

"(2)(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) and except in such exceptional and unusual circumstances as the Secretary may provide, if an individual makes such an election for a period with respect to a particular hospice program, the individual shall be deemed to have waived all rights to have payment made under this title with respect to—

"(B) After an individual makes such an election with respect to a 90- or 30-day period, the individual may revoke the election during the period, in which case—

"(ii) the individual may at any time after the revocation execute a new election for a subsequent period, if the individual otherwise is entitled to hospice care benefits with respect to such a period.

"(C) An individual may, once in each such period, change the hospice program with respect to which the election is made and such change shall not be considered a revocation of an election under subparagraph (B).

"(D) For purposes of this title, an individual's election with respect to a hospice program shall no longer be considered to be in effect with respect to that hospice program after the date the individual's revocation or change of election with respect to that election takes effect.".

"(ii) in a subsequent 90- or 30-day period, the medical director or physician described in clause (i)(II) recertifies at the beginning of the period that the individual is terminally ill;

"(B) a written plan for providing hospice care with respect to such individual has been established (before such care is provided by, or under arrangements made by, that hospice program) and is periodically reviewed by the individual's attending physician and by the medical director (and the interdisciplinary group described in section 1861(dd)(2)(B)) of the hospice program; and

"(C) such care is being or was provided pursuant to such plan of care.".

(2)(A) Section 1814(b) of such Act is amended by inserting "(other than a hospice program providing hospice care)" after "The amount paid to any provider of services".

(B) Section 1814 of such Act is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"Payment for Hospice Care

"(i)(1) Subject to the limitation under paragraph (2) and the provisions of section 1813(a)(4), the amount paid to a hospice program with respect to hospice care for which payment may be made under this part shall be an amount equal to the costs which are reasonable and related to the cost of providing hospice care or which are based on such other tests of reasonableness as the Secretary may prescribe in regulations (including those authorized under section 1861(v)(1)(A)), except that no payment may be for bereavement counseling and no reimbursement may be made for other counseling services (including nutritional and dietary counseling) as separate services.

"(2)(A) The amount of payment made under this part for hospice care provided by (or under arrangements made by) a hospice program located in a region (as defined by the Secretary) for an accounting year may not exceed the 'cap amount' for the region for the year (computed under subparagraph (B)) multiplied by the number of medicare beneficiaries in the hospice program in that year (determined under subparagraph (C)).

"(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the 'cap amount' for a region for a year is computed as follows:

"(i) The Secretary, using records of the program under this title, shall identify individuals (or a representative sample of such individuals)—

"(I) who died during the base period (as defined in clause (v)),

"(II) with respect to whom the primary cause of death was cancer, and

"(III) who, during the six-month period preceding death, were provided benefits under this title.

"(ii) The Secretary shall determine a national average medicare per capita expenditure amount by (I) determining (or estimating) the amount of payments made under this title with respect to services provided to individuals identified in clause (i) during the six months before death, and (II) dividing such amount of payments by the number of such individuals.

"(iii) The Secretary, using the best available data, shall then compute a regional average medicare per capita expenditure amount for each region, by adjusting the national average medicare per capita expenditure amount (computed under clause (ii)) to reflect the relative difference between that region's average cost of delivering health care and the national average cost of delivering health care.

"(iv) The 'cap amount' for a region for an accounting year is 40 percent of the regional average determined under clause (iii) for that region, increased or decreased by the same percentage as the percentage increase or decrease, respectively, in the medical care expenditure category of the consumer price index for all urban consumers (U.S. city average), published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, from the fourth month of the base period to the fifth month of the accounting year.

"(v) For purposes of this subparagraph, the term 'base period' means the most recent period of 12 months (ending before the date proposed regulations are first issued to carry out this paragraph) for which the Secretary determines he has sufficient data to make the determinations required under clauses (i) through (iii).

"(C) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the 'number of medicare beneficiaries' in a hospice program in an accounting year is equal to the number of individuals who have made an election under subsection (d) with respect to the hospice program and have been provided hospice care by (or under arrangements made by) the hospice program under this part in the accounting year, such number reduced to reflect the proportion of hospice care that each such individual was provided in a previous or subsequent accounting year or under a plan of care established by another hospice program.".

(3) Section 1816(e) of such Act is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, the Secretary shall designate the agency or organization which has entered into an agreement under this section to perform functions under such an agreement with respect to each hospice program, except that with respect to a hospice program which is a subdivision of a provider of services (and such hospice program and provider of services are under common control) due regard shall be given to the agency or organization which performs the functions under this section for the provider of services.".

(d)(1) Section 1861(u) of the Social Security Act is amended by inserting "hospice program," after "home health agency,".

(2) Section 1861(w)(1) of such Act is amended by striking out "or home health agency" and by inserting in lieu thereof "home health agency, or hospice program".

(3) Section 1861 of such Act is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"Hospice Care; Hospice Program

"(dd)(1) The term 'hospice care' means the following items and services provided to a terminally ill individual by, or by others under arrangements made by, a hospice program under a written plan (for providing such care to such individual) established and periodically reviewed by the individual's attending physician and by the medical director (and by the interdisciplinary group described in paragraph (2)(B)) of the program—

"(A) nursing care provided by or under the supervision of a registered professional nurse,

"(B) physical or occupational therapy or speech-language pathology,

"(H) counseling (including dietary counseling) with respect to care of the terminally ill individual and adjustment to his death.

The care and services described in subparagraphs (A) and (D) may be provided on a 24-hour, continuous basis only during periods of crisis (meeting criteria established by the Secretary) and only as necessary to maintain the terminally ill individual at home.

"(2) The term 'hospice program' means a public agency or private organization (or a subdivision thereof) which—

"(A)(i) is primarily engaged in providing the care and services described in paragraph (1) and makes such services available (as needed) on a 24-hour basis and which also provides bereavement counseling for the immediate family of terminally ill individuals,

"(ii) provides for such care and services in individuals' homes, on an outpatient basis, and on a short-term inpatient basis, directly or under arrangements made by the agency or organization, except that—

"(I) the agency or organization must routinely provide directly substantially all of each of the services described in subparagraphs (A), (C), (F), and (H) of paragraph (1), and

"(II) in the case of other services described in paragraph (1) which are not provided directly by the agency or organization, the agency or organization must maintain professional management responsibility for all such services furnished to an individual, regardless of the location or facility in which such services are furnished; and

"(iii) provides assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the aggregate number of days of inpatient care described in paragraph (1)(G) provided in any 12-month period to individuals who have an election in effect under section 1812(d) with respect to that agency or organization does not exceed 20 percent of the aggregate number of days during that period on which such elections for such individuals are in effect;

"(B) has an interdisciplinary group of personnel which—

"(i) includes at least—

"(I) one physician (as defined in subsection (r)(1)),

"(II) one registered professional nurse, and

"(III) one social worker,

"(C) maintains central clinical records on all patients;

"(D) does not discontinue the hospice care it provides with respect to a patient because of the inability of the patient to pay for such care;

"(E)(i) utilizes volunteers in its provision of care and services in accordance with standards set by the Secretary, which standards shall ensure a continuing level of effort to utilize such volunteers, and (ii) maintains records on the use of these volunteers and the cost savings and expansion of care and services achieved through the use of these volunteers;

"(F) in the case of an agency or organization in any State in which State or applicable local law provides for the licensing of agencies or organizations of this nature, is licensed pursuant to such law; and

"(G) meets such other requirements as the Secretary may find necessary in the interest of the health and safety of the individuals who are provided care and services by such agency or organization.

"(3)(A) An individual is considered to be 'terminally ill' if the individual has a medical prognosis that the individual's life expectancy is 6 months or less.

"(B) The term 'attending physician' means, with respect to an individual, the physician (as defined in subsection (r)(1)), who may be employed by a hospice program, whom the individual identifies as having the most significant role in the determination and delivery of medical care to the individual at the time the individual makes an election to receive hospice care.

"(4)(A) An entity which is certified as a provider of services other than a hospice program shall be considered, for purposes of certification as a hospice program, to have met any requirements under paragraph (2) which are also the same requirements for certification as such other type of provider. The Secretary shall coordinate surveys for determining certification under this title so as to provide, to the extent feasible, for simultaneous surveys of an entity which seeks to be certified as a hospice program and as a provider of services of another type.

"(B) Any entity which is certified as a hospice program and as a provider of another type shall have separate provider agreements under section 1866 and shall file separate cost reports with respect to costs incurred in providing hospice care and in providing other services and items under this title.".

(e) Section 1813(a) of such Act is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4)(A) The amount payable for hospice care shall be reduced—

"(i) in the case of drugs and biologicals provided on an outpatient basis by (or under arrangements made by) the hospice program, by a coinsurance amount equal to an amount (not to exceed $5 per prescription) determined in accordance with a drug copayment schedule (established by the hospice program) which is related to, and approximates 5 percent of, the cost of the drug or biological to the program, and

"(ii) in the case of respite care provided by (or under arrangements made by) the hospice program, by a coinsurance amount equal to 5 percent of the amount estimated by the hospice program (in accordance with regulations of the Secretary) to be equal to the amount of payment under section 1814(i) to that program for respite care; except that the total of the coinsurance required under clause (ii) for an individual may not exceed for a hospice coinsurance period the inpatient hospital deductible applicable for the year in which the period began. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term 'hospice coinsurance period' means, for an individual, a period of consecutive days beginning with the first day for which an election under section 1812(d) is in effect for the individual and ending with the close of the first period of 14 consecutive days on each of which such an election is not in effect for the individual.

"(B) During the period of an election by an individual under section 1812(d)(1), no copayments or deductibles other than those under subparagraph (A) shall apply with respect to services furnished to such individual which constitute hospice care, regardless of the setting in which such services are furnished.".

"(2) No lien may be imposed under paragraph (1)(B) on such individual's home if—

"(A) the spouse of such individual,

"(B) such individual's child who is under age 21, or (with respect to States eligible to participate in the State program established under title XVI) is blind or permanently and totally disabled, or (with respect to States which are not eligible to participate in such program) is blind or disabled as defined in section 1614, or

"(C) a sibling of such individual (who has an equity interest in such home and who was residing in such individual's home for a period of at least one year immediately before the date of the individual's admission to the medical institution),

"(3) Any lien imposed with respect to an individual pursuant to paragraph (1)(B) shall dissolve upon that individual's discharge from the medical institution and return home.

"(b)(1) No adjustment or recovery of any medical assistance correctly paid on behalf of an individual under the State plan may be made, except—

"(A) in the case of an individual described in subsection (a)(1)(B), from his estate or upon sale of the property subject to a lien imposed on account of medical assistance paid on behalf of such individual, and

"(B) in the case of any other individual who was 65 years of age or older when he received such assistance, from his estate.

"(2) Any adjustment or recovery under paragraph (1) may be made only after the death of the individual's surviving spouse, if any, and only at a time—

"(ii) no son or daughter of the individual (who was residing in the individual's home for a period of at least two years immediately before the date of the individual's admission to the medical institution, and who establishes to the satisfaction of the State that he or she provided care to such individual which permitted such individual to reside at home rather than in an institution), is lawfully residing in such home and has lawfully resided in such home on a continuous basis since the date of the individual's admission to the medical institution.

"(c)(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, an individual who would otherwise be eligible for medical assistance under the State plan approved under this title may be denied such assistance if such individual would not be eligible for such medical assistance but for the fact that he disposed of resources for less than fair market value. If the State plan provides for the denial of such assistance by reason of such disposal of resources, the State plan shall specify a procedure for implementing such denial which, except as provided in paragraph (2), is not more restrictive than the procedure specified in section 1613(c) of this Act, and which may provide for a waiver of denial of such assistance in any instance where the State determines that such denial would work an undue hardship.

"(2)(A) In any case where the uncompensated value of disposed of resources exceeds $12,000, the State plan may provide for a period of ineligibility which exceeds 24 months. If a State plan provides for a period of ineligibility exceeding 24 months, such plan shall provide for the period of ineligibility to bear a reasonable relationship to such uncompensated value.

"(B)(i) In the case of any individual who is an inpatient in a skilled nursing facility, intermediate care facility, or other medical institution, if such individual is required, as a condition of receiving services in such institution under the State plan, to spend for costs of medical care all but a minimal amount of his income required for personal needs, and, who, at any time during or after the 24-month period immediately prior to application for medical assistance under the State plan, disposed of a home for less than fair market value, the State plan (subject to clause (iii)) may provide for a period of ineligibility for medical assistance in accordance with clause (ii).

"(ii) If the State plan provides for a period of ineligibility under clause (i), such plan—

"(I) shall provide that such individual shall be ineligible for all medical assistance for a period of 24 months after the date on which he disposed of such home, except that, in the case where the uncompensated value of the home is less than the average amount payable under the State plan as medical assistance for 24 months of care in a skilled nursing facility, the period of ineligibility shall be such shorter time as bears a reasonable relationship (based upon the average amount payable under the State plan as medical assistance for care in a skilled nursing facility) to the uncompensated value of the home, and

"(II) may provide (at the option of the State) that, in the case where the uncompensated value of the home is more than the average amount payable under the State plan as medical assistance for 24 months of care in a skilled nursing facility, such individual shall be ineligible for all medical assistance for a period in excess of 24 months after the date on which he disposed of such home which bears a reasonable relationship (based upon the average amount payable under the State plan as medical assistance for care in a skilled nursing facility) to the uncompensated value of the home.

"(iii) An individual shall not be ineligible for medical assistance by reason of clause (ii) if—

"(I) a satisfactory showing is made to the State (in accordance with any regulations promulgated by the Secretary) that the individual cannot reasonably be expected to be discharged from the medical institution and to return to that home,

"(II) title to such home was transferred to the individual's spouse or child who is under age 21, or (with respect to States eligible to participate in the State program established under title XVI) is blind or permanently and totally disabled, or (with respect to States which are not eligible to participate in such program) is blind or disabled as defined in section 1614,

"(III) a satisfactory showing is made to the State (in accordance with any regulations promulgated by the Secretary) that the individual intended to dispose of the home either at fair market value, or for other valuable consideration, or

"(IV) if the State determines that denial of eligibility would work an undue hardship.

"(3) In any case where an individual is ineligible for medical assistance under the State plan solely because of the applicability to such individual of the provisions of section 1613(c), the State plan may provide for the eligibility of such individual for medical assistance under the plan if such individual would be so eligible if the State plan requirements with respect to disposal of resources applicable under paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection were applied in lieu of the provisions of section 1613(c).".

(c) Section 1902 of such Act is amended by striking out subsection (j) thereof.

(d) The amendments made by this section shall become effective on the date of the enactment of this Act, but the provisions of section 1917(c)(2)(B) of the Social Security Act shall not apply with respect to a transfer of assets which took place prior to such date of enactment.

SEC. 133. (a) Section 1903 of the Social Security Act is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

"(u)(1)(A) Notwithstanding subsection (a)(1), if the ratio of a State's erroneous excess payments for medical assistance (as defined in subparagraph (D)) to its total expenditures for medical assistance under the State plan approved under this title exceeds 0.03, for the period consisting of the third and fourth quarters of fiscal year 1983, or for any full fiscal year thereafter, then the Secretary shall make no payment for such period or fiscal year with respect to so much of such erroneous excess payments as exceeds such allowable error rate of 0.03.

"(B) The Secretary may waive, in certain limited cases, all or part of the reduction required under subparagraph (A) with respect to any State if such State is unable to reach the allowable error rate for a period or fiscal year despite a good faith effort by such State.

"(C) In estimating the amount to be paid to a State under subsection (d), the Secretary shall take into consideration the limitation on Federal financial participation imposed by subparagraph (A) and shall reduce the estimate he makes under subsection (d)(1), for purposes of payment to the State under subsection (d)(3), in light of any expected erroneous excess payments for medical assistance (estimated in accordance with such criteria, including sampling procedures, as he may prescribe and subject to subsequent adjustment, if necessary, under subsection (d)(2)).

"(D)(i) For purposes of this subsection, the term 'erroneous excess payments for medical assistance' means the total of—

"(I) payments under the State plan with respect to ineligible individuals and families, and

"(II) overpayments on behalf of eligible individuals and families by reason of error in determining the amount of expenditures for medical care required of an individual or family as a condition of eligibility.

"(ii) In determining the amount of erroneous excess payments for medical assistance to an ineligible individual or family under clause (i)(I), if such ineligibility is the result of an error in determining the amount of the resources of such individual or family, the amount of the erroneous excess payment shall be the smaller of (I) the amount of the payment with respect to such individual or family, or (II) the difference between the actual amount of such resources and the allowable resource level established under the State plan.

"(iii) In determining the amount of erroneous excess payments for medical assistance to an individual or family under clause (i)(II), the amount of the erroneous excess payment shall be the smaller of (I) the amount of the payment on behalf of the individual or family, or (II) the difference between the actual amount incurred for medical care by the individual or family and the amount which should have been incurred in order to establish eligibility for medical assistance.

"(E) For purposes of subparagraph (D), there shall be excluded, in determining both erroneous excess payments for medical assistance and total expenditures for medical assistance—

"(i) payments with respect to any individual whose eligibility therefor was determined exclusively by the Secretary under an agreement pursuant to section 1634 and such other classes of individuals as the Secretary may by regulation prescribe whose eligibility was determined in part under such an agreement; and

"(ii) payments made as the result of a technical error.

"(2) The State agency administering the plan approved under this title shall, at such times and in such form as the Secretary may specify, provide information on the rates of erroneous excess payments made (or expected, with respect to future periods specified by the Secretary) in connection with its administration of such plan, together with any other data he requests that are reasonably necessary for him to carry out the provisions of this subsection.

"(3)(A) If a State fails to cooperate with the Secretary in providing information necessary to carry out this subsection, the Secretary, directly or through contractual or such other arrangements as he may find appropriate, shall establish the error rates for that State on the basis of the best data reasonably available to him and in accordance with such techniques for sampling and estimating as he finds appropriate.

"(B) In any case in which it is necessary for the Secretary to exercise his authority under subparagraph (A) to determine a State's error rates for a fiscal year, the amount that would otherwise be payable to such State under this title for quarters in such year shall be reduced by the costs incurred by the Secretary in making (directly or otherwise) such determination.

"(4) This subsection shall not apply with respect to Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands, the Northern Mariana Islands, or American Samoa.".

(b) The amendment made by subsection (a) shall become effective on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(c) No provision of law limiting Federal financial participation with respect to erroneous payments made by States under a State plan approved under title XIX of the Social Security Act (including any provision contained in, or incorporated by reference into, any appropriation Act or resolution making continuing appropriations), other than the limitations contained in section 1903 of such Act, shall be effective with respect to payments to States under such section 1903 for quarters beginning on or after October 1, 1982, unless such provision of law is enacted after the date of the date of the enactment of this Act and expressly provides that such limitation is in addition to or in lieu of the limitations contained in section 1903 of the Social Security Act.

ESTABLISHMENT OF UTILIZATION AND QUALITY CONTROL PEER REVIEW PROGRAM

Sec. 143. Part B of title XI of the Social Security Act is amended to read as follows:

"Part B—Peer Review of the Utilization and Quality of Health Care Services

"PURPOSE

"Sec. 1151. The purpose of this part is to establish the contracting process which the Secretary must follow pursuant to the requirements of section 1862(g) of this Act, including the definition of the utilization and quality control peer review organizations with which the Secretary shall contract, the functions such peer review organizations are to perform, the confidentiality of medical records, and related administrative matters to facilitate the carrying out of the purposes of this part.

"DEFINITION OF UTILIZATION AND QUALITY CONTROL PEER REVIEW ORGANIZATION

"Sec. 1152. The term 'utilization and quality control peer review organization' means an entity which—

"(1)(A) is composed of a substantial number of the licensed doctors of medicine and osteopathy engaged in the practice of medicine or surgery in the area and who are representative of the practicing physicians in the area, designated by the Secretary under section 1153, with respect to which the entity shall perform services under this part, or (B) has available to it, by arrangement or otherwise, the services of a sufficient number of licensed doctors of medicine or osteopathy engaged in the practice of medicine or surgery in such area to assure that adequate peer review of the services provided by the various medical specialties and subspecialties can be assured; and

"(2) is able, in the judgment of the Secretary, to perform review functions required under section 1154 in a manner consistent with the efficient and effective administration of this part and to perform reviews of the pattern of quality of care in an area of medical practice where actual performance is measured against objective criteria which define acceptable and adequate practice.

"CONTRACTS WITH UTILIZATION AND QUALITY CONTROL PEER REVIEW ORGANIZATIONS

"SEC. 1153. (a)(1) The Secretary shall establish throughout the United States geographic areas with respect to which contracts under this part will be made. In establishing such areas, the Secretary shall use the same areas as established under section 1152 of this Act as in effect immediately prior to the date of the enactment of the Peer Review Improvement Act of 1982, but subject to the provisions of paragraph (2).

"(2) As soon as practicable after the date of the enactment of the Peer Review Improvement Act of 1982, the Secretary shall consolidate such geographic areas, taking into account the following criteria:

"(A) Each State shall generally be designated as a geographic area for purposes of paragraph (1).

"(B) The Secretary shall establish local or regional areas rather than State areas only where the volume of review activity or other relevant factors (as determined by the Secretary) warrant such an establishment, and the Secretary determines that review activity can be carried out with equal or greater efficiency by establishing such local or regional areas. In applying this subparagraph the Secretary shall take into account the number of hospital admissions within each State for which payment may be made under title XVIII or a State plan approved under title XIX, with any State having fewer than 180,000 such admissions annually being established as a single statewide area, and no local or regional area being established which has fewer than 60,000 total hospital admissions (including public and private pay patients) under review annually, unless the Secretary determines that other relevant factors warrant otherwise.

"(C) No local or regional area shall be designated which is not a self-contained medical service area, having a full spectrum of services, including medical specialists' services.

"(b)(1) The Secretary shall enter into a contract with a utilization and quality control peer review organization for each area established under subsection (a) if a qualified organization is available in such area and such organization and the Secretary have negotiated a proposed contract which the Secretary determines will be carried out by such organization in a manner consistent with the efficient and effective administration of this part. If more than one such qualified organization meets the requirements of the preceding sentence, priority shall be given to any such organization which is described in section 1152(1)(A).

"(2)(A) During the first twelve months in which the Secretary is entering into contracts under this section, the Secretary shall not enter into a contract under this part with any entity which is, or is affiliated with (through management, ownership, or common control), an entity which directly or indirectly makes payments to any practitioner or provider whose health care services are reviewed by such entity or would be reviewed by such entity if it entered into a contract with the Secretary under this part.

"(B) If, after the expiration of the twelve-month period referred to in subparagraph (A), the Secretary determines that there is no other entity available for an area with which the Secretary can enter into a contract under this part, the Secretary may then enter into a contract under this part with an entity described in subparagraph (A) for such area if such entity otherwise meets the requirements of this part.

"(3) The Secretary shall not enter into a contract under this part with any entity which is, or is affiliated with (through management, ownership, or common control), a health care facility, or association of such facilities, within the area served by such entity or which would be served by such entity if it entered into a contract with the Secretary under this part.

"(c) Each contract with an organization under this section shall provide that—

"(1) the organization shall perform the functions set forth in section 1154(a), or may subcontract for the performance of all or some of such functions (and for purposes of paragraphs (2) and (3) of subsection (b), a subcontract under this paragraph shall not constitute an affiliation with the subcontractor);

"(2) the Secretary shall have the right to evaluate the quality and effectiveness of the organization in carrying out the functions specified in the contract;

"(3) the contract shall be for an initial term of two years and shall be renewable on a biennial basis thereafter;

"(4) if the Secretary intends not to renew a contract, he shall notify the organization of his decision at least 90 days prior to the expiration of the contract term, and shall provide the organization an opportunity to present data, interpretations of data, and other information pertinent to its performance under the contract, which shall be reviewed in a timely manner by the Secretary;

"(5) the organization may terminate the contract upon 90 days notice to the Secretary;

"(6) the Secretary may terminate the contract prior to the expiration of the contract term upon 90 days notice to the organization if the Secretary determines that—

"(A) the organization does not substantially meet the requirements of section 1152; or

"(B) the organization has failed substantially to carry out the contract or is carrying out the contract in a manner inconsistent with the efficient and effective administration of this part, but only after such organization has had an opportunity to submit data and have such data reviewed by the panel established under subsection (d);

"(7) the Secretary shall include in the contract negotiated objectives against which the organization's performance will be judged, and negotiated specifications for use of regional norms, or modifications thereof based on national norms, for performing review functions under the contract; and

"(8) reimbursement shall be made to the organization in accordance with the terms of the contract.

"(d)(1) Prior to making any termination under subsection (c)(5)(B), the Secretary must provide the organization with an opportunity to provide data, interpretations of data, and other information pertinent to its performance under the contract. Such data and other information shall be reviewed in a timely manner by a panel appointed by the Secretary, and the panel shall submit a report of its findings to the Secretary in a timely manner. The Secretary shall make a copy of the report available to the organization.

"(2) The Secretary may accept or not accept the findings of the panel. After the panel has submitted a report with respect to an organization, the Secretary may, with the concurrence of the organization, amend the contract to modify the scope of the functions to be carried out by the organization, or in any other manner. The Secretary may terminate a contract under the authority of subsection (c)(5)(C) upon 90 days notice after the panel has submitted a report, or earlier if the organization so agrees.

"(3) A panel appointed by the Secretary under this subsection shall consist of not more than five individuals, each of whom shall be a member of a utilization and quality control peer review organization having a contract with the Secretary under this part. While serving on such panel individuals shall be paid at a per diem rate not to exceed the current per diem equivalent at the time that service on the panel is rendered for grade GS–18 under section 5332 of title 5, United States Code. Appointments shall be made without regard to title 5, United States Code.

"(e) Contracting authority of the Secretary under this section may be carried out without regard to any provision of law relating to the making, performance, amendment, or modification of contracts of the United States as the Secretary may determine to be inconsistent with the purposes of this part. The Secretary may use different contracting methods with respect to different geographical areas.

"(f) Any determination by the Secretary to terminate or not to renew a contract under this section shall not be subject to judicial review.

"FUNCTIONS OF PEER REVIEW ORGANIZATIONS

"SEC. 1154. (a) Any utilization and quality control peer review organization entering into a contract with the Secretary under this part must perform the following functions:

"(1) The organization shall review some or all of the professional activities in the area, subject to the terms of the contract, of physicians and other health care practitioners and institutional and noninstitutional providers of health care services in the provision of health care services and items for which payment may be made (in whole or in part) under title XVIII for the purpose of determining whether—

"(A) such services and items are or were reasonable and medically necessary or otherwise allowable under section 1862(a)(1);

"(B) the quality of such services meets professionally recognized standards of health care; and

"(C) in case such services and items are proposed to be provided in a hospital or other health care facility on an inpatient basis, such services and items could, consistent with the provision of appropriate medical care, be effectively provided more economically on an outpatient basis or in an inpatient health care facility of a different type.

"(2) The organization shall determine, on the basis of the review carried out under subparagraphs (A) and (C) of paragraph (1), whether payment shall be made for services under title XVIII. Such determination shall constitute the conclusive determination on those issues for purposes of payment under title XVIII, except that payment may be made if—

"(A) such payment is allowed by reason of section 1879;

"(B) in the case of inpatient hospital services or post-hospital extended care services, the peer review organization determines that additional time is required in order to arrange for postdischarge care, but payment may be continued under this subparagraph for not more than two days, but only in the case where the provider of such services did not know and could not reasonably have been expected to know (as determined under section 1879) that payment would not otherwise be made for such services under title XVIII prior to notification by the organization under paragraph (3);

"(C) such determination is changed as the result of any hearing or review of the determination under section 1155; or

"(D) such payment is authorized under section 1861(v)(1)(G).

"(3) Whenever the organization makes a determination that any health care services or items furnished or to be furnished to a patient by any practitioner or provider are disapproved, the organization shall promptly notify such practitioner or provider, such patient, and the agency or organization responsible for the payment of claims under title XVIII of this Act. In the case of practitioners and providers of services, the organization shall provide an opportunity for discussion and review of the determination.

"(4) The organization shall, after consultation with the Secretary, determine the types and kinds of cases (whether by type of health care or diagnosis involved, or whether in terms of other relevant criteria relating to the provision of health care services) with respect to which such organization will, in order to most effectively carry out the purposes of this part, exercise review authority under the contract. The organization shall notify the Secretary periodically with respect to such determinations.

"(5) The organization shall consult with nurses and other professional health care practitioners (other than physicians described in section 1861(r)(1)) and with representatives of institutional and noninstitutional providers of health care services, with respect to the organization's responsibility for the review under paragraph (1) of the professional activities of such practitioners and providers.

"(6) The organization shall, consistent with the provisions of its contract under this part, apply professionally developed norms of care, diagnosis, and treatment based upon typical patterns of practice within the geographic area served by the organization as principal points of evaluation and review, taking into consideration national norms where appropriate. Such norms with respect to treatment for particular illnesses or health conditions shall include—

"(A) the types and extent of the health care services which, taking into account differing, but acceptable, modes of treatment and methods of organizing and delivering care, are considered within the range of appropriate diagnosis and treatment of such illness or health condition, consistent with professionally recognized and accepted patterns of care; and

"(B) the type of health care facility which is considered, consistent with such standards, to be the type in which health care services which are medically appropriate for such illness or condition can most economically be provided.

"(7) The organization, to the extent necessary and appropriate to the performance of the contract, shall—

"(A) make arrangements to utilize the services of persons who are practitioners of, or specialists in, the various areas of medicine (including dentistry), or other types of health care, which persons shall, to the maximum extent practicable, be individuals engaged in the practice of their profession within the area served by such organization;

"(B) undertake such professional inquiries either before or after, or both before and after, the provision of services with respect to which such organization has a responsibility for review which in the judgment of such organization will facilitate its activities;

"(C) examine the pertinent records of any practitioner or provider of health care services providing services with respect to which such organization has a responsibility for review under paragraph (1); and

"(D) inspect the facilities in which care is rendered or services are provided (which are located in such area) of any practitioner or provider of health care services providing services with respect to which such organization has a responsibility for review under paragraph (1).

"(8) The organization shall perform such duties and functions and assume such responsibilities and comply with such other requirements as may be required by this part or under regulations of the Secretary promulgated to carry out the provisions of this part.

"(9) The organization shall collect such information relevant to its functions, and keep and maintain such records, in such form as the Secretary may require to carry out the purposes of this part, and shall permit access to and use of any such information and records as the Secretary may require for such purposes, subject to the provisions of section 1160.

"(10) The organization shall coordinate activities, including information exchanges, which are consistent with economical and efficient operation of programs among appropriate public and private agencies or organizations including—

"(A) agencies under contract pursuant to sections 1816 and 1842 of this Act;

"(B) other peer review organizations having contracts under this part; and

"(C) other public or private review organizations as may be appropriate.

"(11) The organization shall make available its facilities and resources for contracting with private and public entities paying for health care in its area for review, as feasible and appropriate, of services reimbursed by such entities.

"(b)(1) No physician shall be permitted to review—

"(A) health care services provided to a patient if he was directly responsible for providing such services; or

"(B) health care services provided in or by an institution, organization, or agency, if he or any member of his family has, directly or indirectly, a significant financial interest in such institution, organization, or agency.

"(2) For purposes of this subsection, a physician's family includes only his spouse (other than a spouse who is legally separated from him under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance), children (including legally adopted children), grandchildren, parents, and grandparents.

"(c) No utilization and quality control peer review organization shall utilize the services of any individual who is not a duly licensed doctor of medicine, osteopathy, or dentistry to make final determinations of denial decisions in accordance with its duties and functions under this part with respect to the professional conduct of any other duly licensed doctor of medicine, osteopathy, or dentistry, or any act performed by any duly licensed doctor of medicine, osteopathy, or dentistry in the exercise of his profession.

Any beneficiary who is entitled to benefits under title XVIII, and any practitioner or provider, who is dissatisfied with a determination made by a contracting peer review organization in conducting its review responsibilities under this part, shall be entitled to a reconsideration of such determination by the reviewing organization. Where the reconsideration is adverse to the beneficiary and where the matter in controversy is $200 or more, such beneficiary shall be entitled to a hearing by the Secretary (to the same extent as is provided in section 205(b)), and, where the amount in controversy is $2,000 or more, to judicial review of the Secretary's final decision.

"(1) will be provided economically and only when, and to the extent, medically necessary;

"(2) will be of a quality which meets professionally recognized standards of health care; and

"(A) failed in a substantial number of cases substantially to comply with any obligation imposed on him under subsection (a), or

"(B) grossly and flagrantly violated any such obligation in one or more instances, such organization shall submit a report and recommendations to the Secretary. If the Secretary agrees with such determination, and determines that such practitioner or person, in providing health care services over which such organization has review responsibility and for which payment (in whole or in part) may be made under title XVIII, has demonstrated an unwillingness or a lack of ability substantially to comply with such obligations, the Secretary (in addition to any other sanction provided under law) may exclude (permanently or for such period as the Secretary may prescribe) such practitioner or person from eligibility to provide such services on a reimbursable basis. If the Secretary fails to act upon the recommendations submitted to him by such organization within 120 days after such submission, such practitioner or person shall be excluded from eligibility to provide services on a reimbursable basis until such time as the Secretary determines otherwise.

"(3) In lieu of the sanction authorized by paragraph (1), the Secretary may require that (as a condition to the continued eligibility of such practitioner or person to provide such health care services on a reimbursable basis) such practitioner or person pays to the United States, in case such acts or conduct involved the provision or ordering by such practitioner or person of health care services which were medically improper or unnecessary, an amount not in excess of the actual or estimated cost of the medically improper or unnecessary services so provided. Such amount may be deducted from any sums owing by the United States (or any instrumentality thereof) to the practitioner or person from whom such amount is claimed.

"(4) Any practitioner or person furnishing services described in paragraph (1) who is dissatisfied with a determination made by the Secretary under this subsection shall be entitled to reasonable notice and opportunity for a hearing thereon by the Secretary to the same extent as is provided in section 205(b), and to judicial review of the Secretary's final decision after such hearing as is provided in section 205(g).

"(c) It shall be the duty of each utilization and quality control peer review organization to use such authority or influence it may possess as a professional organization, and to enlist the support of any other professional or governmental organization having influence or authority over health care practitioners and any other person (including a hospital or other health care facility, organization, or agency) providing health care services in the area served by such review organization, in assuring that each practitioner or person (referred to in subsection (a)) providing health care services in such area shall comply with all obligations imposed on him under subsection (a).

(B) the extent to which the program has protected and preserved the jobs of workers, with special emphasis on newly hired employees, minorities, and women;

"(5) ELECTION OUT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The rules contained in paragraphs (1) through (4) do not apply for any taxable year if an election pursuant to subparagraph (F) is in effect to use one of the methods specified in subparagraph (C).

"(B) ELIGIBILITY.—

"(i) REQUIREMENT OF SIGNIFICANT BUSINESS PRESENCE.—An election may be made to use one of the methods specified in subparagraph (C) with respect to a product or type of service only if an electing corporation has a significant business presence in a possession with respect to such product or type of service. An election may remain in effect with respect to such product or type of service for any subsequent taxable year only if such electing corporation maintains a significant business presence in a possession with respect to such product or type of service in such subsequent taxable year. If an election is not in effect for a taxable year because of the preceding sentence, the electing corporation shall be deemed to have revoked the election on the first day of such taxable year.

"(ii) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subparagraph, an electing corporation has a 'significant business presence' in a posession for a taxable year with respect to a product or type of service if:

"(I) the total production costs (other than direct material costs and other than interest excluded by regulations prescribed by the Secretary) incurred by the electing corporation in the possession in producing units of that product sold or otherwise disposed of during the taxable year by the affiliated group to persons who are not members of the affiliated group are not less than 25 percent of the difference between (a) the gross receipts from sales or other dispositions during the taxable year by the affiliated group to persons who are not members of the affiliated group of such units of the product produced, in whole or in part, by the electing corporation in the possession, and (b) the direct material costs of the purchase of materials for such units of that product by all members of the affiliated group from persons who are not members of the affiliated group; or

"(II) no less than 65 percent of the direct labor costs of the affiliated group for units of the product produced during the taxable year in whole or in part by the electing corporation or for the type of service rendered by the electing corporation during the taxable year, is incurred by the electing corporation and is compensation for services performed in the possession; or

"(III) with respect to purchases and sales by an electing corporation of all goods not produced in whole or in part by any member of the affiliated group and sold by the electing corporation to persons other than members of the affiliated group, no less than 65 percent of the total direct labor costs of the affiliated group in connection with all purchases and sales of such goods sold during the taxable year by such electing corporation is incurred by such electing corporation and is compensation for services performed in the possession.

Notwithstanding satisfaction of one of the foregoing tests, an electing corporation shall not be treated as having a significant business presence in a possession with respect to a product produced in whole or in part by the electing corporation in the possession, for purposes of an election to use the method specified in subparagraph (C)(ii), unless such product is manufactured or produced in the possession by the electing corporation within the meaning of subsection (d)(1)(A) of section 954.

"(iii) SPECIAL RULES.—

"(I) An electing corporation which produces a product or renders a type of service in a possession on the date of the enactment of this clause is not required to meet the significant business presence test in a possession with respect to such product or type of service for its taxable years beginning before January 1, 1986.

"(II) For purposes of this subparagraph, the costs incurred by an electing corporation or any other member of the affiliated group in connection with contract manufacturing by a person other than a member of the affiliated group, or in connection with a similar arrangement thereto, shall be treated as direct labor costs of the affiliated group and shall not be treated as production costs incurred by the electing corporation in the possession or as direct material costs or as compensation for services performed in the possession, except to the extent as may be otherwise provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

"(iv) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary may prescribe regulations setting forth:

"(I) an appropriate transitional (but not in excess of three taxable years) significant business presence test for commencement in a possession of operations with respect to products or types of service after the date of the enactment of this clause and not described in subparagraph (B)(iii)(I),

"(II) a significant business presence test for other appropriate cases, consistent with the tests specified in subparagraph (B)(ii),

"(III) rules for the definition of a product or type of service, and

"(IV) rules for treating components produced in whole or in part by a related person as materials, and the costs (including direct labor costs) related thereto as a cost of materials, where there is an independent resale price for such components or where otherwise consistent with the intent of the substantial business presence tests.

"(C) METHODS OF COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME.—If an election of one of the following methods is in effect pursuant to subparagraph (F) with respect to a product or type of service, an electing corporation shall compute its income derived from the active conduct of a trade or business in a possession with respect to such product or type of service in accordance with the method which is elected.

"(i) COST SHARING.—

"(I) PAYMENT OF COST SHARING.—If an election of this method is in effect, the electing corporation must make a payment for its share of the cost (if any) of product area research which is paid or accrued by the affiliated group during that taxable year. Such share shall not be less than the same proportion of the cost of such product area research which the amount of 'possession sales' bears to the amount of 'total sales' of the affiliated group. The cost of product area research paid or accrued solely by the electing corporation in a taxable year (excluding amounts paid directly or indirectly to or on behalf of related persons and excluding amounts paid under any cost sharing agreements with related persons) will reduce (but not below zero) the amount of the electing corporation's cost sharing payment under this method for that year.

"(a) PRODUCT AREA RESEARCH.—For purposes of this section, the term 'product area research' includes (notwithstanding any provision to the contrary) the research, development and experimental costs, losses, expenses and other related deductions—including amounts paid or accrued for the performance of research or similar activities by another person; qualified research expenses within the meaning of section 44F(b); amounts paid or accrued for the use of, or the right to use, research or any of the items specified in subsection (h)(3)(B)(i); and a proper allowance for amounts incurred for the acquisition of any of the items specified in subsection (h)(3)(B)(i)—which are properly apportioned or allocated to the same product area as that in which the electing corporation conducts its activities, and a ratable part of any such costs, losses, expenses and other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to a particular product area.

"(b) AFFILIATED GROUP.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'affiliated group' shall mean the electing corporation and all other organizations, trades or businesses (whether or not incorporated, whether or not organized in the United States, and whether or not affiliated) owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests, within the meaning of section 482.

"(c) POSSESSION SALES.—For purposes of this section, the term 'possession sales' means the aggregate sales or other dispositions for the taxable year to persons who are not members of the affiliated group by members of the affiliated group of products produced, in whole or in part, by the electing corporation in the possession which are in the same product area as is used for determining the amount of product area research, and of services rendered, in whole or in part, in the possession in such product area to persons who are not members of the affiliated group.

"(d) TOTAL SALES.—For purposes of this section, the term 'total sales' means the aggregate sales or other dispositions for the taxable year to persons who are not members of the affiliated group by members of the affiliated group of all products in the same product area as is used for determining the amount of product area research, and of services rendered in such product area to persons who are not members of the affiliated group.

"(e) PRODUCT AREA.—For purposes of this section, the term 'product area' shall be defined by reference to the three-digit classification of the Standard Industrial Classification code. The Secretary may provide for the aggregation of two or more three-digit classifications where appropriate, and for a classification system other than the Standard Industrial Classification code in appropriate cases.

"(II) EFFECT OF ELECTION.—For purposes of determining the amount of its gross income derived from the active conduct of a trade or business in a possession with respect to a product produced by, or type of service rendered by, the electing corporation for a taxable year, if an election of this method is in effect, the electing corporation shall be treated as the owner (for purposes of obtaining a return thereon) of intangible property described in subsection (h)(3)(B)(i) which is related to the units of the product produced, or type of service rendered, by the electing corporation. Such electing corporation shall not be treated as the owner (for purposes of obtaining a return thereon) of any intangible property described in subsection (h)(3)(B)(ii) through (v) (to the extent not described in subsection (h)(3)(B)(i)) or of any other nonmanufacturing intangible. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, an electing corporation shall be treated as the owner (for purposes of obtaining a return thereon) of (a) intangible property which was developed solely by such corporation in a possession and is owned by such corporation, (b) intangible property described in subsection (h)(3)(B)(i) acquired by such corporation from a person who was not related to such corporation (or to any person related to such corporation) at the time of, or in connection with, such acquisition, and (c) any intangible property described in subsection (h)(3)(B)(ii) through (v) (to the extent not described in subsection (h)(3)(B)(i)) and other nonmanufacturing intangibles which relate to sales of units of products, or services rendered, to unrelated persons for ultimate consumption or use in the possession in which the electing corporation conducts its trade or business.

"(III) PAYMENT PROVISIONS.—

"(a) The cost sharing payment determined under subparagraph (C)(i)(I) for any taxable year shall be made to the person or persons specified in subparagraph (C)(i)(IV)(a) not later than the time prescribed by law for filing the electing corporation's return for such taxable year (including any extensions thereof). If all or part of such payment is not timely made, the amount of the cost sharing payment required to be paid shall be increased by the amount of interest that would have been due under section 6601(a) had the portion of the cost sharing payment that is not timely made been an amount of tax imposed by this title and had the last date prescribed for payment been the due date of the electing corporations's return (determined without regard to any extension thereof). The amount by which a cost sharing payment determined under subparagraph (C)(i)(I) is increased by reason of the preceding sentence shall not be treated as a cost sharing payment or as interest. If failure to make timely payment is due in whole or in part to fraud or willful neglect, the electing corporation shall be deemed to have revoked the election made under subparagraph (A) on the first day of the taxable year for which the cost sharing payment was required.

"(b) For purposes of this title, any tax of a foreign country or possession of the United States which is paid or accrued with respect to the payment or receipt of a cost sharing payment determined under subparagraph (C)(i)(I) or of an amount of increase referred to in subparagraph (C)(i)(III)(a) shall not be treated as income, war profits, or excess profits taxes paid or accrued to a foreign country or possession of the United States, and no deduction shall be allowed under this title with respect to any amounts of such tax so paid or accured.

"(IV) SPECIAL RULES.—

"(a) The amount of the cost sharing payment determined under subparagraph (C)(i)(I), and any increase in the amount thereof in accordance with subparagraph (C)(i)(III)(a), shall not be treated as income of the recipient, but shall reduce the amount of the deductions (and the amount of reductions in earnings and profits) otherwise allowable to the appropriate domestic member or members (other than an electing corporation) of the affiliated group, or, if there is no such domestic member, to the foreign member or members of such affiliated group as the Secretary may provide under regulations.

"(b) If an election of this method is in effect, the electing corporation shall determine its intercompany pricing under the appropriate section 482 method, provided, however, that an electing corporation shall not be denied use of the resale price method for purposes of such intercompany pricing merely because the reseller adds more than an insubstantial amount to the value of the product by the use of intangible property.

"(c) The amount of qualified research expenses, within the meaning of section 44F, of any member of the controlled group of corporations (as defined in section 44F(f)) of which the electing corporation is a member shall not be affected by the cost sharing payment required under this method.

"(ii) PROFIT SPLIT.—

"(I) GENERAL RULE.—If an election of this method is in effect, the electing corporation's taxable income derived from the active conduct of a trade or business in a possession with respect to units of a product produced or type of service rendered, in whole or in part, by the electing corporation shall be equal to 50 percent of the combined taxable income of the affiliated group (other than foreign affiliates) derived from covered sales of units of the product produced or type of service rendered, in whole or in part, by the electing corporation in a possession.

"(II) COMPUTATION OF COMBINED TAXABLE INCOME.—Combined taxable income shall be computed separately for each product produced or type of service rendered, in whole or in part, by the electing corporation in a possession. Combined taxable income shall be computed (notwithstanding any provision to the contrary) for each such product or type of service rendered by deducting from the gross income of the affiliated group (other than foreign affiliates) derived from covered sales of such product or type of service all expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated to gross income from such sales or services, and a ratable part of all expenses, losses, or other deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item or class of gross income, which are incurred by the affiliated group (other than foreign affiliates). Notwithstanding any other provision to the contrary, in computing the combined taxable income for each such product or type of service rendered, the research, development, and experimental costs, expenses and related deductions for the taxable year which would otherwise be apportioned or allocated to the gross income of the affiliated group (other than foreign affiliates) derived from covered sales of such product produced or type of service rendered, in whole or in part, by the electing corporation in a possession, shall not be less than the same proportion of the amount of the share of product area research determined under subparagraph (C)(i)(I) (without regard to the third sentence thereof) in the product area which includes such product or type of service, that such gross income from the product or type of service bears to such gross income from all products produced and types of service rendered, in whole or part, by the electing corporation in a possession.

"(III) DIVISION OF COMBINED TAXABLE INCOME.—50 percent of the combined taxable income computed as provided in subparagraph (C)(ii)(II) shall be allocated to the electing corporation. Combined taxable income, computed without regard to the last sentence of subparagraph (C)(ii)(II), less the amount allocated to the electing corporation under the preceding sentence, shall be allocated to the appropriate domestic member or members (other than any electing corporation) of the affiliated group and shall be treated as income from sources within the United States, or, if there is no such domestic member, to a foreign member or members of such affiliated group as the Secretary may provide under regulations.

"(IV) COVERED SALES.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'covered sales' means sales by members of the affilated group (other than foreign affiliates) to persons who are not members of the affiliated group or to foreign affiliates.

"(D) UNRELATED PERSON.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'unrelated person' means any person other than a person related within the meaning of paragraph (3)(D) to the electing corporation.

The part of the deficiency so prorated to any installment the date for payment of which has arrived shall be paid on notice and demand from the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. "(a) PETITION BY TAX MATTERS PARTNER.—Within 90 days after the day on which a notice of a final partnership administrative adjustment is mailed to the tax matters partner, the tax matters partner may file a petition for a readjustment of the partnership items for such taxable year with—

"(1) the Tax Court,

"(2) the district court of the United States for the district in which the partnership's principal place of business is located, or

"(3) the Claims Court.

"(b) PETITION BY PARTNER OTHER THAN TAX MATTERS PARTNER.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If the tax matters partner does not file a readjustment petition under subsection (a) with respect to any final partnership administrative adjustment, any notice partner (and any 5-percent group) may, within 60 days after the close of the 90-day period set forth in subsection (a), file a petition for a readjustment of the partnership items for the taxable year involved with any of the courts described in subsection (a).

"(2) PRIORITY OF THE TAX COURT ACTION.—If more than 1 action is brought under paragraph (1) with respect to any partnership for any partnership taxable year, the first such action brought in the Tax Court shall go forward.

"(3) PRIORITY OUTSIDE THE TAX COURT.—If more than 1 action is brought under paragraph (1) with respect to any partnership for any taxable year but no such action is brought in the Tax Court, the first such action brought shall go forward.

"(4) DISMISSAL OF OTHER ACTIONS.—If an action is brought under paragraph (1) in addition to the action which goes forward under paragraph (2) or (3), such action shall be dismissed.

"(5) TAX MATTERS PARTNER MAY INTERVENE.—The tax matters partner may intervene in any action brought under this subsection.

"(c) PARTNERS TREATED AS PARTIES.—If an action is brought under subsection (a) or (b) with respect to a partnership for any partnership taxable year—

"(1) each person who was a partner in such partnership at any time during such year shall be treated as a party to such action, and

"(2) the court having jurisdiction of such action shall allow each such person to participate in the action.

"(d) PARTNER MUST HAVE INTEREST IN OUTCOME.—

"(1) IN ORDER TO BE PARTY TO ACTION.—Subsection (c) shall not apply to a partner after the day on which—

"(A) the partnership items of such partner for the partnership taxable year became nonpartnership items by reason of 1 or more of the events described in subsection (b) of section 6231, or

"(B) the period within which any tax attributable to such partnership items may be assessed against that partner expired.

"(2) TO FILE PETITION.—No partner may file a readjustment petition under subsection (b) unless such partner would (after the application of paragraph (1) of this subsection) be treated as a party to the proceeding.

"(e) JURISDICTIONAL REQUIREMENT FOR BRINGING ACTION IN DISTRICT COURT OR CLAIMS COURT.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A readjustment petition under this section may be filed in a district court of the United States or the Claims Court only if the partner filing the petition deposits with the Secretary, on or before the day the petition is filed, the amount by which the tax liability of the partner would be increased if the treatment of partnership items on the partner's return were made consistent with the treatment of partnership items on the partnership return, as adjusted by the final partnership administrative adjustment. In the case of a petition filed by a 5-percent group, the requirement of the preceding sentence shall apply to each member of the group. The court may by order provide that the jurisdictional requirements of this paragraph are satisfied where there has been a good faith attempt to satisfy such requirements and any shortfall in the amount required to be deposited is timely corrected.

"(2) REFUND ON REQUEST.—If an action brought in a district court of the United States or in the Claims Court is dismissed by reason of the priority of a Tax Court action under paragraph (2) of subsection (b), the Secretary shall, at the request of the partner who made the deposit, refund the amount deposited under paragraph (1).

"(3) INTEREST PAYABLE.—Any amount deposited under paragraph (1), while deposited, shall not be treated as a payment of tax for purposes of this title (other than chapter 67).

"(f) SCOPE OF JUDICIAL REVIEW.—A court with which a petition is filed in accordance with this section shall have jurisdiction to determine all partnership items of the partnership for the partnership taxable year to which the notice of final partnership administrative adjustment relates and the proper allocation of such items among the partners.

"(g) DETERMINATION OF COURT REVIEWABLE.—Any determination by a court under this section shall have the force and effect of a decision of the Tax Court or a final judgment or decree of the district court or the Claims Court, as the case may be, and shall be reviewable as such. Only the tax matters partner, a notice partner, or a 5-percent group may seek review of a determination by a court under this section.

"(h) EFFECT OF DECISION DISMISSING ACTION.—If an action brought under this section is dismissed (other than under paragraph (4) of subsection (b)), the decision of the court dismissing the action shall be considered as its decision that the notice of final partnership administrative adjustment is correct, and an appropriate order shall be entered in the records of the court.

"SEC. 6227. ADMINISTRATIVE ADJUSTMENT REQUESTS.

"(a) GENERAL RULE.—A partner may file a request for an administrative adjustment of partnership items for any partnership taxable year at any time which is—

"(2) before the mailing to the tax matters partner of a notice of final partnership administrative adjustment with respect to such taxable year.

"(b) REQUESTS BY TAX MATTERS PARTNER ON BEHALF OF PARTNERSHIP.—

"(1) SUBSTITUTED RETURN.—If the tax matters partner—

"(A) files a request for an administrative adjustment, and

"(B) asks that the treatment shown on the request be substituted for the treatment of partnership items on the partnership return to which the request relates, the Secretary may treat the changes shown on such request as corrections of mathematical or clerical errors appearing on the partnership return.

"(2) REQUESTS NOT TREATED AS SUBSTITUTED RETURNS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—If the tax matters partner files an administrative adjustment request on behalf of the partnership which is not treated as a substituted return under paragraph (1), the Secretary may, with respect to all or any part of the requested adjustments—

"(i) without conducting any proceeding, allow or make to all partners the credits or refunds arising from the requested adjustments,

"(ii) conduct a partnership proceeding under this subchapter, or

"(iii) take no action on the request.

"(B) EXCEPTIONS.—Clause (i) of subparagraph (A) shall not apply with respect to a partner after the day on which the partnership items become nonpartnership items by reason of 1 or more of the events described in subsection (b) of section 6231.

"(3) REQUEST MUST SHOW EFFECT ON DISTRIBUTIVE SHARES.—The tax matters partner shall furnish with any administrative adjustment request on behalf of the partnership revised schedules showing the effect of such request on the distributive shares of the partners and such other information as may be required under regulations.

"(c) OTHER REQUESTS.—If any partner files a request for an administrative adjustment (other than a request described in subsection (b)), the Secretary may—

"(1) process the request in the same manner as a claim for credit or refund with respect to items which are not partnership items,

"(2) assess any additional tax that would result from the requested adjustments,

"(3) mail to the partner, under subparagraph (A) of section 6231(b)(1) (relating to items becoming nonpartnership items), a notice that all partnership items of the partner for the partnership taxable year to which such request relates shall be treated as nonpartnership items, or

"(4) conduct a partnership proceeding.

"SEC. 6228. JUDICIAL REVIEW WHERE ADMINISTRATIVE ADJUSTMENT REQUEST IS NOT ALLOWED IN FULL.

"(a) REQUEST ON BEHALF OF PARTNERSHIP.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If any part of an administrative adjustment request filed by the tax matters partner under subsection

"(ii) before the date which is 2 years after the date of such request.

"(B) NO PETITION AFTER NOTICE OF BEGINNING OF ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEEDING.—No petition may be filed under paragraph (1) after the day the Secretary mails to the partnership a notice of the beginning of an administrative proceeding with respect to the partnership taxable year to which such request relates.

"(C) FAILURE BY SECRETARY TO ISSUE TIMELY NOTICE OF ADJUSTMENT.—If the Secretary—

"(i) mails the notice referred to in subparagraph (B) before the expiration of the 2-year period referred to in clause (ii) of subparagraph (A), and

"(ii) fails to mail a notice of final partnership administrative adjustment with respect to the partnership taxable year to which the request relates before the expiration of the period described in section 6229(a) (including any extension by agreement), subparagraph (B) shall cease to apply with respect to such request, and the 2-year period referred to in clause (ii) of subparagraph (A) shall not expire before the date 6 months after the expiration of the period described in section 6229(a) (including any extension by agreement).

"(B) ADMINISTRATIVE ADJUSTMENT AFTER FILING BUT BEFORE HEARING OF PETITION.—If the Secretary mails to the tax matters partner a notice of final partnership administrative adjustment for the partnership taxable year to which the request under section 6227 relates after the filing

"(C) NOTICE MUST BE BEFORE EXPIRATION OF STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.—A notice of final partnership administrative adjustment for the partnership taxable year shall be taken into account under subparagraphs (A) and (B) only if such notice is mailed before the expiration of the period prescribed by section 6229 for making assessments of tax attributable to partnership items for such taxable year.

"(4) PARTNERS TREATED AS PARTY TO ACTION.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—If an action is brought by the tax matters partner under paragraph (1) with respect to any request for an adjustment of a partnership item for any taxable year—

"(i) each person who was a partner in such partnership at any time during the partnership taxable year involved shall be treated as a party to such action, and

"(ii) the court having jurisdiction of such action shall allow each such person to participate in the action.

"(B) PARTNERS MUST HAVE INTEREST IN OUTCOME.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), rules similar to the rules of paragraph (1) of section 6226(d) shall apply.

"(5) SCOPE OF JUDICIAL REVIEW.—Except in the case described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (3), a court with which a petition is filed in accordance with this subsection shall have jurisdiction to determine only those partnership items to which the part of the request under section 6227 not allowed by the Secretary relates and those items with respect to which the Secretary asserts adjustments as offsets to the adjustments requested by the tax matters partner.

"(6) DETERMINATION OF COURT REVIEWABLE.—Any determination by a court under this subsection shall have the force and effect of a decision of the Tax Court or a final judgment or decree of the district court or the Claims Court, as the case may be, and shall be reviewable as such. Only the tax matters partner, a notice partner, or a 5-percent group may seek review of a determination by a court under this subsection.

"(b) OTHER REQUESTS.—

"(1) NOTICE PROVIDING THAT ITEMS BECOME NONPARTNERSHIP ITEMS.—If the Secretary mails to a partner, under subparagraph (A) of section 6231 (b) (1) (relating to items ceasing to be partnership items), a notice that all partnership items of the partner for the partnership taxable year to which a timely request for administrative adjustment under subsection (c) of section 6227 relates shall be treated as nonpartnership items—

"(A) such request shall be treated as a claim for credit or refund of an overpayment attributable to nonpartnership items, and

"(B) the partner may bring an action under section 7422 with respect to such claim at any time within 2 years of the mailing of such notice.

"(2) OTHER CASES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary fails to allow any part of an administrative adjustment request filed under subsection (c) of section 6227 by a partner and paragraph (1) does not apply—

"(i) such partner may, pursuant to section 7422, begin a civil action for refund of any amount due by reason of the adjustments described in such part of the request, and

"(ii) on the beginning of such civil action, the partnership items of such partner for the partnership taxable year to which such part of such request relates shall be treated as nonpartnership items for purposes of this subchapter.

"(B) PERIOD FOR FILING PETITION.—

"(ii) fails to mail a notice of final partnership administrative adjustment with respect to the partnership taxable year to which the request relates before the expiration of the period described in section 6229(a) (including any extension by agreement), subparagraph (C) shall cease to apply with respect to such request, and the 2-year period referred to in clause (i) (II) of subparagraph (B) shall not expire before the date 6 months after the expiration of the period described in section 6229(a) (including any extension by agreement).

"SEC. 6229. PERIOD OF LIMITATIONS FOR MAKING ASSESSMENTS.

"(a) GENERAL RULE.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the period for assessing any tax imposed by subtitle A with respect to any person which is attributable to any partnership item (or affected item) for a partnership taxable year shall not expire before the date which is 3 years after the later of—before the expiration of such period.

"(2) COORDINATION WITH SECTION 6501(c)(4).—Any agreement under section 6501(c)(4) shall apply with respect to the period described in subsection (a) only if the agreement expressly provides that such agreement applies to tax attributable to partnership items.

"(c) SPECIAL RULE IN CASE OF FRAUD, ETC.—

"(1) FALSE RETURN.—If any partner has, with the intent to evade tax, signed or participated directly or indirectly in the preparation of a partnership return which includes a false or fraudulent item—

"(ii) to apply to the partner a settlement, a final partnership administrative adjustment, or the decision of a court in an action brought under section 6226 or section 6228(a), or

"(B) the Secretary failed to allow a credit or to make a refund to the partner in the amount of the overpayment attributable to the application to the partner of a settlement, a final partnership administrative adjustment, or the decision of a court in an action brought under section 6226 or section 6228(a) (or erroneously computed the amount of any such credit or refund).

"(2) TIME FOR FILING CLAIM.—

"(A) UNDER PARAGRAPH (1)(A).—Any claim under paragraph (1)(A) shall be filed within 6 months after the day on which the Secretary mails the notice of computational adjustment to the partner.

"(3) CLAIM UNDER SUBSECTION (c).—If a timely claim is filed under subsection (c) for a credit or refund of an overpayment attributable to a partnership item (or affected item), credit or refund of such overpayment may be allowed or made at any time before the expiration of the period specified in section 6532 (relating to periods of limitations on suits) for bringing suit with respect to such claim.

If the tax matters partner later discovers that the information furnished to the Secretary was incorrect or incomplete, the tax matters partner shall furnish such revised or additional information as may be necessary.

"(f) FAILURE OF TAX MATTERS PARTNER, ETC., TO FULFILL RESPONSIBILITY DOES NOT AFFECT APPLICABILITY OF PROCEEDING.—The failure of the tax matters partner, a pass-thru partner, the representative of a notice group, or any other representative of a partner to provide any notice or perform any act required under this subchapter or under regulations prescribed under this subchapter on behalf of such partner does not affect the applicability of any proceeding or adjustment under this subchapter to such partner.

"(7) TAX MATTERS PARTNER.—The tax matters partner of any partnership is—

"(A) the general partner designated as the tax matters partner as provided in regulations, or

"(B) if there is no general partner who has been so designated, the general partner having the largest profits interest in the partnership at the close of the taxable year involved (or, where there is more than 1 such partner, the 1 of such partners whose name would appear first in an alphabetical listing).

If there is no general partner designated under subparagraph (A) and the Secretary determines that it is impracticable to apply subparagraph (B), the partner selected by the Secretary shall be treated as the tax matters partner.

"(8) NOTICE PARTNER.—The term 'notice partner' means a partner who, at the time in question, would be entitled to notice under subsection (a) of section 6223 (determined without regard to subsections (b)(2) and (e)(1)(B) thereof).

"(B)(i) such partner has filed a request under section 6227(b) for administrative adjustment of one or more of such items, and

"(D) foreign partnerships, and

"(E) other areas that the Secretary determines by regulation to present special enforcement considerations.

"(2) ITEMS MAY BE TREATED AS NONPARTNERSHIP ITEMS.—To the extent that the Secretary determines and provides by regulations that to treat items as partnership items will interfere with the effective and efficient enforcement of this title in any case described in paragraph (1), such items shall be treated as nonpartnership items for purposes of this subchapter.

"(3) SPECIAL RULES.—The Secretary may prescribe by regulation such special rules as the Secretary determines to be necessary to achieve the purposes of this subchapter in any case described in paragraph (1).

SEC. 502. DECLARATION OF POLICY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Congress hereby finds and declares that—

(1) the safe operation of the airport and airway system will continue to be the highest aviation priority;

(2) the continuation of airport and airway improvement programs and more effective management and utilization of the Nation's airport and airway system are required to meet the current and projected growth of aviation and the requirements of interstate commerce, the Postal Service, and the national defense;

(3) this title should be administered in a manner to provide adequate navigation aids and airport facilities, including reliever airports and reliever heliports, for points where scheduled commercial air service is provided;

(4) this title should be administered in a manner consistent with a comprehensive airspace system plan to maximize the use of safety facilities, with highest priority for commercial service airports, including but not limited to, the goal of installing, operating, and maintaining, to the extent possible under available funds and given other safety needs, a precision approach system and a full approach light system for each primary runway, grooving, or friction treatment of all primary and secondary runways, a nonprecision instrument approach for all secondary runways, runway end identifier lights on all runways that do not have an approach light system, electronic or visual vertical guidance on all runways, runway edge lighting and marking, and radar approach coverage for all airport terminal areas;

(5) all airport and airway programs should be administered in a manner consistent with the provisions of sections 102 and 103 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, with due regard for the goals expressed therein of fostering competition, preventing unfair methods of competition in air transportation, maintaining essential air transportation, and preventing unjust and discriminatory practices;

(6) reliever airports make an important contribution to the efficient operation of the airport and airway system, and special emphasis should be given to their development;

(7) aviation facilities should be constructed and operated with due regard to minimizing current and projected noise impacts on nearby communities;

(8) the Federal administrative requirements placed upon airport sponsors can be reduced and simplified through the use of a single project application to cover all airport improvement projects contained in the airport's annual expenditure program; and

(9) it is in the national interest to develop in metropolitan areas an integrated system of airports designed to provide expeditious access and maximum safety.

(b) TRANSPORTATION PLANNING.—It is declared to be in the national interest to encourage and promote the development of transportation systems embracing various modes of transportation in a manner that will serve the States and local communities efficiently and effectively. To accomplish this objective, the Secretary shall cooperate with State and local officials in the development of airport plans and programs which are formulated on the basis of overall transportation needs and coordinated with other transportation planning with due consideration to comprehensive long-range land-use and access plans and overall social, economic, environmental, system performance, and energy conservation goals and objectives. The process shall be continuing, cooperative, and comprehensive to the degree appropriate based on the complexity of the transportation problems.

(a) AIRWAY FACILITIES AND EQUIPMENT.—For the purposes of acquiring, establishing, and improving air navigation facilities under section 307(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(b)), there is authorized to be appropriated from the Trust Fund for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1981, aggregate amounts not to exceed $261,000,000 for fiscal year 1982; $986,000,000 for the fiscal years ending before October 1, 1983; $2,379,000,000 for the fiscal years ending before October 1, 1984; $3,786,000,000 for the fiscal years ending before October 1, 1985; $5,163,000,000 for the fiscal years ending before October 1, 1986; and $6,327,000,000 for the fiscal years ending before October 1, 1987. Amounts appropriated under the authorizations in this subsection shall remain available until expended.

(2) The costs of site preparation work associated with acquisition, establishment, or improvement of air navigation facilities by the Secretary pursuant to section 307(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 shall be charged to appropriated funds available to the Secretary for that purpose pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subsection. Nothing in this title shall preclude the Secretary from providing, in a grant agreement or other agreement with an airport owner or sponsor, for the performance of such site preparation work in connection with airport development, subject to payment or reimbursement for such site preparation work by the Secretary from such appropriated funds.

(b) RESEARCH, ENGINEERING AND DEVELOPMENT, AND DEMONSTRATIONS.—The Secretary is authorized to carry out under section 312 (49 U.S.C. 1353) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 such demonstration projects as the Secretary determines necessary in connection with research and development activities under section 312. For research, engineering and development, and demonstration projects and activities under section 312, there is authorized to be appropriated from the Trust Fund $72,000,000 for fiscal year 1982; $134,000,000 for fiscal year 1983 (of which not more than $16,800,000 is authorized to be appropriated for facilities, engineering and development); $286,000,000 for fiscal year 1984 (of which not more than $24,700,000 is authorized to be appropriated for facilities, engineering and development); $269,000,000 for fiscal year 1985 (of which not more than $23,100,000 is authorized to be appropriated for facilities, engineering and development); $215,000,000 for fiscal year 1986 (of which not more than $22,700,000 is authorized to be appropriated for facilities, engineering and development); and $193,000,000 for fiscal year 1987 (of which not more than $22,000,000 is authorized to be appropriated for facilities, engineering and development). Amounts appropriated under the authorizations in this subsection shall remain available until expended.

(c) OTHER EXPENSES.—(1) The balance of the moneys available in the Trust Fund may be appropriated for (A) costs of services provided under international agreements relating to the joint financing of air navigation services which are assessed against the United States Government, and (B) direct costs incurred by the Secretary to flight check, operate, and maintain air navigation facilities referred to in subsection (a) of this section in a safe and efficient manner.

(2) The amount appropriated from the Trust Fund for the purposes of clauses (A) and (B) of paragraph (1) of this subsection for fiscal year 1982 may not exceed $800,000,000, and for any fiscal year beginning after September 30, 1982, and ending before October 1, 1987, may not exceed the amount made available for purposes of section 505 for that fiscal year multiplied by a factor equal to 2.44 in the case of fiscal year 1983; 1.57 in the case of fiscal year 1984; 1.39 in the case of fiscal year 1985; 1.28 in the case of fiscal year 1986; and 1.34 in the case of fiscal year 1987. The amount authorized to be appropriated from the Trust Fund under this paragraph for any fiscal year shall be reduced by an amount equal to two times the excess, if any, of (A) the portion of the amount authorized to be appropriated under subsection (a) of this section for such fiscal year which was not authorized to be appropriated for any previous fiscal year, over (B) the amount appropriated under such subsection for such fiscal year.

(d) WEATHER SERVICES.—The Secretary is authorized to reimburse the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration from the funds authorized in subsection (c) for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1982, for the cost of providing the Federal Aviation Administration with weather reporting services. Expenditures for the purposes of carrying out this subsection shall be limited to $26,700,000 for fiscal year 1983; $28,569,000 for fiscal year 1984; $30,569,000 for fiscal year 1985; $32,709,000 for fiscal year 1986; and $34,998,000 for fiscal year 1987.

(e) PRESERVATION OF FUNDS AND PRIORITY FOR AIRPORT AND AIRWAY PROGRAMS.—(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, no amounts may be appropriated from the Trust Fund to carry out any program or activity under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, except programs or activities referred to in this section.

(2) Amounts equal to the amounts authorized for each fiscal year by section 505 of this title and subsections (a), (b), and (d) and the third sentence of section (c) of this section shall remain available in the Trust Fund until appropriated for the purposes described in such subsections.

(3) No amounts in the Trust Fund may be appropriated for any fiscal year to carry out administrative expenses of the Department of Transportation or of any unit thereof except to the extent authorized by subsection (c) of this section.

(4) No provision of law, except for a statute enacted after the date of enactment of this title which expressly limits the application of this paragraph, shall impair the authority of the Secretary to obligate to an airport by grant agreement in any fiscal year the unobligated balance of amounts which were apportioned in prior fiscal years and which remain available for approved airport development projects pursuant to section 508(a) of this title, in addition to the amounts authorized for that fiscal year by section 505.

(5) No provision of law shall be construed as authorizing the Secretary to obligate or expend any amounts appropriated from the Trust Fund for the purposes described in subsection (c) in any fiscal year after September 30, 1987, unless the provision expressly amends the provisions of and the formulas in subsection (c) of this section.

(f) TRANSMITTAL OF BUDGET ESTIMATES.—Whenever the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration submits or transmits any budget estimate, budget request, supplemental budget estimate, or other budget information, legislative recommendation, or comment on legislation to the Secretary, the President of the United States, or to the Office of Management and Budget pertaining to funds authorized in subsection (a) or (b) of this section, it shall concurrently transmit a copy thereof to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Committees on Public Works and Transportation and Appropriations of the House of Representatives, the President of the Senate, and the Committees on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and Appropriations of the Senate.

SEC. 507. APPORTIONMENT OF FUNDS.

(a) APPORTIONMENT.—On the first day of each fiscal year for which any amount is authorized to be obligated for the purposes of section 505 of this title, the amount made available for that year under such section and not previously apportioned shall be apportioned by the Secretary as follows:

(1) PRIMARY AIRPORTS.—

(A) To the sponsor of each primary airport, as follows:

(i) $6 for each of the first fifty thousand passengers enplaned at that airport;

(ii) $4 for each of the next fifty thousand passengers enplaned at that airport;

(iii) $2 for each of the next four hundred thousand passengers enplaned at that airport; and

(iv) $0.50 for each additional passenger enplaned at that airport.

(B) In each of the fiscal years 1984 through 1987, the Secretary shall apportion an amount to the sponsor of each primary airport in addition to whatever amount is apportioned to such airport under the formula set forth in subparagraph (A). The additional apportionment shall be calculated by determining the amount such airport is to be apportioned under the formula in subparagraph (A) and then increasing that amount by 10 percent for fiscal year 1984, 20 percent for fiscal year 1985, 25 percent for fiscal year 1986, and 30 percent for fiscal year 1987.

(C) The Secretary shall not apportion less than $200,000 nor more than $12,500,000 under this paragraph to an airport sponsor for any primary airport for any fiscal year.

(D) In no event shall the total amount of all apportionments under this paragraph for any fiscal year exceed 50 percent of the amount authorized to be obligated for such fiscal year for the purposes of section 505 of this title. In any case in which an apportionment would be reduced by the preceding sentence, the Secretary shall for such fiscal year reduce the apportionment to each sponsor of a primary airport under this paragraph proportionately so that such 50 percent amount is achieved.

(E) If any Act of Congress has the effect of limiting or reducing the amount authorized or available to be obligated for any fiscal year for the purposes of section 505 of this title, the total amount of all apportionments under this paragraph for such fiscal year shall not exceed 50 percent of such limited or reduced amount. In any case in which an apportionment would be reduced by the preceding sentence, the Secretary shall for such fiscal year reduce the apportionment to each sponsor of a primary airport under this paragraph proportionately so that such 50 percent amount is achieved.

(2) APPORTIONMENTS TO STATES.—To the States, there shall be apportioned for each of the fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1981, and ending before October 1, 1987, 12 percent of the amount made available under section 505 for such fiscal year, as follows:

(A) INSULAR AREAS.—For airports other than primary airports, one percent of such amounts to Guam, American Samoa, the government of the Northern Mariana Islands, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and the Virgin Islands.

(B) STATES.—For airports other than primary airports and other than airports described in section 508(d)(3), one-half of the remaining 99 per centum to the States (other than those to which subparagraph (A) of this paragraph applies) in the proportion which the population of each such State bears to the total population of all such States and one-half of the remaining 99 per centum to the States (other than those to which subparagraph (A) of this paragraph applies) in the proportion which the area of each such State bears to the total area of all such States. As used in this paragraph, the term "population" means the population according to the latest decennial census of the United States and the term "area" includes both land and water.

(3) DISCRETIONARY FUND.—Any amounts not apportioned under paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of this subsection shall constitute a discretionary fund to be distributed at the discretion of the Secretary (subject to the limitations set forth in section 508(d) of this title) for such grants for any of the purposes for which funds are made available under section 505 as the Secretary considers most appropriate for carrying out the purposes of this title.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, for any fiscal year for which funds are made available under section 505 of this title the Secretary may apportion funds for airports in the State of Alaska in the same manner in which funds were apportioned in fiscal year 1980 under section 15(a) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970. In no event shall the total amount apportioned for such airports under this paragraph for any fiscal year be less than the minimum amounts that were required to be apportioned to such airports in fiscal year 1980 under section 15(a)(3)(A) of such Act. In no event shall a primary airport be apportioned less under this paragraph for a fiscal year than it would be apportioned for such fiscal year under paragraph (1) of this subsection. In no event shall the amount of funds apportioned under this paragraph which are expended at any commercial service airport in the State of Alaska during a fiscal year exceed 110 percent of the amount apportioned to such airport for such fiscal year. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as prohibiting the Secretary from making additional project grants to airports in the State of Alaska from the discretionary fund established in paragraph (3) of this subsection.

(b) PASSENGERS ENPLANED.—For purposes of determining apportionments for any fiscal year under paragraph (1) of subsection (a) of this section, the number of passengers enplaned at an airport shall be based on the number of passengers enplaned at such airport during the preceding calendar year.

SEC. 508. USE OF APPORTIONED AND DISCRETIONARY FUNDS; MISCELLANEOUS CONDITIONS.

(a) DURATION OF AVAILABILITY OF APPORTIONED AMOUNTS.—Each amount apportioned under paragraph (1), (2), or (4) of section 507(a) of this title shall be available for obligation under such apportionment during the fiscal year for which it was first authorized to be obligated and the two fiscal years immediately following. Any amount so apportioned which has not been obligated within such time shall be added to the discretionary fund established by section 507(a)(3) of this title.

(b) TRANSFER OF CERTAIN APPORTIONMENTS OF PRIMARY AIRPORTS.—(1) Funds apportioned to a sponsor under section 507(a)(1) of this title may be used for any of the purposes for which funds are made available under section 505 at any public-use airport of such sponsor which is in the national plan of integrated airport systems.

(2) A sponsor may enter into an agreement with the Secretary whereby the sponsor waives receipt of all or part of the funds apportioned to it under such section on the condition that the Secretary make the waived amount available for any of the purposes for which funds are made available under section 505 to the sponsor of another public-use airport which is a part of the same State or geographical area as the airport of the sponsor making the waiver.

(c) STATES.—Funds apportioned to a State under section 507(a)(2) shall be available for any of the purposes for which funds are made available under section 505 to airports described in section 507(a)(2) which are located in such State. Each sponsor of such an airport may apply to the Secretary for grants from funds apportioned to such State.

(d) GENERAL LIMITATIONS.—(1) Not less than 10 percent of the funds made available under section 505 for any fiscal year shall be distributed to reliever airports during such fiscal year.

(2) Not less than 8 percent of the funds made available under section 505 for any fiscal year shall be obligated during such fiscal year (A) for airport noise compatibility planning under section 103(b) of the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 and for carrying out noise compatibility programs or parts thereof under section 104(c) of such Act, and (B) in the case of fiscal year 1982, for any of the purposes set forth in section 505(c) of this title.

(3) Not less than 5.5 percent of the funds made available under section 505 for any fiscal year shall be distributed during such fiscal year to—

(A) commercial service airports which are not primary airports,

(B) public airports (other than commercial service airports) which were eligible for Federal assistance from funds apportioned under section 15(a)(3) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970, and to which section 15(a)(3)(A)(I) of such Act applied during fiscal year 1981, and

(C) public airports (other than commercial service airports) which were eligible for Federal assistance from funds apportioned under section 15(a)(3) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970, and to which section 15(a)(3)(A)(II) of such Act applied during fiscal year 1981.

No amounts obligated from the funds apportioned under paragraph (4) of section 507(a) shall be counted as part of the 5.5 percent required to be distributed under this paragraph for each fiscal year.

(4) Not less than one percent of the funds made available under section 505 for any fiscal year shall be distributed to planning agencies for the purpose of integrated airport system planning during such fiscal year.

(5) If the Secretary determines that he will not be able to distribute the amount of funds required to be distributed under paragraph (1), (2), (3), or (4) of this subsection for any fiscal year because the number of qualified applications submitted in compliance with this title is insufficient to meet such amount, the portion of such amount the Secretary determines will not be distributed shall be available for obligation during such fiscal year for other airports and for other purposes authorized by section 505 of this title.

SEC. 509. SUBMISSION AND APPROVAL OF PROJECT GRANT APPLICATIONS.

(a) SUBMISSION.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this subsection, (A) any public agency, or two or more public agencies acting jointly, or (B) any sponsor of a public-use airport, or two or more such sponsors acting jointly, may submit to the Secretary a project grant application for one or more projects, in a form and containing such information as the Secretary may prescribe, setting forth the project proposed to be undertaken. No project grant application shall propose airport development or airport planning except in connection with public-use airports included in the current national plan of integrated airport systems prepared pursuant to section 504 of this title. Nothing in this subsection shall authorize the submission of a project grant application by any public agency which is subject to the law of any State if the submission of such application by the public agency is prohibited by the law of that State. All proposed airport development shall be in accordance with standards established or approved by the Secretary, including, but not limited to, standards for site location, airport layout, site preparation, paving, lighting, and safety of approaches.

(2) Notwithstanding any provision of this title, the sponsor of any airport may submit a project-grant application for airport development (including noise compatibility projects) to the Secretary within 180 days after the date of enactment of this title, and the Secretary may incur obligations to fund such projects, in accordance with the provisions of this title, from funds available for obligation pursuant to section 507(a), if—

(A) a project-grant application or preapplication for such project was submitted to the Secretary before September 30, 1980; or

(B) the project was carried out after September 30, 1980, and before the date of enactment of this title.

(b) APPROVAL.—(1) No project grant application may be approved by the Secretary unless the Secretary is satisfied that—

(A) the project is reasonably consistent with plans (existing at the time of approval of the project) of public agencies authorized by the State in which such airport is located to plan for the development of the area surrounding the airport and will contribute to the accomplishment of the purposes of this title;

(B) sufficient funds are available for that portion of the project costs which are not to be paid by the United States under this title;

(C) the project will be completed without undue delay;

(D) the sponsor which submitted the project grant application has legal authority to engage in the project as proposed; and

(E) all project sponsorship requirements prescribed by or under the authority of this title have been or will be met.

(2) No project grant application for airport development may be approved by the Secretary unless the sponsor, a public agency, or the United States or an agency thereof holds good title, satisfactory to the Secretary, to the landing area of the airport or site therefor, or gives assurance satisfactory to the Secretary that good title will be acquired.

(3) No project grant application for airport development may be approved by the Secretary which does not include provision for (A) land required for the installation of approach light systems; (B) touchdown zone and centerline runway lighting; or (C) high intensity runway lighting, when it is determined by the Secretary that any such item is required for the safe and efficient use of the airport by aircraft, taking into account the type and volume of traffic utilizing the airport.

(4) No project grant application for airport development may be approved unless the Secretary is satisfied that fair consideration has been given to the interest of communities in or near which the project may be located.

(5) It is declared to be national policy that airport development projects authorized pursuant to this title shall provide for the protection and enhancement of the natural resources and the quality of the environment of the Nation. In implementing this policy, the Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of the Interior and the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency with regard to any project included in a project grant application involving airport location, a major runway extension, or runway location which may have a significant impact on natural resources including, but not limited to, fish and wildlife, natural, scenic, and recreation assets, water and air quality, and other factors affecting the environment, and shall authorize no such project found to have significant adverse effect unless the Secretary shall render a finding, in writing, following a full and complete review, which shall be a matter of public record, that no feasible and prudent alternative exists and that all reasonable steps have been taken to minimize such adverse effect.

(6)(A) No project grant application for airport development involving the location of an airport, an airport runway, or a major runway extension may be approved by the Secretary unless the sponsor of the project certifies to the Secretary that there has been afforded the opportunity for public hearings for the purpose of considering the economic, social, and environmental effects of the airport or runway location and its consistency with the goals and objectives of such planning as has been carried out by the community.

(B) When hearings are held under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the project sponsor shall, when requested by the Secretary, submit a copy of the transcript to the Secretary.

(7)(A) No project grant application for a project involving airport location, a major runway extension, or runway location may be approved unless the Governor of the State in which such project is to be located certifies in writing to the Secretary that there is reasonable assurance that the project will be located, designed, constructed, and operated so as to comply with applicable air and water quality standards. In any case where such standards have not been approved and where applicable air and water quality standards have been promulgated by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, certification shall be obtained from such Administrator. Notice of certification or refusal to certify shall be provided within sixty days after the project application has been received by the Secretary.

(B) The Secretary shall condition approval of any such project grant application on compliance during construction and operation with applicable air and water quality standards.

(8) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary may approve an application for an airport development project (other than an airport development project to which paragraph (7)(A) applies) at an existing airport without requiring the preparation of an environmental impact statement with respect to noise for such project if—

(A) completion of the project would allow existing aircraft operations at the airport that involve aircraft that do not comply with the noise standards prescribed for "stage 2" aircraft in section 36.1 of title 14, Code of Federal Regulations, to be replaced by aircraft operations involving aircraft that do comply with such standards; and

(B) the project complies with all other statutory and administrative requirements imposed under this title.

(9) In establishing priorities for the distribution of funds available pursuant to section 507 of this title, the Secretary may give priority to approval of projects that are consistent with integrated airport system plans.

(c) STATE STANDARDS.—The Secretary is authorized to approve standards, other than standards for safety of approaches, established by a State for airport development at public-use airports in such State which are not primary airports, and, upon such approval, such State standards shall be the standards applicable to such airports in lieu of any comparable standard established under subsection (a) of this section. State standards approved under this subsection may be revised from time to time, as the State or the Secretary determines necessary, subject to approval of such revisions by the Secretary.

(d) ACCEPTANCE OF CERTIFICATION.—The Secretary is authorized in connection with any project to require a certification from a sponsor that such sponsor will comply with all of the statutory and administrative requirements imposed on such sponsor under this title in connection with such project. Acceptance by the Secretary of a certification from a sponsor may be rescinded by the Secretary at any time. Nothing in this subsection shall affect or discharge any responsibility or obligation of the Secretary under any other Federal law, including, but not limited to, the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), section 4(f) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1652), title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000b), title VIII of the Act of April 11, 1968 (42 U.S.C. 3601 et seq.), and the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970 (42 U.S.C. 4601 et seq.).

(e) REQUIREMENT OF NOTICE.—Each sponsor to which funds are apportioned under section 507(a)(1) of this title shall notify the Secretary, by such time and in a form containing such information as the Secretary may prescribe, of the fiscal year in which it intends to apply, by project grant application, for such funds. If a sponsor does not provide such notification, the Secretary may defer approval of any application for such funds until the fiscal year immediately following the fiscal year in which such application is submitted.

SEC. 510. UNITED STATES SHARE OF PROJECT COSTS.

(a) GENERAL PROVISION.—Except as otherwise provided in this title, the United States share of allowable project costs payable on account of any project contained in an approved project grant application submitted in accordance with this title shall be 90 percent of the allowable project costs.

97-687 O - 82 - 25

(b) PROJECTS AT CERTAIN PRIMARY AIRPORTS.—In the case of primary airports enplaning 0.25 percent or more of the total number of passengers enplaned annually at all commercial service airports, the United States share of allowable project costs payable on account of any project contained in an approved project grant application shall be 75 per centum of the allowable project costs.

(c) PROJECTS IN PUBLIC LAND STATES.—In the case of any State containing unappropriated and unreserved public lands and nontaxable Indian lands (individual and tribal) exceeding 5 percent of the total area of all lands therein, the United States share under subsection (a) or (b) shall be increased by whichever is the smaller of the following percentages thereof: (1) 25 percent, or (2) a percentage equal to one-half of the percentage that the area of all such lands in that State is of its total area. In no event shall such United States share, as increased by this subsection, exceed the greater of (A) the percentage share determined under subsection (a) or (b) of this section, or (B) the percentage share applying on June 30, 1975, as determined under subsection 17(b) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970.

SEC. 511. PROJECT SPONSORSHIP.

(a) SPONSORSHIP.—As a condition precedent to approval of an airport development project contained in a project grant application submitted under this title, the Secretary shall receive assurances, in writing, satisfactory to the Secretary, that—

(1) the airport to which the project relates will be available for public use on fair and reasonable terms and without unjust discrimination, including the requirement that (A) each air carrier using such airport (whether as a tenant, nontenant, or subtenant of another air carrier tenant) shall be subject to such nondiscriminatory and substantially comparable rates, fees, rentals, and other charges and such nondiscriminatory and substantially comparable rules, regulations, and conditions as are applicable to all such air carriers which make similar use of such airport and which utilize similar facilities, subject to reasonable classifications such as tenants or nontenants, and combined passenger and cargo flights or all cargo flights, and such classification or status as tenant shall not be unreasonably withheld by any airport provided an air carrier assumes obligations substantially similar to those already imposed on tenant air carriers, and (B) each fixed-based operator at any airport shall be subject to the same rates, fees, rentals, and other charges as are uniformly applicable to all other fixed-based operators making the same or similar uses of such airport utilizing the same or similar facilities, and (C) each air carrier using such airport shall have the right to service itself or to use any fixed-base operator that is authorized by the airport or permitted by the airport to serve any air carrier at such airport;

(2) there will be no exclusive right for the use of the airport by any person providing, or intending to provide, aeronautical services to the public. For purposes of this paragraph, the providing of services at an airport by a single fixed-based operator shall not be construed as an exclusive right if it would be unreasonably costly, burdensome, or impractical for more than one fixed-based operator to provide such services, and if allowing more than one fixed-based operator to provide such services would require the reduction of space leased pursuant to an existing agreement between such single fixed-based operator and such airport;

(3) the airport and all facilities thereon or connected therewith will be suitably operated and maintained, with due regard to climatic and flood conditions;

(4) the aerial approaches to the airport will be adequately cleared and protected by removing, lowering, relocating, marking, or lighting or otherwise mitigating existing airport hazards and by preventing the establishment or creation of future airport hazards;

(5) appropriate action, including the adoption of zoning laws has been or will be taken, to the extent reasonable, to restrict the use of land adjacent to or in the immediate vicinity of the airport to activities and purposes compatible with normal airport operations, including landing and takeoff of aircraft;

(6) all of the facilities of the airport developed with Federal financial assistance and all those usable for landing and takeoff of aircraft will be available to the United States for use by Government aircraft in common with other aircraft at all times without charge, except, if the use by Government aircraft is substantial, charge may be made for a reasonable share, proportional to such use, of the cost of operating and maintaining the facilities used;

(7) the airport operator or owner will furnish without cost to the Federal Government for use in connection with any air traffic control or navigation activities, or weather-reporting and communication activities related to air traffic control, any areas of land or water, or estate therein, or rights in buildings of the sponsor as the Secretary considers necessary or desirable for construction at Federal expense of space or facilities for such purposes;

(8) all project accounts and records will be kept in accordance with a standard system of accounting prescribed by the Secretary after consultation with appropriate public agencies;

(9) the airport operator or owner will maintain a fee and rental structure for the facilities and services being provided the airport users which will make the airport as self-sustaining as possible under the circumstances existing at that particular airport, taking into account such factors as the volume of traffic and economy of collection, except that no part of the Federal share of an airport development or airport planning project for which a grant is made under this title or under the Federal Airport Act or the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 shall be included in the rate base in establishing fees, rates, and charges for users of that airport;

(10) the airport operator or owner will submit to the Secretary such annual or special airport financial and operations reports as the Secretary may reasonably request;

(11) the airport and all airport records will be available for inspection by any duly authorized agent of the Secretary upon reasonable request;

(12) all revenues generated by the airport, if it is a public airport, will be expended for the capital or operating costs of the airport, the local airport system, or other local facilities which are owned or operated by the owner or operator of the airport and directly related to the actual transportation of passengers or property: Provided, however, That if covenants or assurances in debt obligations previously issued by the owner or operator of the airport, or provisions in governing statutes controlling the owner or operator's financing, provide for the use of the revenues from any of the airport owner or operator's facilities, including the airport, to support not only the airport but also the airport owner or operator's general debt obligations or other facilities, then this limitation on the use of all other revenues generated by the airport shall not apply; and

(13) the airport operator or owner who receives a grant for the purchase of land for noise compatibility purposes which is conditioned on the disposal of the acquired land at the earliest practicable time will, subject to the retention or reservation of any interest or right therein necessary to insure that such land is used only for purposes which are compatible with the noise levels of the operation of the airport, use its best efforts to so dispose of such land. The proceeds of such dispositions shall be (A) refunded to the United States for the Trust Fund on a basis proportionate to the United States share of the cost of acquisition of such land, or (B) reinvested in an approved project, pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary shall prescribe.

(b) COMPLIANCE.—To insure compliance with this section, the Secretary shall prescribe such project sponsorship requirements, consistent with the terms of this title, as the Secretary considers necessary. Among other steps to insure such compliance, the Secretary is authorized to enter into contracts with public agencies on behalf of the United States. Whenever the Secretary obtains from a sponsor any area of land or water, or estate therein, or rights in buildings of the sponsor and constructs space or facilities thereon at Federal expense, the Secretary is authorized to relieve the sponsor from any contractual obligation entered into under this title, the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970, or the Federal Airport Act to provide free space in airport buildings to the Federal Government to the extent the Secretary finds that space no longer required for the purposes set forth in paragraph (7) of subsection (a) of this section.

(c) CONSULTATION.—In making a decision to undertake any airport development project under this title, each sponsor of an airport shall undertake reasonable consultations with affected parties using the airport at which such project is proposed.

SEC. 512. GRANT AGREEMENTS.

(a) OFFER AND ACCEPTANCE.—Upon approving a project grant application, the Secretary, on behalf of the United States, shall transmit to the sponsor or sponsors of the application an offer to make a grant for the United States share of allowable project costs. An offer shall be made upon such terms and conditions as the Secretary considers necessary to meet the requirements of this title and any regulations prescribed thereunder. Each offer shall state a definite amount as the maximum obligation of the United States payable from funds authorized by this title, and shall stipulate the obligations to be assumed by the sponsor or sponsors. In any case where the Secretary approves a project grant application for a project which will not be completed in one fiscal year, the offer shall, upon request of the sponsor, provide for the obligation of funds apportioned or to be apportioned to the sponsor pursuant to section 507(a)(1) of this title for such fiscal years (including future fiscal years) as may be necessary to pay the United States share of the cost of such project. If and when an offer is accepted in writing by the sponsor, the offer and acceptance shall comprise an agreement constituting an obligation of the United States and of the sponsor. Unless and until an agreement has been executed, the United States may not pay, nor be obligated to pay, any portion of the costs which have been or may be incurred.

(b) MAXIMUM OBLIGATION OF THE UNITED STATES.—When an offer is accepted in writing by a sponsor, the amount stated in the offer as the maximum obligation of the United States may not be increased, except that—

(1) in the case of any project for airport development (other than a project for land acquisition), the maximum obligation of the United States may be increased by not more than 10 percent; and

(2) in the case of any acquisition of land or interests in land, the maximum obligation of the United States may be increased by an amount not to exceed 50 percent of the total increase in allowable project costs attributable to such acquisition in land or interests therein, based upon current credible appraisals.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, in the case of grants made under the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 the maximum obligation of the United States may be increased by not more than 10 percent, and any such increase may be paid for only from funds recovered by the United States from other grants made under that Act.

SEC. 513. PROJECT COSTS.

(a) ALLOWABLE PROJECT COSTS.—Except as provided in section 514 of this title, the United States may not pay, or be obligated to pay, from amounts appropriated to carry out the provisions of this title, any portion of a project cost incurred in carrying out a project for airport development or airport planning unless the Secretary has first determined that the cost is allowable. A project cost is allowable if—

(1) it was a necessary cost incurred in accomplishing an approved project in conformity with the terms and conditions of the grant agreement entered into in connection with the project, including any costs incurred by a recipient in connection with any audit required by the Secretary pursuant to section 518(b) of this title;

(2) it was incurred subsequent to the execution of the grant agreement with respect to the project, and in connection with airport development or airport planning accomplished under the project after the execution of the agreement. However, the allowable costs of a project for airport development may include any necessary costs of formulating the project (including the costs of field surveys and the preparation of plans and specifications, the acquisition of land or interests therein or easements through or other interests in airspace, and any necessary administrative or other incidental costs incurred by the sponsor specifically in connection with the accomplishment of the project for airport development, which would not have been incurred otherwise) which were incurred prior to the execution of the grant agreement and subsequent to May 13, 1946, and the allowable costs of a project for airport planning may include any necessary and direct costs associated with developing the project work scope which were incurred subsequent to May 13, 1946;

(3) in the opinion of the Secretary it is reasonable in amount, and if the Secretary determines that a project cost is unreasonable in amount, the Secretary may allow as an allowable project cost only so much of such project cost as the Secretary determines to be reasonable, except that in no event may the Secretary allow project costs in excess of the definite amount stated in the grant agreement except to the extent authorized by section 512(b); and

(4) it has not been incurred in any project for airport planning or airport development for which Federal assistance has been granted.

The Secretary is authorized to prescribe such regulations, including regulations with respect to the auditing of project costs, as the Secretary considers necessary to accomplish the purposes of this section.

(b) TERMINAL DEVELOPMENT.—(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, upon certification by the sponsor of any commercial service airport that such airport has, on the date of submittal of the project grant application, all the safety equipment required for certification of such airport under section 612 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 and all the security equipment required by rule or regulation, and has provided for access to the passenger enplaning and deplaning area of such airport to passengers enplaning or deplaning from aircraft other than air carrier aircraft, the Secretary may approve, as allowable project costs of a project for airport development at such airport, terminal development (including multimodal terminal development) in nonrevenue-producing public-use areas if such project cost is directly related to the movement of passengers and baggage in air commerce within the boundaries of the airport, including, but not limited to, vehicles for the movement of passengers between terminal facilities or between terminal facilities and aircraft.

(2) Not more than the greater of (A) $200,000, or (B) 60 percent of the sums apportioned under section 507(a)(1) of this title to the sponsor of a primary airport for any fiscal year may be obligated for project costs allowable under paragraph (1) of this subsection. Not more than $200,000 of the sums to be distributed at the discretion of the Secretary under section 507(a)(3) for any fiscal year may be used by the sponsor of a commercial service airport which is not a primary airport for project costs allowable under paragraph (1) of this subsection.

(3) Not more than $25,000,000 may be obligated for project costs allowable under paragraph (1) of this subsection in any fiscal year at commercial service airports which were not eligible for assistance for terminal development during the fiscal year ending September 30, 1980, under section 20(b) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970.

(4) Sums apportioned under section 507(a) and made available to the sponsor of an air carrier airport (within the meaning of section 11(1) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970, as in effect immediately before the date of enactment of this paragraph) at which terminal development was carried out on or after July 1, 1970, and before July 12, 1976, shall be available, subject to the limitations contained in paragraph (2) of this subsection, for the immediate retirement of the principal of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness the proceeds of which were used for that part of the terminal development at such airport the cost of which would be allowable under paragraph (1) of this subsection if incurred after the effective date of this paragraph, subject to the following conditions:

(A) That such sponsor submit the certification required under paragraph (1) of this subsection.

(B) That the Secretary determine that no project for airport development at such airport outside the terminal area will be deferred if such sums are used for such retirement.

(C) That no funds available for airport development under this title will be obligated for any project for additional terminal development at such airport for a period of three years beginning on the date any such sums are used for such retirement.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this title, the United States share of project costs allowable under paragraph (1) of this subsection shall not exceed 50 percent.

(6) The Secretary shall approve project costs allowable under paragraph (1) of this subsection under such terms and conditions as may be necessary to protect the interests of the United States.

(c) COSTS NOT ALLOWED.—Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the following are not allowable project costs: (1) the cost of construction of that part of an airport development project intended for use as a public parking facility for passenger automobiles; or (2) the cost of construction, alteration, or repair of a hangar or of any part of an airport building except such of those buildings or parts of buildings intended to house facilities or activities directly related to the safety of persons at the airport.

SEC. 514. PAYMENTS UNDER GRANT AGREEMENTS.

The Secretary, after consultation with the sponsor with which a project grant agreement has been entered into, may determine the times and amounts in which payments shall be made under the terms of such agreement. Payments in an aggregate amount not to exceed 90 percent of the United States share of the total estimated allowable project costs may be made from time to time in advance of accomplishment of the airport project to which the payments relate, if the sponsor certifies to the Secretary that the aggregate expenditures to be made from the advance payments will not at any time exceed the cost of the airport development work which has been performed up to that time. If the Secretary determines that the aggregate amount of payments made under a project grant agreement at any time exceeds the United States share of the total allowable project costs, the United States shall be entitled to recover the excess. If the Secretary finds that any airport development to which the advance payments relate has not been accomplished within a reasonable time or the project is not completed, the United States may recover any part of the advance payment for which the United States received no benefit. Payments under a project grant agreement shall be made to the official or depository authorized by law to receive public funds and designated by the sponsor.

SEC. 515. PERFORMANCE OF CONSTRUCTION WORK.

(a) REGULATIONS.—The construction work on any project for airport development contained in an approved project grant application submitted in accordance with this title shall be subject to inspection and approval by the Secretary and shall be in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary. Such regulations shall require such cost and progress reporting by the sponsor or sponsors of such project as the Secretary shall deem necessary. No such regulation shall have the effect of altering any contract in connection with any project entered into without actual notice of the regulation.

(b) MINIMUM RATES OF WAGES.—All contracts in excess of $2,000 for work on projects for airport development approved under this title which involve labor shall contain provisions establishing minimum rates of wages, to be predetermined by the Secretary of Labor, in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act, as amended (40 U.S.C. 276a—276a-5), which contractors shall pay to skilled and unskilled labor, and such minimum rates shall be stated in the invitation for bids and shall be included in proposals or bids for the work.

(c) VETERANS PREFERENCE.—All contracts for work under project grants for airport development approved under this title which involve labor shall contain such provisions as are necessary to insure that, in the employment of labor (except in executive, administrative, and supervisory positions), preference shall be given to veterans of the Vietnam era and disabled veterans. However, this preference shall apply only where the individuals are available and qualified to perform the work to which the employment relates. For the purposes of this subsection—

(1) a Vietnam-era veteran is an individual who served on active duty as defined by section 101(21) of title 38 of the United States Code in the Armed Forces for a period of more than 180 consecutive days any part of which occurred during the period beginning August 5, 1964, and ending May 7, 1975, and who was separated from the Armed Forces under honorable conditions; and

(2) a disabled veteran is an individual described in section 2108(2) of title 5 of the United States Code.

SEC. 516. USE OF GOVERNMENT-OWNED LANDS.

(a) REQUESTS FOR USE.—Subject to the provisions of subsection (c) of this section, whenever the Secretary determines that use of any lands owned or controlled by the United States is reasonably necessary for carrying out a project under this title at a public airport, or for the operation of any public airport, including lands reasonably necessary to meet future development of an airport in accordance with the national plan of integrated airport systems, the Secretary shall file with the head of the department or agency having control of the lands a request that the necessary property interests therein be conveyed to the public agency sponsoring the project in question or owning or controlling the airport. The property interest may consist of the title to, or any other interest in, land or any easement through or other interest in airspace.

(b) MAKING OF CONVEYANCES.—Upon receipt of a request from the Secretary under this section, the head of the department or agency having control of the lands in question shall determine whether the requested conveyance is inconsistent with the needs of the department or agency, and shall notify the Secretary of the determination within a period of four months after receipt of the Secretary's request. If the department or agency head determines that the requested conveyance is not inconsistent with the needs of that department or agency, the department or agency head is hereby authorized and directed, with the approval of the Attorney General of the United States, and without any expense to the United States, to perform any acts and to execute any instruments necessary to make the conveyance requested. A conveyance may be made only on the condition that, at the option of the Secretary, the property interest conveyed shall revert to the United States in the event that the lands in question are not developed for airport purposes or used in a manner consistent with the terms of the conveyance. If only a part of the property interest conveyed is not developed for airport purposes, or used in a manner consistent with the terms of the conveyance, only that particular part shall, at the option of the Secretary, revert to the United States.

(c) EXEMPTION OF CERTAIN LANDS.—Unless otherwise specifically provided by law, the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section shall not apply with respect to lands owned or controlled by the United States within any national park, national monument, national recreation area, or similar area under the administration of the National Park Service; within any unit of the National Wildlife Refuge System or similar area under the jurisdiction of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service; or within any national forest or Indian reservation.

SEC. 517. FALSE STATEMENTS.

Any officer, agent, or employee of the United States, or any officer, agent, or employee of any public agency, or any person, association, firm, or corporation who, with intent to defraud the United States—

(1) knowingly makes any false statement, false representation, or false report as to the character, quality, quantity, or cost of the material used or to be used, or the quantity or quality of the work performed or to be performed, or the costs thereof, in connection with the submission of plans, maps, specifications, contracts, or estimates of project costs for any project submitted to the Secretary for approval under this title;

(2) knowingly makes any false statement, false representation, or false report or claim for work or materials for any project approved by the Secretary under this title; or

(3) knowingly makes any false statement or false representation in any report or certification required to be made under this title; shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not to exceed five years or by a fine of not to exceed $10,000, or by both.

SEC. 518. ACCESS TO RECORDS.

(a) RECORDKEEPING REQUIREMENTS.—Each recipient of a grant under this title shall keep such records as the Secretary may prescribe, including records which fully disclose the amount and the disposition by the recipient of the proceeds of the grant, the total cost of the plan or program in connection with which the grant is given or used, and the amount and nature of that portion of the cost of the plan or program supplied by other sources, and such other records as will facilitate an effective audit. The Secretary shall annually review the reporting and recordkeeping requirements under this title to insure that such requirements are kept to the minimum level necessary for the proper administration of this title.

(b) AUDIT AND EXAMINATION.—The Secretary and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, shall have access for the purpose of audit and examination to any books, documents, papers, and records of the recipient that are pertinent to grants received under this title. The Secretary may require, as a condition to receipt of a grant under this title, that an appropriate audit be conducted by a recipient.

(c) AUDIT REPORTS.—In any case in which an independent audit is made of the accounts of a recipient of a grant under this title relating to the disposition of the proceeds of such grant or relating to the plan or program in connection with which the grant was given or used, the recipient shall file a certified copy of such audit with the Comptroller General of the United States not later than six months following the close of the fiscal year for which the audit was made. On or before April 15 of each year the Comptroller General shall report to the Congress describing the results of each audit conducted or reviewed by him under this section during the preceding fiscal year. The Comptroller General shall prescribe such regulations as are deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of this subsection.

(d) WITHHOLDING INFORMATION.—Nothing in this section shall authorize the withholding of information by the Secretary or the Comptroller General of the United States, or any officer or employee under the control of either of them, from the duly authorized committees of the Congress.

SEC. 519. GENERAL POWERS.

The Secretary is empowered to perform such acts, to conduct such investigations and public hearings, to issue and amend such orders, and to make and amend such regulations and procedures, pursuant to and consistent with the provisions of this title, as the Secretary considers necessary to carry out the provisions of, and to exercise and perform the Secretary's powers and duties, under this title.

The Secretary shall promulgate such rules as the Secretary deems necessary to carry out the purposes of this section and may enforce this section, and any rules promulgated under this section, through agency and department provisions and rules which shall be similar to those established and in effect under title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. SEC. 521. REPORTS TO CONGRESS.

On or before the first day of April of each year the Secretary shall make a report to the Congress describing his operations under this title during the preceding fiscal year. The report shall include a detailed statement of the airport development accomplished, the status of each project undertaken, the allocation of appropriations, and an itemized statement of expenditures and receipts.

SEC. 522. REPORT ON ABILITY OF AIRPORTS TO FINANCE AIRPORT DEVELOPMENT NEEDS.

(a) SUBMISSION TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this title, the Secretary shall submit to the Congress a report on whether, and to what extent, those airports which have the ability to finance their capital and operating needs without Federal assistance should be made ineligible to receive Federal assistance for airport development and airport planning under this title.

(b) CONSIDERATIONS.—The study shall consider, among other things: (1) what effect, if any, making such airports ineligible for such Federal assistance would have on the national airport system; (2) whether airports which are made ineligible for assistance, or voluntarily withdraw from the program, should be permitted to collect a passenger facility charge; (3) how such a passenger facility charge could be collected in order to minimize any cost and inconvenience for passengers, airports, and air carriers; (4) the extent to which such a program would permit a reduction in Federal taxes on air transportation; (5) whether the net effect of such a program would lower or increase the cost of air transportation to passengers on our Nation's air carriers; and (6) whether the Congress should implement such a program prior to the expiration of this title.

(c) CONSULTATION.—In conducting the study, the Secretary shall consult with airport operators, air carriers, and representatives of any other groups which may be substantially affected by such a program.

SEC. 523. REPEALS; EFFECTIVE DATE; SAVING PROVISIONS; AND SEPARABILITY.

Such estimates may be made on the basis of such statistical sampling, or other method as may be agreed upon by the Secretary and the State agency of the State involved.

(1) the terms "compensation", "regular compensation", "extended compensation", "base period", "benefit year", "State", "State agency", "State law", and "week" shall have the meanings assigned to them under section 205 of the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970; and

(2) the term "period of eligibility" means, with respect to any individual, any week which begins on or after September 12, 1982, and begins before April 1, 1983; except that an individual shall not have a period of eligibility unless—

(i) the payment of such Federal Supplemental compensation was without fault on the part of any such individual, and

(ii) such repayment would be contrary to equity and good conscience.

(B) The State agency may recover the amount to be repaid, or any part thereof, by deductions from any Federal supplemental compensation payable to such individual under this subtitle or from any unemployment compensation payable to such individual under any Federal unemployment compensation law administered by the State agency or under any other Federal law administered by the State agency which provides for the payment of any assistance or allowance with respect to any week of unemployment, during the three-year period after the date such individuals received the payment of the Federal supplemental compensation to which they were not entitled, except that no single deduction may exceed 50 per centum of the weekly benefit amount from which such deduction is made.

(a) LOWERING BASE AMOUNT FROM $20,000 TO $12,000 (FROM $25,000 TO $18,000 IN CASE OF JOINT RETURN).—Subsection (b) of section 85 (defining base amount) is amended—

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 4961) to make miscellaneous changes in the tax laws, and for other purposes, submit the following joint statement to the House and the Senate in explanation of the effect of the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report:

The Senate amendment to the text of the bill struck out all of the House bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The House recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate with an amendment which is a substitute for the House bill and the Senate amendment. PART ONE

CONTENTS OF SPENDING REDUCTION PROVISIONS

TITLE I—PROVISIONS RELATING TO SAVINGS IN HEALTH AND INCOME SECURITY PROGRAMS

SUBTITLE A—MEDICARE

1. One month delay in entitlement to medicare benefits

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment defers eligibility for parts A and B of medicare until the first day of the month following the month in which an individual attains age 65.

The provision would be effective with respect to individuals reaching age 65 after August 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

2. Medicare payments secondary for older workers choosing to remain covered under group health plans

Senate amendment

The Senate provision amends the Federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA) to require employers to offer their employees age 65 through 69 and their dependents the same health benefits as are offered to their younger employees. The provision makes medicare the secondary payor for such employees (and their spouses) age 65 through 69. The provision would not apply to employers with less than 20 employees.

Medicare's payment for any item or service furnished to an employee (or his or her spouse) would be reduced where the combined payment under medicare and the employer's health benefits plan would otherwise exceed an amount equal to: (1) for items or services reimbursed on a cost or cost-related basis, their reasonable cost; or, (2) for items reimbursed on a charge basis, the higher of the reasonable charge (or other amount payable under medicare, without regard to the program deductibles or coinsurance) or the amount payable under the employer group plan (without regard to deductibles or coinsurance imposed under that plan). In no case would medicare pay more than medicare would have paid in the absence of any employer plan coverage. This provision would be effective January 1, 1983.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment. It is the intent of the conferees that an employee will have the option of rejecting the plan offered by the employer, thereby, retaining medicare as primary coverage. It is the understanding of the conferees that the Secretary of Labor will promulgate regulations to prevent employers from offering a group health insurance plan or option which is designed to circumvent this provision in an attempt to induce employees to reject the employer general health benefit plan offered to other employees under the age of 65.

3. Five-percent copayments for home health services

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment imposes copayments on home health services equal to 5 percent of the average reasonable cost per visit, beginning with the twentieth visit made with respect to an individual in a calendar year. The provision would be effective with respect to services furnished on or after January 1, 1983.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

4. Reimbursement for inpatient radiology and pathology services

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment eliminates the 100 percent reimbursement rate currently applicable to services provided to hospital inpatients that are furnished by radiologists and pathologists who accept assignment in all cases for these services. Thus, medicare will pay for such services on the same basis as for other physicians' services, i.e. 80 percent of the reasonable charge after the part B deductible has been met. The provision is effective with respect to services furnished on or after October 1, 1982.

House committee provision

Same provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment.

5. Increase in part B deductible

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment increases the Part B deductible for calendar year 1984 to $78 and for 1985 and subsequent calendar years to $80.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

6. Limitation on physician fee economic index

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that (1) the increase in the physician economic index effective July 1, 1982 would not be in effect for charges for services rendered on or after October 1, 1982; (2) the increase allowed for the 12-month period beginning July 1, 1983 could not exceed five percent; and (3) the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services would be required to report to the Congress changes in the rate of assignment and in costs paid by beneficiaries as a result of changes made in physician reimbursement.

House committee provision

Under the House committee provision (1) the increase in the economic index for prevailing fees effective July 1, 1982 would be reduced to 4 percent effective October 1, 1982; (2) physicians who agree to accept assignment on all their bills would not be subject to this reduction; and (3) the date of the annual update in the customary and prevailing charge screens would be delayed from July 1, until October 1 of each year, starting in 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include either provision.

7. Elimination of inpatient routine nursing salary cost differential

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment eliminates the routine nursing salary cost differential paid to hospitals and skilled nursing facilities. The provision would be effective October 1, 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment.

8. Reimbursement of provider-based physicians

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment directs the Secretary to prescribe regulations, effective no later than October 1, 1982, which will distinguish between (1) professional medical services which require performance of the physician in person; which are personally rendered to individual patients; which contribute to the patients' diagnosis and treatment; and are reimbursable only under part B on a charge basis, and (2) the professional medical services of practitioners which are of benefit to patients generally and other services not discussed in (1) above which can be reimbursed only on a reasonable cost basis. The amendment provides that reasonable cost reimbursement for provider-based services cannot exceed a reasonable compensation equivalent which shall be established by the Secretary in regulations and shall be based on reasonable annual compensation levels for a full-time equivalent practice in the specialty involved, or on such other basis as the Secretary may approve.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment with minor modifications. The agreement directs the Secretary to prescribe regulations which will distinguish between (1) professional medical services which are personally rendered to an individual patient, which contribute to the patient's diagnosis or treatment, and are reimbursable only under part B on a charge basis; and (2) professional services which are of benefit to patients generally and which can be reimbursed only on a reasonable cost basis. Reasonable cost reimbursement for provider-based services could not exceed a reasonable compensation equivalent established by the Secretary in regulations. The conference agreement directs that regulations implementing this provision be published and effective by October 1, 1982. The conferees understand that such regulations are already under preparation by HHS. The publication and timely implementation of these regulations would reflect the intent of the conferees.

9. Part B premium as a constant percentage of costs

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment would suspend the current limitation on annual increases in the part B premium and instead increase the premium on October 1, 1982, on July 1, 1983, and on July 1, 1984 to a level which will result in monthly premiums which are in the aggregate equal to 25 percent of program costs for aged beneficiaries. During this period, premium increases would not be limited to the lower of the percentage by which cash social security benefits most recently increased, or the increase in the costs of the program as is required by present law. The present law limitation and method of calculating premiums would resume on July 1, 1985.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment with a modification allowing no premium increase before July 1, 1983.

10. Medicare reimbursement to hospitals

(A) EXPANSION OF SECTION 223 LIMITS TO INCLUDE ANCILLARY COSTS

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment extends the so-called Section 223 limitation of present law to ancillary service operating costs, effective with hospital cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982. The new limitation would be applied on an average cost-per-case basis and each hospital's limit would be modified by a case-mix adjustment. In no case would payment on a cost-per-case basis be reduced below the allowable cost-per-case reimbursement for the hospital's cost reporting period that immediately precedes the first cost reporting period to which the new limitation is applicable. The limitation would be set at 110 percent of the mean for hospitals of the same type. The Secretary would be required to provide appropriate exemptions, exceptions and adjustments including an adjustment for the special needs of hospitals that incur additional costs in treating low-income patients. Rural hospitals with less than 50 beds would be exempted from the limitations.

House committee provision

The House committee provision is similar to the Senate amendment except that the limitation would be set at 120 percent of the mean in fiscal year 1983, and the Secretary would be authorized to reduce the limitation to 115 percent in fiscal year 1984 and to 110 percent in fiscal year 1985. Provisions similar to those in the Senate amendment are included regarding exemptions, exceptions and adjustments, except that the House provision specifically requires appropriate adjustments for the special needs of psychiatric hospitals and hospitals serving a significantly disproportionate number of low-income or medicare patients. Hospitals in operation with less than 50 beds, on the date of enactment, would be exempted from the limitation without regard to location.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, under which the current Section 223 limitation would be extended to include ancillary service operating costs, applied on an average cost-per-case basis, and adjusted for case-mix, effective with cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982. In no case would reimbursement on a cost-per-case basis be reduced below the allowable cost-per-case reimbursement for the hospital's cost reporting period that immediately precedes the first cost reporting period to which the new limitation is applicable. Under the conference agreement, for the first reporting period it becomes effective, the new limitation would be set at 120 percent of the mean for hospitals of the same type; for the second year, the limitation would be 115 percent of the mean; and for the third and subsequent years, the limitation would be 110 percent of the mean.

Appropriate adjustments would be required for the special needs of psychiatric hospitals and hospitals serving a significantly disproportionate number of low-income or medicare patients. Non-SMSA hospitals with less than 50 beds would be excluded. Other appropriate exemptions, exceptions, and adjustments would be required as in the Senate provision including an adjustment to assure that the proposed limits would not be significantly compromised if a hospital reduces its costs by cutting back on the kinds of services it provides directly to its patients (e.g., leasing its clinical laboratory).

The Secretary is expected to recalculate case-mix adjustments periodically. It is understood that initially the Secretary will need to rely on a currently available indicator of case-mix complexity such as the system developed at Yale University. It is expected that the Secretary will continue to evaluate possible methods for adjusting for case-mix and will adopt an improved method when it becomes available.

It is recognized that case-mix adjusted hospital cost data will not be available on a fully current basis, and must be updated to the hospital cost reporting period for which it will be used in establishing limits. It is expected that the Secretary will use estimated actual industry-wide cost increase data to update available data on hospital costs to the cost reporting period to which the limit will be applied; a further adjustment for anticipated cost increases during the year subject to limits will be based on a hospital wage and price index plus one percentage point.

(B) THREE-YEAR HOSPITAL RATE OF INCREASE PROVISION

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment places an overall limit on annual increases in a hospital's medicare reimbursement on a per case basis, effective for three hospital reporting periods beginning with hospital cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982. For the first 2 cost reporting periods, hospitals would be paid 25 percent of their costs in excess of their limits, but none of the excess would be reimbursed in the third year.

The maximum allowable increase is the previous year's allowable costs (or, after the first year, the previous year's limitation ceiling amount) increased by the percentage increase in the hospital wage and price index plus 2 percentage points.

The Secretary is required to provide for exemptions, exceptions, and adjustments from the limits in cases where events beyond the hospital's control or extraordinary circumstances, including changes in the case mix of such hospital, distort the hospital's increase in costs.

House committee provision

The House committee provision establishes a target reimbursement system under which hospitals with operating costs (per case) below the target rate would be paid their costs plus a bonus of 50 percent of the savings (but not to exceed 5 percent of the target rate), and hospitals with costs above the target rate would be paid 50 percent of excess costs (up to 105 percent of target), 25 percent of excess costs (between 105 and 110 percent of target) and none of costs above 110 percent of target. These payments are subject to Section 223 limitations.

The target rate is the previous year's allowable costs (or, after the first year, the previous year's target amount) increased by the percentage increase in the hospital wage and price index plus 1 percentage point.

The Secretary is authorized to provide appropriate exceptions and adjustments to the target rate, specifically including an adjustment for psychiatric hospitals.

The target system applies to reimbursement in the Federal fiscal years 1983, 1984, and 1985, regardless of the period covered by the individual hospital's fiscal year, but ceases upon implementation of a prospective payment system.

Conference agreement

Under the conference agreement, a target rate reimbursement system would be established applicable to a hospital's first three cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982. Under the provision, the target rate would be the previous year's allowable operating costs per case (or, after the first year, the previous year's target amount) increased by the percentage increase in the hospital wage and price index plus one percentage point. A hospital with operating costs below the target rate would be paid its costs plus a bonus of 50 percent of the savings (but not to exceed 5 percent of the target rate); a hospital with costs above the target rate would be allowed 25 percent of its cost in excess of the target for the first 2 years; none of the excess would be reimbursed in the third year. Provider payments under the target reimbursement system could not exceed the amount payable under the new section 223 limitations.

The Secretary of HHS would be required to provide for appropriate exemptions, exceptions, and adjustments as in the Senate provision. The conferees note that adjustments could have the effect of either increasing or decreasing the target payment amount. The principal intention in authorizing such adjustments is to take into account factors that would distort either a hospital's base period or rate of cost increase in any of the three years to which the provisions are applicable. Examples of such factors include significant changes in a hospital's case-mix in a particular year when compared to the base year, extraordinary circumstances beyond the hospital's control, and a reduction in a hospital's costs resulting from cutting back on the kinds of services directly provided to patients—e.g., as the result of leasing out its clinical laboratory.

Because the proposed target rates of increase and the new section 223 limits would be determined on a per case basis, an incentive would be created to increase admissions or discharges. It is anticipated that the Secretary will give consideration to making an adjustment where a hospital manipulates admissions or discharges in order to maximize reimbursement.

Because both the new limitation on total inpatient operating costs (the expanded section 223 limitations) and the target reimbursement provisions begin as early as October 1, 1982 for hospitals with cost reporting periods beginning on that date, it is recognized that the Secretary will have limited time to prepare for implementation of these new reimbursement provisions. Accordingly, the conference agreement authorizes the Secretary to proceed to implementation on the basis of final regulations issued without the customary prior comment period. However, it is expected that comments on the final regulations will be solicited and that appropriate revisions will be made based on the comments received.

Similarly, time may not permit the normal process of approval of forms to take place under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (P.L. 96–511). Accordingly, all revisions to the medicare cost reporting forms necessary to implement these new reimbursement provisions would be exempt from the Act until the end of calendar year 1983, after which it is expected that the Paperwork Reduction Act will be complied with in the normal manner.

In the case of hospitals currently under the OASDHI program which withdraw after August 15, 1982, the Secretary of HHS is required to compute a reduction in the amount of payments otherwise made to reflect the savings in costs achieved through withdrawals. This reduction can be offset by demonstrated expenditures for pension, health, and insurance benefits which are comparable to, and substituted for, the Social Security benefits.

(C) PROSPECTIVE PAYMENTS FOR HOSPITALS AND SKILLED NURSING FACILITIES

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to develop, in consultation with Senate Finance Committee and House Ways and Means Committee, medicare prospective reimbursement proposals for hospitals, skilled nursing facilities and to the extent feasible other providers, and to report to the committees on the proposals within 5 months.

House committee provision

The House committee provision requires the Secretary to develop and to submit to Congress by December 31, 1982, a medicare prospective payment plan for hospital inpatient services and extended care services designed to take effect October 1, 1983, and which, if implemented would not result in any increase in program costs. If submitted on a timely basis, the plan would take effect and replace reimbursement policy under existing law unless disapproved by concurrent resolution of Congress adopted by July 1, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conferees agreed to the Senate provision. Because of the desire of the conferees to proceed as soon as possible with a prospective payment system, it is expected that the administration recommendations, when presented to the Finance Committee and Committee on Ways and Means, will be sufficiently detailed as to be able to serve as a basis for legislation.

(D) RECOGNITION OF STATE HOSPITAL COST CONTROL SYSTEMS

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

Under the House committee provision, the Secretary would be authorized, at his discretion, to permit payment under an alternative reimbursement system if, upon application by the State, the Secretary determined that (1) the system would apply to substantially all non-Federal acute care hospitals in the State and would apply to the review of at least 75 percent of all revenues or expenses for inpatient hospital services including medicare and medicaid; (2) the Secretary has been provided satisfactory assurances regarding the equitable treatment of all entities that pay hospitals for inpatient services (including medicare and medicaid), together with assurances regarding the equitable treatment of hospital employees and patients; and (3) the Secretary has been provided satisfactory assurances that under the system, over a 36-month period, the amount of payments made under the proposed alternative reimbursement system would not be greater than the amount of payments which would otherwise have been made under medicare. In determining whether an alternative system would result in reimbursement which is less than otherwise would have been paid in a State, the Secretary would be permitted to take into account previous reductions in medicare reimbursement due to the operation of a hospital reimbusement control system if such system has resulted in an aggregate rate of increase in operating costs of inpatient services under medicare which was less than the national aggregate rate of increase in such costs.

The conference agreement included the House committee provision with a modification with respect to the termination of current medicare waivers. The conferees included the House committee provision to allow the Secretary to take advantage of effective alternative reimbursement systems which have already been implemented or those which may be implemented in the future. Although the provision provides discretion to the Secretary in approving alternative state systems, the conferees expect the Secretary to approve such systems if they meet the criteria set forth in the provision and other criteria as established by the Secretary.

The provision also permits the Secretary to take into account previous reductions in medicare rates of increase due to the operation of a state hospital reimbursement control system. The conferees included this provision because of their concern that State programs which control substantially all revenues other than medicare may have already achieved savings for the medicare program through reducing their overall rate of growth in hospital expenditures.

With respect to the authority provided to the Secretary under current law to establish and continue medicare demonstration projects, the Secretary would be prohibited from terminating a project until six months after he notifies the State of his decision to terminate.

11. Elimination of private room subsidy

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to publish regulations which would eliminate the subsidy of private hospital rooms. Medicare currently determines its payments to hospitals on the basis of the average costs of all of a hospital's rooms, including its private accommodations, even though medicare generally is intended to cover only the costs of semi-private room accommodations.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment. The provision is intended to direct the Secretary to implement the provisions of current law. The conferees note that elimination of this subsidy does not alter medicare's policy of covering private rooms when medically necessary, and does not alter the options currently available to States to cover such private rooms under medicaid.

12–13. Single reimbursement limits for skilled nursing facilities and home health agencies

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to modify existing regulations which would establish single payment limits for skilled nursing facilities and home health agencies on the basis of the cost experience of free-standing facilities. Separate limits are currently established for such facilities depending on whether they are hospital-based or free-standing facilities.

The amendment would be effective with respect to home health agency cost reporting periods beginning on or after the date of enactment and for skilled nursing facility cost reporting periods beginning on or after October 1, 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment. The conferees intend that in establishing the payment limits the Secretary shall make adjustments, as appropriate, based on legitimate cost differences in hospital-based facilities resulting from such factors as a more complex case-mix or the effects of medicare cost allocation requirements.

14. Elimination of duplicate payments for outpatient services

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to issue regulations that would eliminate the duplicate payment of overhead expenses from the recognized charges of a physician who performs services in a hospital's outpatient department. The amendment would be effective with respect to charges for services rendered on or after the date of enactment.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment.

15. Audit and medical claims review

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires that the medicare contractor budgets for fiscal years 1983, 1984, and 1985 be supplemented by $45 million in each year to be spent specifically for provider cost audits and medical review activities.

House committee provision

Similar provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision.

16. Temporary delay in periodic interim payments

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment modifies the existing periodic interim payment (PIP) procedure for hospitals by providing for a 3 week delay in the flow of PIP payments during September 1983; a similar deferral is authorized during September 1984.

House committee provision

Similar provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment.

17. Reimbursement of assistants at surgery

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment prohibits reasonable charge reimbursement for an assistant at surgery in hospitals where an approved training program exists in the specialty, except under the following exceptional circumstances: (1) the service is complex and requires performance by a team of physicians; (2) the patient has multiple conditions which require the presence of, and active care by, a physician of another specialty during an operation, or (3) in the case of exceptional medical circumstances where qualified house staff are not available to assist at surgery. The Senate provision would be effective with respect to services performed on or after October 1, 1982.

House committee provision

Same provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with a modification under which payment may be made on a reasonable charge basis if the services, as determined by the Secretary: (1) are required due to exceptional medical circumstances; (2) are performed by team physicians needed to perform complex medical procedures; (3) constitute concurrent medical care which requires the presence of, and active care by, a physician of another specialty during surgery; or (4) are required in other circumstances as determined by the Secretary.

18. Judicial review of decision by provider reimbursement review board

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment modifies existing requirements pertaining to judicial review of decisions made by the Provider Reimbursement Review Board (PRRB). Under existing law, judicial actions brought jointly by several providers of services in connection with adverse decisions of the PRRB may be taken only in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. The Senate provision permits Federal judicial review of adverse decisions of the PRRB involving actions brought jointly by several providers of medicare services to be conducted by the U.S. District Court for the district where the "principal party" for the group is located. The provision would be effective on enactment.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

19. Prohibition of payment for ineffective drugs

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides for implementation of Section 2103 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981 (P.L. 97-35) effective October 1, 1982. Section 2103 prohibited the use of Federal funds under medicare part B and under medicaid to pay for certain less than effective drugs. Subsequent legislation has led to delays in the implementation of this provision.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, with a modification to make the provision effective September 30, 1982.

20. Medicare payments to health maintenance organizations (HMO's)

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment modifies current law requirements for contracting with health maintenance organizations (HMO's) by authorizing prospective reimbursement under risk sharing contracts with competitive medical plans at a rate equal to 95 percent of the average cost of providing services to a medicare beneficiary in the fee-for-service sector (the adjusted average per capita cost—AAPCC).

The Senate amendment includes the current law definition of eligible beneficiaries except that persons medically determined to have end-stage renal disease are excluded. It defines a competitive medical plan as either a Federally-qualified HMO, a State-licensed HMO, or an organization which meets certain service requirements, receives fixed and periodic payments on behalf of enrollees, provides physician services through staff MDs or MDs under contract, assumes financial risk on a prospective basis and meets financial viability standards.

The Senate amendment changes existing enrollment/disenrollment policies by: (a) requiring an annual open enrollment period of at least 30 days; (b) requiring acceptance of beneficiaries in order of application up to capacity with the same exception as under existing law; (c) specifying that a beneficiary may disenroll on a monthly basis with one month's notice; and (d) providing that a plan may not disenroll or refuse to reenroll a beneficiary because of health status or services required.

The Senate amendment would specify that 50 percent of enrollees must be other than medicare or medicaid beneficiaries, however, the Secretary could waive this requirement. In no case could more than 50 percent of enrollees be medicare beneficiaries. The Secretary would be required to establish minimum standards for consumer information to be supplied to eligible beneficiaries.

The Senate amendment would specify that reasonable cost reimbursement be available indefinitely. Under the risk reimbursement contract, the calculation of the Government's contribution would be based on 95 percent of the AAPCC (including certain administrative costs), reflecting such factors as age, sex, institutional status, disability and health status, and place of residence. Plans with at least 1,000 members would be eligible for risk contracts.

The Senate provision would require three new medicare members to enroll in a plan for every current medicare enrollee allowed to convert to the new reimbursement system and that current HMO enrollees turning age 65 would be included in the formula.

The Senate provision would provide that if the adjusted community rate (ACR) for a plan is less than the AAPCC, the plan must spend the difference to provide additional benefits or services; reduction in premiums, deductibles, or copayments; or to provide rebates and dividends to the enrollees. Further, a committee of medicare enrollees must approve the additional benefits.

House committee provision

The House committee provision would authorize a medicare payment option for health maintenance organizations (HMO's). The provision is similar to the Senate amendment except: State licensed HMO's are not included in the definition of an eligible HMO; the length of the annual open enrollment period is to be of "reasonable duration"; services must be accessible to enrollees within the HMO service area; rebates and dividends would not be permitted; two new medicare members must enroll in a plan for every current medicare enrollee allowed to convert under the risk contract; and additional non-optional services would have to be approved by the Secretary.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with modifications. The agreement authorizes both prospective reimbursement under risk-sharing contracts and cost-based reimbursement under reasonable cost reimbursement contracts for health maintenance organizations (HMO's) and other medical plans. It contains compromise language permitting the Secretary to enter into risk-sharing contracts with eligible organizations which have at least 5,000 members, although this limitation may be waived for plans in non-urbanized areas. The Secretary may enter into reasonable cost reimbursement contracts with eligible organizations which he or she determines do not have the capacity to bear the risk of potential losses under a risk-sharing contract or which so elect or which do not meet the membership size limitation.

The conference agreement defines organizations eligible to enter into contracts under section 1876 as federally qualified HMO's, or HMO's or other plans meeting a generic definition of comprehensive health plans. The Senate amendment regarding State licensed HMO's was not included. The additional requirements with respect to the provision of services to medicare members combine the similar Senate and House committee requirements and include the Senate requirement that the annual open enrollment period must be of at least 30 days duration. As provided in the Senate amendment, an HMO's or plans combined medicare and medicaid enrollment cannot exceed 50 percent except under certain circumstances where a waiver is available.

The conference agreement includes language similar to the Senate amendment describing the actuarial factors to be used in setting the amount of the prospective medicare payment under a risk-sharing contract. In making the adjustment for disability status the Secretary can use his or her discretion as to whether to take into account eligibility for cash payments under the disability insurance program or under SSI.

The conference agreement provides that, as in the House committee provisions, to the extent that the medicare payment exceeds the eligible organization's adjusted community rate under a risk-sharing contract, the organization must use the savings to provide its medicare members with additional health benefits or reduced cost sharing. The Senate amendment permitting rebates and dividends was not included. The Senate amendment requiring that a group of the organization's medicare members must select any additional benefits was also not included, and the House committee language permitting the organization to decide upon the use of the savings was included.

The conference agreement contains the House committee language requiring two new medicare enrollees to enroll for every one current medicare member who converts to the new system under a risk-sharing contract.

The conference agreement retains the identical Senate amendment and House committee language regarding the effective date.

The conferees have agreed upon this delay in implementing this new reimbursement system because of their concern that the adjustments made under the current AAPCC do not adequately reflect the relative health care needs (i.e., disability status and other characteristics) of medicare beneficiaries who enroll in the HMO as compared to beneficiaries in the fee-for-service system. The Secretary must develop additional adjustment factors to account for the resulting cost differentials before implementing the program.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate amendment.

22. Hospice care

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment authorizes coverage under medicare part A for hospice care for terminally ill beneficiaries with a life expectancy of six months or less. A medicare beneficiary could elect to receive hospice care in lieu of other medicare benefits except those of the attending physician. Benefits covered include nursing care, therapies, medical social services, homemaker-home health aide services, short-term inpatient care, outpatient drugs for pain relief and respite care. The provision requires that hospices be classified as a separate provider category in the medicare program. Reimbursement would be based on reasonable costs or such other test of reasonableness as the Secretary shall determine, subject to an area adjusted limit or cap set at 40 percent of the average medicare per capita expenditure during the last six months of life for medicare beneficiaries dying of cancer. The provision requires the Secretary to continue the existing Health Care Financing Administration's hospice demonstration projects until the effective date of the hospice benefit. Special exceptions are provided for certain well established hospices.

House committee provision

The House committee provision includes a similar provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with modifications: The benefit period would consist of two periods of 90 days and one period of 30 days; the reference to "speech therapy" would be changed to "speech-language pathology"; copayments would be limited to approximately (i) 5 percent of a hospices cost (as determined by the Secretary) for respite care services, but such coinsurance amount could not exceed the inpatient hospital deductible during a hospice election (as long as the hospice election is not broken by more than 14 days); (ii) in addition, copayments equal to the lesser of, approximately 5 percent of charges or $5 per prescription, for covered drugs; no reimbursement would be permitted under part B of medicare for an individual's attending physician if the attending physician is employed by the hospice; a hospice program would have to provide directly substantially all of the following core services; nursing care provided by or under the supervision of a registered professional nurse, medical social services under the direction of a physician, physicians services and counseling services; the amendment would be clarified to provide that noncore services, including physical and occupational therapy, speech-language pathology, home health aide services and homemaker services, medical supplies and inpatient services could be provided "under arrangements" with others; the written plan of care could be reviewed by the attending physician as well as the hospice physician.

The Senate amendment would be clarified to authorize the Secretary to eliminate duplication where any provider requirements under this provision are the same as requirements already met by the provider under other agreements with the Secretary. In addition the Secretary is required to coordinate surveys for determining certification under this title so as to provide, to the extent feasible, for simultaneous surveys of an entity which seeks to be certified as a hospice program and as a provider of services of another type. Hospice would be required to file separate cost reports.

It is the intent of the conferees that hospices provide a basic and coordinated range of services while giving hospices the flexibility to provide, under arrangements, for some services. Hospices would not be required to provide inpatient services directly. However, it is the intention of the conferees that the hospice would be directly responsible for: providing professional supervision over care provided in the inpatient unit; for ensuring that the care provided in the inpatient unit be consistent with the hospice concept of care through the delivery of care or supervision of such care by an interdisciplinary group; and, that the treatment provided be reasonable and necessary for the palliation and management of terminal illness.

Counseling services would be required as a core service under the hospice benefit. The conferees understand that counseling services are an integral part of hospice care however, concern has been expressed regarding the potential cost impact of allowing separate billing for such services. The conferees intention is to permit reimbursement for the salaries of counselors but not to provide reimbursement for services billed as a separate service.

The conferees provided an exception for hospices which commenced operation before January 1, 1975 from; (i) the reimbursement cap; (ii) the limitation on inpatient days; and (iii) the limitation on respite care days. In allowing the above exceptions for these earliest of the Nation's hospices, the conferees intend to give them an opportunity to conform to the prevailing patterns of hospice care and to meet the requirements in the law. The conferees anticipate that no extension of the exemption would be allowed after November 1, 1986, should the basic hospice provision be extended beyond that date.

The provision would be effective for hospice care provided on or after November 1, 1983. The provision would sunset on October 1, 1986, however, an individual who has an election in effect for a period on October 1, 1986, is entitled to hospice care benefits after that date for the remainder of that period and for any subsequent consecutive period to which the individual would have been entitled before such date.

23. Coverage of extended care services without regard to 3-day prior hospitalization requirement

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision directs the Secretary to provide skilled nursing facility coverage without regard to the 3-day prior hospital stay requirement at such time as, through reimbursement changes or other adjustments, the Secretary determines that this will not lead to an increase in cost and will not alter the acute care nature of the benefit. For persons covered without a prior hospital stay, limitations may be provided on scope or extent of services and on categories of individuals eligible.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision.

24. Prohibiting recognition of payments under certain percentage arrangements

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

Under the House committee provision, no cost which a provider incurs under a contract would be considered reasonable if determined as a percentage (or other proportion) of the provider's reimbursement or claim for reimbursement for services. The provision would not apply to a percentage contract that is reasonable and where such contract is a customary commercial business practice (e.g. commissions paid to salesmen) or provides incentives for the efficient and economical operation of the provider of services.

The provision would generally apply upon enactment. However, for arrangements entered into before enactment, the provision applies one year after enactment, except where provider can unilaterally terminate the arrangement, in which case the provision applies 30 days after the first date that the provider can terminate the arrangement.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision with modifications. The prohibition would apply to contracts where the cost is determined on the basis of a percentage (or other proportion) of the provider's charges, revenues, or claim for reimbursement. The provision would be effective upon enactment with certain exceptions as in the House committee provision. The provision would not apply prior to October 1, 1982 to costs incurred under a percentage arrangement where such costs were attributable to the services of a provider-based physician (described in Item 8 of the conference agreement). Beginning October 1, 1982, the provision would not apply to such a provider-based physician where the limitation on reimbursement for the cost of such a physician's services had been implemented.

25. Interest charges on overpayments and underpayments

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision requires that once a final determination is made that a provider or supplier has received an overpayment or underpayment from medicare, and payment of the excess or deficit is not made within 30 days of the date of determination, interest charges would be applied to the balance due.

The rate of interest charged would equal the average of the rates of interest on obligations issued for purchase by the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund for the 3-month period ending with the month before the month in which the final determination is made. The provision would be effective with respect to final determinations made on or after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision with a modification providing that interest would be determined in accordance with regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury applicable to charges for late payments which are periodically published pursuant to Section 8020.20 of the Treasury Fiscal Requirements Manual.

26. Prohibiting payment for Hill-Burton free care

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision requires the Secretary to provide, by regulation, that the costs incurred by a hospital or skilled nursing facility in complying with its free care obligation under the Hill-Burton Act would not be considered reasonable costs for purposes of medicare reimbursement. The provision is effective for costs incurred on or after date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision. The provision is intended to clarify that Hill-Burton free care costs have never been, and are not, allowable for medicare reimbursement purposes. The provision, therefore, applies to all such costs that have been, or will be incurred except those recognized by the final judgment of a U.S. Court of Appeals entered into prior to enactment.

27. Prohibiting payment for anti-unionization activities

Senate provision

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision prohibits medicare reimbursement for costs incurred for activities directly related to influencing employees with respect to unionization. The provision would apply to costs incurred on or after date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision.

28. Eliminating "lesser of cost or charges" provision

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision specifies that the lesser of cost or charges provision would not apply to a class of providers if the Secretary determines and certifies to the Congress that its elimination will not increase medicare payments to that class of provider. It is intent of the conferees that such a determination would take account of both past experience under the provision and possible changes in the cost accounting and charging practices of providers in the absence of the provision.

The provision would be effective on the date the Secretary specifies in his certification to Congress.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision. It is the intent of the conferees that the lesser of cost or charges provision be reestablished at such time as the Secretary determines that the non-application of the provision has increased program costs.

29. Extending medicare proficiency examination authority

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision extends to September 30, 1983, the period during which the Secretary shall conduct a program to determine the proficiency of health care personnel, including clinical laboratory personnel, who do not meet formal education requirements. The provision would be effective upon enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision.

30. Prohibiting retroactivity of regulations regarding access to books and records

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision would prohibit regulations yet to be issued under the authority of section 952 of Public Law 96-499, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1980, from being applied retroactively.

Section 952 of Public Law 95-499 requires the Secretary of HHS or the Comptroller General to have access to the books and records of subcontractors who supply providers with goods and services valued at $10,000 or more over a 12-month period. The law directs the Secretary to prescribe in regulations the procedures and criteria to be used in obtaining access to such books and records.

The provision would become effective upon enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision, with a modification which would prohibit the regulations from being applied retroactively unless such regulations are issued in final form prior to January 1, 1983, preceded by a comment period of no less than 60 days.

31. Health Care Financing Administration/private sector utilization review initiative

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

Under the conference agreement, the Secretary of HHS would be required by statute to undertake an initiative to improve medical review by intermediaries and carriers under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act and to encourage similar review efforts and utilization control activities by private insurers and other private entities. The medicare initiatives shall include the development of fiscal targets and evaluation of the performance of intermediaries and carriers with respect to the identification and reduction of unnecessary utilization of health services.

It is the intent of the conferees that, where such review activity results in denial of payment to institutional and other providers under medicare, such providers shall be prohibited from collecting any payments from beneficiaries (in excess of those otherwise provided for under current medicare law.)

32. Special part B enrollment without penalty (Merchant Seamen)

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision establishes a special enrollment period for medicare part B beginning on the first day of the first month beginning at least 20 days following enactment, and ending on December 31, 1982. During that period, otherwise eligible merchant seamen and other individuals would have a one-time opportunity to enroll in part B without incurring the current law penalty of higher premium payments for delayed enrollment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision, modified to provide the special open enrollment period for merchant seamen only.

SUBTITLE B—MEDICAID PROVISIONS

1. Copayments by medicaid recipients

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment permits States to impose nominal copayments on all beneficiaries for all services with certain exceptions. The Senate provision provides for the following limitations on copayments:

(a) Precludes States from imposing such charges with respect to inpatient hospital services and mandatory ambulatory services for categorically needy children under 18 and services related to the pregnancy of categorically needy women, and permits States similarly to exclude medically needy children and pregnant women from copayments.

(b) Precludes States from imposing copayments with respect to all services provided to categorically needy SNF/ICF patients; permits States to exempt medically needy SNF/ICF patients from copayments.

(c) Precludes States from imposing copayments on emergency services for categorically needy persons.

(d) Permits States to exempt all HMO enrollees from copayments.

The provision would be effective on enactment.

House committee provision

The House Committee provision permits States to impose nominal copayments on all beneficiaries for all services with certain exceptions. The provision specifies a $1 maximum allowable copayment amount for hospital, physician, outpatient, and clinic services for the categorically needy; copayments of up to $4 would be allowed for non-emergency services in emergency rooms.

The provision also provides for the following limitations on copayments:

(a) Precludes States from imposing charges with respect to all services for categorically needy and medically needy pregnant women and children under 21.

(b) Precludes States from imposing copayments with respect to all services provided to categorically needy SNF/ICF patients.

(c) Precludes States from imposing copayments on emergency services for categorically needy and medically needy persons.

(d) Precludes States from imposing copayments on categorically needy recipients enrolled in an HMO.

(e) Precludes States from imposing copayments on family planning services.

The House provision would be effective October 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement is similar to the Senate provision with modifications. The conference agreement specifies, with one exception, that all copayments must be nominal in amount. The conferees intend that the existing regulations defining "nominal" will continue to serve as the basis for determining whether proposed copayment charges meet the statutory requirements. If the Secretary determines in the future that adjustments to the current regulations are to be made, it is the intention of the conferees that the levels of cash assistance in the States should be considered. The conferees recognize that persons depending on cash assistance have little available income to make copayments, and the standards for nominality should be such that the copayments do not serve as a barrier to receipt of necesssary medical services. The conferees intend that the Secretary, in promulgating regulations implementing this provision, adhere to the requirements for notice and opportunity for comment under the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. 553(a)(2), including the issuance of a notice of proposed rulemaking. The Secretary may not redelegate the definition of "nominality" to the States.

The "nominal" requirement cannot be waived except for demonstration under tightly limited circumstances, with one exception. The Secretary could waive the requirement limiting copayments to nominal amounts in the case of nonemergency services in emergency rooms where the State has established to the satisfaction of the Secretary that alternative sources of nonemergency outpatient services are actually available and accessible. Where the Secretary is satisfied that such conditions have been met, and a waiver has been granted, the State may impose a charge up to twice the amount defined as nominal by the Secretary in regulations.

The conference agreement precludes States from imposing copayments on children under age 18; States may provide that no copayments would be imposed for children aged 18 to 21. The agreement also precludes States from imposing copayments on services related to pregnancy (including prenatal, delivery, and post partum services). States may at their option provide that no copayments would be imposed for any service provided to pregnant women. These limitations would apply to both categorically needy and medically needy persons.

The conference agreement bars States from imposing copayments on all services provided to inpatients in SNF's and ICF's who are required to spend all their income for medical expenses except for the amount exempted under the State standard for personal needs (which cannot be less than the SSI payment for persons in medical institutions, and which may be more). This prohibition on copayments also extends both to the categorically needy and medically needy population groups.

The conference agreement bars States from imposing copayments on categorically needy HMO enrollees. States may also exempt medically needy HMO enrollees from such charges.

With these exceptions, the conference agreement makes no changes in the comparability requirements of current law.

Additionally, the agreement provides that copayments may not be imposed on family planning services or emergency services for either categorically needy or medically needy individuals.

The conference agreement is designed to allow States to deter unnecessary utilization while not imposing an unreasonable hardship on beneficiaries. The conference agreement therefore includes a provision which specifies that no provider participating under medicaid may deny care or services to an individual because of his or her inability to pay the required cost-sharing charges. This does not excuse the beneficiary from liability for paying such charges.

2. Elimination of Federal matching for medicare part B buy-in

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment eliminates Federal matching for all medicare part B premium payments. Most State medicaid plans currently make the monthly medicare part B premium payment for their dual eligible beneficiaries under a "buy-in" agreement. Federal matching for premium payments is only available for the cash assistance groups.

The provision is effective with respect to premiums due for months after September 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate provision.

3. Modifications in Lien Provision

(A) LIENS

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment allows States to impose liens on the real property, including the home, of institutionalized medicaid recipients who fail to make a showing that they reasonably expect to be discharged from a nursing home or other long-term medical institution and return home.

The Senate amendment specifies that the lien could not be foreclosed (and States could not recover the cost of medical assistance provided) until the recipient voluntarily chooses to sell the property, or, until after the recipient's death, and the death of the surviving spouse and/or any children who are under 21, blind or disabled.

House committee provision

The House Committee provision allows States to impose liens on real property, including the home, of institutionalized medicaid recipients who the State establishes are reasonably likely to remain in a nursing home for the remainder of their lives.

The House Committee provision is similar to the Senate provision with respect to allowable foreclosure actions. However, it specifies that the State could also not execute a lien while a recipient's sibling, son, or daughter is lawfully residing in the home and was living in the home for at least one year immediately prior to the recipient's admission to the nursing home. Further, if the home is sold before the lien is executed, the proceeds would be put in trust and used to meet the support needs of the spouse and minor or disabled child.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with modifications. States are allowed to impose liens on real property, including the home, of institutionalized medicaid beneficiaries who the State determines, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, are reasonably likely to remain in a nursing home for the remainder of their lives. The burden of proof in this determination, which is to be conducted in accordance with procedures established by the State, is on the State. States are not authorized to impose liens on the homes of beneficiaries if the spouse, or blind, disabled or dependent child is residing in the home, or if a beneficiary's sibling is residing in the home who has equity in the home and who has lived there continuously since at least one year prior to the beneficiary's admission to the nursing home.

The agreement further specifies that while a State may impose a lien, it may not foreclose upon the property while a beneficiary's adult son or daughter is residing in the home if he or she (1) has lived in the home continuously for at least two years prior to the beneficiary's admission to the nursing home; and (2) has provided care to the beneficiary that permitted the individual to delay institutionalization; or if a sibling, even though without equity in the home, has lived there continuously since at least one year prior to the beneficiary's institutionalization.

(B) TRANSFER OF ASSETS

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment allows States to deny medicaid eligibility for 24 months and (at State option) for a longer period to persons who dispose of their homes for less than fair market value, within 24 months prior to admission to an institution even though such disposal would not make them ineligible for SSI.

States could either deny eligibility to all such individuals for periods reasonably related to the uncompensated value, or they could deny eligibility in all cases for a minimum of 24 months, with the option to provide for longer periods of ineligibility in the case of individuals who disposed of homes worth substantial amounts. The provision would not apply in the case of individuals who reasonably expected to be discharged from the medical institution and return home; individuals who demonstrated that they had intended to obtain fair market value or other valuable consideration in exchange for their homes; or individuals who transferred title to their homes to a spouse or a minor or handicapped child. The State could also make an exception in other cases where undue hardship would otherwise result.

House committee provision

The House Committee provision is similar to the Senate amendment. However, the provision applies to transfers for less than fair market value within 24 months prior to application for benefits. In addition, the provision allows States to deny medicaid coverage for a period computed in a manner such that the cost of the services that would otherwise be provided to the individual during this period bears a reasonable relationship to the amount of the uncompensated value of the home. The period of ineligibility would begin with the month in which the home was disposed of.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with modifications to specify that the period of ineligibility is 24 months from the date of transfer, except that States: (a) are allowed to deny eligibility for a longer period if the uncompensated value of the home is greater than the cost of 24 months of medicaid benefits; and (b) are required to set a shorter time period if the uncompensated value of the home is less than 24 months of medicaid benefits. Under either circumstance, the period of eligibility delay must be related to the uncompensated value of the home, based on the beneficiary's equity, and the cost of medicaid benefits. The provision applies to transfers for less than fair market value occurring up to 24 months prior to application for medicaid benefits.

The conference agreement also amends existing law transfer of assets policy by allowing a State to waive the delay of medicaid eligibility in cases of undue hardship. The conferees also note that the change in SSI policy which exempts burial spaces and certain policies from an individual's resources (see item No. 6 of Subtitle F) has the effect of also exempting such items from an individual's resources for purposes of determining medicaid eligibility in most States.

(C) EFFECTIVE DATE

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment is effective on enactment.

House committee provision

The House Committee provision applies to applications for assistance filed on or after October 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement specifies enactment as the effective date for the lien provisions and specifies that the provision applies with respect to transfers of assets occurring after the date of enactment.

4. Limitation on Federal financial participation in erroneous medical assistance expenditures

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment deletes the Medicaid error rate provisions and penalties incorporated in the 1980 Appropriations Act and substitutes language establishing a 3 percent target error rate for quarters beginning after March 30, 1983. The provision provides that prospective fiscal sanctions are to be applied beginning in the second half of FY83 for States which have error rates exceeding 3 percent. The Secretary is provided discretion in applying the fiscal penalties, in whole or in part, for a State which has made good faith efforts to meet the target. The provision is effective on enactment.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision with modifications. Technical errors, i.e., errors which if corrected would not have made a difference in the amount of medical assistance paid, would be excluded from the calculation. The agreement specifies that where errors are made relating to amounts of medical expenses that must be incurred to establish Medicaid eligibility (the "spend-down" requirement), only the smaller of the amount of medical assistance provided or the amount of the spend-down that was miscalculated shall be determined to be an erroneous payment. Further, errors in determination of resources are treated in a similar manner: only the smaller of the amount of medical assistance provided or the amount of miscalculation of the resource which exceeded the allowable resource level will be counted as an erroneous payment.

5. Optional medicaid coverage for individuals who would have qualified for AFDC but for amendments to the earned income disregard and related provisions

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment allows States to continue medicaid coverage for working families who are made ineligible for AFDC as a result of certain changes made by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981. (Public Law 97-35). These changes, relating to the earned income disregard and work expense deductions, resulted in the loss of AFDC eligibility, and therefore automatic medicaid coverage, for certain individuals. The amendment would be effective for calendar quarters beginning after the date of enactment.

House committee provision

Similar provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not contain the Senate amendment or the House Committee provision.

6. Medicaid coverage of home care of certain disabled children

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision provides States with the option of covering under Medicaid certain disabled children age 18 or under who are living at home. A State could extend such protection to an individual who would be eligible for SSI, and therefore Medicaid, if he was in a medical institution. Further, the State must determine that: (a) the child requires the level of care provided in an institution; (b) it is appropriate to provide such care outside of the institution; and (c) the estimated cost of care at home is no more expensive than the estimated cost of institutional care.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the House committee provision.

7. Technical corrections relating to medicaid

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment makes technical changes in Public Law 97-35.

House committee provision

The House committee provision includes identical technical changes with one additional provision specifying that the Secretary is not authorized to waive the requirements for State contracting on a risk basis with HMO's and other prepaid entities found in section 1903(m) of the Social Security Act.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision with a modification to delete the Secretary's authority to waive the section 1903(m) requirements. However, the conferees recognize that some waivers of section 1903(m) have already been granted. In order to minimize the disruption of arrangements which have already been implemented under these waivers, the conference agreement specifies that the limitation on the Secretary's waiver authority shall not apply where a waiver was granted by the Secretary and the waivered arrangements were in effect prior to August 10, 1982. This exemption extends only for the period for which the waiver was initially approved.

It is understanding of the conferees that the types of entities subject to the requirements of section 1903(m) would not include contractual arrangements between the State and an individual physician, or a group of physicians, under which (1) case management is the primary purpose; (2) hospital services are not provided directly by, or under contract for payment to, such physician or physician group; (3) the physician or physician group receives at least 25% of its gross revenues from non-Medicaid and non-Medicare patients (through fee-for-service or other reimbursement methods); (4) the Medicaid revenues that the physician or physician group would otherwise receive from the arrangement will not increase more than 20% as a result of a decrease in the use by beneficiaries under management of hospital and other covered services; and (5) primary care services are available on a 24-hour basis.

The conference agreement makes explicit current law related to coverage of the optional categorically needy, as reflected in current regulations at 42 CFR § 435.210 et seq. The conferees do not intend any change in current law through this recodification.

8. Medicaid funding in American Samoa

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conferees agreed to a provision providing medicaid funding to the territory of American Samoa. Federal matching of 50 percent of expenditures would be authorized, up to a maximum Federal contribution of $750,000 per year. Due to the unique circumstances in the health system in American Samoa, the Secretary is authorized to waive any provisions of title XIX except the requirements (1) of State matching, (2) of the maximum amount of Federal funds that can be spent, and (3) that expenditures be for health services covered under the title.

9. Nursing home deregulation moratorium

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conferees agreed to a provision which would preclude the Department of Health and Human Services from implementing certain proposed changes regarding survey and certification requirements for nursing homes for 6 months from the date of enactment of this provision. The intent of the conferees in establishing this moratorium is to provide opportunity for the further review, revision or withdrawal of the proposed regulations, published in the Federal Register on May 27, 1982. The conferees anticipate that the Secretary would consult with the Congress, the General Accounting Office, groups representing nursing home residents, state survey and certification agencies and nursing home operators prior to resubmitting the regulations. The conferees do not intend to preclude courts with proper jurisdiction from ordering changes in the current regulations prior to the end of the moratorium.

SUBTITLE C—UTILIZATION AND QUALITY CONTROL PEER REVIEW

1. Establishment of utilization and quality control peer review program

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment repeals the existing Professional Standards Review Organization (PSRO) program and requires the Secretary to enter into contracts for utilization and quality control peer review. The Secretary would also be required to consolidate geographic areas previously established for PSRO's.

The provision requires the Secretary to enter into contracts with peer review organizations for an initial period of 2 years, renewable biennially. The organizations must be composed of, or have available to them, a substantial number of licensed doctors of medicine or osteopathy actually practicing in the area. Priority consideration must be given to physician-sponsored organizations who are representative of the physicians in the area. Payor and provider organizations would be excluded from consideration during the first 12 months that contract applications are considered.

Review organizations, which can be proprietary or nonprofit, may review the professional activities of physicians, other practitioners and institutional and noninstitutional providers in providing services to medicare beneficiaries subject to the provisions of these contracts. The review will focus on (1) the necessity and reasonableness of care, (2) quality of care, and (3) the appropriateness of the setting.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows, with modifications, the Senate provision repealing the existing Professional Standards Review Organization (PSRO) program and requiring the Secretary of HHS to enter into performance contracts for utilization and quality control peer review.

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment requiring the Secretary to consolidate existing PSRO review areas. The conferees intend that the Secretary, in consolidating review areas, shall maximize administrative and review efficiency. The conferees intend that the Secretary will not teminate small PSRO's that are operating effectively and efficiently but will instead permit such PSRO's to contract with the new review organization for that area without duplication of administrative costs.

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment regarding the conclusiveness of determinations respecting payment. It is the understanding of the conferees that, where such review activity results in denial of payment to institutional or other providers under medicare, such providers will be, as under current law, prohibited from collecting any payments from beneficiaries in excess of those otherwise provided for under current medicare law.

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment requiring 2-year contracts with peer review organizations composed of, or having available, a substantial number of licensed physicians with a modification which would:

(a) prohibit contracts with provider or provider-affiliated organizations (although subcontracts for delegated review purposes with such organizations would be permittted) and

(b) provide that contract termination procedures would not apply to contract nonrenewals.

The conferees intend that review organizations avoid financial conflicts of interest with providers subject to review. The conference agreement prohibits the Secretary from entering into a contract with an entity which is, or is affiliated through management, ownership, or common control with, a health care facility or association of such facilities whose services they would be responsible for reviewing. The conference agreement does not, however, bar a review organization from delegating the review function to a provider by subcontract, if the organization finds that the provider will effectively and efficiently review itself.

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision exempting review organizations from the Freedom of Information Act and establishing disclosure rules for such organizations that apply uniformly to both public and private review activities undertaken by the organizations, with a modification which would:

(a) require the review organization to disclose to the appropriate State agency information identifying a particular practitioner or provider when, in the organization's judgment, there is a reason to believe that a risk to the public health exists, and

(b) require the review organization to disclose information to a State or Federal fraud or abuse agency or an authorized State licensure or certification agency, but only at the request of such agency on a case-by-case basis. This information could include institution or practitioner-specific data.

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision relating to the transition from the existing PSRO program with a modification which would prohibit the Secretary from terminating a PSRO in effect on the earlier of September 30, 1982 or enactment, until such time as the Secretary has entered into a contract with a review organization in that area under this provision.

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision requiring the Secretary to report to the Congress annually with a modification requiring the Secretary to provide information on the efficiency of payment methodologies used by the Secretary in contracting with review organizations.

SUBTITLE D—AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN

1. Rounding of eligibility and benefit amounts

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires States to round both their AFDC need standard and actual monthly benefit amounts to the next lower whole dollar. The provision is effective October 1, 1982, or later if State conforming legislation is needed.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

2. Effective date of application; proration of first month's benefit

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment prohibits States from making benefits payable for any period prior to the date an application is filed. Any payment for the first month of eligibility would be prorated based on the date of the application. The provision is effective October 1, 1982, or later if State conforming legislation is needed.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

3. Absence from home solely by reason of uniformed service

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, AFDC would no longer be payable to families if the parent is absent solely because of active duty in the uniformed service. The provision is effective October 1, 1982, or later if State conforming legislation is needed.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

4. Sanction for termination or reduction of employment.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides the Secretary of Health and Human Services authority to prescribe sanctions for individuals who are exempt from registration for the work incentive (WIN) program because they are employed 30 or more hours a week, or who live in an area so remote from a WIN program that their participation is precluded if they refuse a bona fide offer of employment, terminate employment, or reduce their hours of employment, without good cause.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

5. Job search

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires State welfare agencies to establish mandatory employment search programs for both applicants and recipients of AFDC. An individual who is required to register for WIN (or who would be required to register except for remoteness from a WIN site) would be required to participate beginning at the time of application. The individual would also be required annually to participate in a program of employment search after his application becomes effective whenever the State prescribes, but not more than a total of 8 weeks in each year. An individual who fails to comply with the employment search requirement, would be subject to sanctions in the same manner as under the WIN program. (The WIN sanctions provide that in the case of the principal earner in an unemployed parent family, the sanction is denial of benefits for the entire family. In other cases, the individual who refuses is removed from the grant and the family's benefit is reduced. The sanction period is 3 months in the case of a first refusal and 6 months in the case of any subsequent refusals.)

House committee provision

The committee provision differs from the Senate amendment as follows:

(1) It is optional with the States.

(2) It allows States to limit participation to certain groups or classes of individuals who are required to register for WIN.

(3) It allows the State to shorten the duration of the sanction period.

(4) It includes a provision which specifically requires payment to the individual of transportation and other costs necessarily incurred.

(5) It provides 50 percent Federal matching for costs of transportation and other necessary services.

(6) It prohibits States from using the job search requirement as a reason for any delay in making a determination of an individual's eligibility or in issuing a payment to an individual who is otherwise eligible.

(7) It allows an initial 8-week search period, and an additional 8-week period each year (which could add up to 16 weeks in the first year).

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision, but with the Senate effective date of October 1, 1982.

6. Inclusion and exclusion of specified individuals' needs and income

(A) ELIGIBILITY OF A PARENT

Senate amendment

In determining the AFDC benefit, States are currently permitted to include the needs of a parent or caretaker relative so long as the youngest child is under age 18 (or, at State option, under 19 if the child is in school and is expected to complete his course of study before reaching his 19th birthday). The Senate amendment requires States to include the needs of a parent or caretaker relative, but only until the youngest child reaches age 16. The income and resources of the ineligible parent would be counted in determining the benefit for the child. The State would continue to include the need of a parent of an older eligible child if the parent is unemployable.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

(B) INCLUDE ALL SIBLINGS IN THE AFDC UNIT

Senate amendment

Currently, an AFDC family may choose to exclude a child from the assistance unit if that child has income which would reduce the amount of the family's benefit. The Senate amendment requires States to include all children in the family unit (except disabled children receiving SSI benefits, and certain stepbrothers and stepsisters) in determining the amount of AFDC for which the family is eligible.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

(C) COUNTING INCOME OF GRANDPARENTS

Senate amendment

Currently, the income of parents of a minor child, who is herself the parent of a child, is not counted in determining the eligibility and benefit of the grandchild. The Senate amendment requires States, when the AFDC parent is a minor, to count the income of the grandparents who are living in the same household as available to the grandchild, after setting aside certain amounts to cover their own needs. The AFDC payment would be made to the grandparent.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

(D) COUNTING INCOME OF UNRELATED INDIVIDUALS

Senate amendment

Under current law, the income of an unrelated adult in an AFDC household may not be presumed to be available to the household, and the welfare agency may count only actual contributions which it knows have been made by the individual to the AFDC family. The Senate amendment requires States to count the income of any person living with the child who is not related to the child or parent or to any other individual living in the household. The income of the unrelated individual would be considered available to the AFDC family, after setting aside certain amounts to cover the needs of the unrelated person and any dependents.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

7. Repeal of emergency assistance program

Senate amendment

The emergency assistance program provides 50 percent matching for emergency assistance (in the form of cash, medical care, or services) to families with children, including both AFDC and non-AFDC families. Assistance may be provided for no more than 30 days in any 12 month period. The program is optional with the States. Under the Senate amendment, this program would be repealed, effective October 1, 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

8. Proration of standard amount for shelter and utilities

Senate amendment

AFDC regulations generally prohibit the States from prorating or otherwise reducing the AFDC benefit solely because of the presence in the household of an individual who is not legally responsible to support the family. This general prohibition was modified in Public Law 96–272 to allow States to prorate the shelter and utilities portion of the AFDC benefit in the case of "child only" family units, i.e., when the caretaker is not eligible for assistance.

The Senate amendment allows States to prorate the portion of the AFDC grant for shelter and utilities whenever the assistance unit shares the household with other individuals. The amendment gives States flexibility in determining how the proration provision would be applied. It requires that proration be accomplished "on a reasonable basis," and in a manner and under circumstances prescribed by the State. States could not prorate in the case of a recipient of Supplemental Security Income benefits to whom the one-third reduction applies. (The one-third reduction in the SSI benefit occurs when individuals are determined to be living in the household of another and receiving in-kind income in the form of food and shelter.) The effective date is October 1, 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

9. Limitation on Federal financial participation in erroneous assistance expenditures

Senate amendment

Under current law, the "Michel amendment" requires States to reduce their AFDC payment error rate to 4 percent by September 30, 1982. Regulations require the States to achieve one-third progress toward the 4-percent payment error rate (measured from their error rate for the base period April–September 1978) by September 30, 1980, and two-thirds progress by September 30, 1981. The 4-percent goal is the standard for all assessment periods after September 30, 1982. States may be sanctioned by being required to repay the Federal Government the Federal cost of improperly paid benefits, as determined by quality control surveys. The Secretary may waive sanctions where he determines, in certain limited cases, that a State is unable to reach the required reduction in a given year despite a good faith effort.

The amendment continues the 4-percent error rate tolerance level for fiscal year 1983 and reduces it to 3 percent for fiscal year 1984 and years thereafter. Until April 1, 1983, any sanctions would continue to be applied under the existing authority of the Michel amendment. Starting on that date a new sanction authority would be established, under which Federal payments to the States for AFDC matching will be reduced each quarter on a current basis to reflect the Secretary's estimates as to the error rate prevailing in the State program during that quarter. If the Secretary's estimates are incorrect appropriate adjustments would be made in subsequent grants. The present authority of the Secretary to waive the sanctions in limited cases where he finds that States have failed to meet the target error rates despite a good faith effort to do so would be continued.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the Senate provision which continues the 4-percent error rate tolerance level for fiscal year 1983 and reduces it to 3 percent for 1984 and years thereafter. However, the conference agreement does not include the provisions which would give the Secretary of HHS the authority to reduce Federal matching each quarter on a prospective basis to reflect his estimates as to the error rate estimated in the State program during that quarter.

10. Households headed by minor parents

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that, in order to qualify for AFDC benefits, a minor parent and her child would have to reside in the home of the minor parent's own parent or guardian. This requirement would not apply where: the minor parent was married at the time of (or any time prior to) application for benefits; the minor parent has no parent or legal guardian who is living and whose whereabouts are known; the State agency determines that the health and safety of the minor parent or child would be seriously jeopardized if they lived in the same residence with the parent or legal guardian; or, the minor parent lived apart from the parent or legal guardian for a period of at least one year prior to the birth of the child.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The Senate recedes.

11. Exclusion from income of certain State payments

Senate amendment

A provision in the 1981 Reconciliation Act (P.L. 97-35) required States to determine AFDC benefits on the basis of the family's income in the preceding month. Under certain circumstances, payment may be determined on the basis of income in the second preceding month. This may be necessary, for example, when the payment date is in the first week of the month and the State needs time to process the monthly report of income which must be submitted by the recipient. In either case, States may wish to supplement the AFDC payment with a non-Federally matched State payment in certain situations—for example, when a family loses employment and suffers an immediate loss of income. Under present law, however, if the State decides to assist a family during a payment adjustment lag, any supplement which it pays to the family is counted as income for the purpose of computing the following month's AFDC check.

The Senate amendment allows States to compensate for payment adjustment lags by excluding from the calculation of AFDC benefit amounts any payments which are determined to have been paid by the State in recognition of the difference between the current or anticipated needs of the family for a month based upon actual income for the month, and the needs of the family as determined under the retrospective accounting procedure. The effective date is October 1, 1982.

House committee provision

The provision is the same (with technical differences).

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

12. Extension of time for States to establish a work incentive demonstration program

Senate amendment

The 1981 Reconciliation Act (P.L. 97–35) included a provision authorizing States to operate 3-year demonstration programs as alternatives to the current WIN program. The demonstration is aimed at testing single-agency administration and must be operated under the direction of the State welfare agency. The legislation required States to submit an application to the Secretary of HHS specifying intent to operate a WIN demonstration program. This application had to be submitted within 60 days after enactment.

The Senate amendment allows States a period of two additional years in which to exercise their option to operate a WIN demonstration program. This would give the States until June 30, 1984 to make this decision. The authority which the Secretary now has to waive requirements for participation in WIN would be extended to the demonstration programs. The provision is effective upon enactment.

13. Exclusion from income

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

Under current law, income received by an AFDC household is generally counted as income in determining eligibility for and amount of assistance, unless specifically excluded. The Department of Health and Human Services has not in the past required that certain State payments be considered income for purposes of determining AFDC eligibility or amount of benefits. These are payments that are financed wholly from State funds to meet the needs of children receiving AFDC which are not met by the regular payment.

The committee provision allows States to continue to exclude from countable income, both in the month of receipt and in future months, certain special payments made by a State to AFDC households. To qualify for such an exclusion, the payments must have been originally authorized by State statute prior to January 1, 1979; be paid entirely from State funds by the State agency administering the AFDC program; and be provided to meet the needs of AFDC children. The effective date is October 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision, effective upon enactment.

14. Technical amendments to social services and foster care

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

(1) The 1981 Reconciliation Act (P.L. 97-35) unintentionally repealed the authority for Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands, and the Northern Mariana Islands to finance social services from funds received under the cash assistance titles, and provided that these territories are eligible for funds for social services only under the title XX social services block grant.

(2) The formula for allocating funds to the States and territories under the title XX social services block grant program could be interpreted in such a way that a portion of the funds are not available for allocation to any jurisdiction.

(3) There are inconsistencies between titles XI and XX of the Social Security Act as to jurisdictions eligible for title XX funds.

(4) Public Law 97-35 incorrectly referenced child day care instead of foster care standards in the requirements that States have standards for foster family home or child care institutions under their title IV-E foster care program.

The House bill makes the following technical corrections:

(1) Restores the option to Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands, and the Northern Mariana Islands to use funds available under the cash assistance titles for social services.

(2) Insures that all the title XX funds under the ceiling are available for allotment to the States and other jurisdictions.

(3) Makes the title XI definition of the term "State," as it pertains to title XX funding, consistent with the list of jurisdictions cited in title XX as eligible for funds under the allotment formula.

(4) Incorporates into the title IV-E foster care law the same standards for foster care as were previously required. (Under prior law these standards were incorporated by reference to the standards in title XX which were in effect prior to Public Law 97-35.) The effective date is October 1, 1981.

Subtitle E—Child Support Enforcement

1. Fee for services to non-AFDC families

Senate amendment

Prior law allowed States to provide child support enforcement services to non-AFDC families without charge or to recover costs of serving such familes by charging the custodial parent an application fee of up to $20, and by retaining a portion of any child support payments which were collected.

An amendment to the 1981 Reconciliation Act replaced this optional provision with a requirement that States impose a fee equal to 10 percent of the support owed, to be charged against the absent parent and added to the amount of the collection.

The Senate amendment repeals the Reconciliation Act amendment and restores the fee provisions of prior law under which States had an option as to whether or not to charge for the costs of non-AFDC child support. It gives States the additional option of allowing them to recover costs either from the absent parent or from the custodial parent.

If a State elects to collect from the custodial parent (by deducting the costs from the amount of child support which is collected) the State must have in effect a procedure under which the court or other entity which determines the amount of the support obligation will be notified of the amount by which any support collection will be reduced to reimburse the costs of collection. The effective date is August 13, 1981.

House bill

The House bill includes the same provision but without the requirement of notification to the court.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

2. Allotments from pay for child and spousal support owed by members of the uniformed services on active duty

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment adds a new section to title IV-D of the Social Security Act to require allotments from the pay and allowances of any member of the uniformed service (on active duty) when he fails to make child (or child and spousal) support payments. The requirement would arise when the servicemember failed to make support payments in an amount at least equal to the value of 2 months' worth of support. Provisions of the Consumer Credit Protection Act would apply so that the percentage of the member's pay which could be subject to allotment would be limited. The amount of the allotment would be the amount of the support payment, as established under a legally enforceable administrative or judicial order. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

House committee provision

The same provision is included. In addition, there is a requirement that the servicemember be given an opportunity (within a 30-day limit) to consult a judge advocate or other law specialist.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the provision in both bills, modified to reflect the House committee provision.

3. Reimbursement of State agency in initial month of ineligibility for AFDC

Senate amendment

Under present law, amounts of child support collected which are sufficient to make the family ineligible for AFDC must be paid to the family beginning with the first month of ineligibility.

The Senate amendment requires that amounts collected which are sufficient to make the family ineligible will be paid to the family in months after the first month of ineligibility. This would allow the State to reimburse itself for AFDC that would have already been paid for that month, before the support was collected and known to have made the family ineligible. Thus, the family would not receive double payment for the same month, once in the form of AFDC, and once as a result of the child support collection. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

House committee provision

The same provision is included, effective upon enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

4. Reduction in certain Federal payments to States under the child support enforcement program

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The provision reduces the Federal matching rate for State administrative costs from 75 percent to 65 percent, and reduces the child support incentive payments from 15 to 12 percent. In addition, there would no longer be matching for the costs of court personnel who perform child support enforcement functions. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

Under the conference agreement, Federal matching for State administrative costs would be reduced from 75 percent to 70 percent, effective October 1, 1982. Child support incentive payments would be reduced from 15 to 12 percent, effective October 1, 1983. Federal matching for the costs of court personnel would be repealed, effective October 1, 1983.

5. Technical amendments to child support enforcement provisions in Reconciliation Act

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

The House bill makes several technical corrections in the child support enforcement provisions contained in Public Law 97-35, including inaccurate references. The effective date is October 1, 1981.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement includes the technical corrections.

SUBTITLE F—SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME

1. Effective date of application; Proration of initial SSI benefit payment

Senate amendment

SSI benefits in the month of application would be prorated from the date of application or the date of eligibility, whichever is later, instead of the requirement in present law whereby benefits begin the first of the month in which the recipient applies and meets the eligibility requirements. This amendment would also apply to the month in which an individual reapplies after a period of ineligibility. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

2. Rounding of SSI eligibility and benefit amounts

Senate amendment

The amendment provides for rounding SSI monthly benefit and income eligibility amounts to the next lower dollar instead of rounding to the next higher ten cents as provided in present law. Rounding would occur after the cost-of-living adjustment had been made. Cost-of-living adjustments in subsequent years would be based on the unrounded benefit and income eligibility amounts so that the provision would have no cumulative effect from year to year. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

3. Coordination of SSI and OASDI cost-of-living adjustments

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment continues the provisions in present law whereby SSI benefits are determined on a 2 month retrospective basis, but modifies present law to coordinate SSI and OASDI benefit increases. The amendment provides that at the time the cost-of-living adjustment is made, the recipient's SSI benefit is based on the OASDI benefit received in the same month. Also, whenever the Secretary determines that there is reliable information concerning a recipient's income in a given month, the SSI benefit would be based on that information. The Secretary would be required to prescribe by regulation the circumstances in which such information could be used to determine the monthly SSI benefit. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

House bill

The House bill repeals retrospective accounting and requires that SSI benefits be determined on the basis of the income anticipated by the recipient in the current month (prospectively). Thus, a social security or other benefit increase expected to be received in a month would be taken into account in determining that month's SSI benefit.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

4. Phaseout of hold harmless protection

Senate amendment

The legislation enacting the SSI program included "hold harmless" protection for the States which allowed them to supplement the Federal payment to assure that recipients would receive cash benefits equal to their January 1972 benefit levels, with no cost to the State beyond what was spent for benefits on behalf of aged, blind, and disabled persons in 1972.

Because of Federal benefit increases since that time, all except two States—Hawaii and Wisconsin—have lost their hold harmless status. These two States still receive a Federal contribution to their State supplements because of a special provision added to the law in 1976. Under this provision their hold harmless payments are no longer reduced by Federal benefit increases.

The 1982 Continuing Resolution provided a reduction in hold harmless payments for Wisconsin and Hawaii. The Senate amendment continues phasing out the hold harmless payments. Payments would be reduced to 40 percent of what they would otherwise be in 1983, to 20 percent in 1984, with no "hold harmless" payments made in 1985 and future years. The provision is effective on enactment.

House committee provision

The House committee provision is the same as the Senate amendment but with technical differences.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision.

5. Recovery of SSI overpayments

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment would allow the recovery of SSI overpayments from benefits payable under other programs administered by the Social Security Administration (black lung and OASDI benefits.)

House bill.

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

6. Exclusion from resources of burial plots and certain funds set aside for burial expenses

Senate amendment

The current SSI statute specifies certain assets which an individual may retain without affecting his eligibility for benefits. Excluded are the home, household goods, personal effects, and an automobile of limited value; and liquid assets up to $1,500 in the case of an individual, or $2,250 for a couple.

Also excluded under present law are life insurance policies with cash value, but only if the face value of the policy totals less than $1,500; and burial insurance, irrevocable burial contracts and term life insurance.

The Senate amendment provides that burial spaces for the individual and his immediate family would be excluded as a resource (subject to such limits as to size or value as the Secretary prescribes).

Burial funds for the individual and spouse would also be excluded if they are specifically set aside for this purpose (subject to limits set by the Secretary). Funds set aside that are used for other purposes would reduce future SSI benefits by a like amount. The provision is effective on enactment.

House committee provision

The House committee provision would also exclude burial spaces as a resource as in the Senate amendment but with technical differences. The House committee provision regarding burial funds is the same as the Senate amendment except that it establishes a limit on the amount of funds that can be excluded equal to $1,500 each for the individual and spouse. In addition, funds set aside would reduce on a dollar-for-dollar basis the value of life insurance policies (with cash value) which may be owned by the individual before the cash value is counted. In addition, the $1,500 limit would be reduced by the total of any amounts held by the individual in an irrevocable burial contract or other arrangement made to meet the burial expenses of the individual and spouse. The provision is effective on the first day of the second month after the month of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision but with the following modification:

The Secretary is authorized to exclude as income and resources increases in the value of amounts set aside for burial expenses because of interest earned, and exclude as income and resources any appreciation in the value of specified pre-paid burial arrangements.

7. Mandatory pass-through under State supplementation provisions

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision modifies present law related to the requirement that States pass through Federal SSI cost-of-living increases. Under present law, a State may meet this requirement by either (1) maintaining the December 1976 level of State supplementation payment for recipients, or (2) providing no less than the total aggregate amount of State supplementation paid by the State in the previous 12-month period. The House committee provision would allow a State to meet the pass-through requirement if the State did not decrease the State supplementation payment below the level in the previous December instead of the December 1976 level required under present law. The provision would be effective for 12-month periods ending after June 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision.

8. Treatment of unnegotiated checks under the supplemental security income program

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

Under present law, States are credited with their share (included as State supplementation) of benefit checks remaining unnegotiated for more than 180 days. The House bill clarifies the authority for the Federal Government to credit States for unnegotiated SSI benefit checks which are "State supplementation only" checks. The provision is effective October 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House bill.

SUBTITLE G—UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

1. Rounding of unemployment benefits to next lowest dollar

Under present law, States may determine rounding procedures to apply in the calculation of an individual's weekly unemployment benefit. Regular benefits are financed solely by State trust funds. Extended benefits are financed 50 percent from State trust funds and 50 percent from Federal unemployment insurance trust funds.

Senate amendment

The Federal 50 percent matching share of extended unemployment benefits would not be available on that part of extended unemployment benefit payments which result from a failure on the part of the State to have a benefit structure in which benefits are rounded down to the next lower dollar. This provision is effective for benefits payable on or after October 1, 1983. States in which there is no legislative session prior to that date would, however, be given additional time before the provision would become effective.

House bill

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

2. Use of amounts transferred to State unemployment funds pursuant to the Reed Act

Section 903 of the Social Security Act, commonly referred to as the Reed Act, provides for the transfer of any excess Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA) receipts to the individual State accounts in the unemployment Trust Fund. Each State's share is proportionate to its share of wages subject to FUTA taxes. Excess funds have occurred only three times since the passage of the Reed Act—in 1956, 1957, and 1958. Current unobligated balances in the State Reed Act accounts total $25 million.

Reed Act funds may be used by the States either to pay unemployment benefits or for administrative purposes. However, under present law, authority to use funds credited in 1956 and 1957 for administrative purposes has expired; and authority to use funds credited in 1958 for administrative purposes will expire on July 1, 1983.

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

The House provision extends for 10 years the authority for States to use Reed Act funds for administrative purposes. Also, the provision permits States that have used such funds to pay unemployment benefits to reestablish a Reed Act account based on the amount of funds previously distributed to those States under the Reed Act. The provision is effective the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House bill.

3. Unemployment benefits paid to ex-servicemembers

Under the program for unemployment compensation payments to ex-servicemembers (UCX), benefits are limited to individuals who (1) have 365 or more days of military service; (2) were discharged or released under honorable conditions; (3) did not resign or voluntarily leave the service (i.e., they could not have been able to reenlist); and (4) were not released or discharged "for cause" as defined by the Department of Defense. These requirements apply to individuals who left Federal military service on or after July 1, 1981, but only for weeks of unemployment that began on or after August 19, 1981.

Senate amendment

No provision.

House bill

The House provision substitutes new unemployment compensation eligibility requirements for individuals separated from the military. The provision (1) limits unemployment benefits to ex-servicemembers who have served 730 or more continuous days in the military and who have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions; (2) requires a 4-week waiting period between the week in which the individual separated and the week in which he or she first becomes entitled to compensation; and (3) limits an eligible ex-servicemember's benefit to 13 weeks. The provision is effective for those separated from the service on or after July 1, 1981, but only for benefits payable after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the House provision.

4. Additional weeks of unemployment compensation benefits: Federal supplemental benefits (Title 6 of Conference Report)

Most States provide up to a maximum of 26 weeks of State unemployment compensation benefits to unemployed individuals who meet the qualifying requirements of State law. Many claimants qualify for less than the maximum 26 weeks of State benefits. State benefits are financed out of State unemployment trust funds.

Under the permanent Federal-State extended benefits program, additional weeks of unemployment compensation are payable to individuals who exhaust their State benefits during periods of high unemployment. No one may receive more than 13 weeks of extended benefits, or more than 39 weeks of State plus extended benefits. Extended benefits are financed one-half out of State unemployment trust funds and one-half out of Federal unemployment trust funds.

Until September 25, 1982, extended benefits are payable in a State when, for the most recent 13-week period, the State insured unemployment rate (IUR)[1] averages at least 5 percent and, in addition, is 20 percent higher than it was during the same 13-week period in the 2 previous years. When the "20 percent" factor is not met, a State, at its option, may provide extended benefits when the State IUR averages 5 percent. (Thirty-nine States have incorporated the optional 5-percent trigger into their State law.)

Effective September 25, 1982, the IUR at which extended benefits will be payable in any State will be raised from 4 percent (plus the 20-percent factor) to 5 percent (plus the 20-percent factor). The optional trigger rate will be increased from 5 percent to 6 percent. (This change was made by the 1981 Budget Reconciliation Act.)

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

An individual who exhausts State and extended benefits could receive additional weeks of benefits, Federal supplemental benefits (FSB), equal to one-half of the duration of the claimant's State benefit entitlement. No one could receive more than 13 additional weeks or a combined maximum of more than 52 weeks of State benefits plus extended benefits plus the additional weeks provided by this provision. Benefit and administrative costs of the additional weeks would be financed out of general revenue.

The additional weeks of benefits (FSB) would be payable under the same triggers used to trigger on the extended benefits program. In other words, FSB would be payable wherever extended benefits were payable. FSB would be payable from date of enactment through September 30, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement provides, effective September 12, 1982 through March 31, 1983, up to 10 additional weeks of unemployment compensation benefits for unemployed workers in States in which extended benefits are being paid or have been paid at any time since June 1, 1982. Up to 8 additional weeks of benefits would be provided in States in which the extended benefit trigger rate equals or exceeds 3.5 percent. Up to 6 additional weeks of unemployment benefits would be provided in all other States.

If at any time 10 additional weeks of benefits are or become payable in a State, qualified unemployed workers in the State will be able to receive up to 10 weeks of benefits throughout the duration of the program, regardless of changes in the extended benefit trigger rates in the State.

The additional weeks of benefits would be paid to unemployed workers whose entitlement to State benefits (i.e., benefit year) or extended benefits ended on or after June 1, 1982; and

(a) who have no rights to regular or other State benefits or Federal/State extended benefits;

[1] The insured unemployment rate (IUR) is the percentage of workers covered by the State unemployment compensation program who are claiming State benefits.

(b) who have worked 20 or more weeks or have the equivalent in wages (i.e., 40 times the weekly benefit amount or one and one-half times high quarter wages, as specified in the extended benefits program) during the State defined base-period (generally a 12 month period prior to the time the person filed for State unemployment compensation); and,

(c) who continue to meet all other State and extended benefit requirements.

Except in States in which 10 additional weeks are or became payable, an individual's eligibility would be determined on a week by week basis according to the situation prevailing in the State. For example, an individual who initially qualifies for 6 weeks of benefits under this program (because the State extended benefit trigger rate is under 3.5 percent) may receive an additional 2 or 4 weeks of benefits if the rate subsequently increases (even if this occurs some weeks after he exhausts his 6-week entitlement). Similarly an individual who draws his first week of benefits under this program at a time when the State meets the 8-week criteria will not be eligible for a seventh or eighth week of benefits if the State extended benefit trigger rate drops below 3.5 percent before he receives the seventh and eighth week of benefits.

The determination of whether a State has a rate of 3.5 percent or more will be determined in the same manner as the extended benefit triggers: that is, on the basis of the average of the rates prevailing during a 13-week period ending 3 weeks previously. The determination for the week of September 12, 1982, the first week this program is in effect, will be based on the 13-week period ending August 28, 1982.

5. Taxation of unemployment compensation (Title 6 of Conference Report)

Under present law, the amount of State and Federal unemployment insurance benefits included in adjusted gross income for income tax purposes is equal to the lower of:

(a) the amount of unemployment benefits paid, or

(b) one-half of the excess of adjusted gross income, unemployment benefits, and excludable disability income over $20,000 for single taxpayers, $25,000 for married taxpayers filing jointly, or zero for married taxpayers filing separately.

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The income thresholds limiting inclusion of unemployment benefits in adjusted gross income would be reduced to $12,000 for single taxpayers and $18,000 for married taxpayers filing jointly. Penalties for underpayment of estimated tax for 1982 attributed to this change would be waived. The provision is effective for benefits paid on or after January 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision.

6. Interest on State unemployment loans transferred to Extended Unemployment Compensation Account (EUCA).

Under current law, States must pay interest on unemployment loans (as described in item 12). The interest payments are credited to the General Fund of the U.S. Treasury.

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision provides that interest paid by the States on Federal unemployment loans after December 31, 1982, would be credited to the Extended Unemployment Compensation Account (EUCA), one of three accounts in the Federal Unemployment Trust fund. EUCA finances the 50 percent Federal share of the Federal-State extended benefits program.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the House provision.

7. Treatment of certain employees of institutions of higher education

Under present law, employees of institutions of higher education and employees of elementary and secondary schools are covered by the unemployment insurance system. However, Federal law requires States to deny benefits during school recess periods to those individuals employed in an instructional, research, or principal administrative capacity under certain conditions. Benefits are denied for any week commencing during the period between two successive academic years or terms if an employee worked during the first term and has a contract or reasonable assurance of reemployment in the second year or term. This between-term denial may also be extended, at State option, to nonteaching, nonresearch, and nonprincipal administrative employees of elementary and secondary schools, but not to similar employees of colleges and universities.

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

Upon enactment, the House committee provision would allow States to deny unemployment compensation benefits to nonteaching, nonresearch, and nonadministrative employees of colleges and universities during periods between academic years or terms, if there is reasonable assurance the individual will be employed by the institution at the beginning of the forthcoming academic year or term. This would make Federal law consistent in its policy toward such employees of all educational institutions. The House committee provision also provides that retroactive benefits may be received by certain nonteaching, nonresearch, and nonadministrative educational employees who were reasonably assured of employment in the second term or in the fall, but were subsequently not offered that employment. Such retroactive benefits could be provided only for weeks during the between-term or recess period for which the person filed a timely claim for benefits and, except for the denial authority provided under this section, would have been eligible to receive benefits.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision.

8. Short-time compensation

Under current law, all States provide partial unemployment benefits for claimants who work less than regular full-time hours (as defined by State law). However, most State unemployment insurance laws do not allow partial benefits in a way that encourages "worksharing" and short-time compensation (partial, prorated unemployment benefits to workers whose work-week is reduced in lieu of total layoff of some of a firm's employees). This is because partial benefits under present law generally end when a worker earns slightly more than one-half of full-time wages.

Senate amendment

No provision.

House committee provision

The House committee provision directs the Department of Labor (DOL), upon enactment, to develop model legislation that can be used by States wishing to establish short-time compensation (or "worksharing") programs. DOL is directed to evaluate the operation and impact of any such programs implemented by the States and report its findings to Congress no later than October 1, 1985.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House committee provision.

TITLES II, III AND IV—REVENUE PROVISIONS

A. Individual Income Tax Provisions

1. Individual minimum tax

Present law

A 15-percent add-on minimum tax is imposed on the sum of six tax preferences in excess of the greater of one-half the regular income tax paid or $10,000. The tax preference items included in the minimum tax base are:

(1) Accelerated depreciation on real property in excess of straight-line depreciation over the useful life or recovery period;

(2) Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to a lease;

(3) Amortization of certified pollution control facilities (the excess of 60-month amortization over depreciation otherwise allowable);

(4) Percentage depletion in excess of the adjusted basis of the property;

(5) Amortization of child care facilities (the excess of 60-month amortization over depreciation otherwise allowable);

(6) Intangible drilling costs on oil, gas and geothermal wells in excess of the amount amortizable with respect to these costs, and in excess of net income from production.

Individuals are also subject to an alternative minimum tax, payable to the extent it exceeds regular tax. The base of this tax is taxable income increased by:

(1) the deduction for long-term capital gains, and

(2) itemized deductions (other than for medical expenses, casualty losses and taxes) to the extent that the total amount exceeds 60 percent of adjusted gross income reduced by these 3 excluded deductions.

The alternative minimum tax base is subject to the following rates:

	Percent
$0 to $20,000	0
$20,000 to $60,000	10
Over $60,000	20

For estates, trusts, and married individuals filing separate returns the dollar amounts defining the tax brackets are one-half the above amounts. The foreign tax credit is allowed, and credits attributable to an active trade or business are allowed to the extent that tax is not attributable to net capital gains or to itemized deductions included in the minimum tax base.

For purposes of both the regular and minimum taxes, individuals may elect to expense all intangible drilling costs for oil, gas and geothermal properties. The amount expensed in excess of the amount which would be allowed if these costs were amortized, and in excess of net income from production, is an item of tax preference (item (6), above).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The add-on minimum tax is repealed for individuals.

The base of the alternative minimum tax is changed to be equal to adjusted gross income plus specified preferences, minus specified itemized deducations.

The specified preferences include:

(1) the 6 preferences presently included under the add-on minimum tax;

(2) the deduction for long-term capital gains;

(3) interest and dividend income excluded under the $100 dividend exclusion, the All-Savers exclusion, and the 15-percent net interest exclusion (which takes effect after 1984); and

(4) the excess of expensing over 120-month amortization for mining exploration and development costs, research and development costs, and magazine circulation expenditures.

Deductions are allowed for the following to the extent not deductible in arriving at adjusted gross income:

(1) charitable contributions;

(2) medical expenses (in excess of 10 percent of adjusted gross income);

(3) casualty losses (in excess of 10 percent of adjusted gross income);

(4) personal housing interest;

(5) other interest to the extent of net investment income; and

(6) estate taxes.

The net operating loss deduction is generally reduced by items of tax preference.

The rates of the alternative minimum tax are changed as follows:

Unmarried individuals	Percent
$0 to $30,000	0
$30,000 to $50,000	10
Over $50,000	20

Married couples filing joint returns and surviving spouses	Percent
$0 to $40,000	0
$40,000 to $60,000	10
Over $60,000	20

For estates, trusts, and married individuals filing separate returns, the dollar amounts defining the tax brackets are one-half the amounts applicable to married couples filing joint returns. The foreign tax credit is allowed. Other non-refundable credits are not allowed.

Individuals may elect to capitalize a portion of their intangible drilling costs, except with respect to interests in which they are limited partners. These capitalized costs are treated as 5-year ACRS property, and allowed a 10-percent investment credit. Taxpayers must reduce the ACRS deductions to take account of the half-basis adjustment. These costs are not eligible for safe-harbor leasing. The ACRS deductions are not treated as an item of tax preference.

The Senate amendment generally applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982. Pre-1983 net operating loss preferences continue to be subject to the add-on tax when used, as under present law.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment. The tax rate is revised so that the entire minimum taxable income in excess of the exemption amount is taxed at a 20-percent rate. In addition, the minimum tax preference for amortization of child care facilities is deleted, and a preference is added for the excess of the fair market value of stock received upon the exercise of an incentive stock option over the exercise price. It is intended that the incentive stock option preference not apply where there is an early disposition of the stock acquired through the exercise of the option. Wagering losses allowable under section 165 will be allowable as a deduction in computing the minimum tax base.

An election is provided for individuals to amortize the mining exploration and development costs, circulation expenditures, and research and experimental expenditures, for purposes of the regular tax and minimum tax, over a 10-year period beginning with the year the expenditure occurs. The preference item with respect to these costs is revised to equal the excess of expensing over 10-year, rather than 120-month amortization. Individuals thus will not have a preference from these costs to the extent that they elect 10-year amortization. With respect to intangible drilling costs, limited partners may elect 10-year amortization. For other individuals with intangible drilling costs, the conference agreement provides the same election to use ACRS treatment and the investment tax credit that is provided by the Senate amendment.

Finally, the agreement provides that net income taken into account, directly or indirectly, from a limited partnership interest or an interest in a subchapter S corporation (in the case of a person who does not participate in the management of the corporation) will be investment income for the purposes of the net investment income limitation on the interest deduction. Further, interest on indebtedness incurred to acquire or carry such an interest will be "below the line" interest for purposes of the minimum tax and therefore subject to the net investment income limitation on the interest deduction. No inference is intended as to the proper treatment under the regular tax.

2. Deduction for medical expenses

Present law

Individuals who itemize deductions may deduct two categories of medical expenses:

(1) up to $150 for one-half of health insurance premiums.

(2) all other unreimbursed medical expenditures, including health insurance premiums not allowed in the first category, to the extent that these expenses exceed 3 percent of adjusted gross income. Drug expenditures may be included only to the extent the total of drug expenditures exceeds 1 percent of adjusted gross income.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The medical expense deduction is modified as follows:

(1) the $150 ceiling on the deduction for one-half of health insurance premiums is reduced to $100.

(2) the floor for deductible medical expenses is raised from 3 percent to 7 percent of adjusted gross income.

The provision is effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, with several modifications. First, the separate $150 deduction for one-half of health insurance premiums is eliminated. Second, the floor for deductible medical expenses is raised from 3 percent to 5 percent of adjusted gross income. These first two provisions are effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982. Third, effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1983, the one-percent floor under drug expenditures is eliminated, and the only drug expenditures which will be deductible will be expenditures for drugs which legally require a prescription or for insulin.

3. Deduction for casualty losses

Present law

Individuals who itemize deductions may deduct unreimbursed losses of nonbusiness property resulting from fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty, or from theft. The amount of the loss is the lower of (1) the fair market value of the property immediately before the casualty, reduced by the fair market value of the property immediately after the casualty (zero in the case of a theft) or (2) the property's adjusted basis. For any one casualty, the deduction is allowed only to the extent that the amount of the loss exceeds $100.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982, nonbusiness casualty losses are deductible only to the extent total losses sustained during the year exceed 10 percent of adjusted gross income. As under present law, each casualty loss will be deductible only to the extent it exceeds $100.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, with a technical amendment. The amendment makes clear that individuals who elect to take into account a nonbusiness disaster loss for the taxable year prior to the taxable year in which the disaster occurred must use the adjusted gross income of the prior taxable year in determining the extent to which the loss is deductible.

Although the amendments made by the conference agreement generally apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982, the amendments also apply to the taxpayer's last taxable year beginning before January 1, 1983, for a taxpayer who elects to take into account a disaster loss in such a taxable year. For example, if a calendar year taxpayer experiences a disaster loss in 1983 and elects to claim the loss for calendar year 1982, the loss will be deductible only to the extent it exceeds 10 percent of the taxpayer's 1982 adjusted gross income.

4. Capital gains holding period

Present law

Gains or losses on certain assets held more than 12 months are considered long-term capital gains.

For noncorporate taxpayers, 40 percent of net long-term capital gains are included in income, while 100 percent of net short-term gains are included. However, 100 percent of net short-term losses (up to $3,000) are deductible, while only 50 percent of net long-term losses (up to $3,000) are deductible.

For corporate taxpayers, net long-term gains are subject to an alternate tax rate of 28 percent, while net short-term gains are taxed at ordinary corporate rates.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The holding period distinguishing long-term from short-term capital gains and losses is reduced to 6 months, effective for assets sold or exchanged after June 30, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

5. Capital gains indexing

Present law

The adjusted basis for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property is established in fixed dollar amounts and, thus, does not take into account changes in the value of the dollar resulting from inflation.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The basis of certain assets is adjusted for inflation in order to determine the gain or loss upon the sale or other disposition of the assets.

Assets eligible for the indexing adjustments are corporate stock and real property that are capital assets or assets used in a trade or business and are held for more than one year.

The inflation adjustment is based on the level of the GNP deflator for the quarter the asset is purchased compared with the deflator for the quarter of sale. However, if the asset was purchased before 1985, the base is the GNP deflator in the fourth quarter of 1984.

Special rules are provided for certain conduit entities to ensure that an appropriate portion of the inflation adjustments flow through to shareholders or partners.

The provision applies to sales and exchanges after December 31, 1984.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

B. Business Income Tax Provisions

1. Corporate minimum tax

Present law

Corporations must pay a minimum tax on certain tax preferences. The tax is in addition to the corporation's regular tax. The amount of the minimum tax is 15 percent of the corporation's tax preferences in excess of the greater of the regular income tax paid or $10,000.

The tax preference items included in this base of the minimum tax for corporations are:

(1) Accelerated depreciation on real property in excess of straight-line depreciation over the useful life or recovery period;

(2) Amortization of certified pollution control facilities (the excess of 60-month amortization over depreciation otherwise allowable);

(3) In the case of certain financial institutions, the excess of the bad debt deductions over the amount of that deduction computed on the basis of actual experience;

(4) Percentage depletion in excess of the adjusted basis of the property;

(5) 18/46 of the corporation's net capital gain; and

(6) Amortization of child care facilities (the excess of 60-month amortization over depreciation otherwise allowable).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides for a 15-percent cutback in certain corporate tax preferences. The changes apply to all corporations other than subchapter S corporations.

In the case of corporations, the statutory percentage depletion rates for iron ore and coal (including lignite) are reduced by 15 percent.

The bad debt reserve deduction is reduced by 15 percent of the amount by which the otherwise allowable deduction exceeds the amount which would have been allowable on the basis of actual experience.

In the case of a financial institution, 15 percent of the otherwise allowable interest deduction for debt incurred or continued to purchase tax-exempt obligations acquired after 1982 is disallowed.

The deemed dividend distribution by a domestic international sales corporation (DISC) to a corporate shareholder is increased by 15 percent, to 57½ percent of certain taxable income.

The amount treated as ordinary income on the sale of section 1250 property (real estate) by a corporation is increased by 15 precent of the additional amount which would be ordinary income if the property were subject to recapture under section 1245.

Fifteen percent of the basis of pollution control facilities to which an election under section 169 applies is treated as if the election did not apply.

In the case of an integrated oil company, 15 percent of the amount otherwise allowable as a deduction for intangible drilling costs under section 263(c) is capitalized to the oil, gas or geothermal property and treated as if it were recovery property assigned to the 5-year class. ACRS deductions and the investment tax credit are made available. The deductions and the credit are subject to recapture in accordance with the usual recapture rules. The deductions are also reduced to take account of the half-basis adjustment. Integrated oil companies may elect on an annual basis to capitalize up to 100 percent of otherwise allowable IDCs under these new rules.

Fifteen percent of the deductions for mining exploration and development costs otherwise allowable under section 616(a) and 617 to a corporation are capitalized and treated in generally the same manner as the capitalized IDC's described above.

Only 71.6 percent of the items subject to a cutdown will be treated as items of tax preference under the add-on minimum tax for corporations.

The provisions generally apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982. However, the provision relating to deductions under secs. 263(c), 616 and 617 applies to expenditures made after that date; the provision relating to pollution control facilities applies to property placed in service after that date; the provision relating to section 1250 property applies to dispositions after that date; and the provision relating to depletion applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with several modifications: First, the preference for percentage depletion for coal and iron ore that is subject to the 15-percent cutback is defined as excess of percentage depletion otherwise allowable over the adjusted basis of the property. This replaces the Senate provision reducing the percentage depletion rates by 15 percent. Second, the treatment of the 15 percent of intangible drilling costs of integrated oil companies that is made ineligible for expensing is that these costs are written off over 36 months with no investment tax credit. Third, the Senate provision allowing corporations to elect not to expense more than 15 percent of intangible drilling and mining exploration and development costs is deleted. The present law election to capitalize intangible drilling costs is not changed. Fourth, the conference agreement removes rapid amortization for child care facilities as a minimum tax preference for corporations.

The conference agreement also makes a technical amendment relating to real estate investment trusts (REITs). Under present law, REITs are generally treated as conduit entities to the extent that their income (including capital gain) is distributed to its shareholders. However, a REIT is taxed like an ordinary corporation on income (including capital gain) it retains.

In order to continue this treatment with respect to the preference for section 1250 capital gain treatment, the conference agreement provides that the amount subject to the 15-percent ordinary income treatment is reduced by the amount of section 1250 capital gain which is distributed to shareholders and is designated as a capital gain dividend. For this purpose, capital gain dividends are deemed to be paid first from section 1250 capital gain. Thus, no section 1250 capital gain is treated as ordinary income where capital gain dividends for the year are more than the section 1250 capital gain. Any gain treated as ordinary income is considered as real estate investment trust taxable income.

Individual shareholders of a REIT continue to treat capital gain dividends as capital gains for purposes of the individual minimum tax. Corporate shareholders of a REIT treat the portion of the capital gain dividend attributable to gain from the sale or exchange of section 1250 property as subject to the 15-percent ordinary income rule. It is expected that the Internal Revenue Service will modify its regulations to require REITs to designate which portion of their capital gain dividends are paid from section 1250 capital gain and the amount of such gain that would be ordinary income if the property were subject to section 1245 recapture so that their corporate shareholders will know the amount of their preference for section 1250 capital gain treatment.

2. Basis adjustment for investment tax credits

Present law

Cost recovery deductions are allowed for 100 percent of the cost of a depreciable asset, including property for which the regular, energy, or historic structure rehabilitation investment tax credits are allowed. Basis is reduced by the full amount of rehabilitation credits except that no basis reduction is required for the credit for qualified rehabilitation of historic structures.

Lessors may elect to pass through investment credits to lessees, in which case lessees are treated as having purchased the asset for fair market value for purposes of computing the credit.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment requires a taxpayer to reduce the basis of assets by 50 percent of the amount of regular, energy and certified historic structure investment tax credits. This applies to credits claimed on qualified progress expenditures as well as on ordinary credits. A deduction also is allowed for one-half of unused credits in the year in which they expire. When a lessor elects to pass through the investment credit to a lessee, the lessor takes the basis adjustment. The basis adjustment is not taken into account in determining earnings and profits.

The amendment applies to property placed in service after December 31, 1982, other than property (which is not public utility property, property subject to a safe-harbor lease or a rehabilitated building) placed in service before July 1, 1984, for which a contract was entered into after August 13, 1981, and was binding on July 1, 1982, and at all times thereafter. For property placed in service after 1982 which is not covered by the transition rule, qualified progress expenditures and expenditures for property constructed by the taxpayer incurred before 1983 are not subject to the new rules.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with several modifications.

First, taxpayers are given an election with respect to the regular investment credit on recovery property to elect a 2-percentage point reduction in the credit. The election is made property by property. A taxpayer who makes this election does not have to make a basis adjustment. In the case of partnerships, the election is made at the partnership level. The election is intended to deal with the case in which a taxpayer cannot claim all the regular investment credits he earns because of the 85-percent-of-tax-liability limitation. In these cases, taxpayers could be forced to make a basis adjustment, and suffer a deferral of deductions for which they would have received a tax benefit, because they earn credits they will be able to use only after carrying them forward for several years. Under the conference agreement, these taxpayers are able to avoid this problem by electing the reduced credit.

Second, when lessors elect to pass through the investment credit to lessees under section 48(d), the lessor does not have to make a basis adjustment. Instead, the lessee includes in income ratably over the ACRS recovery period for the property an amount equal to one-half of the credit allowable. Lessees are eligible to elect the 2-percentage point reduction for the regular investment credit in which case they are not required to include this income. If the credit is recaptured, the income inclusions will be adjusted, in accordance with regulations, to take account of the amount of the credit recaptured.

Third, the conference agreement liberalizes the transition rules in the Senate amendment. The date by which property eligible for the transition rule must be placed in service in order to be exempt from the basis adjustment is extended from July 1, 1984, to January 1, 1986. Also, in the case of an integrated manufacturing facility where there were binding contracts, or where construction by the taxpayer was carried out with respect to more than 20 percent of the cost of the facility, between August 13, 1981, and July 2, 1982, and where the on-site construction began before July 1, 1982, property eligible for the credit in the facility will qualify for the transition rule if the property is placed in service before January 1, 1986.

An integrated manufacturing facility is one or more facilities located on a single site for the manufacture of one or more manufactured products from raw materials by the application of two or more integrated manufacturing processes. For example, an integrated facility for the manufacture of steel or steel products from raw materials would qualify as an integrated manufacturing facility.

Fourth, a transition rule is adopted for rehabilitation of certified historic structures. These are exempt from the basis adjustment if there is a contract to rehabilitate the property which was entered into after December 31, 1980, and was binding on July 1, 1982, and at all times thereafter or if rehabilitation began between December 31, 1980, and July 1, 1982, as long as the building is placed in service before January 1, 1986. Also, rehabilitations of certified historic structures placed in service before July 1, 1984, are exempt if Securities and Exchange Commission filings and HUD Section 8 applications with respect to those structures were made before July 1, 1982.

3. Limitation on investment tax credit

Present law

The investment tax credit earned by a taxpayer can be used to reduce tax liability up to certain limits. The limit for taxable years ending after 1981 is $25,000 plus 90 percent of the tax liability in excess of $25,000 (increased from 80 percent in 1981). Unused credits for a taxable year may be carried back to each of the 3 taxable years preceding the unused credit year and then carried forward to each of the 15 following taxable years.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The limitation on the amount of income tax liability (in excess of $25,000) that may be offset by the investment tax credit is reduced from 90 percent to 85 percent.

The lower limitation is effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

4. Accelerated depreciation (ACRS)—1985 and 1986

Present law

Cost recovery schedules for equipment reflect the 150-percent declining balance method with a switch to the straight-line method, for the years 1981–84. In 1985, the schedules accelerate to reflect the 175-percent declining balance method with a switch to the sum-of-the-years-digits method. In 1986, they accelerate further to reflect the 200-percent declining balance method with a switch to the sum-of-the-years-digits method.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment repeals 1985 and 1986 accelerations of depreciation.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

5. Construction period interest and taxes

Present law

Under section 189, individuals, personal holding companies, and subchapter S corporations are required to capitalize interest and real property taxes attributable to the construction period of real property (other than low-income housing) to be used in a trade or business or held for investment. The capitalized interest and taxes are amortized (i.e., deducted in equal portions) over certain periods, generally 10 years. The interest that must be capitalized is interest which is attributable to the construction period on any debt incurred or continued for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, or carrying real property other than low income housing. The construction period is defined as the period beginning on the date construction of the building or improvement begins and ending on the date the property is ready to be placed in service or is ready to be held for sale.

The amortization of capitalized interest and taxes begins in the year the interest or taxes was paid or accrued. However, the amortization of capitalized interest and taxes is then suspended until the year the building or improvement is ready to be placed in service or to be sold, and amortization resumes at that time.

Corporations, other than personal holding companies and subchapter S corporations, are not subject to the capitalization requirement of section 189. For these corporations, amounts paid or accrued for interest and real property taxes are allowed as deductions for the year in which paid or accured. Certain prepaid interest, however, must be capitalized and deducted in the years to which properly applicable. In addition, under section 266, taxpayers may elect to capitalize certain taxes and interest attributable to both real and personal property and include the capitalized items in the basis of the property.

Section 189 does not apply to interest and taxes capitalized under section 266.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Section 189 generally would be extended to apply to all corporations. However, for corporations other than personal holding companies and subchapter S corporations, section 189 would not apply to construction period interest and taxes for residential real property. In addition, the Treasury Department would be required to issue regulations providing for the allocation of interest to the construction of real property, and it would be expected that these regulations would adopt rules similar to those contained in Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement Number 34, as amended. Under those rules, the amount of interest to be capitalized is the portion of the total interest expense incurred during the construction period that could have been avoided if funds had not been expended for construction. Interest expense that could have been avoided includes interest costs incurred by reason of additional borrowings to finance construction and interest costs incurred by reason of borrowings that otherwise could have been repaid with funds expended for construction.

The Senate amendment generally would apply to interest and taxes paid or incurred in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982, for the construction of nonresidential real property begun after December 31, 1982. The Senate amendment would not apply, however, to the construction of the Alaska Natural Gas Transportation System (15 U.S.C. 719) and its related facilities (e.g., compressor stations and conditioning plants). In addition, the Senate amendment would not apply to the construction of hotels or motels described in section 48(a)(3)(B) begun before January 1, 1984, if the construction is done under a written plan of the taxpayer in existence on July 1, 1982, and if the taxpayer has requested in writing approval from a governmental unit for such hotel or motel.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with one amendment to the effective date. Under the amendment, the special transitional rule of the Senate bill for hotel and motel construction is extended to apply also to the construction of hospitals and nursing homes.

The conferees understand that the construction period commences with the date on which the construction of a building or other improvement begins and ends on the date that the building or improvement is ready to be placed in service or is ready to be held for sale. For this purpose, the construction period is not to be considered to have commenced solely because drilling is performed to determine soil conditions, architect's sketches or plans are prepared, or a building permit is obtained. Generally the construction period will be considered to have commenced when land preparations and improvements, such as clearing, grading, excavation, and filling, are undertaken. However, the construction period will not be considered to have commenced solely because clearing or grading work is undertaken, or drainage ditches are dug, if such work is undertaken primarily for the maintenance or preservation of raw land and existing structures and is not an integral part of a plan for the construction of new or substantially renovated buildings and improvements. In the case of the demolition of existing structures where the construction period has not otherwise commenced, the construction period is considered to commence when demolition begins if the demolition is undertaken to prepare the site for construction. The construction period will not be considered to commence solely because of the demolition of existing structures if the demolition is not undertaken as part of a plan for the construction of new or substantially renovated buildings or improvements.

The conferees also intend to clarify that the construction of property is considered to have begun before January 1, 1983, if the property is an integral part of an integrated facility and construction of part of that facility began before January 1, 1983. An integrated facility is a multi-property facility constructed as a single project on a single site and operated as a single, unitary facility as described in a written plan (evidenced by internal documents of the taxpayer such as purchasing and financing documents) existing on July 1, 1982. Property is an integral part of an integrated facility if:

(1) the property is described as part of the same project in written plans of the taxpayer in existence on July 1, 1982;

(2) the property is an integral part the planned operation of the project when the project will first be placed in service; and

(3) the property will be constructed during the same construction period as the rest of the project.

Thus, for example, three nuclear reactors are not part of one integrated facility for the production of electricity if it is planned that only one reactor will be placed in service initially. On the other hand, if a taxpayer plans to construct a facility to produce sheet steel from iron ore, then both a blast furnace and rolling mill to be constructed during the same construction period on a single site are part of the same integrated facility because both properties are necessary to produce sheet steel from iron ore as contemplated in the taxpayer's plan. However, if the blast furnace is planned to be ready to be placed in service in 1985 and construction of the rolling mill is not planned to begin until 1986, then those properties are not part of one integrated facility.

Although improvements such as parking lots, access roads, and utility hook-ups may be part of an integrated facility, the start of construction of such property (which can be used in connection with any type of facility) is not considered the start of construction of other property in the facility for purposes of the effective date of the provision.

6. Leasing Rules

a. Non-safe harbor leasing rules

Present law

General concept

Prior to the enactment of ERTA, the law contained rules to determine who owns an item of property for tax purposes when the property is subject to an agreement which the parties characterize as a lease. These rules, which evolved over the years through a series of court cases and revenue rulings and revenue procedures issued by the Internal Revenue Service, still apply to transactions that are not governed by the safe-harbor rules. Essentially outside the safe harbor provided by ERTA, the law is that the economic substance of a transaction, not its form, determines who is the owner of the property for tax purposes. Lease transactions cannot be used solely for the purpose of transferring tax benefits. In general, that means that the lessor has to have a profit or income-producing motive for the transaction independent of tax benefits. Other business motives are taken into account in determining the substance of the transaction. The fact that the lessor in a lease financing transaction can show a profit or business purpose does not automatically result in lease treatment because a profit motive also can exist in a financing arrangement. In addition, the lessor has to bear meaningful benefits and burdens of ownership. The transaction has to be in substance a lease and not a financing arrangement or a conditional sale.

Objective guidelines (Revenue Procedure 75–21)

Revenue Procedure 75–21 and subsequent revenue procedures provide the following objective guidelines for determining non-safe harbor lease treatment of leveraged leases of equipment. These guidelines may be viewed as a type of safe harbor because if all requirements are met, a ruling generally will be issued treating the transaction as a lease.

1. Lessor's minimum investment.—The lessor must have a minimum 20 percent unconditional at-risk investment in the property.

2. Lessee's investment.—Neither the lessee nor a party related to the lessee may furnish any part of the cost of the property.

3. Lessee loans or guarantees.—The lessee may not lend to the lessor any of the funds necessary to purchase the property or guarantee any lessor loan.

4. Purchase options.—The lessee may not have an option to purchase the property at the end of the lease term unless the option can be exercised only at fair market value (determined at the time of exercise). In addition, the lessor cannot have a contractual right to require the lessee or any other party to purchase the property, even at fair market value (i.e., a put).

5. Lessor profit and cash flow.—The lessor must expect to receive a profit and positive cash flow from the transaction independent of tax benefits.

6. Limited use property.—Under Revenue Procedure 76–30, property that can be used only by the lessee (limited use property) is not eligible for lease treatment.

Motor vehicle leases

One court (Swift Dodge v. Commissioner, 76 T.C. 546 (1981)) has held that, in an operating lease of motor vehicles, lease treatment may result even though the lease contains a terminal rental adjustment clause requiring or permitting an adjustment of rent to make up any difference between the projected value of the property at the end of the lease and the actual value of the property upon lease termination. The I.R.S. has not acquiesced in this case.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Fixed price purchase options

For leases entered into after December 31, 1984, fixed price purchase options are not to be taken into account in determining whether a transaction is a lease under the non-safe harbor rules. To qualify, the option must be at least 10 percent of the original cost of the property. As under present law, the fact the lessor has a contractual right requiring the lessee to purchase the property (i.e., a put option) in a lease must be taken into account in determining whether a transaction is a lease under non-safe harbor rules.

This change permitting a fixed price purchase option applies to certain leases of farm property entered into after July 1, 1982. To be eligible, the property must be new property eligible for the investment credit and used for farming purposes as defined in section 2032A(e)(5). A lease does not qualify if the cost basis of the leased property when added to the cost basis of all other property subject to a lease that was entered into by the lessee (or a related person) during the same calendar year and that was covered by this rule exceeds $150,000. For this purpose, a related person is defined in section 168(e)(4)(D), except that an individual is not considered related to the lessee individual if the property is used in a trade or business of farming that is separate from the trade or business of farming of the lessee.

Motor vehicle leases

The Senate amendment prevents the IRS from retroactively denying lease treatment for certain motor vehicle leases, including leases of trailers, by reason of the fact that those leases contain terminal rental adjustment clauses. The provision does not address the legal effect of these clauses and does not prevent the Treasury from issuing regulations on a prospective basis addressing the legal effect of these clauses.

The Senate provision regarding terminal rental adjustment clauses applies only to leases in which the lessee uses the property for business purposes. Also, the provision does not apply to leveraged leases financed with nonrecourse debt.

Other rules unchanged

The Senate amendment does not otherwise alter Revenue Procedure 75–21 or the general principles for determining lease treatment of transactions other than safe-harbor lease transactions.

Effective date

Fixed price purchase options.—In general, the change for fixed price purchase options applies to leases entered into after December 31, 1984. However, the provision for up to $150,000 of a lessee's farm property applies to leases entered into after July 1, 1982 and before January 1, 1985.

Motor vehicle leases.—The provision governing motor vehicle leases applies to any open taxable year.

Conference agreement

Overview

The conference agreement modifies the Senate amendment in several respects. Under the conference agreement, leases that qualify under the non-safe harbor rules are allowed the same 90-day window presently allowed for safe harbor leases. Thus, property subject to a non-safe harbor lease will be considered new property if it is leased within 90 days after the property is placed in service. In addition, the conference agreement establishes a new category of leases referred to as finance leases.

These rules generally apply to leases entered into after December 31, 1983. A special rule applies for finance leases entered into after July 1, 1982 of up to $150,000 of a lessee's farm property.

The conference agreement adopts without change the provision preventing the IRS from retroactively denying lease treatment to motor vehicle leases that contain terminal rental adjustment clauses. As under the Senate amendment, that change applies only to property that is used for business purposes and that is not financed with nonrecourse debt.

Finance leases

Overview.—Under the conference agreement, lease treatment is allowed for finance leases. A finance lease is an agreement characterized by the parties as a lease with respect to eligible property that would meet the requirements of a lease under the non-safe harbor rules if the fact that the agreement contained a 10-percent fixed price purchase option or that the property was limited use property were not taken into account in determining lease treatment. To be a finance lease, the lessor must be a corporation (other than a subchapter S corporation or a personal holding company), a partnership all partners of which are those corporations, or a grantor trust with respect to which the grantor and all beneficiaries are those corporations. Finance leases (other than finance leases of up to $150,000 of a lessee's farm property per calendar year) are subject to a lessee cap, a lessor cap, and an ITC spread. Limitations on related party transactions and percentage depletion deductions of lessees apply to all finance leases.

Eligible property.—Under the conference agreement, property eligible for finance lease treatment includes only recovery property that is new section 38 property. However, eligible property does not include public utility property (as defined in section 167(1)(3)(A)) or rehabilitated buildings. The conference agreement excludes property used by former tax-exempt organizations excluded from the safe-harbor provisions under the Senate amendment, except that the exclusion does not apply to property used by farmer's cooperatives described in section 521 (whether or not they are exempt from tax) or to property used in an unrelated trade or business, the income from which is subject to tax under section 511. In addition, property does not qualify if it is used by a person other than a U.S. person and that foreign user is not subject to U.S. tax on the income generated from the property. Mass commuting vehicles are not eligible.

10-percent fixed price purchase option.—A 10-percent fixed price purchase option means an option of the lessee (i.e., a call option) to purchase the property at the end of the lease term for a price that is fixed at the beginning of the lease term at an amount that is 10 percent or more of the original cost of the property.

Limited use property.—Limited use property is property that is not readily usable by any person other than the lessee.

Other non-safe harbor lease rules apply.—Finance leases must meet the requirements for lease treatment under non-safe harbor rules, disregarding the fact that the lease contains a 10-percent fixed price option or that the property is limited use property. Thus, the transaction must have economic substance independent of tax benefits and not merely be cast in the form of a lease for purposes of utilizing the lessor's tax base. The lessor must reasonably expect to derive a profit from the transaction independent of tax benefits. In addition to a profit, the transaction must not (without regard to the fact the agreement contains a fixed price option or that the property is limited use property) in substance be a financing arrangement or conditional sale in which the lessee has an investment in the property.

Investment tax credit.—Under the conference agreement, 20 percent of any investment credit earned for finance lease property is allowable in the first taxable year and 20 percent of the credit is allowable in each of the 4 succeeding taxable years. In computing cost recovery allowances for finance lease property, the regular ACRS periods and methods apply. The basis adjustment for half of the full investment credit occurs in the first taxable year.

This spreading of an investment credit does not apply to property placed in service after September 30, 1985.

Lessor limitations.—In taxable years ending after December 31, 1983, a lessor is not allowed deductions or credits allocable to finance lease property to the extent those deductions or credits reduce its income tax liability (including any liability under the add-on minimum tax) by more than 50 percent.

Deductions or credits not allowed by operation of this limitation may be carried forward, under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary. This lessor limitation does not apply to property placed in service after September 30, 1985, in taxable years beginning after that date.

A lessor cannot use tax benefits from property in a finance lease to generate a net operating loss carryback or investment tax credit carryback to a prior taxable year. This rule operates in the same way as the rule prohibiting carrybacks (and allowing carryforwards) of tax benefits obtained under the safe-harbor lease provisions.

Lessee limitations.—The conference agreement places a 40-percent limit on the amount of a lessee's qualified base property that may be leased during any calendar year under a finance lease. Qualified base property includes new section 38 property of the lessee, financed lease property (other than new section 38 property of the lessee), and designated leased property. Designated leased property has the same meaning as in the lessee cap of the safe harbor provisions. Property leased last during the calendar year is considered to be the first property denied lease treatment under this rule. The lessee cap does not apply after calendar year 1985.

The conference agreement requires a lessee to compute its percentage depletion deduction for property subject to a finance lease as if it owned the property. In general, rules similar to the rules for the percentage depletion computation under the safe-harbor provisions of the Senate amendment apply in making this computation. However, the lessee must use the regular ACRS deductions allowed under the law in effect at the time of the lease agreement in making this determination rather than the modified ACRS deductions required for safe-harbor leases.

Related party transactions.—The finance lease rules do not apply to transactions between related persons. For this purpose, persons are related if they are part of an affiliated group as defined in section 1504 even if the persons are not an "includible corportation" (as defined in section 1504(b)) and even though the group does not file a consolidated return.

Farm finance leases.—Leases of new section 38 property used for farming purposes entered into after July 1, 1982, may qualify for finance lease treatment if the cost basis of the leased property when added to the cost basis of all other farm property subject to a finance lease that was entered into by the lessee (or a related person) during the calendar year does not exceed $150,000. A related person has the same meaning as under the Senate amendment. These leases of farm property are not subject to the lessor cap, the lessee cap, or the spread of the investment credit. However, those limitations apply for leases entered into after December 31, 1983, of property exceeding the $150,000 amount. The limitations on related party transactions and percentage depletion of a lessee apply to farm finance leases for all years.

Other non-safe harbor leases unaffected

The conference agreement does not alter the present law treatment of leases other than finance leases or safe harbor leases.

Effective dates

The provision permitting a 90-day window applies to leases entered into after December 31, 1983. The finance lease provisions also generally apply to property placed in service after December 31, 1983. However, the rules relating to finance leases of up to $150,000 of a lessee's farm property apply to leases entered into after July 1, 1982. The motor vehicle provisions apply to any open taxable years.

b. Safe-harbor leasing rules

Present law

General concept

The safe-harbor leasing provisions of ERTA are intended to permit owners of property to transfer the tax benefits of ownership (depreciation and the investment credit) to other persons without having to meet the prior law requirements for characterizing the transaction as a lease. The safe-harbor leasing provisions operate by guaranteeing that for Federal tax purposes qualifying transactions will be treated as leases, and that the nominal lessor will be treated as the owner of the property, even though the lessee is in substance the owner of the property and the transaction otherwise would not be considered a lease.

Eligibility requirements

Maximum lease term.—The lease term may not exceed the greater of 90 percent of the useful life of the property or 150 percent of the ADR midpoint of the property.

Maximum interest rate on lessee obligations.—Under Treasury regulations, the rate may not exceed by more than 3 percentage points the rate on tax overpayments and underpayments, the prime rate, or an arms-length rate determined under section 482.

Eligible property

General rule.—Property must be "qualified leased property," which, in general, means that the property must be new equipment eligible for both ACRS and the investment credit.

90-day window.—The equipment may be leased within 3 months after the property is placed in service without violating the requirement that the equipment be new equipment (called the 90-day window).

Property used by tax-exempt organizations.—Property (other than mass commuting vehicles) used by a tax-exempt organization or a U.S. Federal, State, or local government unit generally is ineligible.

Mass commuting vehicles.—Qualified lease property includes mass commuting vehicles (which means any bus, subway car, rail car or similar equipment that is leased to a governmentally owned mass transit system and used in providing mass commuting services) that are financed in whole or in part by tax-exempt bonds.

Public utility property.—Public utility property is eligible for the safe-harbors rules.

ACRS deductions

Recovery period.—The taxpayer may elect the regular ACRS recovery period of 3 years for 3-year property, 5 years for 5-year property and 10 years for 10-year property.

Recovery method.—The taxpayer may elect accelerated percentages approximating use of the 150-percent declining balance method in early recovery years and the straight-line method in subsequent recovery years.

Investment tax credit.—100 percent of any investment tax credit is allowable when property is placed in service.

Related party transactions

The Treasury regulations governing the safe harbor rules reserved on whether transactions between related parties qualify for safe-harbor treatment.

ITC strip

The Treasury regulations reserved on whether safe-harbor lease treatment is allowed for transactions referred to as lease-lease-backs or ITC strips intended to permit the lessee to transfer only the investment credit.

Closely-held lessors

The at-risk limitations on losses (sec. 465) and credits (sec. 46(c)(8)) may apply where a closely-held corporation is either a lessor or lessee. In general, to be at-risk, the taxpayer must use cash or recourse debt to finance the property.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Eligibility requirements

Maximum lease term.—The lease term cannot exceed 100 percent of the present class life (ADR midpoint as of January 1, 1981) of the property (generally 9 years for property without an ADR life).

Interest rate.—The interest rate may not exceed the rate of overpayments and underpayments of tax reduced by 5 percentage points, but not below 8 percent.

Eligible property

General rule.—The definition of qualified leased property eligible for the safe-harbor is generally the same as under present law. However, public utility property is not qualified leased property under the Senate amendment.

Property used by tax-exempt organizations.—Qualified leased property will not include property (other than mass commuting vehicles) leased to a person that was a tax-exempt organization at any time within the 5-year period preceding the date of the lease agreement. This rule also applies where a predecessor of the lessee, within the 5-year period prior to the date the lease is entered into, was a tax-exempt organization and was engaged in activities substantially similar to the activities in which the lessee is engaged.

Mass commuting vehicles.—In general, the definition of mass commuting vehicles eligible for the safe harbor is the same as under present law. However, ferries are specifically designated as mass commuting vehicles.

ACRS deductions

Recovery period.—Recovery periods are 5 years for 3-year property, 8 years for 5-year property and 15 years for 10-year property.

Recovery method.—The recovery method is the straight-line method (with a half-year convention).

Investment tax credit.—Any investment tax credit earned on leased property is allowable over 3 years—50 percent the first year and 25 percent in each of the next 2 years. However, the half-basis adjustment takes effect the first year.

Lessee limitations

Cap on eligible property.—The lessee may apply the safe-harbor rules with respect to no more than the following percentages of the lessee's qualified base property placed in service during any calendar year:

Year	Percent
1982	45
1983	45
1984	40

Qualified leased property not subject to this provision by virtue of the general effective date or transitional rules counts toward the lessee cap in 1982, but the rule does not operate to deny safe-harbor lease treatment for that property.

For this purpose, the lessee's qualified base property includes (1) the cost basis of all qualified leased property leased by the lessee under a lease for which a safe-harbor election has been made, (2) all other new section 38 property of the lessee that is placed in service during the taxable year, and (3) designated lease property, which is new property eligible for the investment credit that is used by the lessee under a long-term (more than 50 percent of the ADR midpoint of the property) agreement qualifying as a lease under non-safe harbor rules.

Property leased last during the calendar year is considered to be the first property denied lease treatment under this rule.

Percentage depletion.—The lessee must compute its 50-percent and 65-percent taxable income limitations on percentage depletion deductions as if it were the owner of the leased property. For this purpose, the lessee must take into account ACRS deductions for the property and must disregard lease rentals and interest on lessee financing. In computing the imputed ACRS deductions for the property, the lessee must use the recovery period and method applicable to the lessor under the new safe-harbor rules.

Foreign tax credit.—The lessee must compute its foreign tax credit as if the lessee were the owner of the property. Thus, it must take into account ACRS deductions (and disregard rentals and interest on lessee financing) computed using the periods and methods applicable to the lessor.

Lessor limitations

Current tax liability.—In taxable years ending after July 1, 1982, a lessor is not allowed deductions or credits allocable to qualified leased property to the extent those deductions or credits reduce its income tax liability (including any liability under the add-on minimum tax) by more than 50 percent. Thus, the lessor's tax liability is the greater of (1) tax computed by taking into account ACRS deductions, investment credits, rentals, and interest or lessee financing allocable to qualified leased property or (2) 50 percent of the tax computed without taking into account those items. Deductions or credits from safe-harbor leases not allowable by operation of this rule may be carried forward under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary. No deferral of tax benefits is required with respect to deductions or credits arising from safe-harbor leases not covered by the Senate provisions, but such deductions or credits count first in determining whether the 50-percent limitation applies to safe-harbor leases covered by the Senate provisions.

Carrybacks.—A lessor cannot use tax benefits obtained as a safe-harbor lessor to generate a net operating loss carryback or investment tax credit carryback to a prior taxable year. In determining the amount of any carryback, taxable income or tax liability must be reduced first by tax benefits that are not attributable to safe-harbor leases. The Senate amendment does not prohibit a carryover of these amounts.

Related party transactions

The Senate amendment prevents the lessee from entering into a safe-harbor lease with a related person. For this purpose, persons are related if they are part of an affiliated group as defined in section 1504, even if the persons are not "includible corporations" (as defined in section 1504(b)) and even though the group does not file a consolidated return.

ITC strip

The Senate amendment allows safe-harbor lease treatment for transactions referred to as lease-leasebacks or ITC strips entered into before October 20, 1981, which is the date Treasury issued its temporary regulations dealing with the safe-harbor provisions.

Closely-held lessors

Under the Senate amendment, the at-risk limitations on losses and credits generally do not apply to lessors that are closely-held corporations with respect to qualified leased property for which a safe-harbor election has been made. If the lessee would be treated as the owner without regard to the safe-harbor rules, the at-risk rules will apply to closely-held lessors to the extent those rules would apply to the lessee. Also, the at-risk rules will continue to apply to closely-held corporations the principal function of which is the performance of services in the field of health, law, engineering, architecture, accounting, actuarial science, performing arts, athletics, or consulting.

Effective dates

General rule.—The Senate amendment generally applies to leases entered into or property placed in service after July 1, 1982, except the limitation on lessees relating to percentage depletion and the limitation on related party transactions apply to leases entered into after February 19, 1982.

Transition rule.—In general, the Senate provision does not apply if (1) the property is placed in service before July 1, 1983, and (2) after June 25, 1981 (the date H.J. Res. 266, which contained the safe-harbor leasing provisions, was ordered to be reported by the Senate Finance Committee) and before February 20, 1982, (a) the property was acquired by the lessee or construction of the property was commenced by or for the lessee or (b) the lessee entered into a binding contract for the purchase or construction of the property. For this purpose, a contract is not binding unless the lessee's failure to perform would subject him to liability for damages in an amount equal to or greater than 5 percent of the cost of the property.

Aircraft qualify under the transitional rule if the property is placed in service before January 1, 1984, and construction of a subassembly commenced or the stub wing join occurred between June 25, 1981, and February 20, 1982.

The June 25, 1981, date in the transitional rule is moved back to March 31, 1981, for paper production plants. Certain automobile manufacturing property qualifies under the transitional rule if placed in service before July 1, 1982 and leased before August 15, 1982.

Mass commuting vehicles.—The Senate provisions which modify the safe-harbor rules generally do not apply to mass commuting vehicles placed in service before January 1, 1988, pursuant to a binding contract or commitment entered into before April 1, 1983.

Repeal of safe-harbor leasing.—Safe-harbor leasing is repealed for property (other than mass commuting vehicles eligible under the special rule above) placed in service after September 30, 1985.

Conference agreement

Eligibility requirements

Maximum lease term.—The maximum lease term is the recovery period (described below) applicable to property in a safe-harbor lease or, if greater, 120 percent of the present class life of the property.

Interest rate.—Under the conference agreement, the interest rate on lessee obligations under a safe-harbor lease may not exceed the rate on overpayments and underpayments of tax.

Eligible property

General rule.—The general definition of qualified leased property is the same as under the Senate amendment.

Property used by tax-exempt organizations.—In general, the conference agreement adopts the provision in the Senate amendment excluding certain former tax-exempt organizations from qualified leased property. However, the conference agreement does not exclude from eligible property any property used by a tax-exempt organization in an unrelated trade or business the income from which is subject to tax under section 511. Also, farmers cooperatives described in section 521 are eligible for safe-harbor leasing whether or not they are exempt from tax.

Property used by certain foreign persons.—Under the conference agreement, qualified lease property does not include property used by a person other than a U.S. person if the income from use of the asset by that person is not subject to U.S. tax.

Mass commuting vehicles.—The conference agreement clarifies the Senate amendment regarding ferries to insure that property other than ferries does not qualify unless it is used to provide mass commuting services. For example, mass commuting vehicles do not include school buses.

ACRS deductions

Recovery period.—The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

Recovery method.—Cost recovery allowances are determined by applying prescribed percentages to the unadjusted basis of the property. These percentages are based on the 150-percent declining balance method, changing to the straight-line method, and using a half-year convention in the first recovery year. The percentages are set forth in the following table:

If the recovery year is:	The applicable percentage for the class of property is:
	3-year	5-year	10-year
1	15	9	5
2	25	17	10
3	20	14	9
4	20	12	8
5	20	12	7
6		12	7
7		12	6
8		12	6
10			6
11			6
12			6
13			6
15			6

Investment tax credit.—The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, except only 20 percent of an investment tax credit is allowable in each of the first five taxable years.

Lessee limitations

Eligible property.—In general, the conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. However, because the safe-harbor provisions do not apply after 1983, the lessee cap imposed by the Senate amendment in 1984 and 1985 does not apply. In addition, the conference agreement makes clear that property not subject to the modifications of the safe-harbor rules by virtue of the general effective date or transition rules counts towards computation of the lessee cap in 1983 as well as 1982.

Percentage depletion.—The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

Foreign tax credit.—The conference agreement deletes the limitation on the foreign tax credit for safe-harbor lessees.

Lessor limitations

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

Related party transactions

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

ITC strip

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment.

Closely held lessors

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment excluding closely-held lessors (other than personal service companies) from the at-risk rules for qualified leased property for which a safe-harbor election is in effect. However, the conference agreement extends the application of the rule to safe harbor leased property placed in service before the effective date where the lessor first becomes a closely held corporation after the general effective date. The conference agreement makes clear that the at-risk limitations also will not apply to closely held lessors with respect to safe harbor leased property that is not covered by the modifications to the safe-harbor provisions by virtue of the general effective date or transitional rules. The rules permitting closely held lessors to avoid application of the at-risk rules do not apply with respect to finance leases or other non-safe harbor leases.

Effective dates

General rule

The modifications to the safe-harbor leasing rules generally apply to leases entered into or property placed in service after July 1, 1982, except that the limitation on lessees relating to percentage depletion and the limitation on related party transactions apply to leases entered into after February 19, 1982.

Transitional rules

General rule.—Under the conference agreement, the modifications to the safe-harbor leasing provisions do not apply for property placed in the service before January 1, 1983 if after December 31, 1980 and before July 2, 1982 either (1) the property was acquired by the lessee or construction of the property was commenced by or for the lessee, or (2) a binding contract to acquire or construct the property was entered into by the lessee. For this purpose, a contract is not binding unless the lessee's failure to perform would subject him to liability for damages in an amount equal to or greater than 5 percent of the cost of the property.

Mass commuting vehicles.—The modifications to the safe-harbor leasing provisions do not apply to a mass commuting vehicle placed in service before January 1, 1988. In addition, these modifications do not apply to a mass commuting vehicle placed in service after December 31, 1987, if (1) the property was not placed in service before January 1, 1988, solely because of conditions that are not within the control of the lessor or lessee, and (2) the property was placed in service pursuant to a binding contract or commitment entered into before April 1, 1983. The definition of a binding contract or commitment for mass commuting vehicles is the same as under the Senate amendment.

Aircraft.—Under the conference agreement, the modifications to safe-harbor leases do not apply to commercial passenger aircraft (other than helicopters) placed in service before January 1, 1984, if after June 25, 1981, and before February 20, 1982, either (1) the property was acquired by the lessee or construction or reconstruction was commenced by or for the lessee, or (2) a binding contract to acquire or construct the property was entered into by the lessee. For this purpose, construction is considered to have commerced if construction of a subassembly was commenced or the stub wing join occurred. Construction of a subassembly means the joining of two or more separate parts to form an assembly by welding, riveting, bolting, or by other standard fastening methods in airframe or engine manufacturing procedures, including, but not limited to, bonding of fiberglass or graphite composites. Subassemblies may be built singly or in lot increments. The stub wing join occurs when the center wing section of the aircraft is joined with the right- and left-hand wings.

Auto manufacturing property.—The conference agreement adopts the Senate amendments that excludes certain automobile manufacturing property placed in service before July 1, 1982 and leased before August 15, 1982 from the modifications to safe-harbor leasing. In addition, the conference agreement excludes from the modifications to safe-harbor leasing automobile manufacturing property that would meet the requirements of the general transitional rule above if October 1, 1983 were substituted for January 1, 1983.

Steel.—The modifications to the safe harbor leasing provisions do not apply to proprty used by the taxpyer directly in connection with the trade or business of the manufacture or production of steel and placed in service before January 1, 1984, if after December 31, 1980, and before July 2, 1982, (1) the proprty was acquired by the taxpayer or construction of the property was commenced by or for the taxpayer, or (a) a binding contract was entered into for the property.

Boilers and turbines of certain cooperatives.—Under the conference agreement, the modifications to the safe-harbor leasing provisions do not apply for turbines and boilers placed in service by a cooperative organization described in section 1381(a) before July 1, 1983, if after December 31, 1980 and before July 2, 1982, at least 20 percent of the cost of the turbines or boilers was paid by the taxpayer.

The conferees understand that some lessees may have acquired various components before July 2, 1982, pursuant to contracts entered into before January 1, 1981. If those components are installed by the employees of the taxpayer after July 1, 1982, the property will qualify if the property is placed in service before January 1, 1983.

Definition of construction.—For purposes of the transitional rules, construction is considered to have commenced when physical work on construction of the property commences. Physical work does not include planning, research, design, engineering studies, securing financing, test drilling, or any other activity that does not involve physical work. Clearing land constitutes commencement of physical work on construction.

Property-by-property determination.—The transitional rules are applied for each separate item of property. For example, commencement of construction of a machine that will be placed in service in a plant commences when physical work on that machine begins. Commencement of construction of the machine is not considered to be commencement of construction of any other property in the plant. Similarly, the transitional rules regarding acquisitions and binding contracts apply for each separate item of property.

Repeal

The conference agreement repeals the safe-harbor lease provisions for leases entered into after December 31, 1983.

7. Foreign Tax Provisions

a. Limitation on amount of foreign oil and gas extraction taxes allowed as foreign tax credits

Present law

The amount of foreign oil and gas extraction taxes that may be credited is limited to an amount based on the U.S. corporate tax rate. However, to determine the credit, extraction losses from one country do not offset extraction income from other countries. Carryovers and carrybacks for excess extraction taxes paid are limited to 2 percent of foreign oil extraction income. The foreign tax credit limitation is computed separately for oil related income and all other foreign income.

If a taxpayer sustains an overall foreign loss in any taxable year, the taxpayer in succeeding taxable years must treat foreign source taxable income as U.S. source income in an amount which is equal to the lesser of (1) the remaining balance of the overall foreign loss, or (2) 50% of the taxpayer's taxable income from foreign sources for the succeeding taxable year in question. (Section 904(f), added to the Code in 1976.) The overall foreign loss must be determined separately for foreign oil and non-oil related income.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment changes the extraction loss rule so that a net extraction loss from one country offsets extraction income from other countries for the purpose of computing the amount of creditable oil and gas extraction taxes. The 2-percent limit on carryovers and carrybacks and the separate oil related income limitation are repealed. Credits are disallowed to the extent that foreign countries impose abnormally higher taxes on oil than on other activities. Also, the Senate amendment provides transitional rules dealing with carrybacks and carryforwards of credits. Under these transitional rules, pre-1983 overall foreign non-oil losses would cause the taxpayer to treat post-1982 overall foreign oil related income as U.S. source income. The Senate amendment applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, but adds a special rule to prevent the immediate recapture of non-oil related overall foreign losses. For this purpose, this special rule maintains the distinction between non-oil related and oil related overall foreign losses incurred in taxable years beginning before January 1, 1983, and subject to recapture in taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982. However, in order to assure that this special rule does not have an indefinite life, a provision to phase-in the recapture of any pre-1983 overall foreign non-oil related losses over a period of 8 years (generally, at a rate of 12½% a year) has been included in the Act. This special rule provides that in computing the recapture of an overall foreign non-oil related loss incurred in a taxable year beginning before 1983, the separate foreign tax credit limitation for non-oil related income as in effect under present law will generally apply. However, for purposes of applying the foreign tax credit foreign loss recapture rules with respect to taxes paid or accrued in a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1982, an additional amount of pre-1983 non-oil related income will be recaptured. This additional amount shall at least be equal to the lesser of: (1) an amount equal to 12½% of such pre-1983 overall foreign non-oil related loss multiplied by the number of taxable years that have elapsed since January 1, 1983, but less the amounts (if any) previously recaptured under the 12½% rule; or (2) the taxpayer's taxable income from sources without the United States that is not recaptured under the separate limitation rule above.

The conference agreement also changes the Senate amendment transitional rule for carryforwards of foreign tax credits from pre-enactment years.

It is the understanding of the conferees that the Department of the Treasury is to review the impact and effect of the foreign oil and gas tax credit provisions of the conference agreement on multinational oil companies and report its conclusions to the Congress by December 1, 1983.

b. Current taxation of foreign oil and gas non-extraction income

Present law

Income of a foreign corporation from foreign sources generally is not subject to U.S. taxation when earned. U.S. shareholders of a foreign corporation may be taxed on the income of a foreign corporation from certain tax haven or tax avoidance transactions under the anti-avoidance provisions of the Code (such as subpart F).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, a new category of subpart F income would be added with respect to foreign oil and gas related income. Under this provision, U.S. shareholders of a controlled foreign corporation would be subject to tax currently on the foreign oil related income of the controlled foreign corporation from countries other than those in which the oil and gas is extracted or consumed. Foreign oil related income includes income from processing, transportation, distribution and sales, and services. Services are covered only if the provider is engaged in extraction. The other items are subject to tax currently even though neither the earner of the income nor a related party has extraction income. This provision would apply to taxable years of foreign corporations beginning after December 31, 1982, and to taxable years of United States shareholders in which or with which such taxable years of foreign corporations end.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, but clarifies one point and modifies another. The conference agreement makes it clear that fuel transferred into the fuel tank of a vessel or an aircraft (e.g., bunkers with respect to a vessel) for consumption by such vessel or aircraft is considered to be consumed in the country in which that transfer occurs.

In addition, the conference agreement exempts the U.S. shareholder of a controlled foreign corporation from current tax if neither the controlled foreign corporation nor any related person (as defined in Subpart F) has foreign oil or gas extraction income. The exemption will apply if the aggregate average daily production of foreign crude oil and natural gas by the foreign corporation and related persons for any taxable year is less than 1000 barrels per day (or its equivalent in gas).

c. Possession and Virgin Islands corporations

Present law

To qualify for effective tax exemption, a U.S. corporation must derive at least 50% of its gross income from the active conduct of a trade or business within a U.S. possession. Also, 80% of its gross income must be from possessions sources.

Possessions corporations (sec. 936) and certain U.S. corporations that are inhabitants of the Virgin Islands are, in general, effectively tax exempt. This exemption applies to income from intangibles created by such a corporation or acquired from an unrelated party. Taxpayers allege that an intangible asset (a patent, trademark, etc.) created by a related party and transferred to a possessions corporation generates tax-free income of the possessions corporation. The Internal Revenue Service allocates income from such an intangible to the related party. The issue is currently being litigated in the United States Tax Court.*

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The required percentage of active business income for qualification for effective tax exemption is phased up to 90% for taxable years beginning in 1985 and thereafter. The percentage for 1983 is 65%; for 1984, 80%. Failure of the qualification tests because of IRS reallocation of intangibles income to other persons may be cured by distributions of disqualifying income. These distributions do not qualify for the dividends received deduction. Income from intangibles created by related parties is generally allocated to U.S. shareholders pro rata as U.S. source income. If a shareholder is a foreign person or a tax-exempt U.S. person, the possessions corporation (or V.I. corporation) is taxable on that shareholder's pro rata amount of the income from those intangibles as U.S. source income. Income from intangibles does not include a reasonable profit (as determined by the Secretary) on direct and indirect costs.

The provisions generally apply to taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1983. They apply to a disposition on or after July 1, 1982 to a related party of an intangible asset that had been acquired from a related party.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with significant modification.

*No inference should be drawn from this report or from the actions taken in the conference agreement that the conferees agree or disagraee with either the taxpayer involved or the Internal Revenue Service about this issue.

The provision as modified is intended to lessen the abuse caused by taxpayers claiming tax-free income generated by intangibles developed outside of Puerto Rico. The conferees also intend that the provision be administered in a fashion so as to encourage increased Puerto Rican employment and investment in depreciable property at as low a cost to the Treasury as possible.

The conferees are concerned about Puerto Rican job creation, and there is continuing concern that the provision may not be adequately targeted towards that goal. The conferees intend that the Treasury annual reports on section 936 address this question in detail. The conferees intend that the Treasury also consider in its annual reports whether a return attributable to intangible property might better encourage additional jobs and investment in Puerto Rico if it were measured by reference to costs of labor and capital located in Puerto Rico.

The conferees understand that there is concern that certain taxpayers who have been permitted by the Internal Revenue Service to use the cost-plus method of pricing without reflecting a return from intangibles but including the cost of materials in the cost basis would be precluded from doing so under the Senate bill. (Sec. 3.02(3) Rev. Proc. 63–10, 1963–1 C.B. 490.) The conferees do not intend any change in current treatment with respect to those taxpayers appropriately applying the cost-plus method. Accordingly, the Internal Revenue Service may continue in appropriate cases to permit such taxpayers to report their income as they have been under existing procedures.

Passive income

The percentage of a corporation's gross income that must be derived from the active conduct of a trade or business in a possession is increased from 50 percent to 65 percent. This increase will be phased in over three years. For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982, the percentage limitation will be 55 percent, for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1983, the percentage limitation will be 60 percent, and thereafter the percentage limitation will be 65 percent.

Intangible income

An election may be made to treat income attributable to certain intangible property as income of the section 936 corporation eligible for the credit (and certain domestic corporations operating in the Virgin Islands) under two options—(1) a cost sharing rule and (2) a 50/50 profit split. The two exceptions with respect to certain types of intangible property found in the Senate amendment are deleted. In addition, an exception to the Senate bill is made for intangible property which has been licensed since prior to 1948 to a U.S. corporation operating in a possession and is in use by such corporation on the date of enactment.

Cost sharing

In general

A U.S. parent or other U.S. affiliate (collectively, "mainland affiliate") will be permitted to transfer certain manufacturing intangibles to its U.S. subsidiary or affiliate operating in a U.S. possession ("island affiliate"), provided the island affiliate (1) shares, through a cost sharing payment, in the annual product area research expenditures of the mainland affiliates and other affiliates controlled within the meaning of section 482 (collectively, "affiliates"), and (2) has a significant business presence in the possession. If these conditions are satisfied, the island affiliate will be deemed to own such manufacturing intangibles and will be entitled to the full return thereon with respect to the products produced or type of services rendered by the island affiliate. The applicable pricing methods provided in the section 482 regulations will be utilized for this psurpose. An island affiliate which makes the election will not be classified as a contract manufacturer with respect to the manufacturing intangibles. All other intangibles, such as marketing intangibles (including trademarks, trade names, and brand names) cannot be transferred to the island affiliate under this election, with the result that, for purposes of this election, the island affiliate cannot claim a return on such intangibles.

Manufacturing intangibles

The manufacturing intangibles covered by this election and with respect to which the island affiliate may claim a return must be related to the products produced or services rendered by the island affiliate.

Manufacturing intangibles will include patents, inventions, formulas, processes, designs, patterns, and know how. Even when marketing intangibles are closely associated with a specific manufacturing intangible, the return on the marketing intangible cannot be claimed by the island affiliate.

Cost sharing payment

The cost sharing payment will be equal in amount to a fraction of the current year's worldwide direct and indirect product area research expenditures. The fraction would generally equal the ratio of third party sales of products produced or services rendered, in whole or in part, in the possession to third party sales of all products produced or services rendered by the island affiliate and its affiliates (U.S. and foreign) in the same product area. The product area will be defined by reference to the three-digit classification of the Standard Industrial Classification ("SIC") code, or such other classification system as may be specified by the Secretary. The Secretary may provide rules for the aggregation of two or more three-digit categories in appropriate circumstances. An election of the cost sharing method is available even if no cost sharing payment is required (e.g., because of the absence of product area research expenditures).

(1) Multiplicand: product area research expenditures

Product area research expenditures, which will be defined on a three-digit SIC Code basis (or other classification system specified by the Secretary), are broadly defined and include both direct and indirect expenses (including expenses described in section 174) and a proper allowance of amounts expended for the acquisition or use of manufacturing intangibles and for the performance of research and development by another person, including qualified research expenses within the meaning of section 44F(b). They also include the costs of developing and purchasing research and development-related computer software.

Product area research expenditures will be determined on the basis of the product area for each activity in which the island affiliate conducts operations. The multiplicand will be computed on an annual basis and will include product area research expenditures in that product area which are incurred by the island affiliate and all affiliates (U.S. and foreign). Product area research expenditures incurred solely by the island affiliate in a taxable year (excluding amounts paid directly or indirectly to or on behalf of related persons and excluding amounts paid under any cost sharing agreement with related persons) will be offset against the amount of the cost sharing payment required to be made by the island affiliate for that year.

(2) Limiting Fraction: third party sales

(i) Numerator: possession sales.—The numerator of the fraction will be computed with reference to the products produced, and services rendered, in whole or in part, in the possession that are in the same product area used in the multiplicand. Sales in the numerator consist of sales of products produced in whole or in part (and services rendered) and sold by the island affiliate to third parties, and sales of products produced, and services rendered, by the island affiliate and sold by any U.S. or foreign affiliate to third parties. Thus, inter-affiliate sales are eliminated for this purpose.

(ii) Denominator: total sales.—The denominator of the fraction will also be computed with reference to the same product area used in the multiplicand. Sales in the denominator consist of all sales in the same product area to third parties by the island affiliate and all U.S. and foreign affiliates. For this purpose, inter-affiliate sales are eliminated.

Significant business presence

For an island affiliate to be eligible to elect cost sharing for a product or type of service, it must have and maintain a significant business presence in the possession with respect to that product or type of service. This test is intended to require real and significant business activity in the possessions.

The island affiliate satisfies this requirement with respect to a product or type of service if (1) more than 25 percent of the value added by the affiliated group to the product is added by the island affiliate in a possession or (2) at least 65 percent of the direct labor costs of the affiliated group for the product or service (or in connection with the purchase and sale of goods not produced by the affiliated group) are incurred by the island affiliate and are compensation for services rendered in the possession. In general, the figures to be used for these calculations will be those used by the island affiliate and its affiliates in their required inventory calculations. The Secretary may prescribe regulations providing significant business presence tests for other appropriate cases (including a value added test for services), which are consistent with the statutory tests.

The significant business presence test is not required to be satisfied for taxable years beginning before January 1, 1986 for any product produced or type of service rendered in a possession by the island affiliate on the date of enactment. The Secretary may prescribe regulations to provide a transitional (up to 3-year) significant business presence test for future start-up operations of new electing corporations and future possession products and possession services of an existing island affiliate. Regulations will provide definitions of a product or type of service and rules for dealing with components in the context of the foregoing requirements. If the significant business presence test is not satisfied for a product or type of service within the product area covered by the election, the cost sharing payment will not be reduced, and the provisions of the Senate amendment will apply to that product or type of service.

It is intended that the regulations will define the term "product" narrowly. In this manner the significant business threshold test will be more readily satisfied than if a broader definition applied, with the consequence that the income attributable to a product that satisfied the test will be computed with respect to that narrowly defined product.

Similarly, it is intended that components purchased by an island affiliate from an affiliate will be treated as materials (and the costs thereof as a cost of materials) where there is an independent resale price for such components or other factors are present such that the proper arm's length price of the components can be readily determined and such treatment is consistent with the intent of the significant business presence tests.

The Secretary will prescribe regulations providing for appropriate treatment in cases where the island affiliate purchases a component produced by an affiliate or produces a component which it sells to an affiliate for incorporation into a product sold to third parties.

Effect of cost sharing

For U.S. tax purposes, the cost sharing payment will not result in additional gross income to the mainland affiliate or affiliates, but will instead reduce the mainland affiliates' deductions for product area research expenditures and, to the extent necessary, other tax deductions. The credit for increasing research activities under section 44F will not be reduced by reason of the cost sharing.

Effect of electing to make cost sharing payments

If an election is made to use the cost sharing option, manufacturing intangibles covered by the election which are connected with the goods produced, or services rendered, in whole or in part, in the possession will, for purposes of the pricing rules discussed below, be deemed to be owned by the island affiliate, and the island affiliate will be entitled to the full return thereon.

Manufacturing intangibles developed solely by the island affiliate in a possession and owned by it, or acquired by the island affiliate from an unrelated party, will also be treated as owned by it for purposes of the pricing rules. For the purpose of determining when the island affiliate will be considered to have developed an intangible, rules (the "developer rules") similar to certain of the rules of the section 482 regulations will be provided, but an intangible developed under a cost-sharing agreement shall not qualify as developed solely by the island affiliate.

Nonmanufacturing intangibles

If the cost sharing rule is elected, all other intangibles (including those purported to have been transferred to the island affiliate) will not be treated as owned by the island affiliate for purposes of the intercompany pricing rules; and the island affiliate will not be entitled to any return thereon unless such intangibles are developed solely (within the meaning of the developer rules) by the island affiliate in a possession and owned by it. A further exception will apply in the case of sales made directly by the island affiliate to unrelated third parties for ultimate use or consumption in the possession, in which case the island affiliate will be entitled to the return on marketing intangibles developed by, or transferred by an affiliate to, the island affiliate.

Manufacturing intangibles and nonmanufacturing intangibles are defined according to lists of types of assets. Where an intangible is of a type which fits into two categories, e.g., a system, program, procedure or technical data (all defined as nonmanufacturing intangibles) which is also an invention, formula, process, design, pattern or know-how, it should be classified as a manufacturing or a nonmanufacturing intangible (or partly each) according to the use of the asset. For example a program (e.g. softwear) used in manufacturing which constitutes a formula, process or know-how (all manufacturing intangibles) and also is a program (a nonmanufacturing intangible) would be treated as a manufacturing intangible; but a program for a marketing campaign, even if also classified as know-how, would be treated as a program and hence as a nonmanufacturing intangible. So too, copyrights may be treated either as manufacturing intangibles or nonmanufacturing intangibles (or as partly each) depending upon the function or the use of the copyright.

Pricing

If the cost sharing payment is made, the island affiliate will be treated as the owner of, and entitled to the full return on, the manufacturing intangibles covered by this election and connected with the product produced, or type of service rendered, in whole or in part, by the island affiliate in the possession. The island affiliate will compute its intercompany price under any of the applicable pricing rules set forth in the section 482 regulations. Use of the resale price method will not be denied merely because the reseller (e.g., the mainland affiliate) added more than an insubstantial amount to the value of the property by the use of intangibles. In such a case, the value of the nonmanufacturing (e.g. marketing) intangibles and any other functions that add value (such as distribution) will be reflected in the resale margin. The use of the resale price method could be denied for other reasons, such as where the return on manufacturing intangibles is minor and no comparables can be found for determining an appropriate mark-up percentage under the resale price method. Thus, a cost plus method may be applied in appropriate cases, after applying the priority-of-application rules of the section 482 regulations, as long as an additional profit amount, representing the return on manufacturing intangibles covered by this election, is permitted the island affiliate. The Internal Revenue Service will not be precluded from applying section 482 with respect to other aspects of the intercompany relationship. The regulations under section 482 and Internal Revenue Service revenue procedures (Revenue Procedure 63–10, as amplified by Revenue Procedure 68–22) will continue to apply except to the extent modified by the election.

Timing of cost sharing payment

If the cost sharing election is made, payment of the required amount must be made by the island affiliate no later than the due date of its tax return for the year (including extensions). To the extent payment is not timely made (e.g., if a greater payment is determined on audit to have been required), the required payment is increased by an amount computed by reference to the interest rate applicable to income tax deficiences. If the failure to make timely payment is due in whole or part to fraud or willful neglect, the island affiliate's election of the cost sharing method is deemed revoked as of the year to which the payment relates.

If a foreign country or possession imposes a tax on the cost sharing payment (or the late payment amount), no foreign tax credit or deduction will be allowed for that tax.

50/50 split of combined taxable income

In general

This election will provide for a split between the island affiliate and its U.S. affiliates of the combined taxable income of the island affiliate and its U.S. affiliates with respect to products produced, in whole or in part, in the possession. 50% of such profit will be allocated to the island affiliate; 50% will be allocated to its U.S. affiliates.

Significant business presence

For an island affiliate to be eligible to apply the profit split, it must satisfy one of the significant business presence tests required for the cost sharing election for the product or type of service covered by the election. In addition, for products produced in whole or part by the island affiliate in the possession, the profit split method is available only if the island affiliate manufactures or produces the product in the possession within the meaning of the controlled foreign corporation provisions of the Code (section 954). If the significant business presence test (including the controlled foreign corporation manufacturing or production rule) is not satisfied for a product or type of service within the product area covered by the election, no intangibles income attributable to that product or type of service will be eligible for the credit.

Combined taxable income

The determination of combined taxable income will be on a product by product basis.

The combined taxable income of the island affiliate and its mainland affiliates from the sale of the product produced in whole or in part in the possession is the excess of the gross receipts from the sale of such product to third parties or foreign affiliates over the total costs relating to such product incurred by the island affiliate and its mainland affiliates. Costs which are treated as relating to a product produced in whole or in part in the possession are all direct and indirect expenses, losses, and other deductions (including marketing expenses) with respect to sales of such product, i.e., the expenses will be "fully-loaded". In this regard, the amount of product area research expenditures properly allocable or apportionable to income from sales of such product may not be less than the amount determined under the cost sharing formula described above. However, if the island affiliate would not be required to cost share under the cost sharing election (e.g. because of the absence of product area research expenditures), the profit split option may still be elected.

Effect of electing 50/50 split

If an election is made, the island affiliate will be entitled to 50 percent of the combined taxable income from the sale of products produced or services rendered in a possession by the island affiliate and sold to third parties or foreign affiliates by the island affiliate or a mainland affiliate. The remainder of the combined taxable income for a product will be allocated to the mainland affiliates. This latter amount may exceed the island affiliate's share of the income from the product if the amount of proportionate product area research expenditures, determined under cost sharing, is in excess of the amount allocable to the combined taxable income absent application of the cost sharing formula. For example, if combined taxable income is $100 without taking into account research and development expenses allocable or apportionable thereto, the amount of such expenses are $10, and the amount computed under cost-sharing (without offsets for island affiliate expenses) is $12, the island affiliate's share of combined taxable income ($100 less $12) is $44 (one-half of $88), and the mainland affiliate's share of combined taxable income is $46 ($100 less $10 of allocable and apportionable expenses and less the island affiliate's $44 share). Thus, the use of this formula is not intended to allow a deduction to any mainland affiliate which would not otherwise be allowable.

Election

An election must be made on or before the due date (including extensions) of the tax return of the electing corporation for its first taxable year beginning after December 31, 1982. An election may be revoked only with the consent of the Secretary. Once revoked, a new election may not be made without the consent of the Secretary. All section 936 affiliates, controlled within the meaning of section 482, producing products or rendering types of services in the same product area will be required to elect the same option for that product area, except that a different method may be used for bona fide export sales from that applicable to other sales.

97-588 O 82 33

Transfers of intangibles

Under present law, certain transfers by a U.S. person to a foreign corporation that would otherwise obtain tax-free treatment are taxable unless the Internal Revenue Service issues a ruling that they do not have as one of their principal purposes the avoidance of Federal income tax (sec. 367). The Internal Revenue Service has published guidelines stating when the Service will and will not issue rulings that transactions do not have a tax avoidance purpose. Under the guidelines certain transfers of property for the active conduct of a trade or business abroad are ordinarily not taxable (Rev. Proc. 68–23, 1968–1 C.B. 821 and other releases). However, transfers to foreign corporations of patents, trademarks, and similar intangibles for use in connection with a U.S. trade or business or with manufacturing for sale or consumption in the United States generally are subject to a toll charge under these guidelines.

By negative implication, transfers of intangibles for use purely in connection with a foreign trade or business or manufacturing for sale or consumption outside the United States generally may not be taxable. The conferees recognize that the Internal Revenue Service has authority, under the present law, to find a tax avoidance purpose when an intangible asset is transferred to a foreign corporation. Whether or not the guideline is appropriate as a general rule, the conferees are aware that, as a result of this legislation, some taxpayers have stated that they would remove investment from Puerto Rico and transfer possession-related intangibles to foreign jurisdictions. The conferees believe that such transfers would ordinarily have as one of their principal purposes the avoidance of Federal income tax.

The conference agreement amends the provision of the Code dealing with tax-free transfers to foreign corporations to treat a transfer of a possession-related intangible to a foreign corporation as a transfer pursuant to a plan having as one of its principal purposes the avoidance of Federal income taxes. The provision applies to a transfer by a possession corporation or used as a transfer by an affiliated U.S. corporation where the intangible property was being used (or held for use) by an affiliated possessions corporation. The Secretary may, subject to such terms and conditions as he may impose, allow nonrecognition treatment with respect to such transfers, if the Secretary is satisfied that the transfer will not result in the reduction of current or future Federal income taxes.

The conference agreement also subjects to tax post-July 1, 1982, sales of intangible property to related persons. The income from such sales is U.S. source income, and the cost-sharing and 50/50 profit-split elections do not apply with respect to that income. The income from such sales will not affect the corporation's qualification (under the possessions source and active income tests) as possessions corporation.

Revocation of section 936 election

Under present law, an election of the application of section 936 may be revoked before ten years only with the consent of the Secretary. The conferees anticipate that because of the basic change in the taxation of possessions corporations the Secretary will consent to the revocation of an election by a section 936 corporation provided the election is in effect for the corporation's last taxable year beginning before January 1, 1983. The conferees intend that this liberal consent policy apply only if the consent is requested on or before December 31, 1983, and that the Secretary be permitted to impose conditions on such revocation, such as requiring that the taxpayer obtain the Secretary's consent before reelecting the application of section 936.

8. Tax-Exempt Obligations

a. Restrictions on tax-exempt bonds for private activities

Present law

General rule

Interest on State and local government obligations generally is exempt from Federal income tax; however, industrial development bonds (IDBs) are taxable except when issued for certain specified purposes.

Interest on IDBs is tax-exempt if the bonds are issued to finance the following activities: (1) projects for low-income residential rental property; (2) sports facilities; (3) convention or trade show facilities; (4) airports, docks, wharves, mass commuting facilities, and parking facilities; (5) sewage and solid waste disposal facilities, and facilities for the local furnishing of electricity or gas; (6) air or water pollution control facilities; (7) certain facilities for the furnishing of water; (8) qualified hydroelectric generating facilities; and (9) qualified mass commuting vehicles. In addition, the interest on certain IDBs issued for the purpose of acquiring or developing land as a site for an industrial park is exempt from taxation.

Present law also permits unlimited tax-exempt financing for student loans and organizations that qualify for tax-exemption under section 501(c)(3), such as private, nonprofit hospitals and private, nonprofit educational institutions.

Small-issue exception for IDBs

Present law also permits tax exemption for certain "small issue" IDBs if the proceeds are used for the acquisition, construction, or improvement of land or depreciable property. Unlike the bonds for exempt activities, discussed above, there are no restrictions on the business activities in which land and depreciable property financed with "small issue" IDBs can be used.

This exception applies to issues of $1 million or less without regard to the total capital expenditures for the facility (i.e., the $1 million "clean limit" exception).[1] At the election of the issuer, the limitation may be increased to $10 million where certain capital expenditures are taken into account. In the case of facilities with respect to which an urban development action grant ("UDAG grant") under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 has been made, capital expenditures of up to $20 million are allowed.

Both the $1 million and $10 million limitations are determined by aggregating the face amount of all outstanding small issues for all facilities used by the same or related principal users which are located within the same county or same incorporated municipality. In addition, the $10 million limitation is reduced to the extent that the principal users of the facilities incur certain capital expenditures in the same county or same incorporated municipality during the six-year period beginning 3 years before, and ending 3 years after, the issuance of the bonds.

Other rules

Under present law, facilities financed with tax-exempt IDBs may be depreciated under the Accelerated Cost Recovery System (ACRS) or other available accelerated methods of cost recovery provided under the Code. IDB-financed property also may qualify for the investment tax credit.

Present law is unclear on the length of time that bonds may be outstanding in relation to the economic life of the property financed with tax-exempt financing.

Present law imposes no reporting requirements on issuers of tax-exempt bonds for private activities. Additionally, there are no Federal procedural requirements governing the manner in which such bonds are issued.

House bill

Senate amendment

Restrictions on tax-exempt bonds for private activities

Information reporting requirement for all tax-exempt bonds for private activities

The Senate amendment provides that bonds are not tax exempt unless the issuers of all bonds used to finance private activities report certain information (including the amount of the lendable proceeds, the interest rate, term of the issue, and principal users) to the IRS on such bonds issued by them during the preceding calendar quarter. The reporting requirement applies to all IDBs, student loan bonds,[2] and tax-exempt bonds a major portion of the proceeds of which are used by charitable, etc. organizations (described in sec. 501(c)(3)). The required reporting also applies to refunding issues even if the original bonds were issued before 1983, if the refunding occurs after 1982.

This provision is effective for bonds, including refunding issues, issued after December 31, 1982.

Public approval requirements for all IDBs

The Senate amendment establishes new approval requirements for issuers of IDBs.[3] Failure to comply with these requirements

[2] Student loan bonds include State or local government bonds used to finance, directly or indirectly, loans for educational or related expenses regardless of whether the bonds or educational loans are guaranteed by the Federal or State governments.

[3] This restriction applies only to IDBs; therefore, it generally does not apply to student loan bonds or bonds for tax-exempt organizations described in section 501(c)(3) (other than bond proceeds used in an unrelated trade or business of the organization).

will result in loss of tax exemption for the interest on the bonds. The new requirements are twofold: (1) reasonable notice must be given and a public hearing held and (2) issuance of the bonds must be approved after the hearing by an elected public official or elected legislative body. Alternatively, a voter referendum on a particular project or bond issue, held at such time and in such manner as referenda on other issues affecting government spending under applicable State and local law, may be used in place of the public hearing and elected representative approval requirements.

The public approval requirements are effective for obligations, including refunding issues, issued after December 31, 1982. The public approval requirements do not apply, however, to (1) issues solely to refund a prior issue, which was issued in compliance with the requirements, where the maturity of the bonds is not extended and (2) certain issues of a governmental unit for a facility issued within a 7-year period pursuant to a plan of financing where the proceeds from all obligations issued under that plan are used to finance the facilities of the principal users described in that plan.

Restriction on cost recovery deductions for certain property financed with IDBs

The Senate amendment provides that property that is placed in service after December 31, 1982, generally is allowed cost recovery deductions at a slower rate than those allowed under ACRS or other accelerated cost recovery provisions of the Code, to the extent that the facilities are financed by an IDB. In lieu of deductions under ACRS, the cost of property financed with IDBs must be recovered using the straight-line method over the ACRS life for the property involved. This limitation applies to both the first owner of the property and to any subsequent owners who acquire the property while the IDBs (including any refunding issues) are outstanding.

The amendment includes several exceptions permitting the cost of certain types of facilities financed in whole or in part with IDBs to continue to be recovered under ACRS: low income rental housing, municipal sewage and solid waste disposal facilities, air or water pollution control facilities used in connection with a plant or other property in operation before July 1, 1982, and facilities for which a UDAG grant equalling or exceeding 5 percent of the total capital expenditures on the facility is made.

The amendment also includes transition rules permitting the cost of certain property placed in service after 1982 to be recovered under ACRS if (1) a binding contract existed on July 1, 1982, and at all times thereafter, committing the purchaser to incur significant expenditures; (2) construction began before July 1, 1982; or (3) the bonds with which the property is financed were issued before July 1, 1982.

Restrictions on "small issue" IDBs

Sunset of small issue exception.—The Senate amendment repeals the small issue exception with respect to obligations (including refunding issues) issued after September 30, 1987.

Restriction on "clean limit" small issue exception.—The Senate amendment provides that, effective after the date of enactment, the $1 million "clean limit" small issue exception (sec. 103(b)(6)(A)) is not available for any IDBs issued as part of a single issue with any other obligations, the interest on which is tax-exempt under any provision other than the small issue exception.

Elimination of small issue exception to finance certain facilities.—The Senate amendment eliminates the small issue exception for bonds issued after December 31, 1982, if—

(i) more than 25 percent of the proceeds of the issue are used to provide a facility the primary purpose of which is automobile sales or service or the provision of recreation or entertainment; or

(ii) any portion of the proceeds of the issue is to be used to provide the following: any private or commercial golf course, country club, massage parlor, tennis club, skating facility (including roller skating, skateboard, and ice skating), racquet sports facility (including handball and racquetball courts), hot tub facility, suntan facility, or racetrack.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with several modifications.

Public hearing and approval requirements for all IDBs

The conferees intend to clarify the application of the rule requiring a public hearing and approval by an elected official or legislative body in order to issue IDBs. Under the conference agreement, public hearings and approval by an elected official or legislative body are required by both the issuing jurisdiction and the jurisdiction where the facilities are located.

Where the facilities are located entirely within the geographic jurisdiction of the issuing governmental unit, only one public hearing and approval are required even though the facilities may be located in several different subdivisons of the issuing governmental unit.

Where facilities are not located within the geographic jurisdiction of the issuing governmental unit at least one governmental unit having geographic jurisdiction over each facility must hold a hearing and approve the bond issue. This may be either a single governmental unit or a series of smaller governmental units that may be subdivisions of the single governmental unit. For example, where a governor of a state is to approve the issuance of bonds for facilities located in that state (even though located in several counties), only the state is required to have a public hearing on that bond issue. Where, however, a facility is located in several counties and each county's elected executive officer is to approve the issuance of the bonds for facilities located in that county, each county is required to have a public hearing on that bond issue.

Where the facility is located in more than one state, then the hearing and approval requirements are applied as if there were separate facilities in each state. Thus, for example, in the case of electric transmission lines that cross state lines, the transmission lines located in each state are treated as separate facilities and each state or its counties where the separate facilities are located is required to meet the public hearing and approval requirements.

The conferees intend that the hearing may be held directly by the governmental unit or its agencies or by a person who issues bonds on behalf of that governmental unit. Generally, the conferees intend that the hearing be held at times and in places that would be convenient for persons affected by the facilities financed by the IDBs. However, where an IDB will finance more than one facility at different locations, it is not necessary that separate hearings be held for each facility. For example, where a state agency proposes to issue an IDB to finance projects throughout the state, only one hearing need be held somewhere within the state for all the facilities financed with the IDB provided adequate public notice of the hearing is given in all areas where facilities are to be located.

In addition, the conferees intend to clarify that the special rule which permits approval of a plan of financing for up to 3 years also applies to refunding obligations issued within that 3-year period. For example, the rule covering plans of financing would cover situations where IDBs are issued and then refunded one or more times within the 3-year period. The 3-year period commences on the date that obligations are first issued pursuant to the approval of the plan.

Restrictions on cost recovery deductions for certain property financed with IDBs

Under the conference agreement, the effective date for the restrictions on cost recovery deductions is clarified to provide that certain multi-family rental projects are exempt from the cost recovery provisions of the bill when the project was exempt from restrictions on the use of IDBs for multi-family housing under the Mortgage Subsidy Bond Tax Act of 1980.

With regard to the exemption from the restrictions of the bill for sewage and solid waste disposal facilities, the conferees wish to clarify that facilities will qualify for this exception regardless of whether the solid waste or sewage is collected from an area within part or all of a government unit or an area larger than one governmental unit; regardless of whether the facilities are operated by a governmental unit or a private company; and regardless of whether the facilities accept for processing all types of waste (as long as the waste accepted is collected from the general public). Solid waste need not include source separated or recyclable materials.

For this purpose, the general public includes commercial and other businesses but only if the solid waste collected from businesses is collected from them in their capacities as members of the general public and not as members of a limited group (such as groups that have special types of waste not processable by normal waste facilities serving the general public).

The effective date for the cost recovery rule provides that the new limitations do not apply to property where construction on the property began before July 1, 1982, as long as the original use of the property began with the taxpayer. The conferees intend that all property which is a part of the facilities described in the inducement resolution adopted before July 1, 1982, pursuant to which the bonds are issued, is treated as under construction where any part of those facilities is under construction before July 1, 1982. Moreover, the conferees intend that all such property is under the transitional rule even though part of the facilities are transferred by the taxpayer prior to their being placed in service and even though properties which are part of the facilities are placed in service before the completion of construction of other properties which are part of those facilities.

Sunset of small issue exception

The conference agreement modifies the Senate amendment by providing that the small issue exemption will not apply with respect to obligations issued after December 31, 1986.

Elimination of small issue exception to finance certain facilities

The conference agreement modifies the rule of the Senate amendment which restricts the use of small issue IDBs where 25 percent of the bond proceeds are used for certain purposes to include in the list of prohibited purposes the providing of retail food and beverage services. For this purpose, retail food and beverage services includes eating and drinking places, but does not include grocery stores.

Relationship of bond maturity to life of assets

The conference agreement provides a rule that limits the average length of the maturity of all industrial development bonds (IDBs). Under the rule, the weighted average maturity [4] of all obligations of an issue cannot exceed the weighted average estimated economic life [5] of the assets financed with the proceeds of the issue [6] by more than 20 percent. The economic life of an asset is to be measured from the later of the date the bonds are issued or the date the assets are reasonably expected to be placed in service. For example, if the proceeds of the bond are used to purchase assets with an average estimated economic life of 10 years, the maximum average maturity for the bonds may not exceed 12 years from the date the assets are expected to be placed in service where the bonds are issued after that date.

In general, the economic life of assets is to be determined on a case-by-case basis. However, in order to provide guidance and certainty, the conferees intend that the administrative guidelines established for the useful lives used for depreciation prior to the ACRS system (i.e., the midpoint lives under the ADR system where applicable and the guideline lives under Rev. Proc. 62–21, 1962–2 C.B. 418, in the case of structures) may be used to establish the economic lives of assets. However, the taxpayer can issue bonds with maturities longer than these administrative guidelines would allow where the taxpayer can show, on the basis of the facts and circumstances, that the economic life to the principal user or users of the assets for whom the bonds are issued is longer than the lives established by the administrative guidelines.

The conference agreement provides special rules for the treatment of land in determining the weighted economic life of the assets financed by the bonds. Where less than 25 percent of the bond proceeds are used to acquire land, the economic life of the assets financed by the bonds is determined without regard to the land (i.e., the maximum maturity of the bonds is based on the economic life of the assets financed by the bonds other than land). Where 25 percent or more of the bond proceeds are used to acquire land, then the economic life of the assets acquired by the bonds will be determined by assuming that the land has a life of 50 years.

b. Other amendments affecting industrial development bonds

Present law

General rule

Interest on State and local government obligations generally is exempt from Federal income tax; however, industrial development bonds (IDBs) are taxable except when issued for certain specified purposes.

Interest on IDBs is tax-exempt if the bonds are issued to finance the following activities: (1) projects for low-income residential rental property;[1] (2) sports facilities; (3) convention or trade show facilities; (4) airports, docks, wharves, mass commuting facilities, and parking facilities; (5) sewage and solid waste disposal facilities, and facilities for the local furnishing of electricity or gas;[2] (6) air or water pollution control facilities;[3] (7) certain facilities for the furnishing of water; (8) qualified hydroelectric generating facilities; and (9) qualified mass commuting vehicles. In addition, the interest on certain IDBs issued for the purpose of acquiring or developing land as a site for an industrial park is exempt from taxation.

Present law also permits tax exemption for certain "small issue" IDBs if the proceeds are used for the acquisition, construction, or improvement of land or depreciable property. Unlike the bonds for exempt activities, discussed above, there are no restrictions on the business activities in which land and depreciable property financed with "small issue" IDBs can be used.

This exception applies to issues of $1 million or less without regard to the total capital expenditures for the facility (i.e., the $1 million "clean limit" exception).[4] At the election of the issuer, the limitation may be increased to $10 million, where certain capital expenditures are taken into account. In the case of facilities with respect to which an urban development action grant ("UDAG

The term low or moderate income is defined by reference to the meaning of that term under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937. The 20 percent requirement (15 percent in targeted areas) must be met for 20 years with respect to any obligations issued before January 1, 1984.

[2] Under present law, a facility for the local furnishing of electricity is defined as a facility whose service area does not exceed two counties or a city and one contiguous county. A facility for the local furnishing of gas is defined as a facility whose service area does not exceed two counties. Present law does not permit issuance of IDBs to finance facilities for local district heating or cooling.

[3] Present law generally prohibits the issuance of IDBs to acquire existing facilities if a substantial user of the facilities prior to the acquisition will be a substantial user after the acquisition.

grant") under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 has been made, capital expenditures of up to $20 million are allowed.

Both the $1 million and $10 million limitations are determined by aggregating the face amount of all outstanding small issues for all facilities used by the same or related principal users which are located within the same county or same incorporated municipality. In addition, the $10 million limitation is reduced to the extent that the principal users of the facilities incur certain capital expenditures in the same county or same incorporated municipality during the six-year period beginning 3 years before, and ending 3 years after, the issuance of the bonds.[5]

Other rules on IDBs

In Rev. Rul. 81-216,[6] the Internal Revenue Service held that lots of bonds are a single issue if the bonds are sold (1) at substantially the same time, (2) pursuant to a common plan of marketing, (3) at substantially the same interest rate, and (4) with a common or pooled security. On October 8, 1981, the IRS proposed regulations that provided essentially the same rules as Rev. Rul. 81-216 and proposed to revoke that revenue ruling.[7]

Under present law, advance refundings of industrial development bonds (IDBs) generally are prohibited. However, advance refunding is permitted for IDBs for certain convention and trade show facilities, airports, docks, wharves, and mass commuting facilities (Code sec. 103(b)(7)).

Senate amendment

Exclusion of research and development expenditures from capital expenditure limitation

The Senate amendment excludes research wages and supplies (of a type for which a credit may be available under section 44F) from the capital expenditures that are to be taken into account under the $10 million limitation for small issue bonds. This provision is effective for research expenditures made after the date of enactment.

Local furnishing of gas

The Senate amendment provides that local furnishing of gas from a facility includes the furnishing solely within an area comprised of a city and one contiguous county. Thus, under the amendment, tax-exempt financing is made available in the case of a facility for the furnishing of gas (which otherwise meets the requirements of sec. 103) provided that the service area of the facility comprises no more than two contiguous counties or a city and one contiguous county. This provision is effective for bonds issued after the date of enactment.

Local district heating and cooling facilities

The Senate amendment exempts from tax interest on IDBs issued after the date of enactment to finance local district heating or cooling facilities. A local district heating or cooling facility includes equipment and other property used as an integral part of a local heating or cooling system, but does not include facilities which produce the hot water, chilled water, or steam, or facilities that are owned for tax purposes by the consumer. A heating or cooling system is considered local if it has a service area comprised of no more than two contiguous counties or a city and one contiguous county.

Multiple lot IDBs

The Senate amendment provides that, for bonds issued after the date of enactment, separate lots of obligations will be treated as part of the same issue only if the proceeds of the obligations are to be used to finance facilities which are located in more than one State or have the same person or related persons as its principal user or principal users. For this purpose, a principal user includes a person (other than a governmental unit) that guarantees directly or indirectly the repayment of the obligations or that aids in arranging issuance of the obligations, and that person provides property [8] or a franchise or trademark to be used in connection with the facilities financed with the obligations.

Regional pollution control authorities

The Senate amendment permits tax-exempt IDBs to be issued for use by a regional pollution control authority to acquire existing air or water pollution control facilities which the authority itself will operate under certain conditions. This provision applies to expenditures made after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with three modifications.

Advance refunding of certain IDBs of the Port Authority of St. Paul

The conference agreement provides that certain IDBs of the Port Authority of St. Paul, Minnesota may be advance refunded as long as the refunded obligations are retired within six months after any call premium on the refunded bonds lapses.

Multiple lot IDBs

The conferees wish to clarify that lots of obligations which are not treated as a single issue pursuant to the transitional rules adopted by the Internal Revenue Service for the rule provided in Rev. Rul. 81-216 are not considered as a single issue and thus are not subject to the rules of the conference agreement on multiple lot IDBs.

[8] For this purpose, property does not include a letter of credit.

IDBs for multi-family residential rental projects

The conference agreement makes two changes in the rules for IDBs used to finance residential rental property for low and moderate income families. First, the conference agreement provides a separate definition of individuals of low and moderate income by adopting the definition of that term under the section 8 program except that the applicable percentage will be 80 percent of the area median income (regardless of the percentage used under the section 8 program).

Second, the duration of the requirement that 20 percent of the housing units in a project be occupied by individuals of low or moderate income (15 percent in targeted areas) is also changed. Under the conference agreement, that rule applies from the date the project is first occupied and continues until the later of (1) 10 years after over one-half of the project is first occupied, (2) a date ending when 50 percent of the maturity of the bonds having the longest maturity has expired, or (3) the date on which any section 8 (or comparable) assistance terminates. As under present law, all of the units of the project financed with tax-exempt IDBs must remain as rental units for the length of the targeting requirement.

The changes to the requirements for IDBs for low and moderate income residential rental property apply to obligations issued after the date of enactment other than obligations which are exempt from the restrictions of the Mortgage Subsidy Bond Tax Act of 1980.

c. Amendments to Mortgage Subsidy Bond Tax Act

Present law

The Mortgage Subsidy Bond Tax Act of 1980 established rules directing the subsidy from the use of tax-exempt bonds for housing. Under the Act, all of the mortgages financed from tax-exempt bond proceeds must be provided to mortgagors, each of whom did not have a present ownership interest in a principal residence at any time during the three prior years (i.e., the first-time home purchaser limitation). All of the mortgages (or other financing) provided from the bond proceeds, except qualified home improvement loans, must be used to purchase residences whose purchase price does not exceed 90 percent (110 percent in targeted areas) of the average area purchase price.

In order to be a qualified mortgage issue, the issue must meet certain requirements regarding arbitrage as to both mortgage loans and nonmortgage investments. First, the effective rate of interest on mortgages provided under the issue cannot exceed the yield on the issue by more than one (1.0) percentage point. Second, the reserve for future debt service established in connection with the bonds must be reduced as future annual debt service is reduced. The maximum amount that can be invested as unrestricted yield in nonmortgage investments is 150 percent of the debt service on the issue for the bond year, and arbitrage earned by the issuer on nonmortgage investments must be paid or credited to the mortgagors or paid to the Federal Government.

There are no provisions that relate specifically to the treatment of cooperative housing corporations under these rules.

House bill

No provision

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment changes four of the requirements for qualified mortgage bonds:

First-time home purchaser limitation.—The Senate amendment provides that 80 percent of the lendable proceeds of a mortgage subsidy bond must be made available to first-time home purchasers.

Purchase price limitations.—The Senate amendment increases the purchase price limitation to 110 percent (120 percent in a targeted area) of the average area purchase price.

Arbitrage limitations.—The 1.0-percentage points limit is replaced by a limit which varies with the size of the issue, beginning at 1⅛ percentage points for smaller issues and decreasing to 1$\frac{1}{16}$ percentage points for issues of $100 million or larger.

Reserve liquidations.—The rule requiring reserve liquidations does not apply to the extent it requires disposition of any nonmortgage investment resulting in a loss in excess of the amount of undistributed arbitrage profits on such investments.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with the following modifications:

First-time home purchaser limitation

The first-time home purchaser rules will require that 90 percent of the lendable proceeds of a mortgage subsidy bond go to first-time home purchasers.

Arbitrage

The effective rate of interest on mortgages financed with tax-exempt bonds may not exceed the yield on the issue by more than 1⅛ (1.125) percentage points. The conference agreement clarifies that, in determining the effect of prepayments of mortgage principal on the computation of the effective rate of mortgage interest, prepayments of principal shall be treated as received on the last day of the month in which the issuer reasonably expects to receive such prepayments.

Cooperative housing

In the case of any cooperative housing corporation (as defined in Code sec. 216), each dwelling unit shall be treated as if it were actually owned by the person entitled to occupy that unit by reason of his or her ownership in the cooperative housing corporation. In addition, any indebtedness of the corporation that is allocable to the dwelling unit shall be treated as if it were indebtedness of the shareholder who is entitled to occupy the dwelling unit.

The conference agreement provides that any issue that provides financing to a cooperative housing corporation that is not located in a targeted area may be combined with one or more other issues which in sum satisfy the present law requirement that at least 20 percent of the proceeds of the issues will be devoted to owner-financing of residences in targeted areas for a period of at least one year.

The conferees also intend that, in applying the rules of section 103A to cooperative housing corporations, the acquisition cost for a cooperative unit is to be defined to include a proportionate share of the underlying blanket mortgage plus the purchase price of the shares.

In addition, loans to cooperative housing corporations for rehabilitation may qualify for tax-exempt financing under section 103A(1)(7) to the same extent as if each shareholder receives a proportionate share of the loan. In the case of tax-exempt financing used for the construction of a residential building owned by a cooperative housing corporation, unlimited arbitrage otherwise allowed during a 3-year temporary period would be permitted for only one year.

Finally, the conferees intend to clarify that tax-exempt financing may be allowable under section 103(b)(4)(A) where a cooperative leases property from another person and the shareholders of the cooperative meet the targeting provisions of that section.

9. Mergers and Acquisitions

a. Partial liquidations

Present law

A distribution in redemption of a corporation's stock pursuant to a plan is a partial liquidation if it is one of a series of distributions in redemption of all the stock or it is not essentially equivalent to a dividend and occurs within the taxable year in which the plan is adopted or the succeeding year (sec. 346(a)).

In determining that a distribution is not essentially equivalent to a dividend in applying the tests for a partial liquidation, generally a contraction of the corporation's business is required. A distribution may constitute a partial liquidation even though it is made pro rata among the corporation's shareholders.

If the distribution consists of the assets of, or is attributable to the corporation's ceasing to conduct, a trade or business conducted for 5 years or more before the distribution and was not, within the 5-year period, acquired by the corporation in a taxable transaction and the corporation, after the distribution, continues to conduct another trade or business with a similar history, the distribution is treated as a partial liquidation (sec. 346(b)).

No gain or loss to the distributing corporation is recognized on a distribution in a partial liquidation (sec. 336(a)). Exceptions are provided for disposition of installment obligations and distributions of LIFO inventory. In addition, the various recapture rules of present law override sec. 336. If, however, the corporation, rather than distributing assets, sells the assets and distributes the proceeds to its shareholders in a partial liquidation, gain or loss is recognized to the corporation on the sale.

Shareholders receiving a distribution in partial liquidation are treated as receiving the amount distributed in exchange for their stock and, if the stock redeemed in the transaction is a capital asset to the shareholder, capital gain or loss results from the transaction. The basis of any assets received in a partial liquidation is their fair market value at the time of the distribution.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment modifies the treatment of partial liquidations. Only noncorporate shareholders are treated as receiving the amount distributed in exchange for their stock. Distributions to corporate shareholders are governed by the provisions of present law other than those relating to partial liquidations.

Under the Senate amendment, gain to the distributing corporation is recognized, with an exception, when appreciated property is distributed in partial liquidation to noncorporate shareholders. The exception applies to distributions made with respect to qualified stock. Qualified stock is stock that has been held by certain noncorporate shareholders for the 5-year period ending on the date of distribution or (if less) for the period the corporation has been in existence. The shareholder must have held at least 10 percent in value of the distributing corporation's stock throughout such period. The constructive ownership rules of section 318 apply in determining ownership. In applying the attribution rules of section 318(a)(1), the group of persons among whom ownership is attributed is expanded to include individuals described in section 267(c)(4) and the spouses of such individuals.

Under this rule, it is not required that the stock redeemed be held by the shareholder for five-years. It is sufficient that the shareholder hold (or be treated as holding) 10 percent of the stock throughout the five year period.

The Senate amendment authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to prescribe regulations, where necessary, to ensure that revision of the treatment of partial liquidations will not be circumvented through the use of other provisions of present law or regulations, including the consolidated return regulations. The Senate amendments apply generally to distributions after August 31, 1982. However, present law continues to apply to distributions with respect to which, on July 22, 1982, there was a ruling request pending with the Internal Revenue Service as to whether such distributions qualify as a partial liquidation (or a ruling was granted within one year prior to July 12, 1982 that the distributions qualified as a partial liquidation) and the distributions are pursuant to a plan of partial liquidation adopted by the Board of Directors before September 1, 1982 (or, if later, within 90 days after the ruling was granted). Present law applies as well to distributions pursuant to a plan of partial liquidation adopted before July 1, 1982; distributions pursuant to a plan of partial liquidation adopted before October 1, 1982, where control (as defined in sec. 368(c)) is acquired between December 31, 1980, and July 1, 1982, and conduct of the business is conditioned on approval by a State regulatory agency; distributions pursuant to a plan of partial liquidation adopted within 90 days after the acquisition is approved by a Federal regulatory agency where control is acquired after July 1, 1982, pursuant to a binding contract outstanding on December 31, 1980; and distributions pursuant to a plan of liquidation adopted by October 1, 1982, where control was acquired between December 31, 1981, and July 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

General rules

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendments with technical modifications. The conference agreement adds a new section 302(b)(4) under which distributions in redemption of a noncorporate shareholder's stock are treated as payments in exchange for the stock under section 302(a) if such distributions are in partial liquidation of the distributing corporation. For this purpose, a partial liquidation is defined in new section 302(e) which continues the definition of a partial liquidation in present law section 346(a)(2) and section 346(b) which are repealed by the bill. As under present law section 346(a)(2), the determination that a distribution is not essentially equivalent to a dividend for purposes of satisfying the partial liquidation definition is to be made with reference to the effect of the transaction on the distributing corporation and not with reference to its effect at the shareholder level. This is made an explicit statutory test under the conference agreement.

Under present law, a distribution in partial liquidation may take place without an actual surrender of stock by the shareholders (Fowler Hosiery Co. v. Commissioner), 301 F.2d 394 (7th Cir. 1962). A constructive redemption of stock is deemed to occur in such transactions (Rev. Rul. 81–3, 1981–1 C.B. 125). The conferees intend that the treatment of partial liquidations under present law section 346(a)(2) and (b) is to continue for such transactions under new section 302(e). Recognition of gain to the distributing corporation under section 311(d) as amended by the bill will not require an actual surrender of stock by the shareholders, if the distribution qualifies as a partial liquidation under new section 302(e) without an actual surrender of stock.

Whether or not a redemption is treated as a distribution in partial liquidation is determined without regard to whether or not the redemption is pro rata with respect to all the shareholders of the corporation. A distribution in partial liquidation, pursuant to section 302(b)(4), will be treated as a distribution in exchange for stock under section 302(a) without regard to whether the redemption satisfies the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), or (3) of section 302(b). A distribution in partial liquidation that also terminates a shareholder's interest in the corporation will be treated as a distribution in exchange for stock under section 302(a) without regard to section 302(c)(2).

The conference agreement modifies the definition of qualified stock by providing that the period a distributing corporation has been in existence includes the period of existence of a predecessor corporation and the 10-percent stock ownership requirement must be satisfied with respect to the period of existence of both the distributing and predecessor corporations.

For purposes of determining whether stock is held by a shareholder who is not a corporation in applying new section 302(b)(4), stock held by a partnership, estate, or trust will be treated as if it were actually held proportionately by its partners or beneficiaries.

As under present law, distributions in partial liquidation that are treated under section 302(a) as distributions in exchange for stock pursuant to new section 302(b)(4) will be subject to the collapsible corporation rules of section 341.

Distributions in partial liquidation after August 31, 1982, are subject to the new rules for such distributions provided by the conference amendment.

Effective dates

Distributions in partial liquidation after August 31, 1982, except as otherwise provided, are subject to the new rules for such distributions provided by the conference agreement. The conference agreement makes several modifications to the exceptions provided in the Senate amendment.

The exception for rulings granted by the Internal Revenue Service as to partial liquidation treatment is modified to include rulings granted within the period beginning on July 12, 1981, and ending on July 22, 1982, and the date before which the plan of partial liquidation must be adopted, for both ruling requests pending on July 22, 1982, or rulings granted, is October 1, 1982 (or 90 days after the ruling was granted, if later). A request will be treated as pending on July 23, 1982, and thereafter notwithstanding that, pursuant to negotiations with the Internal Revenue Service, a revision or modification of the request is filed or additional information is submitted.

The exception for plans of partial liquidation adopted before July 1, 1982, is extended to include plans adopted before July 23, 1982.

The exception for acquisitions of control during 1982 and before July 1, 1982, is expanded to include acquisitions of control before July 23, 1982. Control is acquired after July 22, 1982, for purposes of this rule even if an amount of stock constituting less than control was held on such date. In addition, an exception applies if, during March and April 1982, one-third or more of the shares of a corporation were acquired and the intention to acquire control is evidenced by documents filed with the Federal Trade Commission and if control is thereafter acquired. For either exception to apply, a plan of partial liquidation must be adopted by October 1, 1982.

Under the conference agreement, an exception is provided for acquisitions of control after July 22, 1982, pursuant to a tender offer or binding contract outstanding on such date. The plan of partial liquidation must be adopted before the later of October 1, 1982, or, if the acquisition is subject to approval by a Federal regulatory agency, the date which is 90 days after the date on which such approval becomes final in accordance with law. A public announcement of an intention to acquire control pursuant to a tender offer will be treated as a tender offer for purposes of this exception if the proposal is subject to intervention by a foreign regulatory body before which the proposal is pending on July 22, 1982, and the plan of partial liquidation is adopted within 90 days after the date on which the foreign regulatory body approves of the offer.

The exception applicable under the Senate amendment where control was acquired after December 31, 1980, is limited to acquisitions of insurance companies where the conduct of the insurance business by the distributee corporation is conditioned on approval by one or more State regulatory authorities. This exception applies if control was acquired either by the distributee corporation or its parent. The period within which control must be acquired is extended to cover acquisitions before July 23, 1982, and, as under the Senate amendment, a plan of partial liquidation must be adopted before October 1, 1982.

For purposes of these exceptions, a plan of partial liquidation is treated as adopted on the date on which it is approved by the corporation's Board of Directors. Such date is also to be treated as the date of adoption of a plan for purposes of determining the period within which distributions under the plan must be made in applying section 346(a)(2) (as in effect before its repeal by the amendments made by the bill).

A contract will be treated as a binding contract for purposes of applying the exceptions if it is binding on the acquiring corporation and even though it is subject to approval by a vote of the shareholders, the obtaining of financing to consummate the acquisition and other similar conditions.

Property acquired in distributions to which these exceptions apply will be treated as property acquired before September 1, 1982, in applying the rules of new section 338 requiring consistency of treatment for acquisitions of stock and assets in certain cases.

b. Certain distributions of appreciated property

Present law

When a corporation in a nonliquidating distribution distributes property, the value of which exceeds its basis, in redemption of a portion of the corporation's stock, gain is recognized as though the property were sold (sec. 311(d)(1)). Present law excepts several types of transactions from this requirement.

Exceptions are provided for (1) distributions that terminate the interest of a shareholder who has held at least 10 percent of the corporation's stock for a 12-month period; (2) distributions that consist of stock or obligations in a subsidiary conducting a trade or business that was at least 50 percent owned by the distributing corporation at any time within the preceding 9 years; (3) distributions that consist of stock or securities distributed pursuant to certain anti-trust decrees; (4) distributions to which section 303(a) (relating to distributions in redemptions of stock to pay death taxes) applies; (5) certain distributions to private foundations; (6) certain distributions by regulated investment companies; and (7) certain distributions pursuant to the Bank Holding Company Act.

Notwithstanding these exceptions, present law may permit a transaction that is in form a stock redemption to be treated as a direct sale of assets where the stock ownership is transitory (see Rev. Rul. 80–221, 1980–2 C.B. p. 107).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment repeals the exceptions in section 311(d)(2) for distributions terminating the interest of a shareholder who has held 10 percent or more of the corporation's stock for one year, for distributions pursuant to antitrust decrees, for distributions pursuant to the Bank Holding Company Act, and modifies the exception for distributions of stock or obligations of a subsidiary.

The bill is not intended to affect the treatment under present law of distributions that are in substance the purchase of assets.

The Senate amendment revises subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of section 311(d)(2) to conform the treatment of the distributing corporation to the new rules applicable to partial liquidations and to provide for nonrecognition of gain when stock or obligations of a subsidiary are distributed in redemption of stock in certain transactions analogous to a partial liquidation.

New section 311(d)(2)(A) provides that gain will not be recognized to a corporation distributing property to a corporate shareholder unless section 302(a) applies to the distribution. Distributions in partial liquidation to a corporate shareholder under the Senate amendment generally will be treated similarly to distributions which are not in redemption of stock unless they are non-pro rata distributions to which section 302(b) (1), (2), or (3) applies. Such distributions generally will be treated as dividends or other distributions to which section 301 applies. Gain is not recognized to a distributing corporation on section 301 distributions that are not in redemption of stock and the revised section 311(d)(2)(A) conforms the treatment of the distributing corporation to the treatment of a corporate shareholder on partial liquidation distributions whether or not there is an actual surrender of stock in the transaction.

New section 311(d)(2)(B), relating to distributions of stock or obligations of a corporation, continues the provisions of present law section 311(d)(2)(B) with an amendment requiring at least 50 percent in value of the outstanding stock of the corporation to be distributed with respect to qualified stock (in lieu of the present law requirement that the distributing corporation must have owned at least 50 percent of the corporation's stock within the 9-year period prior to the year of distribution). The Senate amendment further limits the exception to distributions with respect to qualified stock and adds an additional limitation pursuant to which the exception applies only if the distribution would qualify as a partial liquidation under new section 302(e) if the assets, rather than stock or obligations of the corporation, were distributed in the transaction. For purposes of the latter test, such assets will be treated as having been held directly by the distributing corporation throughout the period during which the distributing corporation held at least 50 percent in value of the stock of the corporation whose stock is distributed in the transaction.

New section 311(d)(2)(C) provides the exception pursuant to which gain is not recognized to the distributing corporation on partial liquidation distributions under new section 302(e) that are made with respect to qualified stock.

The amendments relating to distributions of appreciated property in redemption of stock apply to distributions made after August 31, 1982. Of course, the present law provisions of section 336 providing for nonrecognition of gain or loss to the distributing corporation on distributions in partial liquidation will apply to distributions after August 31, 1982, to which, under the effective date provisions in section 226(f) of the bill, the present law partial liquidation provisions apply.

Conference agreement

General rules

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, with certain technical modifications.

New section 311(d)(2)(A) is redrafted to provide for nonrecognition of gain to the distributing corporation in any case where the basis of property distributed to a corporate shareholder is determined under section 301(d)(2). This rule provides substantially the same nonrecognition rule for property distributions as would the Senate amendment.

Section 311(d)(2)(B) is conformed by the conference agreement to provide for nonrecognition of gain to the distributing corporation on distributions in partial liquidation to which new section 302(b)(4) applies which are made with respect to qualified stock.

Section 311(d)(2)(C) as revised by the conference agreement provides the exception to gain recognition for distributions of stock or obligations of a corporation (hereinafter called the controlled corporation).

For the exception with respect to distributions of stock or obligations of a controlled corporation to apply, as under the Senate amendment, the distribution must be made with respect to qualified stock and more than 50 percent in value of the controlled corporation's stock must be distributed with respect to qualified stock. The conference agreement further requires that substantially all the assets of the controlled corporation consist of the assets of one or more qualified businesses and that no substantial part of the controlled corporation's nonbusiness assets were acquired from the distributing corporation in a transaction to which section 351 applied or as a contribution to capital within the 5 years ending on the date of distribution.

A qualified business is one that was actively conducted throughout the 5-year period ending on the date of distribution and was not acquired within such period by any person in a transaction in which gain or loss was recognized in whole or in part. Section 355, relating to distributions of stock or securities of a controlled corporation, contains a similar active business requirement.

Nonbusiness assets are defined to include any asset not used in the active conduct of a trade or business. For this purpose, cash and other items that provide working capital needs of an active business will be treated as assets used in the active conduct of the business.

Effective dates

Under the Senate amendment, the repeal of present law section 311(d)(2) exceptions is effective for distributions made after August 31, 1982. The conference agreement retains this general effective date but retains the exceptions in sections 311(d)(2)(A) and 311(d)(2)(C) of present law for certain distributions made on or after September 1, 1982. Under the conference agreement, section 311(d)(2)(A) of present law will continue to be applicable to distributions made within 90 days after a ruling is granted under a request pending before the Internal Revenue Service on July 22, 1982, with respect to the application of section 311(d)(2)(A) to a proposed distribution. Also, present law section 31(d)(2)(A) continues to apply to distributions, otherwise qualifying for such treatment, which are made on or before August 31, 1983, with respect to stock acquired after 1980 and before May 1982.

Finally, the redemption of preferred and common stock by a forest products company pursuant to a binding contract in effect on August 31, 1982, and at all times thereafter, where all distributions must be pursuant to one of the two options set forth in the contract will continue to be subject to present section 311(d)(2)(A) to the extent timberland is distributed to the shareholder (with a value of not more than $10 million on August 31, 1982).

The conference agreement makes section 31(d)(2)(C) of present law applicable to distributions before January 1, 1986, of stock or securities pursuant to a judgment entered before July 23, 1982.

c. Stock purchases treated as asset purchases

Present law

Upon the complete liquidation of a subsidiary corporation, 80 percent of the voting power and 80 percent of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock (other than nonvoting preferred stock) of which is owned by the parent corporation, generally gain or loss is not recognized and the basis of the subsidiary's assets and the other tax attributes are carried over (secs. 332, 334(b)(1), and 381(a)).

If the controlling stock interest was acquired by purchase within a 12-month period and the subsidiary is liquidated pursuant to a plan of liquidation adopted within 2 years after the qualifying stock purchase is completed, the transaction is treated as in substance a purchase of the subsidiary's assets (sec. 334(b)(2)). The acquiring corporation's basis in the "purchased" assets is the cost of the stock purchased as adjusted for items such as liabilities assumed, certain cash or dividend distributions to the acquiring corporation, and postacquisition earnings and profits of the subsidiary. The liquidating distributions can be made over a 3-year period beginning with the close of the taxable year during which the first of a series of distributions occurs (sec. 332(b)(3)). Thus, this treatment applies even though the liquidation can extend over a 5-year period after control has been acquired.

In these cases, when the assets are treated as purchased by the acquiring corporation, recapture income is taxed to the liquidating corporation, the investment tax credit recapture provisions are applicable, and tax attributes, including carryovers, of the liquidated corporation are terminated.

Cases interpreting the law applicable before the rules in section 334(b)(2) were adopted treated the purchase of stock and prompt liquidation in some cases as a purchase of assets (Kimbell-Diamond Milling Co. v. Commissioner 14 T.C. 74, aff'd per curiam, 187 F.2d 718 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 342 US 827 (1951)). It is not clear whether such treatment may still apply in some cases where the requirements of section 334(b)(2) are not met.

A stock purchase and liquidation is treated as a purchase of all the assets of the acquired corporation under present law if section 334(b)(2) applies. Revision of the special treatment of partial liquidations under the bill restricts the options of a corporate purchaser seeking to treat a purchase of a corporation as a purchase of assets in part combined with a continuation of the tax attributes of the acquired entity. Present law does not restrict a corporate purchaser from achieving such selectivity by purchasing assets directly from a corporation while concurrently purchasing the corporation's stock. Selectivity can also be achieved if an acquired corporation, prior to the acquisition, disperses its assets in tax-free transactions among several corporations which can be separately purchased.

The corporate purchaser then through selective qualifying liquidations can obtain asset purchase treatment for one or more acquired corporations while preserving the tax attributes of one or more other corporations.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

In general

The Senate amendment repeals the provision of present law (sec. 334(b)(2)) that treats a purchase and liquidation of a subsidiary as an asset purchase. The bill is also intended to replace any nonstatutory treatment of a stock purchase as an asset purchase under the Kimbell-Diamond doctrine. Instead, an acquiring corporation, within 75 days after a qualified stock purchase, except as regulations may provide for a later election, may elect to treat an acquired subsidiary (target corporation) as if it sold all its assets in a complete liquidation on the stock acquisition date. The target corporation will be treated as a new corporation that purchased the assets on such date. Gain or loss will not be recognized to the same extent gain or loss is not recognized under present law (sec. 337) when a corporation sells all its assets in the course of a complete liquidation. This provision is intended to provide nonrecognition of gain or loss to the same extent that gain or loss would not be recognized under section 336 if there were an actual liquidation of the target corporation on the acquisition date to which present law section 334(b)(2) applied.[1]

A qualified stock purchase occurs if 80 percent or more of the voting power and 80 percent of the total number of shares of other classes of stock (except nonvoting, preferred stock) is acquired by purchase during a 12-month period (the acquisition period). The acquisition date is the date within such acquisition period on which the 80-percent purchase requirement (the qualified stock purchase) is satisfied.

The election is to be made in the manner prescribed by regulations and, once made, will be irrevocable.

Treatment of target corporation as new corporation

The assets of the target corporation will be treated as sold (and purchased) for an amount equal to the basis of the acquiring corporation in the stock of the target corporation on the acquisition date or, if the basis is greater on such date, on the last day of the 12-month acquisition period. The amount is to be adjusted under regulations for liabilities of the target corporation and other relevant items. It is anticipated that recapture tax liability of the target corporation attributable to the deemed sale of its assets is an item which may result in an adjustment under the regulations.

[1] To the extent that Internal Revenue Service rulings providing that gain or income is not recognized by a liquidating insurance company with respect to its insurance reserves in a section 334(b)(2) liquidation constitute a proper interpretation of present law, gain or income is not recognized to the same extent upon an election to which new section 338 applies if the target corporation is an insurance company (see letter rulings 8112052 and 8150040).

The target corporation is treated as a 'new' corporation after the acquisition date for all purposes relating to its tax liability either as the selling or purchasing corporation. Its taxable year as the selling corporation ends on the date of acquisition and it does not become a member of the affiliated group including the acquiring corporation until the day following the date of acquisition. However, it is not intended that any minority shareholders in the target corporation shall be treated as having exchanged stock in the selling corporation for stock in the purchasing corporation. Further, additional purchases of the target corporation's stock by the acquiring corporation after the acquisition date are to be treated as purchases of the stock of the selling corporation if made on or before the close of the acquisition period.

Treatment of recapture items

Under the elective treatment provided by the bill, any recapture income of the target corporation attributable to the deemed sale of its assets is not to be included in any consolidated return of the acquiring corporation. The target corporation will not become a member of the acquiring corporation's affiliated group until the day following the date of acquisition. Recapture items of the target corporation will normally be associated with the final return of the target corporation (as the selling corporation) ending on the date of acquisition.

In some cases, recapture items may be includible in income for a period during which the target corporation is included in a consolidated return of the acquiring corporation. Where, for example, there is an adjustment to the purchase price for its stock based on post-acquisition date earnings of the target corporation, there may be additional amounts of recapture income. Such additional income is to be separately accounted for and may not be absorbed by losses or deductions of other members of the acquiring corporation's affiliated group.

Definition of purchase

The term "purchase" is defined as it is under present law (sec. 334(b)(3)) to exclude acquisitions of stock with a carryover basis or from a decedent, acquisitions in an exchange to which section 351 applies, and acquisitions from a person whose ownership is attributed to the acquiring person under section 318(a). Attribution under section 318(a)(4) relating to options will be disregarded for this purpose. However, if, as a result of a stock purchase, the purchasing corporation is treated under section 318(a) as owning stock in a third corporation, the purchasing corporation will be treated as having purchased stock in such third corporation but not until the first day on which ownership of such stock is considered as owned by the purchasing corporation under section 318(a).

A purchase of over 80 percent but less than 100 percent of the stock of a target corporation which in turn owns 80 percent of the stock of a third corporation is not a qualified stock purchase with respect to the third corporation because the purchasing corporation has not acquired by purchase the requisite 80 percent of the third corporation's stock. This is so, even though the purchasing corporation, the target corporation, and the third corporation constitute an affiliated group as defined in section 1504(a).

Consistency requirement

The rules require consistency where the purchasing corporation makes qualified stock purchases of two or more corporations that are members of the same affiliated group. For this purpose, purchases by a member of the purchasing corporation's affiliated group, except as regulations provide otherwise, are treated as purchases by the purchasing corporation.[2] The consistency requirement applies as well to a combination of a direct asset acquisition and qualified stock purchase.

The consistency requirement applies with respect to purchases over a defined "consistency period" determined by reference to the acquisition date applicable to the target corporation. The "consistency period" is the one-year period preceding the target corporation acquisition period plus the portion of the acquisition period up to and including the acquisition date, and the one-year period following the acquisition date. Thus, if all the target corporation's stock is purchased on the same day by the purchasing corporation, the one-year period immediately preceding and the one-year period immediately following such day are included in the consistency period. If, within such period, there is a direct purchase of assets from the target corporation or a target affiliate by the purchasing corporation, the rules require that the acquisition of the target corporation be treated as an asset purchase.

The consistency period may be expanded in appropriate cases by the Secretary where there is in effect a plan to make several qualified stock purchases or any such purchase and asset acquisition with respect to a target corporation and its target affiliates.

The consistency requirement is applied to an affiliated group with reference to a target corporation and any "target affiliate." A corporation is defined as a "target affiliate" of the target corporation if each was, at any time during that portion of the consistency period ending on the acquisition date of the target corporation, a member of an affiliated group that had the same common parent. An affiliated group has the same meaning given to such term by section 1504(a) (without regard to the exceptions in sec. 1504(b)). This definition also applies in determining whether a purchase is made by a member of the same affiliated group as the purchasing corporation.

An acquisition of assets from a target affiliate during the consistency period applicable to the target corporation will require the qualified stock purchase of the target corporation to be treated as a purchase of assets. In applying these rules, stock in a target affiliate is not to be treated as an asset of any other target affiliate or of the target corporation.

In applying these rules, acquisitions of assets pursuant to sales by the target corporation or a target affiliate in the ordinary course of its trade or business and acquisitions in which the basis of assets is carried over will not cause the consistency requirement to apply. The sale by a target corporation will be considered as a sale in the ordinary course of business for this purpose even though it is not customary in the course of the selling corporation's business provided it is a transaction that is a normal incident to the conduct of a trade or business, such as a sale of used machinery that was employed in the seller's trade or business.

[2] This rule will prevent transfers of target corporation stock within the purchasing corporation's affiliated group from disqualifying a section 338 election (Chrome Plate, Inc. v. U.S., 614 F.2d 990 (5th Cir. 1980).

Where there are, within a consistency period, only qualified stock purchases of the target corporation and one or more target affiliates by the purchasing corporation, an election with respect to the first purchase will apply to the later purchases. A failure to make the election for the first purchase will preclude any election for later purchases.

To prevent avoidance of the consistency requirements, the bill authorizes the Secretary to treat stock acquisitions pursuant to a plan and satisfying the 80-percent requirement to be treated as qualified stock purchases even though they are not otherwise so defined. For example, an acquiring corporation may acquire 79 percent of the stock of a target corporation and, within a year, purchase assets from such corporation or a target affiliate planning to purchase the remaining target corporation stock more than one year after the original stock purchase. The Secretary may under these circumstances treat the purchase of the target corporation's stock as a deemed sale of its assets by the target corporation. The bill also authorizes such regulations as may be necessary to ensure that the requirements of consistency of treatment of stock and asset purchases with respect to a target corporation and its target affiliates are not circumvented through the use of other provisions of the law or regulations, including the consolidated return regulations.

The Senate amendment applies to qualified stock purchases of a target corporation where the acquisition date occurs after August 31, 1982. However, in any case where the acquisition date occurs after December 31, 1981, and before September 1, 1982, the purchasing corporation may elect on or before November 15, 1982, to have section 338 apply.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with technical modifications. The conference agreement expressly provides that the target corporation will be treated as having sold all its assets at the close of the acquisition date in a single transaction to which section 337 applies and, as the 'new' corporation, will be treated as having purchased all the assets at the beginning of the day following the acquisition date. This amendment provides an explicit statutory rule clarifying the intent of the Senate amendment that the deemed sale is reported on the return of the 'old' corporation and that it is only the 'new' corporation that becomes a member of the purchasing corporation's affiliated group.

The conference agreement modifies the provisions of the Senate amendment which treat the amount for which the target corporation's assets are deemed to be sold (and purchased) by reference to the acquiring corporation's basis in the stock of the target corporation. Under the conference agreement, if the acquiring corporation owns less than 100 percent by value of the target corporation's stock on the acquisition date, the deemed purchase price is grossed up to equate 100-percent ownership by the acquiring corporation and the nonrecognition of gain or loss to the target corporation is limited, unless the target corporation is liquidated within one year after the acquisition date, to the highest actual percentage by value of target corporation stock held during the one-year period beginning on the acquisition date.

The conference agreement provides that if, in connection with a qualified stock purchase with respect to which an election is made, the target corporation makes a distribution in complete redemption of all the stock of a shareholder (other than the acquiring corporation), section 336 of the Code will apply to the distribution as if it were made in a complete liquidation. This will preclude gain from being recognized to the target corporation under the provisions relating to stock redemptions by a continuing corporation.

Under the conference agreement, if the acquisition date with respect to a target corporation was after August 31, 1980, and before September 1, 1982, and the target corporation was not liquidated before September 1, 1982, the purchasing corporation may make an election under new section 338(a).

At the election of the purchasing corporation, section 338 as added by the bill will not apply to any acquisition made pursuant to a contract binding on July 23, 1982, to acquire control (within the meaning of sec. 368(c)) of any financial institution where completion of the acquisition is subject to approval by one or more regulatory authorities and a plan of complete liquidation of one or more corporations acquired pursuant to such contract is adopted within 90 days after the date of final approval of the last such regulatory authority granting final approval.

Under the conference agreement, except as provided in regulations and subject to such conditions as may be provided in regulations, the term 'target affiliate' does not include a foreign corporation or a DISC ORGA corporation to which section 934(b) or section 936 applies, and the consistency rules do not apply to stock held by a target affiliate in a foreign corporation or a domestic corporation which is a DISC or which is described in section 1248(e).

Under the conference agreement, the acquisition of assets before September 1, 1982, and, to the extent provided under regulations, foreign held assets will not result in a deemed section 338 election with respect to a target corporation.

The conference agreement provides regulatory authority pursuant to which the Secretary may determine that the deemed election will not apply as the result of a de minimis acquisition of assets and may also preclude the application of the deemed election rule if it is determined that the taxpayer has acquired assets in order to avoid the 75-day limit on the period after the acquisition date within which the election must be made.

d. Reorganizations constituting changes in form

Present law

A reorganization includes "a mere change in identity, form, or place of organization" (an F reorganization). Generally, present law requires a transferor corporation's taxable year to be closed on the date of a reorganization transfer and precludes a post-reorganization loss from being carried back to a taxable year of the transferor. However, F reorganizations are excluded from these limitations in recognition of the intended scope of such reorganizations as embracing only formal changes in a single operating corporation.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement limits the F reorganization definition to a change in identity, form, or place of organization of a single operating corporation.

This limitation does not preclude the use of more than one entity to consummate the transaction provided only one operating company is involved. The reincorporation of an operating company in a different State, for example, is an F reorganization that requires that more than one corporation be involved.

The amendment applies to transactions occurring after August 31, 1982. Present law continues to apply to plans of reorganization adopted before August 31, 1982, provided the transaction is completed by December 31, 1982.

e. Use of holding companies to bail out earnings

Present law

Shareholders who have their stock redeemed in a corporate distribution not in partial or complete liquidation are entitled to sale or exchange treatment rather than dividend treatment generally only if the transaction results in a termination or substantial reduction in the proportionate interests of the redeeming shareholders. Where the same shareholder or a group commonly controls two or more corporations, they may attempt to avoid the dividend consequences that would result from a pro rata redemption of stock by selling the stock in one controlled corporation to another. Present law (sec. 304) deals with this effort to avoid dividend treatment by testing the tax consequences of the transaction as if the shareholders had their stock redeemed by the corporation whose stock is sold.

Shareholders have attempted to avoid the present law rules by borrowing funds secured by the stock of a corporation with earnings and profits and contributing the stock to a newly formed holding company in exchange for the holding company's stock plus its assumption of the liability for the borrowed funds. Taxpayers argue that the transaction complies with present law rules governing tax-free incorporation of property. These rules overlap with those requiring stock sales to a commonly controlled corporation to be tested as stock redemptions. The courts are divided as to which provision controls. It is also unclear whether section 304 applies where the holding company is a newly formed corporation. Even if the redemption rule applies and dividend treatment results, dividend consequences would be determined by reference to the earnings of the purchasing corporation. If it is a newly formed holding company, it would have no earnings (a pre-existing corporation without earnings could also be used).

Another device to bail out earnings is to cause a corporation to issue preferred stock as a nontaxable stock dividend to its shareholders. A sale of the preferred stock at capital gain rates would not dilute the interests of the selling shareholders in future corporate growth while they would receive an amount representing corporate earnings. Preferred stock issue under these circumstances (described as section 306 stock) is tainted under present law so that its subsequent sale or redemption results in ordinary income to the shareholder. This provision does not taint stock of a newly formed corporation issued in a tax-free transaction in exchange for stock in a corporation with earnings and profits. Thus, creation of a holding company issuing both common and preferred stock offers the same bail-out opportunity as a preferred stock dividend but does not result in tainted section 306 stock.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

The conference agreement extends the anti-bailout rules of sections 304 and 306 of present law to the use of corporations, including holding companies, formed or availed of to avoid such rules. Such rules are made applicable to a transaction that, under present law, otherwise qualifies as a tax-free incorporation under section 351.

Section 351 generally will not apply to transactions described in section 304. Thus, section 351, if otherwise applicable, will generally apply only to the extent such transaction consists of an exchange of stock for stock in the acquiring corporation. However, section 304 will not apply to debt incurred to acquire the stock of an operating company and assumed by a controlled corporation acquiring the stock since assumption of such debt is an alternative to a debt-financed direct acquisition by the acquiring company. This exception for acquisition indebtedness applies to an extension, renewal, or refinancing of such indebtedness. The provisions of section 357 (other than sec. 357(b)) and section 358 apply to such acquisition indebtedness provided they would be applicable to such transaction without regard to section 304. In applying these rules, indebtedness includes debt to which the stock is subject as well as debt assumed by the acquiring company.

Under the conference agreement, section 306 is made applicable to preferred stock acquired in a section 351 exchange if, had money in lieu of stock been received, its receipt would have been a dividend to any extent. This, if the receipt of cash by the shareholder rather than stock would have caused section 304 as amended by the bill, rather than section 351, to apply to such receipt, some or all of the amount received might have been treated as a dividend.

In such a case, the preferred stock acquired in the exchange will be section 306 stock.

To the extent of any amount distributed (including any liability assumed or to which the stock is subject) in an exchange for stock to which section 304(a)(1) applies, the earnings and profits of the issuing corporation, to the extent thereof, will be deemed to be distributed to the acquiring company. This rule also applies in determining whether preferred stock acquired in a section 351 exchange is section 306 stock. For this purpose, the property is deemed distributed by the issuing to the acquiring corporation and thereafter distributed to the exchanging shareholders. The deemed distribution is solely for the purpose of determining the extent to which the amount distributed is treated as a dividend to such shareholders and does not, for example, constitute a distribution of personal holding company income to the acquiring corporation.

In determining whether corporations are commonly controlled for purposes of section 304, all shareholders transferring stock to a holding company would be counted even though some of them do not receive property other than stock.

An exception would apply to the receipt of securities in a bank holding company by certain minority shareholders. Under this rule, the transfer of stock constituting control of a bank to a bank holding company in connection with the formation of such company (unless such company is formed before 1985) must be made within 2 years after control of such bank was acquired. Both acquisition of control of the bank and the transfer of its stock constituting control to the bank holding company must be pursuant to a plan. Further, distributions of property (as described in sec. 304(a)) incident to the formation of such bank holding company may be made only to shareholders who, in the aggregate, do not have stock constituting control of such company.

If the above conditions are satisfied, section 304(a) will not apply to securities received, incident to the formation of the bank holding company, by any shareholder who owns less than 10 percent in value of the stock of such company.

Control, for purposes of applying this exception, means control as defined in section 304(c)(1) and ownership is to be determined under the rules in section 304(c)(3). A bank holding company is a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act.

The amendments made by the conference agreement apply to transfers occurring after August 31, 1982, in taxable years ending after such date. However, if an application was filed with the Federal Reserve Board before August 16, 1982, to form a bank holding company, the amendments will not apply to transfers by a bank holding company formed pursuant to approval of such application if such transfers are made before January 1, 1983, or (if later) within 90 days after the last final required regulatory approval of such formation.

f. Application of attribution rules

Present law

To determine whether a shareholder is entitled to sale or exchange treatment on a stock redemption, stock held by related parties is attributed to the shareholder in determining whether the shareholder's interest in the corporation was terminated or significantly reduced. The attribution rules do not apply to some transactions that are economically equivalent to straight stock redemptions and that offer an equivalent opportunity to bail out earnings. For example, a shareholder may exchange all of his common stock in a corporation for preferred stock. Such an exchange results in tainted, section 306 stock only if, had cash been distributed in lieu of preferred stock, there would have been a dividend. Unless stock held by another family member or controlled entity is attributed to the shareholder, cash in lieu of preferred stock would have terminated the shareholder's interest and not result in a dividend. Also, a shareholder exchanging stock in a reorganization for property other than stock or securities may have dividend consequences if the transaction has the effect of the distribution of a dividend. For this purpose, attribution rules do not apply.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement extends the ownership attribution rules to a determination of whether, for section 306, the effect of the receipt of preferred stock pursuant to a reorganization or a transaction described in section 355 or section 351 is substantially the same as a dividend and in determining whether the receipt of property in a reorganization has the effect of a dividend. Attribution between shareholders and corporations shall be applied without regard to the 50-percent limit in section 318(a)(2)(C) and 318(a)(3)(C) in applying such rules to the receipt of preferred stock in a section 351 exchange.

The application of constructive ownership rules to section 306 determinations applies to stock received after August 31, 1982, in taxable years ending after such date. Application of such rules to the determination of whether the receipt of property pursuant to a reorganization has the effect of a dividend applies to distributions after August 31, 1982, in taxable years ending after such date.

g. Waiver of family attribution rules

Present law

In determining whether a shareholder has completely terminated his interest in a corporation on a stock redemption so as to achieve sale or exchange treatment, present law allows the shareholder to waive attribution of ownership from other family members. The waiving shareholder in general may hold no interest in the corporation (except as a creditor), may not acquire any interest for a 10-year period, and must agree to notify the Internal Revenue Service of any such acquisition. The statute of limitations for the year of redemption remains open in the event of such an acquisition.

Stock may be attributed from one member of a family to another by family attribution and reattributed to an entity such as an estate or trust in which the constructive owner has a beneficial interest. The Internal Revenue Service takes the position that only an individual may waive family attribution. Several decided cases have held that a trust or an estate terminating its interest by a stock redemption can waive family attribution from a family member to the beneficiary. These cases do not preclude the beneficiary from acquiring an interest in the corporation, do not require an agreement from the beneficiary, and do not reopen the statute of limitations in the event of an acquisition by the beneficiary. One case has also held that an entity may waive attribution from a beneficiary to the entity.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision

Conference agreement

The conference agreement permits an entity to waive the family attribution rules if those through whom ownership is attributed to the entity join in the waiver. Thus, a trust and its beneficiaries may waive family attribution to the beneficiaries if, after the redemption, neither the trust nor the beneficiaries hold an interest in the corporation, do not acquire such an interest within the 10-year period, and join in the agreement to notify the IRS of any acquisition. The entity and beneficiaries would be jointly and severally liable in the event of an acquisition by any of them within the 10-year period and the statute of limitations would be open to assess any deficiency. The tax increase would be a deficiency in the entity's tax but would be asserted as a deficiency against any beneficiary liable under the rules. The conferees intend that the tax will be collected from a beneficiary only when it cannot be assesed against or collected from the entity, such as when the entity no longer exists or has insufficient funds. Further, it is intended that the tax will be assessed and collected from the beneficiary whose acquisition causes the deficiency before it is asserted against any other beneficiary.

Under the bill, only family attribution under section 318(a)(1) may be waived by an entity and its beneficiaries. The waiver rules would not be extended to waivers of attribution to and from entities and their beneficiaries (secs. 318(a)(2) and 318(a)(3)). The bill thus is intended to overrule Rickey v. United States 592 F.2d 1251 (5th Cir. 1979). The conferees intend that the bill should not be construed to provide any inference as to whether the Rickey decision adopts a proper construction of present law. Nor is any inference intended as to whether the other cases extending the waiver rules for family attribution to entities adopt a proper construction of present law.

Certain anti-avoidance rules of present law applicable where a related party at the time of the redemption owns stock acquired from the distributee would be extended to the entity and affected beneficiaries.

These amendments apply with respect to distributions after August 31, 1982, in taxable years ending after such date.

10. Accounting for completed contracts

Present law

Overview

A taxpayer who enters into long-term contracts may elect to use one of four accounting methods to account for the income and expenses attributable to such contracts. Long-term contracts generally are building, installation, construction, or manufacturing contracts that are not completed by the end of the taxable year in which they were entered into. A manufacturing contract is not a long-term contract unless it involves the manufacture of either (1) unique items of a type not normally carried in the finished goods inventory of the taxpayer or (2) items that normally require more than 12 months to complete.

The four methods used to account for long-term contracts are the cash method, the accrual method, the percentage of completion method and the completed contract method. The cash and accrual methods are methods applicable to all types of income of all taxpayers generally. The percentage of completion method and the completed contract method apply only to long-term contracts.

Cash method

Under the cash method, income is reported for the year in which it is actually or constructively received. Deductions generally are taken for the year in which actually paid.

Accrual method

Under the accrual method, income is generally reported when all the events have occurred which fix the right to receive such income and the amount thereof can be determined with reasonable accuracy, regardless of when it is received. Taxpayers are not required, however, to report income at the time advance payments are received under long-term contracts, but generally may report such income when the subject matter of the contract is shipped, delivered, or accepted.

Deductions generally are allowed for the year in which all events have occurred which determine the fact of liability and the amount thereof can be determined with reasonable accuracy. However, any expenditure which results in the creation of an asset having a useful life which extends substantially beyond the close of the taxable year may not be deductible, or may be deductible only in part, for the taxable year in which incurred. If the taxpayer uses inventories, costs allocable to inventory are accumulated until the inventory is shipped, delivered, or accepted.

Percentage of completion method

Under the percentage of completion method (which is used only for long-term contracts), income is recognized according to the percentage of the contract that is completed during each taxable year. Deductions generally are allowed in the year in which they are incurred.

Completed contract method

Recognition of income and deductions.—Under the completed contract method (which is used only for long-term contracts), income and costs from the contract generally are reported for the year in which the contract is completed.

Completion of contract.—Present Treasury regulations (sec. 1.451–3) provide that a contract will not be considered completed until final completion and acceptance have occurred. Nevertheless, a taxpayer may not delay completion of a contract for the principal purpose of deferring Federal income tax.

Severance and aggregation of contracts.—Present Treasury regulations also provide that it may be necessary to treat one agreement as several contracts or several agreements as one contract in order to clearly reflect the income of the taxpayer. Whether one agreement is severed or several agreements are aggregated depends on all the facts and circumstances.

Allocation of costs.—Under the completed contract method, costs allocable to the contract (commonly referred to as "contract costs") are deductible for the year in which the contract is completed. Expenses that are not allocated to the contract (commonly referred to as "period costs") are deductible for the year in which they are paid or incurred.

Under existing regulations, contract costs include all direct expenses and indirect expenses that are incident and necessary to the performance of the contract, with the following exceptions (which are currently deductible as period costs):

(a) Marketing and selling expenses, including bidding expenses;

(b) Advertising expenses;

(c) Other distribution expenses;

(d) General and administrative expenses which benefit the taxpayer's business as a whole;

(e) Interest;

(f) Research and development expenses;

(g) Losses, under section 165 and the regulations thereunder;

(h) Percentage depletion in excess of cost depletion;

(i) Depreciation on idle equipment and, for other equipment, tax depreciation in excess of book depreciation;

(j) Income taxes;

(k) Pension and profit-sharing contributions and other employee benefits;

(l) Costs attributable to strikes, rework, scrap, and spoilage; and

(m) Officer compensation which benefits the taxpayer's activities as a whole.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Completion of contract

The Treasury Department would amend its regulations to prevent unreasonable deferral of recognition of income by reason of contract provisions that are merely incidental to contract obligations for construction, installation, or manufacturing.

The revised rules apply to taxable years ending after December 31, 1982. Contracts that would be treated as completed in an earlier taxable year solely by reason of the revised termination rule would be treated as completed in the first taxable year ending after December 31, 1982.

Severing and aggregating contracts

The Treasury Department would amend its regulations to prevent the unreasonable deferral of recognition of income by reason of the taxpayer's treating several contracts as a single contract (for example, where the items to be constructed, installed, or manufactured under the contracts are independently priced and will be separately delivered or accepted).

The revised severance and aggregation rules apply to taxable years ending after December 31, 1982. A contract that would have been completed in an earlier taxable year if it had been severed from a group of contracts under the revised rules will be considered completed when the first contract of the same group is completed after December 31, 1982.

Allocation of costs

For long-term contracts expected to be completed within 2 years and certain other construction contracts, present law cost allocation rules will continue to apply. Construction contracts eligible for continued use of present law costing rules are contracts for the construction of real property improvements (or installation of integral components thereof) if either—

(1) the contract is expected to be completed within 3 years, or

(2) the taxpayer has average annual gross receipts of $25 million or less for the prior 3 years.

In the case of a contract for the manufacture and installation of an improvement to real property, the special cost allocation rules for construction contracts apply to only the costs related to the installation of the real property improvements. For purposes of determining whether such a contract is expected to be completed within 3 years, the time expected to complete both the manufacture and installation of the property will be taken into account.

For all other contracts (extended period long-term contracts), costs that arise from or directly benefit such contract activities of the taxpayer are to be treated as contract costs. For extended period long-term contracts, the following costs will no longer be period costs:

(1) Bidding expenses on contracts awarded to the taxpayer;

(2) Distribution expenses, such as shipping costs;

(3) General and administrative expenses properly allocable to long-term contracts under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary;

(4) Research and development expenses that either are directly attributable to particular long-term contracts existing when the expenses are incurred or are incurred under an agreement to perform research and development;

(5) Depreciation, capital cost recovery, and amortization for equipment and facilities currently being used, to the extent it exceeds depreciation reported by the taxpayer for financial accounting purposes;

(6) Pension and profit-sharing contributions representing current service costs and other employee benefits;

(7) Rework labor, scrap, and spoilage; and

(8) Percentage depletion in excess of cost depletion.

The revised cost allocation rules apply to contracts entered into after December 31, 1982, for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982, with a phase-in.

Under the phase-in, a percentage of the additional costs allocable to the contract under the revised rules would be currently deductible. The percentages are:

For taxable year beginning in—	The currently deductible percentage is
1983	66⅔
1984	33⅓
1985 and thereafter	0

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

11. Accelerated corporate tax payments

Present law

Corporations generally must pay 80 percent of their current year's tax liability in quarterly estimated tax payments during the taxable year.

A penalty for underpayment of estimated taxes is imposed unless the corporation meets certain exceptions based on prior year's tax liability, prior year's income or annualized income. At each installment date, annualized income is projected from the actual taxable income earned by the end of the previous month (or quarter). Under present annualization rules, corporations with seasonal income earned primarily at the beginning of the year may upon occasion overpay estimated taxes due when they rely on the annualized income exception.

Generally, a corporation must pay its final tax payment 2½ months after the end of the taxable year, but it may elect to pay only half of the unpaid tax on this date and the remaining half three months later.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The amount of estimated tax payments required for all corporations is increased from 80 percent to 90 percent of current year's tax liability. A corresponding change will be made in the exception based on annualized income.

The penalty on underpayments of estimated tax that are between 80 percent and 90 percent of the actual tax due is imposed at one-half the full rate for underpayments.

The full amount of the unpaid tax is due 2½ months after the end of a taxable year.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, with three changes.

First, the penalty for underpayment of estimated taxes is imposed at three quarters of the full rate on underpayments between 80 and 90 percent of the tax due, but only if the taxpayer makes estimated tax payments of at least 80 percent of the tax due.

Second, a new rule for annualizing income is provided for corporations with seasonal income. Taxpayers could rely on the new rule if, in the preceding three taxable years, taxable income for any period of 6 successive months averaged 70 percent or more of total income for the taxable year. Income would be annualized by assuming that the income is earned, in the current year, in the same pattern as in the three preceding taxable years. This rule would require that the tax be paid on the annualized income in the same seasonal pattern in which it is earned.

Third, for the annualized income exceptions, the Treasury is directed to amend its regulations regarding the computation of taxable income for the period before the installment due date. Taxpayers could rely on these regulations in computing taxable income for a period of less than a full taxable year under the annualization and seasonal pattern of income exceptions to the underpayment penalty. Many items which substantially impact taxable income cannot be determined accurately by the installment due date. Examples of these items include (but are not limited to) the LIFO index for taxpayers using the dollar-value LIFO inventory method, the deferred gross profit for taxpayers with revolving charge accounts, intercompany adjustments for taxpayers who file consolidated returns, and a temporary liquidation of a LIFO layer at the installment date.

To alleviate these problems for taxpayers who rely on the annualized income exception, the conferees expect the Secretary to issue regulations which provide that estimates of certain items could be used where reasonable estimates could be made from existing data. For example, taxpayers using the dollar-value LIFO method of accounting might be allowed to interpolate from an available inflation index for a previous period in calculating the cost of goods sold in a period of less than a full taxable year if no reliable inflation index is available for the period for which taxable income must be calculated. The conferees also understand that the Secretary will issue regulations clarifying the meaning of taxable income in regard to net operating loss carrybacks and carryforwards for purposes of defining a large corporation (under sec. 6655 (h) (2)).

12. Amortization of original issue discount on bonds

Present law

Original issue discount on corporate bonds is included in income by holders in whose hands such bonds are capital assets, and is allowed as a deduction to the issuer, on a linear basis over the life of the bond. The discount is treated as accruing in equal monthly installments over the life of the bond. The OID provisions of the Internal Revenue Code do not provide for ratable inclusion of discount income by holders of noncorporate bonds. A portion of gain from the sale or disposition of government bonds is treated as ordinary income to the extent of accrued original issue discount.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides new rules under which the inclusion and deduction of original issue discount correspond to the actual economic accrual of interest. These rules are extended to bonds issued by noncorporate issuers other than natural persons.

The Senate amendment applies to corporate obligations issued after May 3, 1982 (other than obligations issued pursuant to a written commitment which was binding on such date). The extension of the rules to obligations of noncorporate issuers applies to obligations issued after June 9, 1982 (other than obligations issued pursuant to a written commitment which was binding on such date).

Conference agreement

Under the conference agreement, the new rules applicable under the Senate amendment to original issue discount on corporate obligations and the extension of such rules to noncorporate obligations are effective for obligations issued after July 1, 1982, unless issued pursuant to a written commitment binding on July 1, 1982, and at all times thereafter. Such a commitment would have to involve a commitment by the issuer to issue the bonds at a particular price. Thus, for example, the new rules would not apply in cases where bonds are issued pursuant to the exercise of warrants which were outstanding on July 1, 1982.

A technical amendment makes explicit that tax-exempt obligations are excepted from the rules even if the exemption is provided by a provision of law other than section 103.

Certain tax-exempt industrial development bonds generate interest deductions for a taxable issuer. An amendment makes clear that the deduction of original issue discount on such obligations will be subject to the new rules.

13. Tax treatment of stripped bonds

Present law

If a taxpayer disposes of a bond and retains the unmatured interest coupons or disposes of the bond and the coupons in separate transactions, it is arguable that the taxpayer's basis is entirely allocable to the corpus (bond principal). Any loss from disposing of the corpus, if allowable, is an ordinary loss to a dealer in such obligations, or to a bank, and a capital loss to other taxpayers.

Gain to the purchaser of a stripped bond is deferred until the bond is sold or redeemed and is ordinary income to the extent of the difference between the value of the bond with and without the coupons attached at the time of purchase. The purchaser of stripped coupons allocates his cost to the coupons in accordance with their relative values at the time of purchase. Capital gain may result if coupons are sold rather than redeemed.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Stripped bonds and stripped coupons in the hands of a purchaser are treated as bonds issued at a discount. The discount is the excess of the redemption price of the bond, or amount payable on maturity of the coupon, over the purchase price allocable to the bond or coupon. The purchaser must include the discount in income under the original issue discount rules.

The seller of a stripped bond or stripped coupons must, immediately before the disposition, allocate the basis of the bond (with coupons) among the bond and coupons in accordance with their values. This will prevent artificial losses from the sale of stripped bonds. The same original issue discount treatment applicable to a buyer of a stripped bond or stripped coupons applies to the retained portions after a seller strips and disposes of either the corpus or coupons.

The treatment of stripped bonds applies with respect to the purchase and sale of a stripped bond or stripped coupons after June 9, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with a different effective date. Under the conference agreement, the new treatment applicable to coupon stripping under the Senate amendment applies only where there is a sale after July 1, 1982, of either a stripped bond or stripped coupons.

The conference agreement provides that accrued interest required by the new rules to be included in income upon the disposition of a stripped bond or stripped coupons does not include any interest theretofore included in income by the taxpayer (e.g., by an accrual basis taxpayer).

The rule of present law that requires ordinary income treatment on the sale or other disposition of a stripped bond to the extent of the difference in fair market value of the bond with and without coupons attached at the time of purchase is continued for bonds purchased at any time before July 2, 1982. As under the Senate amendment, this rule is applicable to tax-exempt obligations without regard to the date of purchase. In applying this rule, a technical amendment clarifies that a person who retains a tax-exempt bond after disposition of the coupons will be treated as a purchaser of a stripped tax-exempt bond.

Another technical amendment provides that the definition of 'coupon' as any right to receive interest on a bond whether or not evidenced by a coupon will apply only where a purchase occurs after July 1, 1982. This amendment is not intended to provide any inference as to the interpretation of the term 'coupon' in present law section 1232(c).

The conference agreement also provides the Secretary of the Treasury with the authority to issue regulations to provide the appropriate basis allocation and income inclusion rules in cases where the general rules in the statute do not provide a proper determination of income by reason of call provisions, extendable maturities, etc. For example, in the case of callable bonds with coupons redeemable after the call date, these regulations could provide that no basis need be allocated to post-call coupons as long as they remain attached to the corpus and that there be no periodic inclusion of discount income with respect to post-call coupons where this is appropriate.

14. Treatment of business meal expenses and tip income

Present law

Business meals

In general, expenditures for business meals are deductible to the extent that they are ordinary and necessary, not extravagant or lavish, and are paid or incurred in connection with the taxpayer's trade or business or income-producing activities.

Tip income

Tipped employees must generally report all tips received in the course of their employment to their employer.

In general, withholding for purposes of the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) tax and the income tax is required only to the extent tips are reported to the employer and only to the extent collection of the tax can be made by the employer from wages paid to the employee (excluding tips, but including funds turned over by the employee to the employer or under the control of the employer).

In general, employees whether or not they receive tips, are required to keep records to establish the amount of gross income and deductions. Because tips are includible in income, employees must keep records of all tips received and of all deductible tips paid to other employees. Employers are expressly required to retain only charge tip receipts and statements of tips received by employees furnished by such employees. Failure to maintain such records may subject employees or employers to penalties (sec. 6653).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Any deduction otherwise allowable for business meals and beverages (unless connected with business-related travel away from home) is limited to 50 percent of expenses. This provision is effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment relating to business meals expense deduction.

Under the conference agreement, the rules of present law relating to reporting of tips to employers by their employees and to the resulting withholding of FICA and income taxes is retained. However, to assist the Internal Revenue Service in its examinations of returns filed by tipped employees, the bill provides a new set of information reporting requirements for large food and beverage establishments and, under certain circumstances, a tip allocation requirement.

Each large food and beverage establishment will be required to report annually to the Internal Revenue Service (1) the gross receipts of the establishment from food and beverage sales (other than receipts from carryout sales and mandatory 10-percent or more service charge sales), (2) the amount of aggregate charge receipts (other than receipts from carryout sales and 10-percent service charge sales), (3) the aggregate amount of tips shown on such charge receipts and (4) reported tip income and mandatory service charges of less than 10 percent. Tips on meals charged for house charges of restaurants will be reported. Tips on meals charged to a room in a hotel, however, will be reported as gross receipts only.

If the employees voluntarily report tips aggregating 8 percent or more of gross receipts (defined as gross receipts less carryout sales, less 10-percent service charge sales), then no tip allocations, will need to be made. However, if this 8-percent reporting threshold is not met, then the employer must allocate an amount equal to the difference between 8 percent of gross receipts and the amounts reported by employees for the year to all tipped employees pursuant to either an agreement between the employer and employees or in the absence of such an agreement according to regulations issued by the Secretary. The conferees intend that the regulations under this provision will provide procedures under which a particluar establishment, or type of establishment, can show that its tipped employee's average tip rate is less than 8 percent (but not less than 5 percent) and, therefore, allocate based on that lower amount in the future. The employer will have no liability in connection with any dispute regarding tip allocations.

The allocation of the 8-percent amount to employees for reporting purposes will have no effect on the FICA or income tax withholding responsibilities of the employer or on his FUTA obligations. Thus, employers will continue to withhold only on amounts reported to them by their tipped employees. Of course, the allocation also has no effect on the actual entitlement of the employer or employee to gross receipts or tip income. Similarly, this purely informational report to the Internal Revenue Service will not affect the requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act or any collective bargaining agreement.

The 8-percent figure reflects the conferees' judgment that the tip rate in establishments subject to this reporting requirement will rarely be below the 8-percent level. Thus, an employee who reports less than his allocated amount of tips must be able to substantiate his reporting position with adequate books and records (as he must under present law). The Internal Revenue Service could prove that tipped employees received a larger amount of tip income. For example, as under present law, the Internal Revenue Service could show from charge tip rates that a particular establishment had a higher tip rate than 8 percent.

A large food or beverage establishment is any establishment (public or private) the activity of which is the provision of food or beverages for consumption on the premises, other than of a "carryout" nature such as "fast food restaurants," with respect to which tipping is customary, and which normally employed more than 10 employees on a typical business day during the preceding calendar year. The Secretary will prescribe regulations for the application of this 10-employee rule in the case of new businesses. Thus "fast-food" restaurants would not generally be subject to the new reporting requirement. Restaurants that provide table or counter service for seated customers, and cocktail lounges with similar service, are large food or beverage establishments if they employ 10 or more persons. An establishment may be part of a larger operation such as a hotel.

It is anticipated that the information statement concerning allocated tips could be integrated into Form W-2 now supplied by employers with respect to wages. If the employer furnishes an employee with a W-2 within 30 days after the employee leaves, the employer must furnish the employee and the IRS in January with an amended Form W-2 that includes tip alocations.

The conference agreement requires the Secretary of the Treasury to submit, prior to January 1, 1987, to the tax writing committees of the Congress a report together with the background study on the operation of the present reporting system as applied to tips received as wages or compensation. This report should be based upon a study conducted by the IRS designed to statistical accuracy with an error of plus or minus of 15 percent. The study should be representative of the foodservice industry in terms of sales size and types of establishments. This study should also specifically describe the following: (1) the amount of tips actually received; (2) the amount of tips voluntarily reported to the employer by the employee; (3) the amount of tips reported to the IRS on the individual's federal tax return; and (4) a computation of the minimum wage payments to these individuals and what portion of those wages constituted tip income.

This study should further describe tipped individuals by job category, and should distingush between part-time and full-time employment. The study should also describe the extent of arrangements for tip sharing and tip pooling that exist among tip earners. Recommendations made by the Internal Revenue Service as a result of this study should contain a cost-benefit analysis of any recommendations. This analysis should include a comparison of the cost of the existing system of enforcement of tip earner compliance through examination and any cost increase or decrease to the government if any recommendation is adopted.

The amendments made by this section apply to calendar years beginning after December 31, 1982, but the allocation rules will first apply to payroll periods ending after March 31, 1983. For the first quarter of calendar year 1983 only, large food and beverage establishments for which aggregate tip income reported by employees is less than 8 percent of such gross food and beverage sales, will be required to file information returns for that quarter for Internal Revenue Service audit purposes. These returns shall include a list of al tipped employees including their taxpayer identification numbers, wages paid and reported tip income during the period. Employees would be put on notice that their returns would be identified for audit unless this 8 percent tip reporting is satisfied.

15. Investment credit for soil or water conservation expenditures

Present law

Soil or water conservation expenditures equal to up to 25 percent of gross income from farming may be deducted during the year incurred instead of being charged to capital account, at the election of the taxpayer. A taxpayer may not elect to treat as deductible expenditures those items for which depreciation deductions may be claimed.

Present law includes no special investment credit for soil and water conservation expenditures.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment permits farmers to elect a 10-percent investment credit for those soil and water conservation expenditures that are not expensed. The provision applies to periods after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

16. Public utility dividend reinvestment plans

Present law

Under present law, public utility corporations may set up dividend reinvestment plans under which shareholders electing to receive distributions in the form of common stock, rather than money or other property, may exclude up to $750 per year ($1,500 in the case of a joint return) of the stock distribution from income. These amounts generally are taxed as capital gains when the stock is sold, if the stock has been held for at least 12 months.

The provision applies to distributions made after 1981 and before 1986.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, the provision is repealed for distributions made after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

C. Compliance Provisions

1. Withholding on interest and dividends

Present law

Under present law, no income tax withholding is required on payments of interest, dividends, or patronage dividends to U.S. persons.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides for withholding on payments of dividends, interest, and certain patronage dividends paid to individuals (and certain others) at a rate of 10 percent. Exceptions are provided for:

(1) individuals with prior year income tax of $600 or less ($1,000 on a joint return);

(2) elderly individuals with prior year income tax of $1,500 or less ($2,500 on a joint return);

(3) interest payments by electing payors of $100 or less on an annualized basis;

(4) small savings bond payments;

(5) payments by consumer cooperatives; and

(6) payments to corporations, governments, securities dealers, money market funds, exempt organizations, nominees, and certain other recipients.

Interest subject to withholding generally includes interest (including original issue discount), other than (1) interest paid by individuals, or State and local governments on tax-exempt obligations, and, (2) interest paid to nonresident alien individuals, foreign corporations and certain other foreign entities.

Dividends subject to withholding generally are distributions out of earnings and profits other than payments to nonresident alien individuals and foreign corporations.

Patronage dividends subject to withholding do not include per-unit retain allocations or patronage dividends which include consent-type qualified written notices of allocations unless 50 percent or more of such patronage dividend is paid in money or by qualified check.

In general, these provisions apply to interest and dividends paid or credited after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment with clarifying and technical changes except that the effective date is July 1, 1983, instead of January 1, 1983. The conference agreement permits the Secretary to exempt certain payors from the withholding obligations for up to a 6-month period. This authority may be exercised on a case-by-case basis when the payor has attempted in good faith to comply with the withholding obligations but cannot do so without undue hardship. Under the conference agreement, this waiver of compliance with withholding obligations may apply to payments by any payor of interest, dividends, or patronage dividends.

The conferees realize that, although many elderly and low-income persons will qualify for exemption, they will need to file exemption certificates to enjoy the benefit of their exemptions. In addition, the withholding rules will affect the financial planning of many nonexempt individuals. Therefore, the Conferees anticipates that the Secretary will endeavor to inform the public about the operation of the withholding rules and the requirement that exempt individuals file exemption certificates. In this regard, the Internal Revenue Service should notify and counsel affected individuals through new or existing taxpayer-assistance mechanisms and should create forms that are as simple to understand as possible.

The conferees wish to make clear that the exemption from withholding with respect to tax-exempt obligations generally will be available if the obligation is regular on its face (e.g., in registered form if issued after December 31, 1982) and indicates that it is an obligation of a State or local government. Thus, financial institutions acting as trustee with respect to industrial development bonds would not be required to inquire whether any event has occurred that would cause the interest on the obligation to be taxable.

The exception for minimal interest payments of $100 or less on an annualized basis is modified to provide that interest payments which would not exceed $150 on an annualized basis may be exempt from withholding at the election of the payor. The conference agreement permits the Secretary to require the aggregation of payments from the same payor to the same payee.

The definition of interest is clarified, consistent with the information reporting requirements, to provide that payments by certain foreign entities and payments outside the United States by U.S. corporations whose interest payments are foreign source are not subject to withholding, except to the extent otherwise provided by regulations.

The list of exempt recipients is expanded to include simple trusts all the income beneficiaries of which are otherwise exempt individuals. Finally, the withholding credit allocation in the trust and estate context is clarified.

The conferees anticipate that the Secretary will provide for rules on the time for making deposits of withheld taxes that take into account the costs of implementing this withholding system. Specifically, the conferees anticipate that all payors of interest, dividends and patronage dividends will be permitted up to 30 calender days in which to deposit withheld amounts. This extended deposit period should apply for payments withheld during the period of July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984. A similar extended period could apply through June 1985 for small and medium financial institutions with respect to amounts withheld on interest paid on deposits with those institutions and through June 1986 for small institutions.

2. Other compliance provisions

a. Reporting of interest

Present law

Present law contains an information reporting requirement with respect to payments of interest aggregating $10 or more to any other person during the calendar year. Any corporation that has an obligation outstanding in registered form with respect to which $10 or more of original issue discount is includible in the gross income of any holder during any calendar year must also file an information return with the Secretary. Payors of interest and persons who are required to file information returns with respect to original issue discount must also furnish information statements to recipients.

For reporting purposes, present law defines interest as including, for example, interest on any evidence of indebtedness issued by a corporation in registered form, and interest on bank deposits. In addition, the Secretary has regulatory authority to provide that interest includes interest on evidences of indebtedness issued in other than registered form by a corporation of a type offered by corporations to the public. The existing regulations do not require withholding on such obligations.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, as under present law, every person who makes payments of interest aggregating $10 or more to any other person during the calendar year, must file an information return. In addition, any person who withholds tax from a payment of interest must file an information return with the Secretary. Under the Senate amendment, original issue discount is generally treated as paid at the time includible in income. In the case of original issue discount on a bearer obligation issued before January 1, 1983, and original issue discount which is not includible in the income of a holder periodically (including discount on short-term government obligations), the original issue discount is treated as paid on the earlier of redemption or maturity of the obligation.

Under the Senate amendment, interest subject to the information reporting requirement is defined to include interest on any obligation which is issued in registered form, or which is of a type offered to the public (other than any obligation with a maturity, at issue, of not more than 1 year which is held by a corporation); interest on bank deposits, and to the extent provided in regulations prescribed by the Secretary, any other interest (which is not specifically excluded from the definition of interest). These are generally the same categories of interest that are subject to reporting under present law except interest on all obligations in registered form or of a type offered to the public is subject to reporting rather than only interest on corporate obligations as under present law.

This provision is effective for amounts paid after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement clarifies the Senate amendment in several respects. First, the definition of interest for information reporting purposes is conformed with, and integrated into, the definition of interest for interest withholding purposes. This will simplify and conform the information reporting and withholding rules. Second, the Senate amendment is clarified by specifically providing that interest on U.S. savings obligations may (to the extent provided in regulations) be required to be reported by middlemen. Third, the definition of interest is amended to provide that interest on an obligation which is exempt from tax is not "interest" within the meaning of this provision regardless of when issued. In this connection, the conferees note that in determining whether an obligation is exempt from tax, middlemen such as financial institutions have no duty to inquire beyond the face of the obligation. Fourth, industrial loan associations are added to the list of exempt recipients for both interest reporting and withholding purposes.

As under existing law, interest on bearer obligations that is paid outside the United States by a United States person (e.g., a foreign branch of a U.S. bank) acting as a paying agent for a foreign corporate issuer (or for a U.S. corporate issuer whose interest payments are foreign-source) is exempt from the information reporting requirements, except to the extent otherwise provided by regulations. The conferees do not intend that the Secretary change his existing regulations to require reporting on such payments; however, as under present law applicable to information reporting, the Secretary continues to be empowered to require information reporting on such payments.

In contrast to present law, interest paid on bearer obligations to a United States person by a person acting as a nominee, paying agent, or other middleman is subject to the information reporting requirements if the payment is made within the United States, even if the issuer is a foreign corporation.

Finally, various technical and conforming changes are made.

b. Obligations required to be registered

Present law

Under present law, except for certain housing or energy bonds, the tax status of debt obligations is generally the same regardless of whether the obligation is issued in registered form or in bearer form.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, the issuance of most bearer obligations by the U.S. or its agencies or instrumentalities is prohibited and certain tax benefits are denied to issuers and holders of other bearer obligations. In additon, an excise tax is imposed on bearer obligations that were required to be issued in registered form. Certain exceptions to the registration requirements are provided.

If a registration-required obligation is not issued in registered form, no interest deduction is allowable to the issuer with respect to interest (including original issue discount) paid or accrued on the obligation. In addition, the earnings and profits of a corporation issuing a registration-required obligation in bearer form will not be reduced by the amount of any interest paid or accrued on the obligation. Moreover, interest on an unregistered registration-required obligation is not exempt from tax. The Senate amendment imposes an excise tax on the issuer of a "registration-required obligation" that is not issued in registered form, equal to one percent of the principal amount of the obligation multiplied by the number of years in the term of the obligation. An exception is provided from the issuer sanctions for certain issues of bonds not intended for distribution (or redistribution in connection with the original issue) to U.S. persons.

These new registration requirements, and the associated sanctions for issuance of registration-required obligations in bearer form, will apply to obligations issued after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment except that holder sanctions are imposed on U.S. persons who own bonds issued after 1982, and that were not subject to the excise tax, that should have been issued in registered form but were instead issued in bearer form. Specifically, these sanctions are the loss of capital gains treatment and the denial of loss deductions when such obligations are sold, exchanged or become worthless. The holder sanctions apply to bonds intended to be distributed outside the United States and which are excepted from the issuer sanctions, except to the extent such bonds are owned in registered form. Exceptions from the holder sanctions are provided for persons who promptly surrender bearer obligations for reissuance in registered form, for persons who hold certain bearer obligations in connection with their active conduct of a trade or business outside the United States, for securities dealers holding bearer bonds in inventory, and for persons complying with reporting requirements that may be promulgated by the Secretary, if certain conditions are satisfied in order to ensure that the bearer bonds will not be delivered to U.S. persons other than those qualifying under the exceptions.

The conference agreement also provides that the holder and issuer sanctions applicable to registration-required obligations issued in bearer form after 1982 do not apply to obligations issued in bearer form pursuant to warrants or convertible bonds issued before August 10, 1982, provided the obligations are issued under arrangements reasonably designed to ensure that they will be sold or resold only to foreign persons.

c. Returns of brokers

Present law

Under present law, every person doing business as a broker must make returns reporting on profits and losses of its customers when required under regulations issued by the Secretary. There are, currently, no regulations under this section.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment (1) permits the Secretary to require gross proceeds reporting, (2) requires brokers to furnish statements to their customers, and (3) clarifies the definition of broker to explicitly include persons such as dealers, barter exchanges, and other middlemen.

The bill also extends the definition of third-party recordkeepers (for administrative summons purposes) to include barter exchanges which are subject to the information reporting requirements imposed on brokers.

Generally, this provision will take effect on the day of enactment. Further, regulations must be issued under this provision within 6 months after the date of enactment; however, any such regulations may not apply to transactions occurring before January 1, 1983. The provision defining barter exchanges as third-party recordkeepers is effective for summonses served after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

d. Information reporting requirements for payments of remuneration for services and direct sales

Present law

Payments of remuneration

Generally, a person engaged in a trade or business must file an information return with respect to payments to another person aggregating $600 or more in the calendar year. This obligation applies to payments of wages, salaries, commissions, fees, other forms of compensation for services, and other fixed or determinable gains, profits, or income.

Direct sales

There is no reporting requirement under present law with respect to sales of consumer products for resale.

Penalties

For most types of information returns, the penalty for failure to file, or to provide statements to recipients, is $10 per failure, with a maximum aggregate penalty for each type of failure of $25,000 for any one calendar year.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Payments of remuneration

The Senate amendment adds a Code provision specifically dealing with payments of remuneration for services, effective for payments made after 1982.

Under this provision, a service-recipient (a person for whom services are performed) engaged in a trade or business who makes payments of remuneration for services performed must file an information return reporting such payments (and the name, address, and identification number of the recipient) if the remuneration paid to the person during the calendar year is $600 or more. Also, the service-recipient must furnish to the payee a statement setting forth the name, address, and identification number of the service-recipient, and the aggregate amount of payments made to the payee during the year.

General rule.—Unless electing the reporting rule described below, a direct seller is required to report gross purchases of consumer products for resale by any buyer purchasing $5,000 or more of such products in a calendar year (in addition to reporting commissions, etc., under the remuneration reporting requirements).

Elective requirement.—Instead of reporting gross purchases of products for resale, a direct seller may elect to report commissions and other remuneration aggregating $50 or more in the calendar year. If this election is made, the direct seller also must file a return identifying all buyers to whom aggregate sales of $600 or more are made during the calendar year.

Effective date.—The reporting requirements for direct sales apply to sales after December 31, 1983.

Penalties

Basic penalty.—A new penalty is imposed on a person who (1) fails to file a required return regarding payments for services or regarding direct sales, (2) fails to furnish a statement to the person named on the return, or (3) fails to include the entire amount required to be included on any return or statement.

The penalty is one percent for each month while the failure continues (but not to exceed five percent) of the amount required to be included on the return or statement but not so included. For failures with respect to direct sales reporting, the penalty is one-fifth of one percent per month, but not to exceed one percent of the amount not included.

Double penalty.—The penalty is doubled if failure to comply with the reporting requirements is due to intentional or reckless disregard of the law.

Minimum penalty.—The minimum penalty is $50 per failure.

Statute of limitations exception.—The Internal Revenue Service generally is prohibited from assessing this new penalty unless it is assessed, or a proceeding to collect it has begun, within six years after the last date for filing the return or statement.

Effective date.—The penalty generally applies to payments after December 31, 1982. Penalties imposed on direct sellers apply to sales made after December 31, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, except for deletion of the new penalty provisions and modification of the direct sales reporting requirements. Direct sellers will be required only to file information returns identifying all buyers to whom aggregate sales of $5,000 or more are made during the calendar year. No elective reporting rules are provided. The reporting requirements for direct sales will apply to sales after December 31, 1982. Penalties for failure to report remuneration paid to independent contractors or information concerning direct sales are subject to the general penalties for failure to report information. Until new regulations are issued under section 6041A, the existing regulatory exceptions under section 6041 will continue to apply. Moreover, the conferees believe that businesses should be given an adequate period of time to comply with any new requirements in such regulations.

e. Reporting of State and local income tax refunds

Present law

Under present law, the refund, credit or offset of State or local income taxes that were deducted (with a resulting tax benefit) in a prior year is includible in a taxpayer's gross income. There is no requirement that information returns with respect to such refunds be filed with the United States or that a statement regarding the refund be furnished to the recipient.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The amendment provides that an information return must be filed with the Secretary with respect to any State or local income tax refunds, credits, or offsets aggregating $10 or more paid or credited to an individual during the calendar year. In addition, a statement must be furnished to the recipient before the close of January of the calendar year following the year of refund, credit or offset.

This new requirement will apply to refunds paid, and credits or offsets allowed, after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except that the information statements must be furnished to the individual recipients during January of the year following the year of refund, credit or offset (instead of at any time before the close of January).

f. Increased penalties for failure to file information returns and statements

Present law

Present law imposes a penalty on any person who fails to file timely information returns relating to various forms of compensation, interest, and dividends. The penalty is $10 for each such failure, but the total amount of the penalties imposed for all such failures during a calendar year cannot exceed $25,000. Persons with respect to whom information returns are filed generally are entitled to a statement of the information shown on the return. The penalty for failure to provide these statements is also $10 per failure up to $25,000 per year. Employers and plan administrators must file information returns with respect to certain deferred compensation plans. The penalty for failure to provide these returns is $10 for each day the failure continues up to $5,000. The penalty is not imposed if the failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The category of information returns subject to the general penalty for failure to timely file information returns is expanded to include broker returns and direct seller returns. The bill also increases the penalty for failure to file most information returns to $50 per failure, not to exceed $50,000 in any calendar year. When the failure to file information returns is due to intentional desregard of the filing requirements, the penalty will not be less than 10 percent of the aggregate amount of the amounts not properly reported (5 percent in the case of returns to be filed by brokers and $100 in the case of direct sellers) and the $50,000 limitation will not apply.

The provision applies to returns the due date of which (without extensions) is after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except that (1) the penalty for failure to file information returns or statements with respect to certain deferred compensation plans (sec. 6058), and certain term, annuity and bond purchase plans (sec. 6047) is increased to $25 per day during which the failure continues, but not more than $15,000, and (2) the penalty for failure to provide information statements to taxpayers (sec. 6678) is increased from $10 per statement to $50 per statement up to $50,000 per calendar year (from $25,000). These amendments are effective for returns and statements, the due date of which (without regard to extensions) after December 31, 1982.

The conference agreement also makes certain technical and conforming amendments.

g. Increase in civil penalty on failure to supply identifying numbers

Present law

Present law imposes a penalty of $5 per failure on any person who is required by regulations (1) to include his taxpayer identification number (TIN) in any return, statement or document, (2) to furnish his TIN to another person, or (3) to include in any return or statement made with respect to another person the TIN of such other person, and who fails to comply with such requirement at the time prescribed. The penalty is not imposed if the failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The penalty for failure to supply identifying numbers is increased from $5 per failure to $50 per failure, but not to exceed $50,000 for all such failures in any calendar year. In addition, the bill provides that if any failure to include the TIN of another person in any return or statement made with respect to that other person is due to the intentional disregard of the requirements to include such other person's TIN in the return, the penalty will be $100 per failure and the $50,000 limitation will not apply.

The provision will be effective for returns the due date of which (without extensions) is after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except that (1) the penalty for failure to include the taxpayer's own TIN in any return, statement, or document is not increased, but is kept at $5 for each such failure (instead of $50) and (2) there is no additional penalty for intentional disregard of the requirement to include another person's TIN in a return.

h. Extension of withholding to certain payments where identifying number not furnished or inaccurate

Present law

Present law imposes a penalty of $5 per failure on any person who is required by regulations (1) to include his taxpayer identification number (TIN) in any return, statement, or document, (2) to furnish his TIN to another person, or (3) to include in any return or statement made with respect to another person the TIN of such other person, and who fails to comply with such requirement at the time prescribed. The penalty is not imposed if the failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Withholding at source at a tax rate of 15 percent would be required if a taxpayer fails to supply a TIN or supplies an incorrect TIN to another person who must file certain types of information returns with respect to payments to the taxpayer. If a taxpayer fails to supply a TIN to the payor of a backup withholding payment or supplies an obviously incorrect number, then the withholding obligation rules would apply immediately. Otherwise, a 7-day grace period would apply during which the payor would not be liable if it failed to withhold, or withholds where he had an obligation to do so. The types of payments subject to this withholding requirement (back-up withholding payments) generally would include the types of payments subject to the information reporting requirements. This withholding generally would not apply to payments made to the United States or any agency or instrumentality thereof, to any State or political subdivision thereof, to any tax-exempt organization, or to any foreign government or international organization.

Except in the case of payments of compensation, etc. for which information reporting is required under section 6041 (relating to information at the source generally) or section 6041A (relating to payments to independent contractors), this requirement for withholding would apply without regard to the reporting thresholds provided for the information returns.

Generally, payment of amounts subject to this new withholding provision would be treated as wages paid by an employer to an employee and subject to the various provisions applying to collection of income tax at the source on wages.

This provision would apply to payments made after December 31, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except for four modifications. First, the 7-day grace period is expanded to 15 days. Second, the definition of "backup withholding payment" is clarified by defining such payment as any payment of a kind "and, to a payee" subject to information reporting. This change will assure that amounts paid to persons exempt from the information reporting requirements (and who are, therefore, also persons generally not liable to supply a TIN) are not subject to the backup withholding requirement. Third, the definition of "obviously incorrect number" is amended to apply only to numbers that contain an incorrect number of digits. Finally, the list of persons to whom backup withholding cannot apply is clarified. Thus, no backup withholding is required as to any organization exempt from taxation under section 501(a); an individual retirement plan; the United States or a State; a foreign government or international organization; a foreign central bank of issue; or to any other persons described in regulations issued by the Secretary.

i. Minimum penalty for extended failure to file

Present law

Under present law, if a taxpayer fails to file a tax return on the date prescribed therefor (including extensions) and if there is an underpayment of the tax required to be shown on such return, then he is subject to a penalty of 5 percent of the underpayment per month (or fraction thereof) while the failure continues, but not more than 25 percent. Thus, no civil penalty is imposed on the taxpayer if there is no underpayment for the year or if a refund is due. In addition, no penalty is imposed if the failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

A new minimum penalty for the extended failure to file an income tax return would be imposed. If an income tax return were not filed within 60 days of the date prescribed therefor (with extensions), the penalty for failure to file would be not less than $100 even if no tax were owed. This minimum penalty would not be imposed if the failure to file the return were due to reasonable cause. The penalty would apply to returns due after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with the modification that the minimum penalty could not be imposed unless there was an underpayment of tax, and could not exceed the lesser of the underpayment or $100.

j. Forms of returns

Present law

In general, returns required by the tax law must be made according to the forms and regulations prescribed by the Secretary. There is no statutory or regulatory requirement that returns be filed on magnetic tape or in other machine-readable form.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Secretary would be required to prescribe regulations providing standards for determining which returns must be filed on magnetic media or in other machine-readable form. In providing these standards, the Secretary would be directed to take into account, among all other relevant factors, the ability to the taxpayer to comply, at a reasonable cost, with such a filing requirement. In no event could the Secretary require returns of the tax imposed under subtitle A (i.e., the income tax) by individuals, estates, and trusts, to be other than on paper forms.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

k. Penalty for promoting abusive tax shelters, etc.

Present law

Present law contains no penalty provision specifically directed toward promoters of abusive tax shelters and other abusive tax avoidance schemes.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

A new civil penalty would be imposed on persons who organize or sell any interest in a partnership or other entity or investment, when, in connection with such organization or sale, the person makes or furnishes either (1) a statement, which the person knows is false or fraudulent as to any material matter with respect to the availability of any tax benefit said to be available by reason of participating in the investment, or (2) a gross valuation overstatement as to a matter material to the entity which is more than 400 percent of the correct value.

The penalty for promoting an abusive tax shelter is an assessable penalty equal to the greater of $1,000 or 10 percent of the gross income derived, or to be derived, from the activity.

The Secretary is given authority to waive all or part of any penalty resulting from a gross valuation overstatement upon a showing that there was a reasonable basis for the valuation and the valuation was made in good faith. This penalty is in addition to all other penalties provided for by law.

This section will take effect on the day after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except that, (1) when a person makes or furnishes, in connection with the organization or sale of an interest in any entity or investment, a statement with respect to the availability of a tax benefit with respect to the investment, he will be liable for the penalty if he knew or had reason to know the statement was false or fraudulent as to any material matter. The addition of "has reason to know," clarifies that the Secretary may rely on objective evidence of the knowledge of a promoter or salesperson (for example) to prove that he deliberately furnished a false or fraudulent statement. For example, a salesman would ordinarily be deemed to have knowledge of the facts revealed in the sales materials which are furnished to him by the promoter. The "reason to know standard" is not, however, intended by the conferees to be used to impute knowledge to a person beyond the level of comprehension requird by his role in the transaction. Thus, this standard does not carry with it a duty of inquiry concerning the transaction.

Secondly, the term "gross valuation overstatement" is redefined to be a statement of the value of property or services which exceeds 200 percent of the correct value (instead of 400 percent).

l. Action to enjoin promoters of abusive tax shelters, etc.

Present law

Present law provides that a civil action may be brought by the United States to enjoin any person who is an income tax return preparer who engages in certain proscribed acts. Venue for such an action lies in the district in which the income tax return preparer resides or has his principal place or residence, or the taxpayer with respect to whose income tax return the action is brought resides.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment would permit the United States to seek injunctive relief against any person engaging in conduct subject to the penalty for organizing or selling abusive tax shelters (sec. 331 of the bill and new Code sec. 6700). Venue for these actions generally would be the district in which the promoter resides, has his principal place of business, or has engaged in the conduct subject to penalty under section 6700.

The amendment would take effect on the day after the day of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

m. Procedural rules applicable to penalties under sections 6700, 6701, and 6702

Present law

Under present law, the burden of prooof is on the Secretary in any proceeding in which the issue is whether an income tax return preparer has willfully attempted to understate the liability for tax of any person. Similarly, the burden of proof is generally on the Secretary to prove fraud. Under present law, the deficiency procedures generally apply to the collection of additions to tax, additional amounts, and nonassessable penalties.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment would provide for district court review of the Secretary's assessment and notice and demand of (1) the abusive tax shelters promoter penalty, (2) the civil aiding and abetting penalty, and (3) the frivolous return penalty, before the full amount of such penalties could be collected if certain procedural requirements are met.

In any proceeding involving the issue of whether any taxpayer is liable for such penalties, the burden would be on the Secretary.

The provision would take effect on the day after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

n. Penalty for substantial understatement

Present law

Under present law, penalties may be imposed on the failure to pay certain taxes shown on a return or required to be shown on a return, unless such failure is due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect. If the failure is due to negligence or fraud, additional penalties may apply.

Under present law, if a taxpayer makes a substantial property valuation overstatement which results in an underpayment of tax, then a penalty measured as a percentage of the underpayment resulting from the valuation overstatement generally is imposed without regard to fault.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

A penalty of 10 percent would be imposed on any substantial understatement of income tax. For this purpose, an understatement would be the excess of the amount of income tax imposed on the taxpayer for the taxable year, over the amount of tax shown on the return. A substantial understatement of income tax would exist if the understatement for the taxable year exceeded the greater of 10 percent of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year, and $5,000 ($10,000 for corporations other than subchapter S corporations and personal holding companies).

The amount of the understatement would be reduced by the portion of the understatement that is attributable to (1) the treatment of any item for which the taxpayer believed there was substantial authority, or (2) any item for which there was adequate disclosure of the relevant facts on the return. In the case of a tax shelter, the reduction would apply to the portion which the taxpayer believed was more likely than not to be the correct treatment.

A tax shelter would be defined as a transaction for which evasion or avoidance of income tax is the principal purpose.

The Secretary could waive all or a part of the penalty on a showing by the taxpayer that there was a reasonable basis for the understatement and the taxpayer acted in good faith.

The penalty would be effective with respect to returns which have a due date after 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment except that the application of the exceptions to the substantial understatement penalty is clarified. Under the bill, there are exceptions to the penalty based on (1) the merits of the taxpayer's filing, (2) disclosure by the taxpayer of relevant facts, or (3) waiver by the Secretary.

In a case of an item other than a tax shelter item, a taxpayer may avoid application of the substantial understatement penalty with respect to any item if (1) the treatment of the item on the return is or was supported by substantial authority or (2) all of the facts relevant to the tax treatment of the item were disclosed on the return or a statement attached to the return. Whether the taxpayer's filing position is or was supported by substantial authority will depend on the circumstances of the particular case. It will be necessary to weigh court opinions, Treasury regulations and official administrative pronouncements (such as revenue rulings and revenue procedures) that involve the same or similar circumstances and are otherwise pertinent, as well as the Congressional intent reflected in the committee reports, to determine whether the position is supported by present law and may be taken with the good faith expectation that it reflects the proper treatment of the item. The conferees did not adopt an absolute standard that a taxpayer may take a position on a return only if, in fact, the position reflects the correct treatment of the item because, in some circumstances, tax advisors may be unable to reach so definitive a conclusion. Rather, the conferees adopted a more flexible standard under which the courts may assure that taxpayers who take highly aggressive filing positions are penalized while those who endeavor in good faith to fairly self-assess are not penalized.

The standard of substantial authority was adopted, in part, because it is a new standard. The conferees are unaware of any judicial or administrative decision interpreting the phrase "substantial authority." Thus, the courts will be free to look at the purpose of this new provision in determining whether substantial authority existed for a position taken in any particular case. The conferees believe such a standard should be less stringent than a "more likely than not" standard and more stringent than a "reasonable basis" standard. Thus, it is anticipated that this new standard will require that a taxpayer have stronger support for a position than a mere "reasonable basis" (a "reasonable basis" being one that is arguable, but fairly unlikely to prevail in court upon a complete review of the relevant facts and authorities). Rather, when the relevant facts and authorities are analyzed with respect to the taxpayer's case, the weight of the authorities that support the taxpayer's position should be substantial when compared with those supporting other positions. In determining whether a position is supported by substantial authority, the courts will not be bound by the conclusions reached in law review articles, opinion letters, or private ruling on determination letters and technical advice memoranda of the Internal Revenue Service issued to or concerning a third party, but will instead examine the authorities that underlie such expressions of opinion.

The substantial understatement penalty in non-tax shelter cases also may be avoided with respect to any item if the relevent facts affecting the item's tax treatment are adequately disclosed in the return or in a statement attached to the return. Under generally applicable regulatory authority, the Commissioner may prescribe the form of such disclosure.

With respect to tax shelter items, the penalty may be avoided only if the taxpayer establishes that, in addition to having substantial authority for his position, he reasonably believed that the treatment claimed was more likely than not the proper treatment of the item. For this purpose, a tax shelter item is one that arises from a partnership or other entity, plan or arrangement the principal purpose of which is the avoidance or evasion of Federal income tax. The conferees believe that if the principal purpose of a transaction is the reduction of tax, it is not unreasonable to hold participants to a higher standard than ordinary taxpayers.

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment in permitting the Secretary to waive the penalty with respect to any item if the taxpayer establishes reasonable cause for his treatment of the item and that he acted in good faith.

Finally, the coordination with the substantial property overvaluation penalty provision is modified so that this penalty applies only to that portion of the substantial understatement attributable to items on which the overvaluation penalty under section 6659 is not imposed.

o. Penalty for aiding and abetting the understatement of tax liability

Present law

Present law provides a criminal penalty for willfully aiding in the preparation or presentation of a false or fraudulent return, or other document under the internal revenue laws. The penalty is a fine of up to $5,000 or 3 years imprisonment, or both, together with costs. There is no comparable civil penalty on persons who aid in the preparation of false or fraudulent documents. Income tax return preparers who willfully attempt to understate the liability for tax of any person are subject to a penalty of $500 per return.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment would provide for a new civil penalty on any person who aids in the preparation or presentation of any portion of a return or other document under the internal revenue laws which the person knows will be used in connection with any material matter arising under the tax laws, and which the person knows will (if used) result in any understatement of the tax liability of another person.

This penalty would be $1,000 for each return or other document ($5,000 in the case of returns and documents relating to the tax of a corporation).

In general, under the Senate amendment, this penalty would be in addition to all other penalties provided by law. However, if the return preparer penalties for negligence or intentional disregard of rules or regulations, or for willful attempt to understate the tax liability of any person, could apply with respect to any document, this new penalty would not apply with respect to such document.

This provision would be effective on the day after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with two modifications. First, the amount of the penalty with respect to documents relating to corporate tax liability is increased to $10,000 (from $5,000). Second the coordination between this penalty and the return preparer penalty is altered by allowing the Internal Revenue Service to choose which penalty it will assert if both may apply to a particular set of facts. Thus, this penalty will not apply if a return preparer penalty is actually assessed with respect to a document otherwise subject to this penalty.

p. Fraud penalty

Present law

Under present law, if any portion of an underpayment of tax is due to fraud, a civil penalty is imposed (as an addition to tax) equal to 50 percent of the entire underpayment. If part of an underpayment is attributable to negligence or intentional disregard of rules and regulations, the penalty under present law is equal to 5 percent of the entire underpayment plus 50 percent of interest payable on the portion of the underpayment attributable to negligence or disregard of rules and regulations for the period beginning on the last date prescribed for payment of the tax and ending on the date of assessment of the tax.

In the case of the windfall profit tax, both the negligence and the fraud penalty may apply to the same underpayment.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement conforms the civil fraud penalty to the negligence penalty by providing that in addition to the 50 percent fraud penalty on the entire underpayment, there is a penalty equal to 50 percent of the interest payable on the portion of the underpayment attributable to fraud for the period beginning on the last date prescribed for payment of the tax (without regard to any extension), and ending on the earlier of the date of assessment or the date of payment of the tax. Under the conference agreement, the negligence penalty does not apply in any case in which the fraud penalty has been assessed.

Finally, the conference agreement provides that when a joint return is filed, the interest addition does not apply with respect to the spouse's tax unless some part of the underpayment was due to the spouse's fraud.

The amendment applies to taxes the last day for payment of which (without regard to any extension) is after the date of enactment.

q. Frivolous returns

Present law

Under present law, a taxpayer who files a protest return, is subject to a penalty only if he or she also underpays his or her tax. Thus, if a taxpayer has paid at least the correct amount of tax through estimated tax or wage withholding, there is no penalty for filing a protest return.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The amendment would provide for an immediately assessable penalty of $500 on any individual who files a frivolous return. The penalty would apply only on documents purporting to be returns that are patently improper and not in cases involving valid disputes with the Secretary, or in cases involving purely inadvertent mathematical or clerical errors.

The deficiency procedures, under which the taxpayer would receive advance notice before the assessment, would not apply to this penalty. There would be, however, a provision allowing district court review of the assessment on payment of 15 percent of the amount assessed and the filing of a claim for refund of the amount paid.

This penalty would apply to documents filed after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, except that the exclusion for inadvertent mathematical or clerical errors is deleted as unnecessary.

r. Criminal fines

Present law

(1) Under present law, any person and willfully attempts to evade or defeat any tax or the payment thereof is guilty of a felony and, if convicted, may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not less than 5 years, or both.

(2) Any person who is required to pay any tax or estimated tax or keep records or report information and willfully fails to do so is guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or both.

(3) Any person who willfully files a false declaration under penalty of perjury, aids or assists in the preparation of a false or fraudulent document; falsely executes any document under the internal revenue laws; conceals goods, etc., to evade or defeat any tax; or does certain other acts, is guilty of a felony and upon conviction may be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned for not more than 3 years, or both.

(4) Any person who willfully delivers any false or fraudulent document to the Secretary, or does certain other acts, is guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for one year, or both.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference adopted certain increases in the maximum amount of fines under the above provisions as recommended by the Department of Justice. In many cases, the maximum fine amounts had not been increased for many years and, due to inflation, no longer represented the same deterrent as was originally intended. Thus, in (1) above, the maximum penalty is increased from $10,000 to $100,000 ($500,000 for corporations); the maximum penalty amount in (2) above is increased from $10,000 to $25,000 ($100,000 for corporations); the maximum fine in (3) above is increased from $5,000 to $100,000 ($500,000 for corporations); and the maximum fines in (4) above are increased from $1,000 to $10,000 ($50,000 for corporations). The Conferees intend that, as under present law, these increased fines should continue to be treated as supplements to, and not substitutes for, imprisonment.

These increases are effective with respect to offenses committed after the date of enactment.

s. Adjustments to estimated tax provision

Present law

Under present law, an individual required to pay estimated taxes is subject to a penalty for underpayment of such taxes if he fails to pay at least 80 percent of the total amount of each installment when due. The penalty does not apply, however, if the taxpayer pays at least, (1) the tax shown on the preceding year's return (if such return was for a taxable year of 12 months); (2) pays 80 percent of the tax due by placing his income on an annualized basis; (3) pays an amount equal to 90 percent of the tax due using current year's tax rates applied to the actual income prior to the month in which the installment is paid; or (4) pays an amount equal to the tax computed using current year's rates applied to the facts and law applicable to the preceding year's return. A criminal penalty may also apply. There are no expressed exceptions to the criminal penalty.

In addition to paying estimated taxes when required, individuals are required to file declarations of estimated taxes. There is, however, no penalty for failure to file a declaration.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, any individual or corporation that fails to make any estimated tax payment would not be subject to the criminal penalty for such failure if the civil penalty for such failure is not applicable because an exception to the civil penalty applies.

The provision would be effective on the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. In addition, the conference agreement provides that no civil estimated tax penalty may be imposed on an individual if the individual had no tax liability for the preceding taxable year, such taxable year was a taxable year of 12 months, and the individual was a U.S. citizen or resident for the entire year.

The requirement for filing a declaration of estimated tax is terminated after 1982. Other provisions of law will, however, continue to function as if such declaration were filed. In addition, the requirement of present law that a taxpayer must pay 100 percent of each installment when due is modified to require payment only of an amount computed by taking into account the penalty provisions.

These provisions are effective for taxable years beginning after 1982.

t. Special rules with respect to certain cash

Present law

Overview

In the usual case, the Secretary may not assess and may not make notice and demand for payment of any tax unless he follows certain procedures designed to allow the taxpayer to first contest the existence and amount of the alleged deficiency. These procedures include written notice of deficiency followed by a 90-day period (150 days in the case of notices to persons outside the United States) during which the taxpayer may petition the Tax Court for review of the Secretary's determination. No assessment may be made until after this 90-day period has expired or until after a decision of the Tax Court is final. This deficiency procedure need not be followed when the Secretary reasonably believes that collection of an alleged deficiency will be jeopardized by delay. In such a case, the Secretary may declare jeopardy and immediately assess the tax, or may (in an appropriate case) terminate the taxpayer's taxable year and assess the tax due for that taxable period. The jeopardy and termination assessment procedures permit immediate assessment of an alleged tax deficiency without a preassessment notice of deficiency.

Both the jeopardy and termination assessment procedures require the Secretary to determine that there is a deficiency in tax and that the collection of this deficiency is in jeopardy. These procedures are not, therefore, well suited to cases in which the Secretary has reason to believe that a tax is owing with respect to an amount of property (for example, cash), but cannot determine the proper owner of such property.

Jeopardy assessment

If the district director believes that the assessment and collection of a deficiency in income, estate, gift or certain excise taxes will be jeopardized by delay, he may assess such deficiency and demand its immediate payment together with any interest, additional amounts and additions to tax provided for by law. The Secretary may reasonably believe that a collection of a tax is in jeopardy where, for example, the taxpayer designs to quickly depart from the United States or to conceal himself, to quickly place his property beyond the reach of the United States, or the taxpayer's financial solvency is imperiled. If after assessment, notice, and demand the taxpayer fails to pay the assessed amount, the Secretary may immediately enforce collection, subject to the right (described below) of the taxpayer to stay the enforcement proceedings by posting a bond.

Collection of the amount assessed, or any portion thereof, may be stayed by the taxpayer by filing a bond with the Secretary equal to the amount with respect to which the stay is desired. In such a case the bond must be conditioned upon the payment of the amount finally determined to be owing when due. Generally, if assessment is made and property seized for collection of the assessed amount, the property may not be sold until after the taxpayer has an opportunity for District Court review of the reasonableness of the assessment and the amount thereof, and (if applicable) the date on which a Tax Court decision is final.

Termination assessment

When the Secretary finds that the collection of income tax for the current or immediately preceding taxable year is in jeopardy because the taxpayer designs quickly to depart from the United States or to remove his property therefrom, or to conceal himself or his property, or to do any other act tending to prejudice proceedings to collect such tax, he may immediately terminate such taxable year, and assess and demand any deficiency he reasonably believes owing with respect to the taxable period terminated. A termination assessment is appropriate with respect to the income tax for the current taxable year or the preceding taxable year, but not after the due date (with extensions) of the return for the preceding taxable year. In all other situations, the jeopardy assessment provisions apply and the termination provision does not.

In the case of the current taxable year, which is terminated under the termination provision, the portion of the current taxable year starting on the first day of the current taxable year and ending on the determination date, is treated as a separate taxable year. The taxpayer's tax for the period (less any prior termination assessments) is then computed and assessed and notice and demand therefore made. Any tax collected is treated as a payment of tax for the applicable taxable year.

Judicial review of assessment

In both the jeopardy and termination assessment cases, the taxpayer is entitled to an expedited review by the Secretary, through the district director, of whether the determination of jeopardy was reasonable under the circumstances and whether the amount assessed and demanded was appropriate under the circumstances.

After review by the district director the taxpayer is also entitled to a review by the appropriate United States District Court. In the District Court, the Secretary has the burden of proving that the determination of jeopardy was reasonable under the circumstances, while the taxpayer has the burden of proof with respect to the amount assessed. This review procedure is directed only at the reasonableness of the jeopardy assessment and the amount assessed. The District Court's opinion is nonappealable, and is not a determination of the actual existence or amount of any deficiency due from the taxpayer.

In making their respective determinations, the district director and District Court may both refer to information which became available after the assessment is made.

The taxpayer is also entitled to a separate review by the District Court or Tax Court of the actual existence of any tax deficiency on which the jeopardy assessment was based.

To facilitate this review, the Commissioner must mail a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer within 60 days of the later of the due date of the taxpayer's return for the taxable year in which or for which the termination assessment was made (with extensions), or the date the taxpayer files such return. While the Secretary may terminate a taxable year more than once, he need not send out the notice of deficiency until after the close of the taxable year.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement adds a new provision designed to expedite jeopardy or termination assessments in cases when there is no known owner of large amounts of cash.

The current termination and jeopardy procedures are designed to address the case in which the Secretary reasonably believes, from all the circumstances, that a deficiency in tax is owing from a particular taxpayer and that the collection of such deficiency is in jeopardy. It is unclear under present law whether the jeopardy and termination procedures are available to the Secretary when cash or its equivalent cannot be associated with any particular person and the Secretary cannot, therefore, determine a deficiency in tax or its amount for an identifiable person.

The bill provides that the Secretary can presume that the collection of an amount of income tax is in jeopardy, where an individual in physical possession of more than $10,000 of cash or its equivalent denies ownership of the cash and does not claim that such cash belongs to another person the identity of whom is readily ascertainable by the Secretary (and who acknowledges ownership). In such a case, the Secretary may presume, for purposes of the jeopardy or termination assessment provisions (1) that such cash represents gross income to a single individual for the taxable year of possession taxable at 50 percent rate, and (2) that the collection of the tax on such cash would be jeopardized by delay. The Internal Revenue Service cannot assess on the same cash twice.

Notice with respect to the assessment is given to, and the right to contest the assessment is vested in, the person found in possession of the cash. However, the true owner can come forward and challenge the assessment and will be retroactively substituted for the possessor for all purposes (including establishing lien priorities) as of the date of the original assessment. In addition, the true owner will continue to have the same rights as exist under present law to recover his cash.

The terms "cash" and "cash equivalent" include cash, foreign currency, any bearer obligation and any other medium of exchange which is a type used frequently in illegal activities and specified as a cash equivalent by the Secretary in regulations. In the usual case, a cash equivalent will be valued at its fair market value, except that a bearer obligation will be deemed to have a value equal to its face amount.

This provision is effective the day after the date of enactment.

u. Special procedures for third-party summonses and third-party recordkeepers

Present law

Under present law, if an administrative summons is served on a third-party recordkeeper, then notice of the summons must also be given to the person whose records have been summoned (i.e., the taxpayer). The taxpayer can stay compliance with a third-party summons by notifying the recordkeeper in writing not to comply with the summons. To enforce the summons, the Secretary must then seek an order of a United States District Court compelling compliance.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the amendment, a taxpayer whose records are summoned and who wishes to prevent compliance with the summons by the recordkeeper, would be required to begin a civil action in court to quash the summons not later than the 20th day after the day notice of the summons is given. No examination of the summoned records would be allowed before the close of the 23rd day after notice were given, or, if the proceeding to quash were begun, until the court so orders. As under current law, the ultimate burden of persuasion with respect to his right to enforce the summons would remain on the Secretary.

The bill would require third-party recordkeepers to proceed to assemble summoned records upon receipt of the summons and to be prepared to produce the records on the date specified for their examination. Such recordkeepers would be entitled to reimbursement for their costs under section 7610 regardless of whether the summons is enforced.

The provisions would apply with respect to summonses initially served after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with the clarification that when a proceeding to quash the summons is begun, the Secretary may also examine the summoned records if the taxpayer whose records are summoned consents.

v. Limitation on use of administrative summonses

Present law

Under present law, the Secretary may issue summonses for the purpose of determining liability for taxes due under the internal revenue laws unless the Internal Revenue Service has institutionally abandoned its civil tax case.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the amendment, the Secretary could not issue any summons or commence any action to enforce a summons if a Justice Department referral were in effect with respect to the person whose tax liability is in issue. The amendment would provide that the purposes for which an administrative summons may be issued include the right to inquire into any offense connected with the administration or enforcement of the Internal Revenue laws.

This provision would be effective the day after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

w. Withholding on pensions, annuities, and certain deferred income

Present law

Under present law, income tax generally is not required to be withheld on pension or annuity payments. However, a recipient may elect to have tax withheld on annuity payments.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that payors generally will be required to withhold tax from all designated distributions (the taxable part of payments made from or under a pension, profit-sharing, stock bonus, or annuity plan, a deferred compensation plan where the payments are not otherwise considered wages, an IRA, or a commercial annuity contract (whether or not the contract was purchased under an employer's plan for employees)). A partial surrender of an annuity contract and certain loans from employee plans and IRAs will also be considered a distribution subject to withholding. The withholding rate is determined by the nature of the distribution. Tax will be withheld on periodic payments in excess of $5,400, under the wage withholding tables. Tax on certain total distributions will be withheld under a schedule designed to reflect the special tax treatment accorded to lump sum distributions, and tax on other non-periodic distributions will be withheld at a flat 10-percent rate. Withholding will be required with respect to payments made after December 31, 1982, unless the recipient elects not to have tax withheld.

In general, a recipient may elect (for any reason) not to have tax withheld, except that a recipient of a total distribution may elect out only to the extent that the distribution is rolled over to another eligible retirement plan. An election is generally effective for the distribution for which the election is made, except that an election with respect to periodic payments is generally effective for a calendar year. Thus, an election not to have tax withheld from periodic payments must be renewed annually.

In addition, the amendment generally requires that payors notify recipients of the withholding rules and their rights to elect out. With respect to periodic payments, notice must be provided (1) no earlier than 6 months and not later than 2 months before making the first payment, and (2) annually, within the third quarter of the calendar year. With respect to other payments, notice must be provided no later than the time of distribution.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment except that (1) a recipient may elect (for any reason) not to have tax withheld from any distribution (including total distributions which are not rolled over to another eligible retirement plan); (2) an election with respect to a periodic payment is effective until revoked, although a payor would still be required to provide annual notice of a participant's right to make, renew, or revoke an election, and (3) a payor of a periodic payment is required to provide initial notice of a recipient's right to make, renew, or revoke an election no earlier than six months before and no later than the date of the first payment. It is expected that the notice will also advise recipients that penalties may be incurred under the estimated tax payment rules if the payments of estimated tax are not adequate and sufficient tax is not withheld from any designated distributions.

As under the Senate amendment, tax would generally be withheld on periodic payments pursuant to the recipient's withholding certificate. For example, a married recipient whose spouse is not a wage earner would not be subject to tax on periodic distributions payable at an annual rate of up to $7,400 if both the wage earner and his spouse were at least age 65 and a withholding certificate were filed. If no certificate is filed, the amount withheld will be determined by treating the payee as a married individual claiming three withholding exemptions. Thus, in effect, there would be no withholding on pensions payable at an annual rate of $5,400 or less.

Annuity payments and other distributions under the Civil Service Retirement System are subject to the income tax withholding rules. The conferees intend that the cost of administering the withholding rules will be borne by the Civil Service Retirement System.

The conferees recognize the difficulty some payors may have in immediately complying with the new withholding requirements for annuity payments. Accordingly, the civil and criminal penalties for failure to withhold tax will not apply to any failure before July 1, 1983, if the payor made a good faith effort to withhold, and actually withholds from any subsequent 1983 payments sufficient amounts to satisfy the pre-July 1983 requirements. No relief is provided for any failure to timely pay over any amounts that are in fact withheld. Also, the Secretary is authorized, on a case-by-case basis, to exempt payors from any obligation to withhold with respect to pre-July 1983 payments if the payor has attempted to comply in good faith, has a plan to assure its ability to comply by July 1, 1983, and cannot comply on January 1, 1983, without undue hardship. If such a waiver of the withholding obligations is granted, the payor will not be required to make up the withholding obligation out of post-June 1983 payments.

x. Pension reporting requirements

Present law

Under present law, distributions under a tax-qualified plan or annuity contract are required to be reported only if the amount includible in income totals $600 or more for the calendar year. Distributions from an IRA are required to be reported without regard to the amount of the distributions. Penalties generally apply to any person failing to file a required report.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides for reporting of necessary information by employers and plan administrators of plans from which designated distributions can be made and issuers of insurance or annuity contracts from which designated distributions can be made. The form and manner of reporting will be determined under forms or regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. These reports are to be made to the Secretary, to the participants and beneficiaries, and to such other persons as the Secretary may prescribe. As under present law, penalties apply to any person failing to file any required report.

The provision is effective for calendar years beginning after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment. In addition, the conference agreement makes it clear that an exchange of insurance contracts under which any designated distribution may be made (including a section 1035 tax-free exchange) is intended to be a reportable event even though no designated distribution occurs in the particular transaction. Thus, to insure proper reporting of any designated distributions under the new contract, it is anticipated that, under regulations to be issued by the Secretary, the issuer of the contract to be exchanged will be required to provide information to the policyholder, the issuer of the new contract, and such other persons as the Secretary may require.

y. Pension recordkeeping requirements

Present law

Under present law, no separate penalty is imposed for failure to maintain a data base sufficient to provide required reports.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment imposes a new penalty if the data base needed for reports is not maintained whether or not reports are due for the period during which the recordkeeping failure occurs. No penalty is imposed for a failure to meet the recordkeeping rules when the failure is due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect. Also, no penalty is imposed for a recordkeeping failure that is due to a prior failure with respect to which the penalty has already been imposed, or which occurred before 1983, if all reasonable efforts have been made to correct the prior failure. The recordkeeping penalties are effective on January 1, 1985.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

z. Partial rollovers of IRAs

Present law

Under present law, distributions from qualified pension, etc., plans and IRAs are eligible for tax-free rollover treatment. However, inconsistent rules apply. For example, distributions from an IRA are eligible for tax-free rollover treatment only if the entire amount of the distribution is rolled over to another eligible retirement plan, while distributions from qualified plans are eligible for tax-free rollover treatment to the extent of any amount so transferred.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, distributions from IRAs are eligible for tax-free rollover treatment to the extent that the distribution is rolled over to another eligible retirement plan. The provision applies to IRA distributions made after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

aa. Foreign investment in U.S. real property

Present law

Under legislation enacted in December of 1980, foreign investors in certain U.S. real property interests are taxable by the U.S. on the gain realized when they dispose of the interest. The provisions are enforced through complex information reporting. The legislation overrides certain nonrecognition provisions of the Code to insure U.S. taxation of the gain.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Taxation of foreign investors on disposition of U.S. real property interests would be enforced through withholding. Purchasers of U.S. real property interests from foreign owners, and certain of their agents, would be required to withhold a portion of the purchase price. Protections against liability are provided so that withholding would apply only if the purchaser or his agent had actual knowledge or had received formal notice that the seller was foreign. Agents for the transferor would have to withhold if they had knowledge, reason to believe, or notice, and failed to notify the transferee. Withholding would not apply to a purchaser buying a principal residence for $200,000 or less, or to sale of stock on an established U.S. market. The Secretary could reduce or eliminate withholding on request in certain other cases. The Secretary is authorized to remove current reporting obligations that are not needed because of withholding.

The provision would impose withholding for amounts paid on or after 30 days after enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

bb. Returns with respect to foreign personal holding companies

Present law

Certain information returns are required of officers, directors, and 50-percent U.S. shareholders of companies that are FPHC's at year's end. Some return requirements overlap. Moreover, staggered filing dates may cause repetitive paperwork. There is no civil penalty for failure to file.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Commissioner would be given flexibility in setting due dates and waiving duplicate filings for foreign personal holding company reports and returns. The amendment also makes changes in reporting requirements.

A $1,000 civil penalty for failure to file a proper return would be imposed.

The provision would apply to taxable years of foreign corporations beginning after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

cc. Penalty for failure to furnish information returns with respect to certain foreign corporations; reporting requirement for corporations controlled by foreign persons

Present law

When a taxpayer fails to furnish adequate information about a foreign corporation he controls, he is subject to a penalty reducing the relevant foreign tax credit by 10 percent. Additional penalties of five percent of the credit accrue quarterly on continuing failure. There is no specific statutory reporting requirement for a U.S. corporation (or a foreign corporation operating in the United States) that is controlled by a foreign person and that enters into transactions with related parties.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment supplements the existing penalty by adding an alternative flat penalty of $1,000 per tax year for which failure exists. Ninety days after notification of failure, additional $1,000 penalties accrue every 30 days, up to a $24,000 maximum. Amounts paid under the flat $1,000 penalty reduce amounts due under the existing penalty reducing the foreign tax credit. This provision applies to annual accounting periods ending after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, but adds a new reporting requirement for certain foreign-controlled corporations. In general, these requirements apply both to U.S. corporations and to foreign corporations engaged in trade or business in the United States ("reporting corporations"), but only if they are controlled by a foreign person (defined to include certain possessions residents). This control test requires reporting if at any time during a taxable year a foreign person owns 50 percent or more of the stock of the reporting corporation (either by value or by voting power).

The reporting corporation must furnish certain information about any corporation that (1) is a member of the same "controlled group" as the reporting corporation (a group that generally includes brother-sister corporations as well as the reporting corporation's parent and subsidiaries), and that (2) has any transaction with the reporting corporation during the taxable year. The information that the reporting company is to report is such information as the Secretary may require that relates to the related company's name, its principal place of business, the nature of its business, the country in which it is organized and in which it is resident, its relationship with the reporting corporation, and its transactions with the reporting corporation during the year.

The conference agreement imposes penalties for violation of this new reporting requirement that are similar to the Senate amendment's new supplemental penalties for failure to supply information under the existing reporting requirement (relating to controlled foreign corporations). Reasonable cause, as shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary, precludes imposition of this penalty.

This new reporting requirement applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

dd. Access to records and persons not found in the United States

Present law

Documents held abroad.—The Code specifically confers jurisdiction to enforce an administrative summons only when a U.S. citizen or resident resides or is found in a U.S. judicial district. There is generally no procedure to require timely production of documents held abroad. The Commissioner may issue summonses to examine any books, papers, records, or other data that may be relevant or material to a tax inquiry. To enforce an administrative summons, the Commissioner must show that (1) the investigation will be conducted pursuant to a legitimate purpose, (2) the inquiry may be relevant to that purpose, (3) the information sought is not already within his possession, and (4) the administrative steps required by the Code have been followed. To the extent that a summons is overbroad it is invalid, because to that extent, the inquiry is irrelevant to a legitimate purpose. In addition, the Secretary must at all times use the summons authority in good faith.

Treaty benefits.—The Internal Revenue Code generally imposes a 30 percent tax on the gross amount of certain passive income which arises from U.S. sources and is paid to foreign persons. The 30 percent tax on such gross amounts is collected by withholding at the source. The person required to withhold the tax (the "withholding agent") may be the actual payor of the income or certain agents of the payor, such as banks or other financial intermediaries, which have control over, or custody of, such income.

Tax treaties between the United States and other countries commonly provide, on a reciprocal basis, for reduced rates or elimination of U.S. tax on various categories of passive income paid to residents of such other countries. Generally, under current regulations, a foreign recipient of U.S. source passive income may obtain a reduction or elimination of U.S. tax on such income under an applicable treaty if the recipient provides the payor or other person having control of such income with a completed Internal Revenue Service Form 1001. The Form 1001 identifies the owner of the income, states the character of the income, and contains a statement that the recipient qualifies for the relevant treaty benefits. Regulations prescribe a different method, the "address method," for obtaining reduced rates of withholding tax for U.S. source dividends paid to foreign persons which is different from the Form 1001 procedure that applies to other types of passive income. Under the address method, a recipient of U.S. source dividends who has an address in a country with which the United States has a tax treaty will, with limited exceptions, be presumed to be a resident of such country for purposes of obtaining reduced rates of tax on dividends under the treaty. The pertinent regulations provide that the withholding agent may withhold on dividends at the reduced treaty rates in reliance upon the foreign address of the recipient unless the agent has knowledge that the recipient is not a resident of the country under whose treaty the reduced rates are claimed.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment extends the jurisdiction and the summons power of the United States District Court of the District of Columbia to reach U.S. citizens and residents not present in the United States.

Conference agreement

Documents held abroad.—The Conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, but adds certain provisions. The agreement adds a formal document request procedure that is intended to discourage taxpayers from delaying or refusing disclosure of certain foreign based information to the Internal Revenue Service.

The Conference agreement provides that if a taxpayer fails to "substantially comply" with a "formal document request" arising out of the tax treatment of any item, upon motion of the Secretary, any court having jurisdiction over a civil proceeding in which the tax treatment of the examined item is at issue shall prohibit the introduction into evidence by the taxpayer of any "foreign-based documentation" covered by such request, unless such documentation was provided to the Secretary within 90 days, or a later date to be set by the Secretary, of the mailing of the request.

Whether a taxpayer has substantially complied with a formal document request will depend on all the facts and circumstances. For instance, if the Internal Revenue Service presents a taxpayer with a formal document request for 10 items and the taxpayer produces 9 of them but fails (without reasonable cause) to produce the one requested document that appears to a court to be the most significant item, a court may decide that there has not been substantial compliance and exclude all of the items. However, when the Service issues multiple requests in the course of an audit, and when, for example, the taxpayer fails to comply with one particular request for only one document, the taxpayer's timely satisfaction of other requests is one factor (but not the only factor) to be considered in determining whether his overall compliance has been substantial. If overall compliance in such a situation has been substantial, the document requested but not supplied could be admissible.

The term "foreign-based documentation" means any documentation which is outside the United States and which may be relevant or material to the tax treatment of an examined item. It includes documents held by a foreign entity whether or not controlled by the taxpayer. The term "documentation" includes, but is not limited to, books and records.

The term "formal document request" means any request (made in the course of an audit and after the normal request procedures have failed to produce the requested documentation) for the production of foreign-based documentation which is mailed by registered or certified mail to the taxpayer at his last known address and which sets forth the time and place for the production of the documentation, a statement of the reason the documentation previously produced (if any) is not sufficient, a description of the documentation being sought, and the consequences to the taxpayer of the failure to produce the documentation. The normal request procedures that a formal document request must follow include an information document request. The conferees do not intend that the formal document request procedure will be used as the routine beginning of an examination. The conferees intend that the Commissioner establish procedures for administrative review of proposed formal document requests before issuance. The Service can require in its request that foreign documents be translated into English.

The sanction of nonadmissibility does not arise if the taxpayer establishes that the failure to provide the documentation as requested by the Secretary is due to reasonable cause. In determining whether there was reasonable cause for failure to produce, a court may take into account whether the request is reasonable in scope, whether the requested documents or copies thereof are available within the United States, and the reasonableness of the requested place of production within the United States.

The fact that a foreign jurisdiction would impose a civil or criminal penalty on the taxpayer (or any other person) for disclosing the requested documentation is not reasonable cause. Frequently, taxpayers choose to operate through a particular country because of its restrictive nondisclosure laws. Even so, the amendment's preclusion of the use of foreign nondisclosure law as a defense is narrow in scope. The only effect of the preclusion is that the taxpayer cannot introduce at trial records that he allegedly could not earlier produce on audit.

The conferees recognize that minority status can prevent a taxpayer from being able to produce certain records held by a foreign entity. However, the conferees also recognize that taxpayers may seek to hide behind minority status to avoid production of records. Accordingly, a determination of whether minority status is reasonable cause will be determined by the facts and circumstances of the case.

Reasonable cause may excuse delay in production. For example, a requirement of translation of documents into English may not be reasonably possible in 90 days.

The conference agreement provides for judicial review of a formal document request at the time served. Any person to whom a formal document request is mailed has the right to begin a proceeding to quash that request not later than the 90th day after the day such request was mailed. In this proceeding, the taxpayer may contend, for example, that all or part of the documentation requested is not relevant to the tax issue, that the place of requested production within the United States is unreasonable, that the requested documents or copies thereof are available within the United States, or that there is reasonable cause for failure to produce or delay in production.

The reasonableness of a demand for the production of the originals of foreign documents rather than copies may be resolved in judicial proceedings to quash the request. If the foreign country makes it impossible to remove the original documents requested, not because of secrecy laws but, for example, because of foreign tax laws or laws as to the rights of creditors, true copies may be sufficient.

In any proceeding to quash, the Secretary may seek to compel compliance with the request. Jurisdiction over a proceeding to quash is retained in the United States District Court for the district in which the person to whom the formal document request is mailed resides or is found. If that person resides and is found outside the United States, the United States District Court for the District of Columbia has jurisdiction.

In a proceeding to quash, as under the current rules for administrative summonses, the Commissioner has the burden of showing relevance and materiality of the requested records. In addition, the Commissioner must show that the investigation will be conducted pursuant to a legitimate purpose, that the information sought is not already within his possession, and that the administrative steps required by the Code have been followed. During the proceeding, the running of the 90-day period for compliance with a formal document request is suspended. If the district court rules against the taxpayer, the taxpayer may appeal the court's order immediately.

The taxpayer generally has 90 days from the day of mailing to comply with a formal document request. However, the Secretary or a court having jurisdiction over a motion to quash the request may extend the period. The court may extend the period in response to a motion to quash or in response to a motion to extend the period that is not part of a motion to quash. For example, a court could find that a taxpayer had reasonable cause for failure to produce an item within 90 days and set a later date for production.

Treaty benefits.—In addition, the conference agreement would require the Secretary to establish procedures to limit treaty benefits to those persons who are justifiably entitled to such benefits. The problem is particularly acute because of the large number of income tax treaties with low tax bank secrecy jurisdictions. Congress has repeatedly shown its concern about the vulnerability of the treaty system to manipulation. In June of this year, the Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer, and Monetary Affairs of the House Government Operations Committee held a hearing on the use of foreign addresses by U.S. individuals to evade tax by posing as non-resident aliens. The Subcommittee on Oversight of the House Committee on Ways and Means held hearings in April 1980 about abuses of income tax treaties and in April 1979 about the abuse of offshore tax havens. These hearings have demonstrated that substantial amounts of passive income, which would be tax-free in the hands of foreigners, finds its way into the hands of U.S. persons and residents of nontreaty countries who should be paying tax on it. They have also shown concern about the use of treaties by those not justifiably entitled to their benefits (so-called "treaty shopping").

The Internal Revenue Service and Treasury believe that the current procedures are insufficient for insuring that U.S. persons do not pose as foreigners entitled to tax treaty benefits and that foreigners do not take advantage of treaties of countries of which they are not resident. The conferees share the concerns regarding the improper obtaining of treaty benefits and agree that the current procedures are insufficient. The address system of withholding of tax on U.S. source dividends is particularly vulnerable to abuse. The Form 1001 filing procedure which applies to income other than dividends is similarly subject to abuse in that it requires a person claiming treaty benefits only to submit an unverified, self-serving statement to a withholding agent, who is entitled to rely on such statement for purposes of reducing the amount of tax withheld.

A number of alternatives to the present enforcement system exist, including the adoption of a refund system of withholding tax on passive income. A refund system would require withholding agents to withhold U.S. tax at the statutory 30 percent rate on all U.S. source passive income paid to foreign persons, regardless of the potential application of a treaty provision reducing the 30 percent rate or eliminating the tax altogether. The foreign recipient who claims treaty benefits would then be required to file a claim for a refund on an annual tax return. Supportive documentation would be required.

Another approach, the "certification system," would require the foreign recipient to file a certificate of residence from the competent authority of the country whose treaty benefits are being sought.

The conference agreement requires the Secretary to consider the refund system and the certification system as methods of limiting treaty benefits to those persons entitled to them. The Secretary is not limited to consideration of these methods; he should consider other methods as well. In developing such procedures to prevent abuse the Secretary should consider the extent to which any procedures would prevent abuse, the administrability of such procedures (including the ability of U.S. treaty partners to provide cooperation), any negative effect on investment in the U.S. by foreign persons which could be caused by increased costs of complying with the procedures, and the effect on U.S. investment abroad should U.S. treaty partners apply a similar method to that utilized by the United States.

The provisions would require the Secretary to establish procedures, as described above, within two years of the date of enactment.

ee. Authority to delay date for filing certain returns relating to foreign corporations and trusts

Present Law

Acquisition of a 5-percent interest (or an additional 5-percent interest) in a foreign corporation or the creation of or transfer of property to a foreign trust causes a U.S. person to have to file an information return. Beginning service as an officer or director of a foreign corporation creates a similar requirement. The returns are due 90 days after the triggering events.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Commissioner would be given flexibility to delay the date for reporting of certain transactions relating to foreign corporations and foreign trusts beyond the current due date.

The provision would apply to returns filed after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

ff. Technical amendment to section 905(c)

Present law

The last sentence of section 905(c) appears to provide that interest on a U.S. tax underpayment triggered by a refund of foreign taxes begins to run before receipt of the refund. Other Code provisions begin the running of interest on receipt of the refund and provide a penalty for failure to report a refund.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The last sentence of section 905(c) would be eliminated. This provision would be effective for all years.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

gg. Daily compounding of interest

Present law

Under present law, interest payable to or by the United States under the internal revenue laws is not compounded.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

All interest payable under the internal revenue laws would be compounded daily. The change would also affect any other amounts computed by reference to the interest rate provided for in the Code.

This compounding requirement would apply to interest accruing after December 31, 1982, on amounts (including interest) remaining unpaid after that date.

Conference agreement

The Conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except that daily compounding is not required for purposes of the penalties on failure to pay estimated taxes. In a case in which the principal portion of an obligation is satisfied, and interest remains outstanding, such interest will, of course, be compounded.

hh. Semi-annual determination of rate of interest

Present law

Under present law, the rate of interest paid on underpayments, overpayments, and for certain other purposes under the internal revenue laws is determined once a year based on September's average predominant prime rate.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the amendment, interest rates would be redetermined twice a year on the basis of the average adjusted prime rate charged by commercial banks during the six-month period ending September 30 (effective January 1 of the succeeding calendar year), and March 31 (effective July 1 of the same calendar year).

The amendment would be effective for adjustments taking effect after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

ii. Restrictions on payment of interest for certain periods

Present law

In general, under present law, interest on refunds, credits, and offsets runs from the date of overpayment or (in the case of a credit) to the due date of the amount against which the credit is taken. An overpayment resulting from a net operating loss carryback, net capital loss carryback, or credit carryback is treated as having occurred at the close of the year in which the carryback arose.

In the case of an underpayment of tax, interest runs from the last date prescribed for payment of the tax without regard to extensions, to the date the tax is paid. If there is an underpayment of tax for any taxable year, and the amount of the underpayment is reduced by reason of the carryback of a net operating loss, net capital loss, or because of the increase in any credit for the taxable year because of a credit carryback from another taxable year, such reduction is not effective for any period prior to the last day of the taxable year in which the net operating loss, the net capital loss, or credit carryback arises.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, the general rule with respect to the payment of interest on overpayments is unchanged when the credit or refund is claimed in a timely filed return. However, when the return is late because it is filed after the due date (determined with regard to extensions) no interest is payable on the overpayment for any period prior to the date on which the return is filed. For this purpose, and for purposes of determining whether a refund has been made within 45 days after the return is filed, no return is treated as filed until filed in processible form.

Under the Senate amendment, an overpayment due to a net operating loss or a net capital loss carryback, or a credit carryback is deemed not to arise before the application for tentative carryback adjustment is made, or the claim for credit or refund is filed with respect to such overpayment.

Conference agreement

Due to considerations relating to the treatment of offsets (for example, in audit situations) the conferees decided to revise the provisions of the Senate amendment dealing with restrictions on payments of interest on certain refunds. Under the agreement an overpayment resulting from a net operating loss carryback, a net capital loss carryback, or credit carryback would be treated as having occurred on the due date (without extensions) of the return for the year in which the carryback arose. In the case of a refund, the return for the loss year would be treated as not filed prior to the time the claim for refund therefor is filed. Under the conference agreement, no interest would be paid on a refund claimed on a late return if the refund is made within 90 days after the return is filed.

Conforming amendments would be made in the rules relating to interest on underpayments.

Under the bill, for purposes of the payment of interest on overpayments, a return would not be treated as filed until it is filed in processible form.

The provisions regarding late returns and processible returns would be effective for returns filed after the 30th day after the date of enactment. The provision regarding interest overpayments due to carrybacks would be applicable to interest accruing 30 days after enactment.

jj. Disallowing deductions for drug dealing

Present law

Ordinary and necessary trade or business expenses are generally deductible in computing taxable income. The Code makes certain otherwise ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in a trade or business nondeductible in computing taxable income. These nondeductible expenses include fines, illegal bribes and kickbacks, and certain other illegal payments.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

All deductions and credits for amounts paid or incurred in the illegal trafficking in drugs listed in the Controlled Substances Act would be disallowed.

This provision would be effective for amounts paid or incurred after the date of enactment in taxable years ending after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

kk. Internal Revenue Service staff increases

Present law

Public Law 97-92 enables the Internal Revenue Service to maintain an average of 85,363 positions during fiscal year 1982. The Administration's budget request for fiscal year 1983 includes a net increase in Internal Revenue Service manpower of 3,310 average positions.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment contains a sense of the Congress resolution that additional funds be appropriated to the Internal Revenue Service pursuant to the Administration's request for fiscal year 1983 and that additional funds be provided in future years for the Internal Revenue Service sufficient to collect additional tax revenues of at least $1 billion in fiscal year 1984 and $2 billion in fiscal year 1985.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

ll. Reports on forms

Present law

No provision.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Secretary is required to study and report to Congress, no later than June 30, 1983, on methods of modifying the design of the forms used by the Internal Revenue Service to achieve greater accuracy in the reporting of income and the matching of information reports and returns with the actual income tax returns.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

3. Tax treatment of partnership items

Present law

For income tax purposes, partnerships are not taxable entities. Instead, a partnership is a conduit, in which the items of partnership income, deduction, and credit are allocated among the partners for inclusion in their respective income tax returns.

Partnerships are required to file an annual information return setting forth the partnership income, deductions, and credits, names and addresses of the partners, each partner's distributive share of these items, and certain other information required by the regulations. A penalty is imposed on the partnership for each month (not to exceed 5 months), that a partnership return is late or incomplete. The amount of penalty for each month is $50 multiplied by the total number of partners in the partnership during the partnership's taxable year.

Since a partnership is a conduit rather than a taxable entity, adjustments in tax liability may not be made at the partnership level. Rather, adjustments are made to each partner's income tax return at the time that return is audited. A settlement agreed to by one partner with the Internal Revenue Service is not binding on any other partner or on the Service in dealing with other partners. Similarly, a judicial determination of an issue relating to a partnership item generally is conclusive only as to those partners who are parties to the proceeding.

The Code provides a period of limitations during which the IRS can assess a tax or a taxpayer may file a claim for refund. Generally, the period is 3 years from the date the tax return is filed (if filed before the due date, the due date is treated as the date filed). If more than 25 percent of the gross income is omitted from a return, the statutory period for assessment is 6 years. In the case of a partnership, the income tax return of each of the partners begins that individual partner's period of limitations. Except in the case of Federally registered partnerships, the date of filing of the partnership return does not affect the individual partner's period of limitations. In order to extend the period of limitations with respect to partnership items, the IRS is required to obtain a consent for extension of the statute of limitations from each of the partners—not the partnership. Generally, an agreement to extend the period of limitations relates to all items on the return of the partner who consented to the extension.

The application of the partnership return filing requirement to certain foreign based partnerships with U.S. partners is unclear. There is no express requirement that a U.S. person report the acquisition or disposition of an interest in a foreign partnership.

Windfall profit tax.—Under present law, taxable crude oil which would otherwise be treated as produced by a partnership, is allocated among the partners of the partnership according to their income interest. Each partner to whom crude oil is allocated under this rule is treated as the producer of such crude oil. Since each partner is treated as the producer of an allocable share of the partnership's production of crude oil, the partnership must report sufficient details to permit their partners to compute their allocable share of the windfall profit tax on partnership's crude oil production. In addition, each partner generally will certify his status to the partnership when such status is relevant to any special tax treatment, such as lower rates for independent producers or an exemption based upon the identity of the producer, so that first purchasers can compute the proper withholding of windfall profit taxes.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment contains a number of provisions designed to promote increased compliance and more efficient administration of the tax laws.

Conference agreement

a. In general

Under the conference agreement, the tax treatment of items of partnership income, loss, deductions, and credits will be determined at the partnership level in a unified partnership proceeding rather than in separate proceedings with the partners.

Except as otherwise provided in subchapter C of Chapter 63 as added by the conference agreement, the tax treatment of any partnership item is to be determined at the partnership level. New rules are adopted which govern the determination of the treatment of partnership items and resulting adjustments, both at the administrative and judicial levels.

b. Administrative proceedings

Consistency requirement

Under the conference agreement, each partner is required to treat partnership items on his return consistently with the treatment on the partnership return. Where treatment is, or may be, inconsistent (or no partnership return is filed), the consistency requirement is waived if a statement is filed by the partner identifying the inconsistency. Similarly, the consistency requirement may be waived at the partner's election if the partner establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the return treatment of an item was consistent with an incorrect schedule furnished the partner by the partnership.

Failure to satisfy the consistency requirement, if not waived, will result in an adjustment to conform the treatment of the item by the partner with its treatment on the partnership return. Any additional tax resulting from such computational adjustment will be assessed without either the commencement of a partnership proceeding or notification to the partner that the inconsistent item will be treated as a nonpartnership item.

Notice requirements

Each partner whose name and address is furnished to the Secretary will receive notice of the commencement of a partnership level audit as well as notice of the final partnership administrative adjustment (FPAA), provided sufficient information is furnished to the Secretary (at least 30 days before any such notice is mailed to the tax matters partner) to enable the Secretary to determine that the partner is entitled to the notice. An exception to the notice requirement is made for anyone with a less than one-percent interest in the profits of a partnership with more than 100 partners. However, a group having an interest in the aggregate of 5 percent or more in partnership profits may designate a member of the group as a notice partner to receive notice on behalf of the group. Otherwise, the notice furnished the tax matters partner (TMP) is treated as notice to these small partners.

In providing notices, the Secretary may use the names, addresses, and profits interests shown on the partnership return or may use other information furnished by the TMP or other person pursuant to regulations.

The TMP is the general partner so designated pursuant to regulations or, in the absence of such designation, the partner with the largest profits interest in the partnership at the end of the year involved (in the event there are several partners so qualifying, the one whose name would appear first in an alphabetical listing is selected). Otherwise, the TMP will be selected by the Secretary. Since the identity of the TMP may not be known to the Secretary, mailing of any notice in care of the tax matters partner at the address where the partnership business is carried on will constitute mailing of the notice for purposes of determining whether other requirements imposed on the Secretary are complied with or whether any action, such as mailing notices to other partners, is timely taken.

If the information furnished the Secretary is sufficient, the names, addresses, and profits interests of persons with profits interests in the partnership through one or more pass-through partners will be used with respect to such profits interests in lieu of the names, addresses, and profits interests of the pass-through partners.

Notice partners are entitled to have notice of the partnership proceeding mailed to them at least 120 days before the notice of the FPAA is mailed to the TMP and to have the notice of the FPAA mailed to them not later than 60 days after such notice is mailed to the TMP. Notice partners for this purpose include partners with a less than one-percent interest in profits (in partnerships with over 100 partners), and the notice requirement as to such partners is satisfied by notice to the TMP, or if such partner is a member of a 5-percent or greater group, by notice to the designated member of such group.

Late notification

If, when notice of the proceeding is mailed to any partner, the period within which to commence a judicial proceeding to redetermine the FPAA has expired without commencement of such a proceeding, or if any court decision has became final, the partner may elect to have such determination, such court decision, or a settlement agreement entered into with another partner with respect to the same partnership year apply. If the partner does not so elect, all partnership items will be treated as nonpartnership items in determining his liability. If administrative or judicial proceedings have not terminated but the notice of the proceeding is untimely, the partner will be a party to the proceedings unless he elects to have the terms of a settlement with any other partner applied to him or to have all partnership items treated as nonpartnership items.

Other notice requirements

Only one notice of FPAA may be mailed to a partner for any one year of a partnership in the absence of fraud, malfeasance, or a misrepresentation of a material fact.

To the extent provided in regulations, the TMP will be required to keep partners informed of all administrative and judicial proceedings. Notices received by pass-through partners must be forwarded within 30 days to persons holding an interest in partnership profits or losses through the pass-through partner. The responsibility for forwarding such notices is on the TMP of any pass-through partner which is itself a partnership. It is intended that no obligation will be imposed on the TMP with respect to partners wishing to be informed about routine or minor events.

All partners have a right to participate in the partnership proceeding but may waive such rights and any restrictions, such as a restriction on assessment, on the Secretary. The place and time of meetings and other events involving the Internal Revenue Service will be determined by Service representatives and the TMP.

Settlements

Settlement agreements in the absence of fraud, are binding on the Secretary and partners participating in the settlement, except as the settlement may otherwise provide. Indirect partners, unless properly identified as required by the statute, will be bound by settlements entered into by the pass-through partner. The Secretary must offer to any partner who so requests settlement terms that are consistent with the settlement with any other partner. Except where notice to a partner of the proceeding was not timely, a request for such settlement terms must be made, with respect to any settlement entered into before mailing a notice of FPAA to the TMP, before the expiration of 150 days after such mailing.

The TMP may enter into a settlement on behalf of, and binding upon, less than one-percent profits partners, in partnerships with over 100 partners, who are not members of a notice group. However, any such partner may file a statement within the time prescribed by the Secretary providing that the TMP does not have authority to settle on behalf of such partner. No partner other than the TMP (and other than a pass-through partner with respect to indirect partners) may bind any other partner with respect to a settlement agreement.

Assessment of tax

Any deficiency resulting from an administrative determination generally may not be assessed until 150 days after mailing the notice of FPAA to the TMP, or if within the 150-day period a Tax Court proceeding is commenced, until the decision in such proceeding has become final. Any action to assess or collect the tax in violation of this restriction may be enjoined in the proper court.

If a timely court proceeding is not commenced, the deficiency assessed against any partner with respect to partnership items affected by a FPAA may not exceed the amount determined in accordance with such adjustment.

c. Judicial review of FPAA

Commencement of action

The TMP, within 90 days after the mailing of the notice of FPAA, may file a petition for readjustment of partnership items in the Tax Court, the district court of the United States for the district in which the partnership's principal place of business is located, or the Claims Court. During such 90-day period, no other partner may file a petition for judicial review.

If the TMP does not file a petition, any notice partner or 5-percent group with an interest in the outcome may within 60 days following such 90-day period, file a petition with any of the courts in which the TMP may file a petition. Only one proceeding may go forward. The first action filed in the Tax Courts will establish jurisdiction or, if no petition is filed with the Tax Court, the first action filed in either of the other courts will go forward. Other actions will be dismissed. The TMP may intervene in an action brought by another partner.

Right to participate

Each partner with an interest in the outcome shall be treated as a party to the action and will be allowed by the court to participate in the action. A partner does not have an interest in the outcome after partnership items as to such partner become nonpartnership items (under sec. 6231(b)), or the period for assessment with respect to partnership items of such partner has expired.

Deposit requirement where action in district court or Claims Court

As a condition to filing a petition in either the appropriate district court or the Claims Court, the partner filing the petition (including each member of a 5-percent group which files a petition) must deposit with the Secretary the amount by which such partner's tax liability would be increased if treatment of partnership items on the partner's return were made consistent with the partnership return as adjusted by the FPAA. The court may by order determine that this jurisdictional requirement is satisfied if a good faith effort to comply was made and any shortfall in the amount required to be deposited is timely corrected.

The amount required to be deposited will be refunded upon request of the depositing partner if jurisdiction to proceed is established in the Tax Court. "However, if, upon expiration of the 150 day filing period, no Tax Court petition is filed, the Secretary may assess any deficiency of the depositing partner resulting from the FPAA and apply such deficiency against the deposited amount. Likewise, the Secretary may assess and collect any deficiencies of other partners resulting for the FPAA if jurisdiction is established in the District Court or Claims Court pending a decision on the merits."

Any amount required to be deposited shall, while deposited, be treated as a payment of tax only for purposes of Chapter 67, relating to interest.

Scope of judicial review

The court acquiring jurisdiction of a partnership proceeding shall have jurisdiction to determine all partnership items of the partnership taxable year to which the FPAA relates and the proper allocation of such items among the partners. The court's decision has the effect of a final decision of the Tax Court or a final judgment or decree and will be reviewable if review is sought by the TMP, a notice partner, or a 5-percent group.

Dismissal of an action other than a dismissal for lack of jurisdiction, shall be considered a decision that the FPAA is correct.

d. Request for administrative adjustment

General rule

A partner may file a request for administrative adjustment (RAA) of partnership items for a partnership taxable year within 3 years after the partnership return was filed (or, if later, the last day for filing such return, determined without extension) and before the mailing of a notice of FPAA to the TMP for such taxable year.

Request by TMP on behalf of the partnership

An RAA, filed by the TMP, may serve as an amended return correcting the treatment of items on the original partnership return, in which case the Secretary may treat the changes made as corrections of clerical or mathematical errors on the original return.

In other cases, an RAA generally serves as a claim for refund. In such cases, when the RAA is filed by the TMP, the Secretary may (i) make all refunds and credits to all partners resulting from the requested adjustments provided the adjusted items continue to be partnership items with respect to any partner, or (ii) commence a partnership proceeding.

The RAA filed by the TMP must show the effect of the requested adjustments on the distributive shares of the partners and other information as required by regulations.

Other requests

Each partner may file an RAA on his own behalf. In such case, the Secretary may (i) process the request in the same manner as a claim for refund relating to nonpartnership items, (ii) assess any tax resulting from the requested adjustments, (iii) notify the partner that all items to which the request relates will be treated as nonpartnership items, or (iv) commence a partnership proceeding.

Judicial review by TMP on behalf of the partnership

The TMP may file a petition for review in the Tax Court, the appropriate district court, or the Claims Court after the expiration of 6 months from the date of filing the RAA and within 2 years of such filing, with respect to any part of the requested adjustment not allowed. Such a petition may not be filed after a notice of the commencement of a partnership proceeding is mailed to the partnership. If, when such notice is mailed, the 2-year period within which a petition could have been filed has not expired and the Secretary fails to mail timely notice of a FPAA, the TMP shall have 6 months after the expiration of the period in section 6229(a) within which to file a petition. The TMP and the Secretary may agree to extend the 2-year period for filing a petition.

In any event, no petition for review with respect to an RAA may be filed after a timely notice of FPAA has been mailed by the Secretary. If the petition has been filed when a timely notice of FPAA is mailed, the proceeding will be treated as a proceeding with respect to the FPAA, except that no deposit will be required to establish jurisdiction in the appropriate district court or the Claims Court.

Other partners are to be treated as parties to any action brought by the TMP with respect to unallowed adjustments requested in an RAA under rules similar to those applicable when a petition is filed to review a FPAA.

Judicial review of an RAA filed by the TMP is limited to unallowed items to which the request relates and items with respect to which the Secretary asserts an offset to requested adjustments. The court's decision has the same effect as, and is reviewable in the same manner as, a court decision reviewing a FPAA.

Suits by individual partners

With respect to other RAAs filed by partners, if the Secretary notifies a partner that the items to which a timely request relates are to be treated as nonpartnership items, the request will be considered as a claim for refund and the partner may bring an action under section 7422 within 2 years after mailing of such notice.

Otherwise, if any part of the RAA is not allowed, the partner may, after 6 months and before 2 years from the date the request was filed, commence a suit for refund under section 7422 and the disallowed items to which the request related will be treated as nonpartnership items.

The 2-year period for filing suit may be extended by agreement between the partner and the Secretary.

An action based on unallowed items in an RAA may not be commenced after the Secretary mails notice of the commencement of a partnership proceeding to the partnership. If the 2-year period for filing suit has not expired when such notice is mailed, the rules applicable to a suit by the TMP are also applicable to other partners in the event there is no timely FPAA.

e. Statute of limitations on assessments

General rules

The period for assessment with respect to partnership items (or affected items) for any partnership taxable year shall not expire before 3 years from the date of filing the partnership return or, if later, the last date prescribed for filing such return determined without extensions. The period may be extended by agreement with any partner or, for all partners, by agreement with the TMP (or other person authorized in writing by the partnership). The agreement must be entered into before the expiration of the period to be extended. An agreement under section 6501(c)(4) (relating to agreements to extend the period for assessment) will apply to partnership items only if it expressly so provides.

Assessments may be made at any time against partners signing or actively participating in a fraudulent return. Against other partners affected by such return, the period for assessment is extended from 3 to 6 years.

The period of assessment is 6 rather than 3 years in any case where there is an omission from gross income of an amount properly includible which exceeds 25 percent of the amount of the gross income stated in the return.

Assessments may be made at any time where no partnership return is filed. For this purpose, a return filed by the Secretary on behalf of the partnership under section 6020(b) shall not be treated as a return filed by the partnership.

Suspension of limitations

The period for assessment is suspended upon mailing of a notice of FPAA until the expiration of the period during which a petition for judicial review may be filed by any partner (or, if an action is brought during such period, until the decision of the court has become final) and for one year thereafter.

Unidentified partners, inconsistency

Where a partner was not properly identified on the partnership return and a timely notice of FPAA was mailed to the TMP, or a partner's treatment of partnership items on his return did not comply with the consistency requirement in section 6222 and the inconsistency was not identified as required by that section, the assessment period will not expire until one year after the name, address, and taxpayer identification number of such partner are furnished to the Secretary.

Items becoming nonpartnership items

Where, before the expiration of the period for assessment, an item becomes a nonpartnership item by reason of an event described in section 6231(b), the period of assessment of any tax attributable to such item (or an affected item) shall not expire until one year after the date on which the item becomes a nonpartnership item.

f. Computational adjustments

Computational adjustments, generally

The procedure applicable to assessment of a deficiency will not apply to computational adjustments. Computational adjustments are changes in tax liability of a partner properly reflecting the treatment, under the rules adopted in the bill, of partnership items. The term includes all adjustments necessary to apply the results of a partnership proceeding to an indirect partner.

Adjustments necessary to correct mathematical or clerical errors (as defined in sec. 6213(g)(2)) appearing on the partnership return may be made without a partnership proceeding and opportunity for judicial review, except as to any partner who requests that such correction not be made within 60 days after notice of the correction is mailed to such partner.

Claim by partner

A claim may be filed on the ground that there was an erroneous computation of the adjustment necessary (i) to make the partnership items on the partner's return consistent with the treatment of such items on the partnership return, or (ii) to apply to the partner a settlement, a FPAA, or a final court decision relating to the treatment of partnership items. A claim may also be based on a failure to allow a refund or credit in the proper amount. A claim based on an alleged erroneous computation must be filed within 6 months after the date of mailing the notice of computational adjustment to the partner. A claim based on a failure to allow a credit or make a refund in the proper amount must be filed within 2 years after, as appropriate, (i) the date the settlement was entered into, (ii) the date on which the period for bringing an action to review a FPAA expires, or (iii) the date a court decision becomes final.

Right to file suit

To the extent a claim based on failure to properly apply computational adjustments to the partner is not allowed, suit may be filed within the period prescribed in section 6532(a). In any claim or suit involving the application of computational adjustments to the partner, the treatment of partnership items on the partnership return, under the settlement, under the FPAA, or under the court decision (as appropriate) shall be conclusive.

g. Limitations applicable to credits and refunds

Generally, the period of limitations prescribed for assessment with respect to partnership items will also apply to allowance of any credit or refund with respect to partnership items.

Credit or refund based on a timely filed RAA may be made at any time before the expiration of the period for filing suit with respect to such request.

Credit or refund based on a claim with respect to the application to the partner of a computational adjustment may be made before the expiration of the period specified in section 6532 for bringing suit on such claim.

The limitation on the period for making a credit or refund to a partner will not apply if a timely suit is brought by the partner based on an RAA or an unallowed claim with respect to a computational adjustment.

Credits or refunds attributable to partnership items, to the extent practicable, will be made without requiring that the partner file a claim.

The limitations generally applicable to the allowance of credits or refunds (subchapter B of Chapter 66) will not apply to credits or refunds of overpayments attributable to partnership items.

h. Certain other rules

When a notice of the commencement of a partnership proceeding is mailed to the TMP with respect to a partnership taxable year, the TMP is to furnish to the Secretary the names, addresses, and taxpayer identification numbers of each person who was a partner at any time during such taxable year. Revised or additional information is to be furnished at a later date by the TMP when the TMP discovers the information furnished was inaccurate or incomplete. Failure by the TMP, a pass-through partner, the representative of a 5-percent notice group, or other representative of a partner to provide any notice or take any action required under the rules or under regulations on behalf of any partner will not affect the applicability of any partnership proceeding or adjustment under the rules to such partner.

The principles of section 7481(a) shall govern in determining the date on which a court decision becomes final.

The authority granted to the Secretary by section 7602 (relating to the examination of books and witnesses) is not limited by the rules adopted by the conference agreement.

All statements, elections, requests, and furnishing of information are to be made or filed in such manner, and at such time and place, as prescribed by regulations.

The principal place of business of a partnership, if outside the United States, shall be treated as located in the District of Columbia for purposes of filing a petition in the appropriate district court under section 6226 or section 6228

The statute grants explicit authority to adopt regulations as necessary to carry out the purpose of the statutory rules.

Judicial actions brought under the rules are to be conducted in accordance with such rules of practice and procedure as the court may prescribe.

i. Small partnerships

Generally, partnerships covered by the rules include any partnership required to file a return under section 6031(a).

However, the rules do not apply to partnerships consisting of 10 or fewer partners each of whom is a natural person (other than a nonresident alien) or an estate, provided that each partner's share of any partnership item is the same as his distributive share of every other partnership item. A husband and wife (and their estates) shall be treated as one partner for purposes of this exception.

A partnership eligible to be excluded under this provision may elect to be covered by the rules. The election is binding for the year for which it is made and subsequent years unless revoked with the Secretary's consent.

j. Certain definitional and other rules

Certain definitions

The term partner, for purposes of the rules, is a direct partner in the partnership and any other person whose income tax liability is determined in whole or in part by taking into account directly or indirectly partnership items of the partnership.

The term 'partnership item' means any item required to be taken into account for the partnership's taxable year to the extent regulations provide that such item is more appropriately determined at the partnership level than the partner level. The term 'affected item' means any item to the extent it is affected by a partnership item.

A 'pass-through partner' means a partnership, estate, trust, subchapter S corporation, nominee, or other similar person through whom other persons hold an interest in a partnership with respect to which there is a partnership proceeding. The term 'indirect partner' is any person holding an interest through one or more pass-through partners.

Except as regulations may provide otherwise, a husband and wife with a joint interest in a partnership shall be treated as one person, e.g., for determining whether a partnership has more than 100 partners.

Nonpartnership items

Partnership items will become nonpartnership items as of the date that (i) the Secretary mails a notice to the partner that such items will be treated as nonpartnership items, (ii) the partner files suit under section 6228(b) after failure to allow an RAA with respect to such items, (iii) the Secretary enters into a settlement agreement with the partner with respect to such items, (iv) the items become nonpartnership items under section 6223(e) (relating to failure by the Secretary to provide timely notice to the partner of a partnership proceeding) or (v) under the Secretary's regulatory authority to treat items as nonpartnership items, such items become nonpartnership items.

The Secretary may notify a partner that a partnership item will be treated as a nonpartnership item where either (i) the partner has treated the item inconsistently with its treatment on the partnership return and properly identified the inconsistency under section 6222(b)(1)(B) (and has not subsequently field an RAA which would eliminate the inconsistency) or (ii) the partner has filed an RAA and requested adjustments would make the partner's treatment of adjusted items inconsistent with their treatment on the partnership return. Any such notification based on inconsistency on the partner's return must be mailed before the Secretary mails a notice to the TMP of the commencement of a partnership proceeding with respect to the inconsistently treated items.

Special enforcement provisions

The bill provides regulatory authority to treat items as nonpartnership items to the extent the Secretary determines their treatment as partnership items will interfere with the effective and efficient enforcement of the Internal Revenue laws. This authority extends to (i) termination assessments under section 6851 and jeopardy assessments under section 6861, (ii) criminal investigations, (iii) indirect methods of proof of income (iv) foreign partnerships, and (v) other areas to the extent determined by regulations to present special enforcement considerations.

Authority is granted to prescribe special rules by regulation determined by the Secretary to be necessary to achieve the purpose of the bill for the tax treatment of partnership items, in these cases presenting special enforcement considerations.

Determination of profits interest

The profits interst of any partner shall be determined as of the close of the partnership taxable year, except that it shall be determined immediately before the liquidation, sale, or exchange of the entire interest of a person who is not a partner at the end of such year. This determination is significant in determining whether a partner's interest is one percent or more (in partnerships with over 100 partners) and in determining whether a notice group qualifies under the 5-percent requirement applicable to such groups. This determination shall be made pursuant to regulations in the case of indirect partners.

Appeal bond to stay assessment

Section 7485, relating to bond to stay assessment and collection on the appeal of a Tax Court decision, is amended to provide for such a bond on filing a notice of appeal of a decision under section 6226 or section 6228(a). The amount of such bond fixed by the Tax Court, in the absence of a stipulation by the parties, will be based on the Tax Court's estimate of the aggregate amount of deficiencies involved.

k. Nonpartnership litigation

Other tax litigation not a bar to adjustment

A judicial determination of a partner's income tax liability not resulting from a partnership proceeding will not bar any adjustment to such liability attributable to the treatment of partnership items pursuant to a proceeding under these rules. Further, such a determination will not bar an adjustment resulting from a proceeding with respect to items that become nonpartnership items under the rules if, when they become nonpartnership items, it is no longer appropriate to include them in a separate proceeding involving other nonpartnership items. A judicial determination in a suit filed under section 6228(a) with respect to items not allowed in an RAA filed by the TMP will not bar adjustments with respect to other partnership items.

Continuation of existing rules for nonpartnership items

Existing rules relating to administrative and judicial proceedings, statutes of limitations, settlements, etc., will continue to govern the determination of a partner's tax liability attributable to nonpartnership income, loss, deductions, and credits. Neither the Secretary nor the taxpayer will be permitted to raise nonpartnership items in the course of a partnership proceeding nor may partnership items, except to the extent they become nonpartnership items under the rules, be raised in proceedings relating to nonpartnership items of a partner.

The separate statute of limitations applicable to nonpartnership items of a partner may have expired when the computational adjustment of a partner's tax liability attributable to a FPAA or final court decision is made. In such case neither the Secretary (to reduce a refund) nor a partner (to reduce an assessment) may raise nonpartnership items in determining the partner's tax liability resulting from such computational adjustment. However, if the partner has in fact overpaid his income tax liability for the taxable year with respect to which the computational adjustment was made, he may obtain credit or refund of such overpayment by filing a claim within 2 years following such overpayment, as prescribed by sections 6511 (a) and (b)(2)(B). If such claim is not allowed, suit may be filed pursuant to section 7422(a). Any overpayment which may be refunded pursuant to such a claim or suit for refund would be attributable only to nonpartnership items.

l. Foreign-based partnerships

The bill explicitly applies the partnership return filing requirement under section 6031 to any partnership which has U.S. partners (direct or indirect). Where the TMP resides outside the United States or the partnership books and records are kept outside the United States, failure to comply with the partnership return requirement or provide the return information upon request will result in disallowance of partnership losses and credits to the partners. The Secretary may by regulation waive the reporting requirement in appropriate cases. The bill also requires a return by a U.S. person who acquires or disposes of an interest in a foreign partnership except to the extent regulations provide otherwise. This requirement extends to substantial changes in the proportionate interest of a U.S. person in a foreign partnership. The return is to be in such form and provide such information as regulations require and must be filed within 90 days after the date the U.S. person becomes liable to file such return unless the Secretary, by regulation, prescribes a later date.

The tax treatment for partnership items under subchapter C of chapter 63, as added by the bill, the partnership return filing requirement under section 6031, and the return requirement relating to changes in interest in a foreign partnership are all expressly inapplicable, under the bill, to the International Telecommunications Satellite Organization and the International Maritime Satellite Organization, and any organization which is a successor to either of such organizations. Both such organizations are public internation-

m. Partnership must provide information to partners

Section 6031 is amended by the bill to require expressly that every partnership required to file a return shall furnish to every person who was a partner at any time during the partnership's taxable year a copy of such information shown on the return as may be required by regulation. The fact that the bill expressly imposes this requirement is not intended to imply that the Internal Revenue Service is without authority to impose a similar requirement under present law.

n. Effective date

The amendments relating to acquisitions, dispositions, and substantial changes in the interest of a U.S. person in foreign partnerships apply in the case of such changes after the date of enactment. All other amendments apply to partnership taxable years beginning after the date of enactment. However, pursuant to regulations, a partnership with the consent of all partners may elect to have such amendments apply to the first partnership taxable year ending after the date of enactment if the Secretary also consents.

o. Windfall profit tax audits

Under the conference agreement, windfall profit tax items are included as partnership audit items under regulations to be issued by the Treasury. Thus, the tax treatment of any partnership windfall profit tax item will be determined at the partnership level rather than the partner level. A partnership windfall profit tax item is any item relating to the computation of the windfall profit tax on crude oil produced by the partnership which the Treasury determines by regulation to be more appropriately determined at the partnership rather than the partner level. Examples of such items are (1) the removal price of crude oil, (2) the adjusted base price of the crude oil, (3) the category of the crude oil, (4) the appropriate severance tax adjustments, and (5) the net income limitation. Under regulations, the partnership will be authorized to act on behalf of its partners for purposes of the determination, examination, and collection of windfall profit tax. Thus, the partnership can be made responsible for certifying necessary withholding tax information to first purchasers and for filing quarterly and annual returns with respect to the partnership's production of domestic crude oil. When necessary, the partnership will be able to rely on certifications by its partners of their status under the windfall profit tax. On the election of one or more partners owning an interest in at least 5 percent of partnership income, this authorization will cease to apply for the entire partnership.

Under the conference agreement, each partner will remain primarily liable for the windfall profit tax on his allocable share of taxable crude oil produced by the partnership. The partner's liability will be abated to the extent of any payment of windfall profit tax by the partnership. In determining the liability of any partner for windfall profit tax purposes, each partner would be required to treat any partnership windfall profit tax item in a manner consistent with the treatment of that item on the partnership return unless the partner notifies the Secretary of an inconsistent position. Each partner will be required to certify to the partnership that partner's correct treatment under the exemption of independent stripper wells, the special rates on independent producers, the royalty owners exemption and other producer-related provisions. The partnership will compute and pay the windfall profit tax on the assumption that the certifications given by the partners are correct.

The examination and collection of tax relating to independent producer or exempt status, etc., will be conducted at the partner level. All other items are determined at the partnership level. Thus, a partner's treatment of partnership windfall profit tax items will, under regulations, be determined by reference to the treatment of such items in the hands of the partnership. Thus, for example, a partner can sue for a refund on the basis of that partner's claim of the independent producer lower rates, but can not seek a refund on the theory that oil classified as tier 2 oil by the partnership should have instead been classified as tier 3 oil.

Present law provides the Secretary with broad authority to require the keeping of records, the making of returns, and the furnishing of information relating to the windfall profit tax. It is anticipated that the Secretary will use this authority to reduce the amount of information which must be delivered to partners by the partnership in the normal course of business and to provide for a consolidated partnership return reflecting the taxes of the individual partners. In addition, the Secretary should require under this authority that partners be given access to any and all windfall profit tax information necessary for the verification of the tax computed by the partnership or to the determination of their entitlement to independent producer lower rates or royalty owner exemptions.

The bill would apply to determination, examination, and collection of windfall profit tax with respect to oil removed in taxable periods beginning after December 31, 1982, unless the partnership, each partner, each indirect partner and the Secretary consent to earlier application of the provisions.

4. Taxpayer safeguard provisions

Present law

Property exempt from levy

Present law exempts certain property from levy. Among other items, this exemption covers (1) fuel, provisions, furniture, and personal effects; (2) books and tools of a trade, business or profession; and (3) wages, salary, or other income.

For a taxpayer who is the head of a family, there is a $500 exemption for fuel, provisons, furniture, and personal effects in his household, and for arms for personal use, livestock, and poultry.

Books and tools necessary for the trade, business, or profession of the taxpayer are exempt from levy to the extent that they do not exceed $250 in aggregate value.

The exemption for wages, salary, and other income is $50 per week plus $15 per week with respect to each individual over half of whose support is received from the taxpayer, who is the spouse of the taxpayer, who is a dependent of the taxpayer, and who is not a minor child of the taxpayer with respect to whom amounts are exempt from levy pursuant to a support judgment entered prior to the date of levy.

Release of lien

Under present law, a lien may be released if the tax liability has been fully satisfied or has become legally unenforceable; or upon acceptance of a bond that is conditioned upon the payment of the amount assessed, together with all interest. There is no statutory time limit for the release of a lien.

Notice before levy

Levy upon property may be made if the taxpayer neglects or refuses to pay tax within 10 days after notice and demand. In the case of a levy upon property, other than salary or wages, there is no statutory provision that requires additional notice before levy.

Levy may be made upon the salary or wages of a taxpayer only after the Secretary has notified the taxpayer in writing of his intention to make such levy, unless there has been a finding that the collection of tax is in jeopardy. This notice must be given in person, left at the taxpayer's dwelling or usual place of business, or sent by mail to the taxpayer's last known address, no less than 10 days before the day of levy.

A levy on salary or wages is continuous from the date it is made until the taxpayer's liability is satisfied or becomes unenforceable due to lapse of time. Once the tax liability is satisfied or becomes unenforceable, the Secretary is required to promptly release the levy and notify the taxpayer of such action.

Redemption of property

The owners of real property that is sold after a seizure, their heirs, executors, or administrators, or any person having an interest therein, or a lien thereon, or any person in their behalf, may redeem the property at any time within 120 days after the sale.

Amount of damages in case of wrongful levy

In the case of an alleged wrongful levy, a person (other than the person against whom is assessed the tax out of which such levy arose) who claims an interest in, or lien on, the property levied upon may bring a civil action against the United States in a U.S. district court. If the court determines there was a wrongful levy, then the court may (1) order the return of the property if the United States is in possession thereof; (2) grant a judgment for the amount of money levied upon; or (3) grant a judgment for an amount not exceeding the amount received by the United States from the sale of property.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

a. Property exempt from levy

The conference agreement increases the exemption from levy for (1) fuel, provisions, furniture, and personal effects, etc.; (2) books and tools of a trade, business, or profession; and (3) wages, salary, or other income.

The exemption for fuel, provisions, furniture, and personal effects, etc., is increased from $500 to $1,500.

The exemption for books and tools of a trade, business, or profession is increased from $250 to $1,000.

The exemption for wages, salary, and other income is increased to $75 per week plus $25 per week for the taxpayer's spouse and each dependent.

This provision applies to levies made after December 31, 1982.

b. Release of lien

The conference agreement requires a lien to be released no later than 30 days after the day on which: (1) the tax liability has been fully satisfied or has become legally unenforceable, or (2) a bond has been accepted.

This provision is effective with respect to liens (1) which are filed after December 31, 1982, (2) which are satisfied after December 31, 1982, or (3) with respect to which the taxpayer after December 31, 1982, requests the Secretary to issue a certificate of release on the grounds that the liability was satisfied or legally unenforceable.

c. Notice before levy

The conference agreement provides that levy may by made upon the salary, wages, or other property of any person with respect to any unpaid tax only after the Secretary has notified the person in writing of his intention to make such levy. This notice must be given in person, left at the dwelling or usual place of business of such person, or sent by certified or registered mail to such person's last known address, no less than 10 days before the day of levy. As under present law, a single notice wil be sufficient to cover all property of the taxpayer subject to levy.

As under present law, the notice requirement will not apply to a levy if the Secretary has made a finding that the collection of tax is in jeopardy. Moreover, the conference agreement makes no change with respect to the continuous nature of a levy upon salary or wages, or the requirements with respect to release of the levy and notice of release.

This provision applies to levies made after December 31, 1982.

d. Redemption of property

The conference agreement extends the period of time during which property that has been sold after a seizure may be redeemed from 120 days to 180 days.

This provision applies to property sold after the date of enactment.

e. Amount of damages in case of wrongful levy

The conference agreement provides that if there has been a wrongful levy and sale of property (belonging to a person other than the person against whom the tax was assessed), then the court may grant a judgment for an amount not exceeding the greater of (1) the amount received by the United States from the sale of such property, or (2) the fair market value of the property immediately before the levy.

This provision applies to levies made after December 31, 1982.

f. Notice of procedural safeguards

The conferees are concerned that in certain cases taxpayers may not be aware of the existing statutory or administrative rights and procedural safeguards that are available to them. The conferees believe that distribution of information concerning taxpayer rights at the time of the I.R.S. initial contact with the taxpayer regarding an audit and at appropriate stages during examination and collection proceedings will assure that more taxpayers are adequately apprised of their rights and the procedures available to them. Thus, the conferees request that the Internal Revenue Service consider the sufficiency and timeliness of information sent to taxpayers regarding their rights during examination, appeals, and collection. The results of this study are to be reported to the House Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Finance.

D. Pension Provisions

1. Overall limits on contributions, benefits, and exclusions

Present law

Present law limits 1982 contributions on behalf of an employee to a qualified profit-sharing or other defined contribution plan to the lesser of 25 percent of compensation or $45,475. Annual benefits payable under a qualified defined benefit pension plan are limited to the lesser of 100 percent of compensation or $136,425 for life, beginning at age 55. The limits (set at $25,000 and $75,000 in 1974) are automatically adjusted for cost-of-living increases.

If an employee participates in a defined contribution plan and a defined benefit plan maintained by the same employer, the fraction of the separate limits used by each plan is computed and the sum of the fractions is subject to an overall limit of 1.4 (i.e., 140 percent of the otherwise applicable separate limits).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment makes several changes to the overall limits on contributions and benefits for an employee under a tax-qualified pension, etc., plan. The amendment (1) reduces the dollar limit for annual additions to profit-sharing plans and other defined contribution plans from $45,475 to $30,000; (2) reduces the dollar limit for annual benefits under defined benefit pension plans from $136,425 to $90,000, and requires that an interest rate assumption of at least 5 percent be used to determine whether alternative benefit forms (e.g., lump sum distributions) are within the annual benefit limit; (3) suspends cost-of-living adjustments to the dollar limits until 1986, at which time the limits will be adjusted for post-1984 cost-of-living increases (as measured by the social security benefit index), and provides that employers cannot deduct contributions to fund anticipated cost-of-living increases, (4) requires that the dollar limit ($90,000 for 1983) be actuarially reduced (using an interest rate assumption of at least 5 percent) if benefits commence before age 62 (increased from age 55); and (5) reduces the aggregate limit for an individual who participates in a defined contribution plan and a defined benefit plan of the same employer from 1.4 (140 percent of the otherwise applicable separate dollar or percentage limit) to the lesser of 1.25, as applied only to the dollar limits, or 1.4, as applied under present law.

In general, these provisions will apply to plan years beginning after December 31, 1982, except that plan amendments are required with respect to plan years beginning after December 31, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment except that the dollar limit for benefits under a defined benefit plan commencing before age 62 is to be actuarially reduced (using an interest rate of not less than the greater of 5 percent or the rate specified in the plan)[1] to the equivalent of the dollar limit for benefits commencing at age 62 (age 55 where the $75,000 minimum applies). Thus, the dollar limit is not less than $75,000 at age 55 or later. For ages below 55 the limit is not less than the actual equivalent of a $75,000 annual benefit commencing at age 55. Also, for benefits commencing after age 65 the dollar limit is increased (using an interest rate not exceeding the lesser of 5 percent or the rate specified in the plan) to the equivalent of the benefit limit as applied to benefits commencing at age 65. In no event, however, could future cost-of-living increases in the dollar limit be assumed in determining actuarial equivalence.

The conference agreement revises the transition rule relating to cases where the sum of the defined benefit plan and defined contribution plan fractions exceeds 1.25 (as applied to the dollar limits). Under the provision, the Secretary of the Treasury is to prescribe regulations under which the defined contribution plan fraction (as determined for the last year ending before January 1, 1983) is reduced, so that the sum of the fractions does not exceed the aggregate limit under the conference agreement.

The conference agreement clarifies present law by providing that the employer's deduction limit for the year under a defined benefit plan may not be based on benefits in excess of the dollar limit applicable for the year (without regard to anticipated cost-of-living increases). Deductions may be based on benefits which take into account anticipated salary increases, subject to limitation described in the preceding sentence.

The conference agreement also places a $100,000 aggregate limit on the estate tax exclusion for certain retirement benefits under qualified pension, etc., plan, tax-sheltered annuities, individual retirement accounts (IRA's) and certain military retirement plans. The limit applies with respect to decedents dying after December 31, 1982.

2. Loans from retirement plans

Present law

A qualified pension, etc., plan or a tax-sheltered annuity program generally is permitted to make reasonable loans to participants other than owner-employees under an H.R. 10 plan or shareholder-employees under a subchapter S corporation plan. If a self-employed individual borrows from an H.R. 10 plan or if an individual borrows from an IRA, the loan is treated as a distribution, subject to the usual income tax rules.

House bill

No provision.

[1] Rev. Rul. 79-90 1979-1CB 156, requires that a plan specify the actuarial assumptions used by the plan to determine benefit equivalence.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment generally provides that a loan received by a participant under a qualified plan or a tax-sheltered annuity program is treated as a distribution to the extent that the participant's outstanding loan balance under all plans in which the participant participates exceeds $10,000. A higher limit (not to exceed $50,000) is permitted if the loan proceeds are applied towards the purchase, reconstruction, etc., of a personal residence. Loan amounts treated as distributions generally are subject to the usual income tax and withholding rules for plan distributions.

The amendment applies to loans made after July 1, 1982. Loans made before that date are not affected except to the extent that the loan is renegotiated, revised, or extended. A loan is treated as received if the proceeds are paid to or on behalf of a participant or beneficiary or if the loan is extended, etc. The amendment changes the tax treatment of loans but does not change the rules of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 limiting the availability of loans.

Conference agreement

In general

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment except that a loan from a tax-qualified plan, or, government plan, or tax sheltered annuity which is to be repaid within 5 years is treated as a distribution only to the extent that the amount of the loan, when added to the outstanding loan balance with respect to the employee under all plans of the employer, exceeds the lesser of (1) $50,000, or (2) one-half of the present value of the employee's nonforfeitable accrued benefit under such plans, but not less than $10,000. For this purpose, plans of separate employers which generally are treated as a single employer under the pension, etc., plan rules (sec. 414) are treated as plans of a single employer.

A loan made with respect to an employee under a qualified plan, etc., which is not required to be repaid within 5 years, is treated as a distribution. For this purpose, the period within which a loan is required to be repaid is determined at the time the loan is made. If a repayment period of less than 5 years is subsequently extended beyond 5 years, it is intended that the balance payable under the loan at the time of the extension is to be treated as distributed at the time of the extension. In addition, if payments under a loan with a repayment period of less than 5 years are not in fact made, so that an amount remains payable at the end of 5 years, the amount remaining payable is treated as if distributed at the end of the 5-year period. A loan which is treated as a distribution on account of a repayment period of more than 5 years will not be treated as other than a distribution merely because it is repaid within 5 years (whether by reason of a renegotiation of the payment period or otherwise). Of course, a loan to a beneficiary which is treated as a distribution is included in the income of the participant, if the participant is alive at the time the loan is treated as a distribution.

The conference agreement provides an exception to the 5-year repayment rule to the extent that a loan made with respect to a plan participant is applied toward acquiring, constructing, or substantially rehabilitating any house, apartment, condominium, or mobile home (not used on a transient basis) which is used or is to be used within a reasonable time as the principal residence of the participant or a member of the participant's family. The determination as to whether a dwelling is to be used as a principal residence of the participant or dependent is to be determined at the time the loan is entered into.

Certain mortgage loans

Under the conference agreement, investments (including investments in residential mortgages) which are made in the ordinary course of an investment program will not be considered as loans, if the amount of the mortgage loan does not exceed the fair market value of the property purchased with the loan proceeds. An investment program exists, for example, when trustees determine that a specific percentage or amount of plan assets will be invested in residential mortgages under specified conditions. However, mortgage loans made as a result of the direction of investments of an individual account will not be considered as made under an investment program and no loan which benefits an officer, director, or owner or his beneficiaries will be treated as an investment. In addition, the agreement makes no changes to the present-law prohibited transaction rules and fiduciary standards for qualified pension, etc., plans and does not restrict the rules of present law under which certain loans are treated as distributions.

Effective dates

The conference agreement applies to loans made after August 13, 1982.

Amounts outstanding on August 13, 1982, under a loan which is renegotiated, extended, revised, or renewed after such date will not be treated as made on the date of the renegotiation, etc., to the extent such amounts are required to be, and are repaid on or before August 13, 1983. Thus, such amounts will continue to be treated as amounts outstanding with respect to the participant on August 13, 1982.

The conferees intend that a scheduled change in the interest rate charged on a loan balance (e.g., a variable rate contract) will not be treated as a revision or renegotiation of the loan.

3. Parity under the qualified plan rules for corporate and noncorporate employers; group-term life insurance

Present law

Under present law, plans which benefit self-employed individuals, owner-employees, or shareholder-employees of subchapter S corporations are subject to additional, more restrictive, qualification requirements designed to limit benefits for such individuals and provide additional protections for rank-and-file employees.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment increases the dollar limits applicable to defined contribution H.R. 10 plans, plans of subchapter S corporations, and SEPs, from $15,000 in 1982 to $20,000 in 1983, $25,000 in 1984, and $30,000 in 1985. The 15-percent of earned income limit is not changed. To provide a similar increase in the level of benefits permitted under a defined benefit H.R. 10 plan or subchapter S corporation plan, the compensation taken into account in determining permitted annual benefit accruals is increased from $100,000 to $133,000 in 1983, $167,000 in 1984 and $200,000 in 1985.

Beginning in 1986, the bill adjusts the limits for post-1984 cost-of-living increases.

Conference agreement

In general

The conference agreement generally eliminates distinctions in the tax law between qualified pension, etc., plans of corporations and those of self-employed individuals (H.R. 10 plans). The agreement (1) repeals certain of the special rules, for H.R. 10 plans, (2) extends other of the special rules to all qualified plans, including those maintained by corporate employers, and (3) generally applies the remainder of the special rules, with appropriate modifications, only to those plans (whether maintained by a corporate or noncorporate employer) which primarily benefit the employer's key employees (top-heavy plans). The top-heavy plan rules are provided in addition to the usual rules for plan qualification.

The special rules for H.R. 10 plans which are repealed include those which (1) set lower limits on contributions and benefits for self-employed individuals, (2) prevent certain H.R. 10 plans from limiting coverage to a fair cross section of employees, and (3) prohibit integration with social security.

The special rules for H.R. 10 plans which are extended to all qualified plans are certain of those rules relating to (1) distributions made to the employee or to the employee's beneficiaries after the employee's death, and (2) integration of a defined contribution plan with social security.

The special rules for H.R. 10 plans which generally are extended (with modifications) to plans of corporate and noncorporate employers which primarily benefit key employees (top-heavy plans) include those rules relating to (1) includible compensation, (2) vesting (alternative schedules are provided) and (3) distributions. The rules for a top-heavy plan also require that such a plan provide a non-key employee a nonintegrated minimum benefit or a nonintegrated minimum contribution, and in some cases reduce the aggregate limit on contributions and benefits for a key employee who is covered by more than one plan of an employer.

These provisions apply for years beginning after December 31, 1983.

Repeal of rules for H.R. 10 plans

Deductible contributions and permitted benefit accruals

The conference agreement generally repeals the special deduction limits (sec. 404(e) (1), (2), and (4)) for contributions on behalf of a self-employed individual under an H.R. 10 plan. Conforming amendments are made with respect to simplified employee pensions and plans of subchapter S corporations.

In addition, the conference agreement repeals the special qualification rules for a defined benefit plan which covers a self-employed individual or a shareholder-employee of a subchapter S corporation (sec. 401(j)). Thus, defined benefit plans which cover a self-employed individual or a shareholder-employee of a subchapter S corporation will be subject to the rules applicable to other defined benefit plans.

Earned income

For purposes of the pension rules, the conference agreement revises the definition of earned income of a self-employed individual so that the amount of earned income corresponds to the amount of compensation of a common-law employee. Under the agreement, earned income is computed after taking into account amounts contributed by the employer to a qualified plan to the extent a deduction is allowed for the contributions. Also, in this regard, no change is made to the present-law rule (sec. 401(d)(11)) for owner-employees which has the effect of limiting the earned income which may be taken into account under the pension rules to that derived from the trade or business with respect to which the plan is established.

In addition, no change is made to the present-law rules under which no deduction is allowed for contributions to an H.R. 10 plan on behalf of a self-employed individual to the extent that the contributions are allocable to the purchase of incidental life, health, or accident insurance (sec. 404(e)(3)), and under which a self-employed individual generally is denied a basis in amounts applied under an H.R. 10 plan to purchase life insurance protection for the individual (sec. 72(m)(2)).

Coverage

The agreement repeals the additional qualification requirement under which an H.R. 10 plan benefiting an owner-employee generally is required to benefit all employees who have completed at least three years of service with the employer (sec. 401(d)(3)(A)).

The agreement retains the special rules for H.R. 10 plans under which all employees of all unincorporated trades or businesses controlled by an owner-employee (or owner-employees) are treated as if employed by a single trade or business for purposes of the nondiscrimination rules (sec. 401(a)(9) and (10)).

Employee contributions

The agreement repeals the special rules precluding employer contributions on behalf of an owner-employee under an H.R. 10 plan in excess of the deduction limit (sec. 401(d)(5)), and those rules limiting or precluding mandatory or voluntary employee contributions by an owner-employee (sec. 4972). The agreement also repeals the six-percent excise tax on excess contributions made on behalf of an owner-employee.

Miscellaneous restrictions

The following special H.R. 10 plan rules are also repealed:

(1) the requirement that a profit-sharing plan provide a definite contribution formula for employees who are not owner-employees (sec. 401(d)(2)(B));

(2) the requirement that an owner-employee must consent to participate (sec. 401(d)(4)(A));

(3) the requirement that the plan trustee be a bank or other approved financial institution (sec. 401(d)(1));

(4) the prohibition against contributions on behalf of an owner-employee for the five taxable years following an early withdrawal by the owner-employee (sec. 401(d)(5)(C)): and

(5) the denial of the $5,000 income exclusion for death benefits paid with respect to a self-employed individual under the plan (sec. 101(b)).

Nothing in the agreement requires that an H.R. 10 plan delete these provisions. For example, an employer may prefer that an H.R. 10 plan continue to provide that an owner-employee must consent to participate, thereby permitting an owner-employee to elect against plan participation.

Extension of certain H.R. 10 rules to all plans

Required distributions

The agreement extends to all qualified plans the requirement that payment of a participant's benefits must commence not later than (1) the taxable year in which the participant attains age 70½, or (2) if later, the year in which the participant retires (sec. 401(a)(9)).

In addition, if a participant dies before the entire interest is distributed, the entire remaining interest generally must be distributed to the participant's beneficiary or beneficiaries within 5 years. However, this rule does not apply if the distribution has commenced to the participant and is payable over a period which does not exceed the joint life expectancy of the participant and the participant's spouse. A conforming change is made to the IRA distribution rules.

Integration with social security

The bill extends to all qualified defined contribution plans a rule under which the tax rate applicable to employers for old age, survivors, and disability insurance (OASDI) under social security is the maximum rate at which employer contributions can be reduced under plans that are integrated with social security. This provision is designed to decrease the extent of integration in defined contribution plans without increasing the extent of integration in any plan.

For 1982, the employer's tax rate with respect to OASDI benefits under social security is 5.4 percent, and the taxable wage base is the first $32,400 of an employee's pay. Thus, if the provisions were applicable for 1982, a profit-sharing plan could provide contributions of 5.4 percent of 1982 pay in excess of $32,400 and no contributions for 1982 with respect to the first $32,400 of pay. Similarly, if a plan provided for 1982 contributions of 10 percent of pay in excess of $32,400, it would integrate only if it provided for 1982 contributions of at least 4.6 percent (10% minus 5.4%) with respect to the first $32,400 of pay. The same rules apply to a self-employed individual.

The wage base and tax rates which apply for any plan year are the wage base and tax rates in effect on the first day of the plan year.

The remaining present-law rules which restrict integration with social security under an H.R. 10 defined contribution which benefits an owner-employer are repealed.

Additional qualification requirements for top-heavy plans

In general

Under the agreement, additional qualification requirements are provided for plans which primarily benefit an employer's key employees (top-heavy plans). These additional requirements (1) limit the amount of a participant's compensation which may be taken into account, (2) provide greater portability of benefits for plan participants who are non-key employees, (3) provide minimum nonintegrated contributions or benefits for plan participants who are non-key employees, and (4) reduce the aggregate limit on contributions and benefits for certain key employees. Further, additional restrictions are placed on distributions to key employees.

Top-heavy plans

Under the agreement, a defined benefit plan is a top-heavy plan for a plan year if, as of the determination date, (1) the present value of the accumulated accrued benefits for participants who are key employees for the plan year exceeds sixty percent of the present value of the accumulated accrued benefits for all employees under the plan, or (2) the plan is part of a top-heavy group. A defined contribution plan is a top-heavy plan for a plan year if, as of the determination date, (1) the sum of the account balances of participants who are key employees for the plan year exceeds sixty percent of the sum of the account balances of all employees under the plan, or (2) the plan is a part of a top-heavy group. Under these rules, a simplified employee pension is considered a defined contribution plan, and at the election of the employer, the account balance of any employee covered by a simplified employee pension is deemed to be the sum of the employer contributions made on the employee's behalf.

The determination date for any plan year generally is the last day of the preceding plan year. However, in the case of the first plan year, the determination date is the last day of that year. Further, to the extent provided in regulations, the determination date may be determined on the basis of a year other than a plan year.

Top-heavy groups

The agreement also provides rules under which two or more plans of a single employer are aggregated to determine whether the plans, as a group, are top-heavy. The aggregation group must include (1) any plan which covers a key employee, and (2) any plan upon which a plan covering a key employee depends for qualification under the Code's coverage or antidiscrimination rules (secs. 401(a)(4) and 410). In addition, in testing for top-heaviness, an employer may elect to expand the aggregation group to take into account any other plan maintained by the employer, if such expanded aggregation group continues to satisfy the coverage and antidiscrimination rules.

An aggregation group is a top-heavy group if, as of the determination date, the sum of (1) the present values of the accumulated accrued benefits for key employees under any defined benefit plans included in the group, and (2) the sum of the account balances of key employees under any defined contribution plans included in the group, exceeds 60 percent of the same amount determined for all participants under all plans included in the group. If an aggregation group is a top-heavy group, each plan required to be included in the group is a top-heavy plan. Of course, no plan included in the aggregation group at the election of the employer is subject to the top-heavy plan rules on account of such election.

The top-heavy group rules apply to all plans of related employers which are treated as a single employer (sec. 414).

Additional rules

For purposes of determining the present value of accumulated accrued benefits under a defined benefit plan and the sum of the account balances under a defined contribution plan, benefits derived from both employer contributions and employee contributions generally are taken into account. However, accumulated deductible employee contributions) under a plan are to be disregarded. In addition, to insure relative stability and to preclude distortions under the top-heavy plan computation, the present value of the accrued benefit of a participant in a defined benefit plan or the account balance of a participant in a defined contribution plan generally includes any amount distributed with respect to the participant under the plan within the five-year period ending on the determination date.

A rollover contribution (or similar transfer) made after December 31, 1983, generally is not taken into account under the transferee plan for purposes of the top-heavy plan computation. The conferees intend that this rule will not apply if the contribution (or transfer) is made incident to a merger or consolidation of two or more plans or the division of a single plan into two or more plans. In addition, the conferees intend that this rule will not apply to rollover contributions (or transfers) between plans of the same employer, including plans of related employers which are treated as a single employer (sec. 414). Of course, in any case in which a rollover contribution (or transfer) is required to be taken into account under the transferee plan, the amount distributed by the transferor plan is not also taken into account under the transferor plan.

If an employee ceases to be treated as a key employee, the employee's accrued benefit under a defined benefit plan or the employee's account balance under a defined contribution plan is disregarded under the top-heavy plan computation for any plan year following the last plan year for which the employee was treated as a key employee.

Key employees

Key employees generally include employees who (1) are officers (but in no event will officers of any employer include more than 50 employees or, if lesser, the greater of 3 employees or 10 percent of all employees),[1] (2) are one of the 10 employees owning the largest interests in the employer (there are not 10 employees owning greater interests than the employee), (3) own more than a five-percent interest in the employer, or (4) own more than a one-percent interest in the employer and have annual compensation from the employer in excess of $150,000. An employee is considered an officer, or as owning an interest in the employer, if the employee was an officer, or owned such an interest, at any time during the plan year or the four preceding plan years. In the case of an employer which has more officers than are required to be counted as key employees, the officers to be taken into account are the officers with the highest compensation.

Under the agreement, an employee is considered as owning more than a five-percent interest in a corporate employer if the employee owns more than five percent of the employer's outstanding stock or stock possessing five percent of the total combined voting power of all stock of the employer. An employee is also treated as owning stock owned by certain members of the employee's family or, in certain cases, by partnerships, estates, trusts, or corporations in which the employee has an interest (sec. 318). The same rules apply to determine whether an individual owner is a one-percent owner.

In the case of an employer which is not a corporation, ownership will be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary. The conferees intend that these regulations be based on principles similar to the principles of section 318. In addition, to determine whether a self-employed individual who is a one-percent owner, is a key employee, compensation means earned income from the trade or business with respect to which the plan is maintained.

Qualification rules

These additional rules for top-heavy plans are tax-qualification requirements. Thus, a top-heavy plan is a qualified plan, and a trust forming part of a top-heavy plan is a qualified trust only if the additional requirements are met. Except as the Secretary of the Treasury may provide by regulations, a plan (whether or not top-heavy in fact) will constitute a qualified plan only if the plan includes provisions which will automatically take effect if the plan becomes a top-heavy plan and which meet the additional qualification requirements for top-heavy plans.

[1] As under present law, the determination as to whether an employee is an officer is to be determined upon the basis of all the facts and circumstances, including, for example, the source of the employee's authority, the term for which elected or appointed, and the nature and extent of the employee's duties. As generally accepted in connection with corporations, the term "officer" means an administrative executive who is in regular and continued service. It implies continuity of service and excludes those employed for a special and single transaction, or those with only nominal administrative duties. Thus, for example, all the employees of a bank who have the title of vice president or assistant vice president would not automatically be considered to be officers. See, for example, Rev. Rul. 80-314, 1980-2 C.B. 152.

Includible compensation

For any plan year for which a plan is a top-heavy plan, only the first $200,000 of an employee's compensation may be taken into account in determining contributions or benefits under the plan. Beginning in 1986, this $200,000 limit will be adjusted under the same rules used to adjust the overall limits on contributions and benefits. For a self-employed individual, compensation means earned income as redefined by the conference agreement.

Vesting

For any plan year for which a plan is a top-heavy plan, an employee's right to the accrued benefit derived from employer contributions must become nonforfeitable (sec. 411(a)) under a vesting schedule which satisfies one of two alternative schedules provided by the agreement. These vesting schedules apply to all accrued benefits, whether or not the accrued benefits are required by the top-heavy plan rules.

A plan will satisfy the first alternative vesting schedule (three-year full vesting) if an employee who has at least three years of service with the employer or employers maintaining the plan has a nonforfeitable right to 100 percent of his accrued benefit derived from employer contributions. As under present law, a plan which provides three-year, 100 percent vesting will satisfy the participation requirements if the plan provides that an employee who is at least 25 years old, with three years of service, is eligible to participate.

A plan will satisfy the second alternative vesting schedule (six-year graded vesting) if an employee has a nonforfeitable right to at least 20 percent of the accrued benefit derived from employer contributions at the end of two years of service, 40 percent at the end of three years of service, 60 percent at the end of four years of service, 80 percent at the end of five years of service with the employer, and 100 percent at the end of six years of service with the employer.

For purposes of determining service under these vesting schedules, the present-law rules (sec. 411) relating to years of service, breaks in service, and certain permitted forfeitures etc., apply. Accordingly, all years of service with the employer generally are to be taken into account, including years of service completed prior to enactment and service during periods for which a plan is not a top-heavy plan.

Minimum nonintegrated benefit for non-key employees

In addition, a qualified pension, etc., plan which is a top-heavy plan must provide a minimum benefit or contribution for each non-key employee who is a participant in the plan.

Under the conference agreement, any individual excluded from coverage under a defined benefit or defined contribution plan because of compensation below a specified amount, or any individual considered to be a participant for purposes of the coverage requirements (sec. 410) must be provided the applicable minimum contribution or benefit.

For a plan year for which a defined benefit plan is a top-heavy plan, each plan participant who is not a key employee for the year generally must accrue a benefit which, when expressed as an annual retirement benefit, is not less than two percent of the employee's average annual compensation from the employer during the employee's testing period, multiplied by the employee's years of service with the employer. However, an employee's minimum benefit is not required to exceed 20 percent of such average annual compensation. All years of an employee's service otherwise required to be taken into account under the plan generally are required to be taken into account under the minimum benefit rules, except a year of service (1) ending before the date of enactment, or (2) within which ends a plan year for which the plan is not a top-heavy plan.

For purposes of the minimum benefit rules, only benefits derived from employer contributions (other than amounts employees have elected to defer (e.g. under a salary reduction cash or deferred arrangement)) to the plan are taken into account, and an employee's social security benefits are disregarded. Thus, the required minimum benefit for an employee may not be eliminated or reduced on account of the employee's social security benefits attributable to contributions by the employer (i.e., the minimum benefit is a "nonintegrated" benefit).

The term annual retirement benefit is defined as a benefit payable annually in the form of a life annuity (with no ancillary benefits) beginning at the normal retirement age. An employee's testing period is the period of the employee's consecutive years of service (not exceeding five) during which the employee had the greatest aggregate compensation from the employer. However, a year of service (and compensation paid to the employee during such year) need not be included in the employee's testing period if it ends before the date of enactment or begins within or after the last plan year for which the plan is a top-heavy plan.

Minimum nonintegrated contribution for non-key employees

For a plan year for which a defined contribution plan is a top-heavy plan, the employer generally must contribute on behalf of each plan participant who is not a key employee for the year an amount not less than three percent of the participant's compensation. However, if the employer's contribution rate for each participant who is a key employee for the plan year is less than three percent, the required minimum contribution rate for each non-key employee generally is limited to not more than the highest contribution rate for any key employee. For example, if, under a profit-sharing plan, no amount is contributed by the employer for any key employee, then under this limitation no contribution is required under the minimum contribution rules for any non-key employee. Under the minimum contribution rules, reallocated forfeitures are taken into account as employer contributions.

However, the limitation to the rate of contributions for key employees does not apply with respect to a defined contribution plan upon which a defined benefit plan depends for qualification under the Code's coverage or antidiscrimination rules, if the defined benefit plan benefits a key employee (or if a plan which benefits a key employee also depends upon the defined benefit plan). Under such circumstances, the required minimum contribution rate for a non-key employee is in every case three percent even if the contribution rate on behalf of a key employee is less than 3 percent. For purposes of the limitation, as well as for purposes of the minimum contribution rules generally, all defined contribution plans of the employer are considered a single plan.

To determine the contribution rate for an employee (including a key employee), the employer contributions and reallocated forfeitures on behalf of the employee for the year are divided by the employee's total compensation (or, with respect to a self-employed individual, the individual's earned income) from the employer for the year, not to exceed $200,000. Amounts paid by the employer for the year to provide social security benefits for the employer are disregarded. Thus, the required minimum contribution for a non-key employee may not be eliminated or reduced on account of benefits attributable to taxes paid by the employer under social security (i.e., the minimum contribution is a "nonintegrated" contribution). Similarly, the employer contribution rate for a key employee is determined without regard to employer contributions under social security. For example, if a plan is integrated with social security by providing key employees with employer contributions equal to 5 percent of compensation in excess of $32,400, the contribution rate for an employee whose total compensation is $50,000 is 1.76 percent ((0.05×$17,600)÷$50,000).

No duplication of minimum benefits for non-key employees under a top-heavy group

If a non-key employee participates in both a defined benefit plan and a defined contribution plan maintained by an employer, the employer is not required by this section to provide the non-key employee with both the minimum benefit and the minimum contribution.

Rules are also provided to preclude inappropriate omissions or required duplication of minimum benefits or contributions. It is anticipated that these rules would preclude an employee who is covered under more than one plan from receiving lower benefits or contributions than that employee would receive if covered under one plan. Similarly, larger total benefits should not be required merely because an employee is covered under more than one plan (except as required where the limit of 1.0 is exceeded by a top-heavy plan). For example, if an employee participates in a top-heavy money purchase pension plan that provides an annual non-integrated contribution rate of 5 percent of compensation and a defined benefit plan that provides an annual benefit of 1 percent of pay, the employer would not be required to provide an additional 1-percent benefit for non-key employees participating in the defined benefit plan.

Of course, contributions to either plan on behalf of the non-key employee may otherwise be required (for example, by reason of the nondiscrimination rules). In any case in which separate plans are required to be considered together for purposes of the coverage or nondiscrimination rules, the required minimum benefit or minimum contribution may of course be taken into account. However, two plans are not necessarily comparable merely because one plan provides the required minimum benefit while the other provides the required minimum contribution. Similarly, the fact that two plans both provide the required minimum benefit, or that two plans both provide the required minimum contribution, does not insure that the two plans, as a whole, are comparable.

Aggregate limit on contributions and benefits for key employees

The agreement includes additional rules with respect to the aggregate limit on benefits and contributions (sec. 415(e)) for a key employee who participates in both a defined benefit plan and a defined contribution plan which are included in a top-heavy group. Unless certain requirements are met, for any year for which the plans are included in the top-heavy group, the aggregate limit for the key employee is the lesser of 1.0 (as applied only to the dollar limits) or 1.4 (as determined under present law). However, the aggregate limit is increased to the lesser of 1.25 (as applied only to the dollar limits) or 1.4 (as under present law) if the plans of the employer in which the key employee participates (1) meet the requirements of the concentration test, and (2) provide either an extra minimum benefit (in the case of the defined benefit plan) or an extra minimum contribution (in the case of the defined contribution plan) for non-key employees participating in the plans. The extra contribution or benefit is in addition to the minimum contribution or benefit required for all top-heavy plans.

The concentration test is generally satisfied with respect to a key employee for a year if, as of the last determination date before the first day of such year, the sum of (1) the present value of the accumulated accrued benefits for key employees under the defined benefit plans of the employer in which the key employee participates, and (2) the sum of the account balances of key employees under the defined contribution plans of the employer in which the key employee participates is not greater than 90 percent of the same amount determined for all participants under the plans. For purposes of this computation, the rules for determining whether two or more plans constitute a top-heavy group apply.

The requirement for an extra minimum benefit for non-key employees is satisfied for a year if, for the plan year ending with or within such year, each non-key employee who is a participant in a defined benefit plan of the employer in which the key employee is a participant accrues an extra benefit which, when expressed as an annual retirement benefit, is not less than the lesser of (1) one percent of the employee's average annual compensation, multiplied by the employee's years of service with the employer, or (2) 10 percent of such average annual compensation. This extra minimum benefit generally is determined in the same manner as the minimum benefit required under the rules for a top-heavy defined benefit plan. However, for purposes of the extra minimum benefit, a year of service is required to be taken into account only if (1) such year of service includes the last day of a plan year for which the plan is a top-heavy plan (or included in a top-heavy group), and (2) such plan year ends with or within a year for which the aggregate limit of the key employee exceeds 1.0 (as applied to the dollar limits).

The requirement for an extra minimum contribution is satisfied with respect to a key employee for a year if, for the plan year ending with or within such year, the employer contributes on behalf of each non-key employee who is a participant in a defined contribution plan in which the key employee is a participant an extra amount not less than the amount equal to one percent of the employee's compensation for the year. Accordingly, the extra minimum contribution generally is determined under the rules for top-heavy defined contribution plans.

In some cases, the aggregate of a key employee's accrued benefit under an employer's defined benefit plans and annual additions under the employer's defined contribution plans may exceed 1.0 (as applied to the dollar limits) at the time the key employee becomes subject to an aggregate limit of 1.0. In such a case, the key employee is permitted no further benefit accruals under the defined benefit plans and no additional employer contributions under the defined contribution plans until (1) the aggregate of the key employee's accrued benefits and annual additions is less than 1.0 (as applied to the dollar limits), or (2) the aggregate limit for the key employee is increased to 1.25 (as applied to the dollar limits) under the bill. Of course, in no event are further benefit accruals permitted if the aggregate of the employee's accrued benefit and annual additions exceeds 1.25 (as applied to the dollar limit) or 1.4 (as applied under present law).

Distributions to key employees

The agreement also provides new rules for distributions from top-heavy plans to key employees. If a distribution is made to a key employee before he attains age 59½, an additional income tax is imposed equal to 10 percent of the amount includible in income, unless the distribution is made on account of death or disability.

In addition, a top-heavy plan must provide that distributions to a key employee will commence no later than the taxable year in which the key employee attains age 70½, whether or not he separates from service in that year. As under present law, the required distributions must be made in such a manner that more than 50 percent of the total benefits for the employee are payable to the employee over the employee's life expectancy (or the joint life expectancy of the employee and the employee's spouse).

Organizations performing management functions

The conference agreement expands the class of employers which, under the present-law rules for affiliated service groups (sec. 414(m)), are to be treated as a single employer for purposes of certain of the tax-law rules for qualified pension, etc., plans (including the rules for top-heavy plans), cafeteria or medical reimbursement plans, or simplified employer pensions (SEPs). Under the provision, if an organization's principal business is performing, on a regular and continuing basis, management functions for another organization, the person performing the functions and the organization for whom the functions are performed are treated as a single employer.

Under the provision, any person related to the organization performing the management functions is also included in the group which is treated as a single employer. An organization related to the organization for whom the functions are performed is included in the group under the management function rules, if the management functions are also performed, on a regular and continuing basis, for such related organization. However, the provision does not change present law under which aggregation of employers is otherwise required.

For purposes of the provision, the term "organization" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, etc. Whether organizations are related is determined under present law (sec. 103(b)(6)(C).

The conferees intend that the provision is to apply only where the management functions performed by one person for another are functions historically performed by employees, including partners or sole proprietors in the case of an unincorporated trades and businesses. For this purpose, the present-law rules relating to affiliated service organizations and to services historically performed by employees in the case of an affiliated service organization are to apply.

Employee leasing

The conference agreement also provides that, for purposes of certain of the tax-law rules for qualified pension, etc., plans (including the rules for top-heavy plans) and SEPs, an individual (a leased employee) who performs services for another person (the recipient) may be treated as the recipient's employee where the services are performed pursuant to an agreement between the recipient and a third person (the leasing organization) who is otherwise treated as the individual's employer. Under the provision, the individual is to be treated as the recipient's employee only if the individual has performed services for the recipient (or for the recipient and persons related to the recipient) on a substantially full-time basis for a period of at least 12 months, and the services are of a type historically performed by employees in the recipient's business field. For this purpose, the present-law rules relating to services historically performed by employees in the case of an affiliated service organization are to apply.

The employee leasing rules do not apply where services in a particular business field historically have been performed by one person for another. For example, some prepaid health care service programs organized on a group practice basis involve two or three components: the health plan, a separate medical group that provides or arranges physicians' services to the health plan members, and often a related hospital. The hospital and the medical group each may employ its own staff (nurses, technicians, etc.), but both sets of employees may be jointly managed. Alternatively, the staff that supports the medical group may be employed by the health plan. These forms of operation are well established in the group practice prepaid health care field. The conferees intend that the "historically performed" exception is to apply in these cases (whether the form of operation is currently in effect or put into effect for existing components of an established group practice prepaid health care service program or for the components of a new program) if the health plan, the hospital, and the medical group provide substantially similar, though not necessarily exactly equivi-lent retirement benefits through tax qualifed plans to salaried nonunion employees and partners.

For purposes of determining whether a pension, etc., plan or a SEP maintained by the recipient satisfies the applicable tax-law requirements, the leased employee is treated as the recipient's employee for periods after the close of the 12-month period described in the preceding paragraph. However, the leased employee's years of service for the recipient are determined by taking into account the entire period for which the leased employee performed services for the recipient (or for a related person).

Under the provision, contributions or benefits for the leased employee which are provided by the leasing organization under a qualified plan or a SEP maintained by the leasing organization are to be treated as if provided by the recipient to the extent such contributions or benefits are attributable to services performed by the leased employee for the recipient.

Under the provision, an individual who otherwise would be treated as a recipient's employee will not be treated as such an employee, if certain requirements are met with respect to contributions and benefits provided for the individual under a qualified money purchase pension plan maintained by the leasing organization. Such a plan qualifies if it provides that (1) an individual is a plan participant on the first day on which the individual becomes an employee of an employer maintaining the plan, (2) each employee's rights to or derived from employer contributions under the plan are nonforfeitable (sec. 411(a)) at the time the contributions are made, and (3) amounts are to be contributed by the employer on behalf of an employee at a rate not less than 7½ percent of the employee's compensation for the year (the 7½ percent contribution is not to be reduced by integration with social security).

For purposes of the provision, the term person includes individuals and organizations (corporations, partnerships, etc.). Whether persons are related persons is determined under present law (sec. 103(b)(6)(C)).

The provision authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to prescribe regulations under which a leased employee will not be treated as the recipient's employee, notwithstanding that the provision may otherwise apply. Under the conference agreement, the Secretary is to prescribe such regulations where it is determined that to treat a leased employee as the recipient's employee is not appropriate, taking into account the purposes underlying those qualified plan rules with respect to which the provision applies.

Certain corporations performing personal services

Under the conference agreement, if a corporation, the principal activity of which is the performance of personal services substantially all of which are performed by employee-owners for or on behalf of another corporation, partnership, or entity (including related parties), is availed of for the principal purpose of evasion or avoidance of Federal income tax by securing for any employee-owner significant tax benefits which would not otherwise be available, then the Secretary may allocate all income, as well as such deductions, credits, exclusions, etc., as may be allowable, between or among the corporation and employee-owners involved. For this purpose, an employee-owner is defined as any employee who owns (after application of the attribution rules under section 318) more than 10 percent of the outstanding stock of the corporation. The conferees intend that the provisions overturn the results reached in cases like Keller v. Commissioner, 77 TC 1014 (1981), where the corporation served no meaningful business purpose other than to secure tax benefits which would not otherwise be available.

The provision applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

Disincorporation relief

The conferees understand that a number of personal service corporations may wish to liquidate when the parity provisions of the conference agreement take effect. Therefore, a transitional rule is provided under which personal service corporations may, during 1983 or 1984, complete a one-month liquidation under section 333 of the Code without the risk that the corporation would incur tax on its unrealized receivables. Of course, the income represented by unrealized receivables will retain its character as ordinary income and will be fully recognized by the distributee shareholder upon subsequent collection or other disposition.

Group-term life insurance

The conference agreement also provides that the income exclusion for employer-provided group term life insurance (sec. 79) will apply with respect to a key employee only if the life insurance is provided under a program of the employer which does not discriminate in favor of key employees as to (1) eligibility to participate, or (2) the life insurance benefits provided under the plan.

A program of an employer providing group-term life insurance for employees generally will not be considered to discriminate in favor of key employees as to eligibility to participate if (1) the program benefits at least 70 percent of all employees, (2) at least 85 percent of all participating employees are not key employees, or (3) the program benefits employees who qualify under a classification set up by the employer and found by the Secretary of the Treasury not to discriminate in favor or key employees. Alternatively, a program of an employer providing group-term life insurance which is provided under a cafeteria plan (sec. 125) will not be considered to discriminate in favor of key employee as to eligibility to participate if the eligibility rules for cafeteria plans are satisfied. For purposes of the provision's rules relating to eligibility to participate, employees of certain related employers would generally be treated as if employed by a single employer. However, the following employees could be excluded from consideration: (1) those who have not completed 3 years of service with the employer, (2) part-time and seasonal employees, and (3) nonresident aliens who receive no U.S. source income from the employer. For this purpose, part-time employees are those whose customary employment is for not more than 20 hours in any one week, and seasonal employees are those whose customary employment is for not more than 5 months in any calendar year. In addition, employees not covered by the program but covered by a collective bargaining agreement need not be taken into account if group-term life insurance was the subject of good faith bargaining between the employer and employee representatives.

A program of an employer providing group-term life insurance for employees will not be considered to discriminate in favor of key employees as to the benefits provided, if the program does not discriminate in favor of such employees with regard to the type and amount of the benefits. For this purpose, group-term life insurance benefits will not be considered to discriminate merely because the amount of life insurance provided employees bears a uniform relationship to compensation. Of course, the requirement that group-term life insurance benefits be nondiscriminatory can be satisfied where, under the facts and circumstances, no discrimination in favor of key employees occurs. For example, the requirement would be satisfied when the life insurance benefits are a level dollar amount which is the same for all covered employees.

The conferees intend that the Secretary of the Treasury is to revise the tables for computing the amount includible in an employee's gross income on account of employer-provided group-term life insurance. The conferees further intend that the tables be periodically revised to reflect current group-term life insurance costs.

Effective dates

The agreement's provisions relating to parity between corporate and noncorporate employers, top-heavy plans, organizations performing management functions, employee leasing, and group-term life insurance apply to years beginning after December 31, 1983.

The provisions relating to certain corporations performing personal services applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1982.

4. Retirement savings for church employees

Present law

Under present law, public schools and certain tax-exempt organizations (including churches) may contribute to a tax-sheltered annuity contract for an employee. Annual contributions excluded from an employee's income are limited to 20 percent of the employee's compensation multiplied by the number of the employee's years of service with the employer, reduced by amounts already contributed by the employer. Employer contributions to a tax-sheltered annuity are also subject to the overall limit on annual additions to tax-favored retirement savings arrangements. Special one-time elections increase the overall limit for a year to allow contributions in that year that are permitted under the exclusion allowance on account of prior years of service. The elections are not available to most church employees.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment revises the present-law tax-sheltered annuity rules as they apply to church employees by (1) providing a minimum exclusion allowance equal to the lesser of $3,000 or 100 percent of compensation for employees with adjusted gross income of $17,000 or less; (2) providing that all years of service with organizations that are part of a particular church are treated as years with one employer; (3) extending to all church employees the special catchup elections to increase the annual contribution limit; (4) providing an additional election for church employees which increases the contribution limit by up to $10,000 for any year, subject to a $40,000 lifetime cap; (5) permitting churches to maintain segregated defined contribution retirement savings programs pursuant to the tax-sheltered annuity rules; and (6) providing a special retroactive correction period for church plans.

These changes apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981, except that the provision permitting retroactive amendments applies after July 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with regard to permitted contributions for church employees under the exclusion allowance and annual contribution limit for tax-sheltered annuities.

The conference agreement also follows the Senate amendment by allowing a church which maintains a tax-sheltered annuity, retirement income account, or pension plan, a retroactive amendment period if the annuity, account or plan, is required to be amended by reason of any law, or any regulation, ruling or other action under the tax laws. During the correction period, the annuity, account, or plan would be treated as satisfying the applicable tax-law requirement. To qualify for this treatment, the required amendment or other modification generally must be made not later than at the next earliest church convention. However, the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe an alternative time period within which the required amendment is to be made. In this regard, the Secretary is to take into account that church governing bodies typically meet at lengthy intervals. Of course, in no event is the permitted correction period for a church to be less than that allowed under present law (sec. 401(b)).

The conference agreement also follows the Senate amendment by providing that the tax rules for tax-sheltered annuities are to apply to church-maintained retirement income accounts that are defined contribution plans (sec. 414(i)). However, the conference agreement further provides that a church-maintained retirement income program in existence on August 13, 1982 will not be considered as failing to satisfy the requirements for a tax-sheltered annuity (sec. 403(b)) merely because the program is a defined benefit plan (sec. 414(j)). For this purpose, a church-maintained retirement income program is considered to be in existence on August 13, 1982, notwithstanding that after that date the program is amended, otherwise modified, or extended to benefit other employees. In addition, if a church-maintained retirement income program which is otherwise a defined benefit plan provides a benefit which is based, in part, on the balance of a separate account of an employee, the conferees intend that the separate account can qualify as a defined contribution plan for purposes of the rules relating to retirement income accounts.

The conferees intend that the assets of a retirement income account for the benefit of an employee or his beneficiaries may be commingled in a common fund made up of such accounts. However, that part of the common fund which equitably belongs to any account must be separately accounted for (i.e., it must be possible at all times to determine the account's interest in the fund), and cannot be used for, or diverted to, any purposes other than the exclusive benefit of such employee and beneficiaries. Provided those requirements are met, the assets of a retirement income account also may be commingled with the assets of a tax-qualified plan without adversely affecting the status of the account or the qualification of the plan.

The conferees also intend that the assets of a church plan (sec. 414(e)) may be commingled in a common fund with other amounts devoted exclusively to church purposes (for example, a fund maintained by a church pension board) if that part of the fund which equitably belongs to the plan is separately accounted for and cannot be used for or diverted to purposes other than for the exclusive benefit of employees and their beneficiaries. Of course, the reasonable costs of administering a retirement income account (including an account which is a part of a common fund) may be charged against the account. Such costs include the reasonable costs of administering a retirement income program of which the account is a part, including costs associated with informing employees and employers of the availability of the program.

5. State judicial retirement plans

Present law

Under present law, State or local government employees may defer compensation under an eligible State deferred compensation plan, subject to prescribed annual limits. If a plan of a State or local government is not an eligible plan, amounts under the plan are includible in an employee's income when there is no substantial risk of forfeiture.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that participants in a qualified State judicial plan are not required to include benefits in gross income merely because there is no substantial risk that the benefits will be forfeited. The plan must be a mandatory retirement plan for State judges under which each contributes the same percentage of income and receives a retirement benefit based upon compensation paid to judges holding similar positions. The plan must have been continuously in existence since December 31, 1978, and must meet certain additional requirements. The provision applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1978.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

6. Contribution for disabled employees

Present law

Under present law, contributions to a tax-qualified profit-sharing or other defined contributions to a tax-qualified profit-sharing or other defined contribution plan generally may not be made for an employee after the employee separates from the service of the employer.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment permits an employer to continue deductible contributions to a profit-sharing or other defined contribution plan for an employee (other than an officer, owner, or highly compensated individual) who is permanently and totally disabled provided that the contributions are nonforfeitable when made. For this purpose, a disabled employee's compensation is deemed equal to his annualized compensation prior to his becoming disabled. The provision applies to years beginning after December 31, 1981.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

7. Participation in group trusts by governmental plans

Present law

Under present law, a group trust is exempt from tax only if each of the participating trusts is a qualified trust forming a part of a qualified pension, etc., plan or an IRA.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that the tax-exempt status of a group trust will not be adversely affected merely because a participating trust is part of a governmental plan without regard to whether the governmental trust is a qualified trust or the governmental plan is a qualified plan. The provision applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement modifies the Senate amendment generally to permit all governmental retirement plans to participate in a tax-exempt group trust. Under the conference agreement, the tax-exempt status of a group trust will not be adversely affected merely because the trust accepts monies from (a) a retirement plan of a State or local government, whether or not the plan is a qualified plan and whether or not the assets are held in trust, or (b) any State or local governmental monies intended for use in satisfying an obligation of such State or local government to provide a retirement benefit under a governmental plan. Of course, any group trust in which a plan of a private employer participates will remain subject to the present-law rules relating to unrelated business taxable income (sec. 511 et seq.), notwithstanding that the trust includes a governmental plan.

E. Insurance Provisions

1. Reinsurance arrangements

Present law

Under present law, a ceding company and the reinsurer may elect to report a modified coinsurance transaction for tax purposes as if the assets relating to the risks reinsured were transferred to the reinsurer, as if the premium income for the reinsured policies and the investment income on the assets were received directly by the reinsurer, and also as if reserves to reflect liability for future claims were maintained by the reinsurer. However, no transfer of assets actually occurs. Through the use of modified coinsurance agreements and the payment of experience refunds by the reinsurer, some life insurance companies have used modified coinsurance to avoid or substantially reduce income taxes.

Under present law, a reinsurer (under either a modified coinsurance or a conventional coinsurance agreement between life insurance companies) is treated as having paid policyholder dividends to the extent it reimburses the ceding company for payment of such dividends.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment repeals the special elective provisions for modified coinsurance arrangements. Existing arrangements will be treated as terminated on January 1, 1982, and reinsurers will be permitted to pay any tax attributable to termination treatment in installments over a 3-year period. With respect to the reimbursement of policyholder dividends, the present law rule will continue for conventional coinsurance arrangements. With respect to other reinsurance arrangements, the Senate amendment denies any deduction (in computing taxable investment income) for interest paid on debt obligations issued by a ceding company in connection with such arrangements.[1] Also, the Secretary is granted authority to recharacterize items in connection with a reinsurance arrangement between related taxpayers in order to reflect the proper source and character of taxable income. Finally, pre-1982 modified coinsurance transactions are grandfathered except in the event of fraud.

[1] It is the intention of the conferees that no inference is to be drawn from the inclusion of the limited specific rules (and exceptions) for debt-financed conventional coinsurance arrangements but not for other arrangements. In appropriate circumstances, the Internal Revenue Service may challenge other conventional coinsurance contracts on other grounds, e.g., the lack of economic substance of a transaction, the lack of a bona fide business purpose, or the fact that the principal purpose of the transaction is evasion of Federal income tax.

These provisions are effective as of January 1, 1982, except the special allocation authority for related party reinsurance contracts applies to contracts entered into after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with certain modifications. One change makes it clear that increases in reserves attributable to the restoration of reserves to a ceding company under the modified coinsurance termination accounting rules do not qualify for the special deduction for 10 percent of the increases in reserves for nonparticipating contracts. A special election is provided under which certain ceding companies may revoke a section 820 election for modified coinsurance contracts entered into during 1980 or 1981 with an unrelated reinsurer. Only a company that had a loss from operations or was a "phase II negative" company for the year of the transaction is eligible to revoke the section 820 election. If revoked, the contract is treated as a modified coinsurance contract to which a section 820 election did not apply with respect to the reinsured company for all taxable years for which the contract is in force. A special transition rule is also provided to except interest paid in connection with a corporate restructuring transaction from the limitation imposed on interest incurred on debt issued for a coinsurance arrangement entered into early in 1982. The exception applies only if substantial cash principal payments were made prior to July 1, 1982, and the note is fully paid in cash before January 1, 1983.

The provisions relating to reimbursements are also revised so that policyholder dividends paid in connection with reinsured policies are treated as paid by the reinsured company rather than the reinsurer.

2. Policyholder dividends

Present law

Under present law, the deduction for policyholder dividends (and certain other special deductions) is limited to $250,000 plus the amount by which gain from operations (computed without regard to these deductions) exceeds taxable investment income.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment increases the $250,000 limit to $1 million. The limit must be allocated among members of an affiliated group of corporations. The limit is also phased out for larger companies (between $4 million and $8 million in dividends paid). Alternatively, at the annual election of the taxpayer, the amount of special deductions is limited to the sum of 100 percent of the policyholder dividends credited to qualified pension plans, the statutory amount of $1 million (subject to the affiliated group and phaseout rules), and 77½ percent of the policyholder dividends paid by mutual companies on other than pension business or 85 percent of policyholder dividends and the special deduction for nonparticipating contracts for stock companies.

These provisions apply for a 3-year period beginning with 1982 and ending with 1984.

Conference agreement

Generally, the conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. However, the provisions apply for a 2-year period (1982–1983) rather than a 3-year period.

3. Life insurance reserves and contract liabilities

Present law

Present law permits taxpayers to revalue life insurance reserves computed on a preliminary term basis to a net level premium basis. Under an approximate revaluation method, reserves for other than term insurance are generally increased by $21 per $1,000 insurance in force, less 2.1 percent of reserves under such contracts. Also, in computing reserves for certain contracts, taxpayers may reflect the future liability for interest (which may be guaranteed for more than one year) in excess of the assumed rate for such contracts.

Under present law, life insurance companies are deemed to allocate investment yield to pension contracts on the basis of the current earnings rate whether or not that rate exceeds the rate guaranteed under the contract. However, if the guaranteed rate of interest exceeds the current earnings rate, a taxpayer can allocate investment yield at the actual rate rather than the current earnings rate by removing life contingencies from the contracts.

For purposes of qualifying as a life insurance company for tax purposes, present law requires that more than 50 percent of a company's total reserves must consist of life insurance reserves. The Internal Revenue Service has several pending ruling requests concerning the reserve treatment of funds held under certain pension contracts that do not involve life contingencies (i.e., that do not contain permanent annuity purchase rate guarantees).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment revises the approximate revaluation formula for preliminary term reserves by reducing the revaluation from $21 to $19 per $1,000 of other than term insurance in force, for business written after March 31, 1982. In addition, no reserve deductions will be allowed for excess interest guaranteed beyond the close of a taxable year.

The Senate amendment provides that, beginning July 1, 1983, the policy or contract liability for group pension contracts, for purposes of determining the excludable policyholder share of investment yield, is limited to the amount of interest actually credited to the contracts. The intention is to eliminate the so-called "double-dip" available under present law with respect to these contracts.

Finally, the Senate amendment provides that, for any taxable year ending before January 1, 1985, life insurance company status for a company will not be changed by treating reserves for group pension contracts without permanent annuity purchase rate guarantees as not being insurance reserves.

The reduction for revaluing preliminary term reserves is effective for taxable years beginning after 1981 and before January 1, 1985, but only for business written after March 31, 1982. The limitation on computing reserves for guaranteed interest is effective for guarantees made after July 1, 1982, and before January 1, 1985. The limitation on interest credited to group pension contracts applies to periods beginning after July 1, 1983 and before January 1, 1985. The provision dealing with the status of a company as a life insurance company applies to taxable years ending before January 1, 1985.

Conference agreement

Generally, the conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. However, the reduction in the approximate revaluation formula for preliminary term reserves is made permanent rather than applying only for the 2-year period.

A transitional rule is provided for the rules disallowing excess interest guaranteed beyond the close of a taxable year for certain situations when the establishment of such reserves for taxable years beginning before January 1, 1982, did not result in any Federal income tax benefits. In these cases, the amount of such reserves may be recomputed by a taxpayer as of the beginning of the first taxable year beginning after December 31, 1981, to reflect the amount that would have been determined as of the close of the previous taxable year if the new limitation had been in effect. This recomputation would be taken into account for purposes of determining any increase or decrease in reserves for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981. However, taxpayers taking advantage of this transition rule must compute such reserves in accordance with the new rule notwithstanding the fact that the interest rate guarantees were made prior to July 1, 1982.

Except for the permanent change relating to the revaluation of preliminary term reserves, the other provisions relating to life insurance reserves and contract liabilities will apply only during a period (1982–1983) rather than a 3-year period. The provisions relating to the allocation of investment yield to group pension contracts will apply as of January 1, 1983 (rather than July 1, 1983) during the 2-year period.

4. Menge formula

Present law

Under present law, a formula, commonly called the "Menge" formula, is used to compute the amount of adjusted life insurance reserves. Simply stated, the formula is a mechanical arithmetic adjustment used to compute adjusted life insurance reserves. The amount computed is then used in determining the policyholders' share of investment yield and accordingly affects the computation of a life insurance company's taxable investment income.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides a "geometric" Menge formula to compute adjusted life insurance reserves for purposes of allocating investment yield to policyholders. The provision applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981, and before January 1, 1985.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. However, the provisions apply for a 2-year period (1982–1983) rather than a 3-year period.

5. Consolidated returns

Present law

Under present law, two or more affiliated domestic life insurance companies may elect to file a consolidated return. For reporting purposes, some taxpayers have taken the position that taxable income first is determined for each component member of the affiliated group and then consolidated by adding those separate company taxable incomes. This approach is sometimes referred to as the "bottom-line" method of consolidation. The ruling position of the Internal Revenue Service is that the taxable investment bases and the gain from operations bases first must be aggregated to arrive at consolidated group amounts and then these aggregate tax bases apply for the consolidated group. This approach is sometimes referred to as a "phase-by-phase" method of consolidation.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that a "bottom-line" method of consolidation is allowed for determining consolidated life insurance company taxable income. Further, the Internal Revenue Service cannot disturb a bottom-line reporting position taken in a consolidated return filed for taxable years ending before 1982.

The provision applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981, and before January 1, 1985. The grandfather protection applies to taxable years beginning before 1981 for returns (including amended returns) filed before July 1, 1982, and to taxable years beginning in 1981 for returns filed before September 16, 1982.

Conference agreement

Generally, the conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. However, the provisions apply for a 2-year period (1982–1983) rather than a 3-year period.

6. Allowance of deduction for excess interest

Present law

The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that excess interest credited by an insurance company with respect to certain deferred annuity contracts is a policyholder dividend subject to the statutory deduction limitation. Taxpayers have taken the position that excess interest is fully deductible as an increase in reserves for guaranteed contractual benefits.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment allows a deduction for 100 percent of the interest credited to qualified annuities if it is guaranteed in advance, at a fixed rate or in accordance with a formula, for a period of not less than 12 months. For purposes of this deduction an annuity contract is "qualified" if it is not a pension plan contract, involves life contingencies, is nonparticipating under State law, and provides for the payment of excess interest. A participating contract, meeting all other requirements, may also be treated as a qualified contract at the election of the taxpayer, but the interest deduction is limited to 92½ percent of total interest credited (i.e., assumed interest plus excess interest).

These provisions apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981. Contracts with interest guarantees for less than 12 months and issued before January 1, 1983, are grandfathered if they are in compliance with the new provisions on January 1, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment with certain technical and clarifying amendments. First, the interest guaranteed from a contract's original date of issue until the end of the taxable year qualifies for the 100 percent deduction even though it is guaranteed for less than 12 months. Second, with respect to participating contracts, 100 percent deduction is allowed for the permanently guaranteed rate of interest and 92½ percent for any interest credited in excess of the guaranteed rate. Third, contracts with interest guarantees for less than 12 months will be grandfathered with respect to moneys held on August 13, 1982, and any interest earned thereafter; contracts issued after August 13, 1982, and before January 1, 1983, must conform to the new provisions by the first contract anniversary date after January 1, 1983.

7. Amounts received under annuity contracts

Present law

Under present law, taxation of interest or other current earnings on a policyholder's investment in an annuity contract generally is deferred until annuity payments are received or amounts characterized as income are withdrawn. Amounts paid out before the annuity starting date are first a return of capital and are taxable (as ordinary income) only after investment in the contract is recovered. There is no tax penalty for withdrawals or surrenders before the annuity starting date or before a certain age.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that amounts received before the annuity starting date will be treated first as withdrawals of income earned on investments to the extent of such income, the remainder being treated as a return of capital. Likewise, loans under the contract, or amounts received upon assignment or pledging of the contract, will be treated as amounts received under the contract. These provisions apply as of July 1, 1982, but do not apply to income amounts allocable to investments made before July 2, 1982, to endowment or life insurance contracts (except to the extent prescribed in regulations), or to contracts purchased under qualified pension plans.

In addition, the Senate amendment imposes a penalty on certain distributions from an annuity contract. The penalty will be equal to 10 percent of the amount includible in income, to the extent the amount is allocable to an investment made within 10 years of the receipt. However, the penalty will not apply to a distribution that is (1) made on or after the policyholder reaches age 59½; (2) made to a beneficiary on or after death of the policyholder; (3) attributable to the policyholder becoming disabled; (4) a payment under an annuity for life or at least 5 years; (5) from a qualified pension plan; or (6) allocable to an investment before July 2, 1982.

The penalty only applies to distributions made after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, but reduces the amount of the penalty to 5 percent and changes the effective date for the provisions to August 13, 1982 (except that the penalty still applies to distributions made after December 31, 1982).

Also, under the conference agreement, a replacement contract obtained in a tax-free exchange of contracts succeeds to the status of the surrendered contract for purposes of the new provisions. Such exchanges are subject to the new provisions in this Act for information reporting on pension plans and commercial annuity contracts.

8. Flexible premium contracts

Present law

Under present law, gross income does not include proceeds of a life insurance contract paid by reason of the death of the insured. In a private letter ruling, the Internal Revenue Service concluded that the entire amount paid upon death under a universal life insurance contract is excluded from gross income even though the death benefit may reflect a large cash fund and a relatively small amount of pure insurance protection. However, the Service is reconsidering this position.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides mandatory guidelines for determining whether a death benefit paid under a life insurance contract that provides for payment of one or more premiums not fixed by the insurer as to both timing and amount (a flexible premium life insurance contract) should be excluded from gross income. In addition to providing a life insurance benefit, such contracts can also provide benefits for guaranteed insurability, accidental death, family term coverage, or waiver of premium; they cannot provide any annuity benefits other than as settlement options.

The guidelines contain two tests which the contract must meet at all times in order to be considered life insurance thereunder. First, under a premium test, the sum of the premiums paid cannot exceed the single premium at issue (or sum of the level premiums) necessary to fund the death benefit of the contract and the charges for any qualified additional benefits. Second, under a death benefit test, the death benefit (without regard to any additional benefits) must never be less than specified percentages of the cash value of the contract. The amendment gives the Secretary discretion to allow corrections of excessive premium payments. It also allows 30 days after the close of the contract year to return excessive premium payments with interest to the policyholder and allows otherwise disqualifying premium payments if necessary to prevent terminations of the contract.

The amendment provisions apply to contracts issued before January 1, 1985. However, any contract issued before October 1, 1982, that complies with the new guidelines within one year after enactment shall be treated as being in compliance for all prior periods.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, but adds an alternative cash value test for purposes of meeting the flexible premium life insurance guidelines. Under this test, a flexible premium contract will provide life insurance for purposes of Code section 101 if, by the terms of the contract, the cash value will not at any time exceed the net single premium for the death benefit (without regard to any additional benefits) at such time. For purposes of this alternative test, the net single premium must be computed using the most recent mortality table, an assumed interest rate that is the greater of 4 percent or the minimum rate or rates guaranteed in the contract, and a maturity date of not earlier than age 95.

Because of difficulties in conforming certain existing contracts to the guidelines, the conference agreement modifies the transition rules concerning the assumed interest rates used in the guideline premium computations. In computing the net single premium for the alternative cash value test, the required assumed interest rate will be the greater of 3 percent or the minimum rate or rates guaranteed in the contract for contracts issued before July 1, 1983; a similar transition rule is adopted for purposes of the premium test and computing the guideline level premium, for contracts issued before January 1, 1983. Also, the conference agreement modifies the general transition rule to the Senate amendment and allows compliance within one year after enactment for any flexible premium contracts issued before January 1, 1983 (rather than October 1, 1982).

Also, the conference agreement clarifies that any flexible premium contract that is treated under State law as a single integrated life insurance contract and that satisfies these guidelines will be treated for Federal tax purposes as a single contract of life insurance and not as a contract that provides separable life insurance and annuity benefits.

Finally, the conferees agree to allow 60 days (rather than 30 days) to return excessive premium payments.

9. Indeterminate premium policies

Present law

In a private letter ruling, issued in June, 1982, the Internal Revenue Service held, among other things, that the excess of the maximum premium chargeable over the premium actually collected should be treated as a distribution of policyholder dividends which is paid back as a premium to the company.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that, for taxable years beginning before 1982, amounts that could have been charged as a premium or mortality charge, but were not, will not be included in premium income.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

10. Underpayments of 1982 estimated taxes

Present law

Under present law, a nondeductible penalty is imposed on underpayments of estimated taxes.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides that the underpayment penalty will not apply to underpayment periods ending before December 15, 1982, to the extent an underpayment is created or increased by the provisons of the bill affecting life insurance companies.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

F. Employment Tax Provisions

1. Independent Cotractors

a. Alternative standards for determining classification of workers for employment tax purposes and extension of certain interim provisions

Present law

In general

Common law (i.e., nonstatutory) rules generally apply in determining whether particular workers are treated as employees or as independent contractors (self-employed persons) for Federal employment tax purposes. However, certain individuals are classified by the tax statute as employees for FICA (social security) tax purposes. These statutory FICA employees are certain agent-drivers or commission-drivers, full-time life insurance sales persons, home workers performing services on goods or materials, and full-time traveling or city sales persons.

Interim provisions relating to classification controversies

Section 530 of the Revenue Act of 1978 provided that taxpayers who had a reasonable basis for not treating workers as employees in the past could continue such treatment without incurring employment tax liabilities. This relief was available only if the taxpayer filed all Federal tax returns (including information returns) that are required to be filed with respect to workers whose status is at issue on a basis consistent with the taxpayer's treatment of the workers as independent contractors. Also, the 1978 Act prohibited the Treasury Department from issuing any regulation or revenue ruling that classifies individuals for purposes of employment taxes under interpretations of the common law.

The interim provisions of Section 530 of the Revenue Act of 1978 were extended, by subsequent legislation, through June 30, 1982.

Senate amendment

In general

The satisfaction of a safe-harbor test results in classification of a worker as an independent contractor for Federal employment tax purposes other than under the Railroad Retirement Tax Act. (A statutory FICA tax employee could be classified under the safe-harbor for income tax purposes.) The safe-harbor requirements, generally applicable to post-1982 services, relate to (1) control of hours worked, (2) place of business, (3) investment or income fluctuation, (4) written contract and notice of tax responsibilities, and (5) the filing of required returns. A special rule applies with respect to certain home-health care workers.

Interim provisions relating to classification controversies

The interim provisions (Section 530 of the Revenue Act of 1978) are extended through December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

Statutory nonemployees.—The conference agreement does not include any safe-harbor test (or any special rule with respect to home-health care workers). The conference agreement establishes two categories of statutory nonemployees. Under this provision, sales persons who are licensed real estate agents, and individuals who are direct sellers, are treated for Federal income and employment tax purposes as self-employed persons where substantially all the remuneration paid for their services as real estate agents or direct sellers is directly related to sales or other output and where such services are performed pursuant to a written contract providing that they will not be treated as employees for Federal tax purposes. In defining direct sellers, the bill's reference to individuals engaged in the trade or business of selling or soliciting the sale of consumer products includes the activities of individuals who attempt to increase direct sales activities of their direct sellers and who realize remuneration dependent on the productivity of those direct sellers. These activities include providing motivation or encouragement, imparting skills, knowledge, or experience, or recruiting activities. Also, in defining qualified real estate agents, the bill's reference to sales persons who are licensed real estate agents includes the appraisal activities of licensed real estate agents in connection with real estate sales activities if such individuals realize remuneration dependent on sales or other output. This provision applies to services performed after 1982.

Interim provisions.—The conference agreement indefinitely extends the interim provisions (section 530 of the Revenue Act of 1978) from July 1, 1982, until such time as the Congress enacts legislation as to the classification of workers as independent contractors or employees. This provision does not prohibit implementation (e.g., through issuance of regulations or rulings) of the provision in the conference agreement relating to statutory nonemployees.

b. Reduction of certain employment tax liabilities where workers are reclassified as employees

Present law

If a worker reclassification occurs, the employer generally is responsible for all employment tax liabilities (income tax withholding, both the employer's and the employee's share of FICA taxes, and FUTA taxes) with respect to the reclassified workers. Federal income tax withholding assessments may be adjusted if the reclassified worker pays (or has paid) the proper amount of income tax. A FICA-SECA offset is authorized only if the reclassified worker is prevented from filing for a refund of the SECA tax paid in error.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment provides for reduced employment tax liability in certain reclassification cases.

Generally, an employer will be liable for 1.5 percent of wages (3.0 percent if no information returns were filed) if the employer erroneously treated the worker as a nonemployee for income tax purposes. If the employer erroneously treated the worker as a nonemployee for social security tax purposes, the employer will be liable for 20 percent of the worker's share of FICA tax that should have been withheld (40 percent if no information returns were filed). These reduced liabilities do not apply if the employer treats a worker as a nonemployee with intentional disregard of the law.

The Senate amendment is effective on enactment, but does not apply to assessments made before January 1, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

c. Tax Court jurisdiction over certain employment tax issues

Present law

The U.S. Tax Court does not have jurisdiction over disputes involving Federal employment taxes.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The jurisdiction of the U.S. Tax Court is extended to include employment tax reclassification liabilities arising out of services performed after 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment. The conferees understand that a taxpayer generally may challenge an employment tax assessment merely by paying the tax for one worker for one quarter, and then suing for a refund of that tax. Furthermore, the conferees understand that the Internal Revenue Service generally will forbear from active collection efforts while refund litigation is pending, if the government's interests are not jeopardized thereby.

2. Federal Unemployment Tax (FUTA) Provisions

a. FUTA tax rate

Present law

The Federal-State unemployment compensation system is financed by separate Federal and State payroll taxes on employers. Administrative funds are derived from the Federal payroll tax and benefits are paid mainly from State payroll taxes.

Under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA), a payroll tax of 3.4 percent on the first $6,000 of wages is levied on employers who, in the current or last year, employed at least one person for 20 different weeks or had a quarterly payroll of at least $1,500. If a State's unemployment compensation program meets the requirements of Federal law, employers in the State receive a 2.7 percent credit against the 3.4 percent Federal tax. Thus, under current law, the standard net Federal tax rate in all States is 0.7 percent. (The tax rate is higher in certain States that have outstanding Federal unemployment loans.)

States also levy unemployment taxes on all covered employers in the State. These taxes finance regular State benefits and one-half the costs of extended benefits. The method and level of taxation varies considerably among the States. All States (except Puerto Rico) provide a system of experience rating under which State tax rates vary among employers according to the total amount of unemployment benefits that have recently been paid to former employees of each employer. In 1981, the estimated average State tax rate was 2.4 percent of taxable wages, ranging from 0.5 percent in Texas to 4.0 percent in Michigan. All States have a wage base of at least $6,000. Twenty-five States have a higher wage base, ranging from $6,600 to $14,000. In Puerto Rico, taxes are paid on total wages.

Sixty-five percent of the revenue raised by the Federal unemployment tax is allocated to the Employment Security Administration Account (ESAA) and 35 percent is allocated to the Extended Benefits Account (EUCA). Upon repayment of the Federal general revenue advances to EUCA, the 0.2 percent temporary tax will be eliminated and the allocation to EUCA will be reduced to 10 percent of the revenue raised by the Federal unemployment tax.

A State that has depleted its own unemployment funds may receive Federal loans as necessary to pay regular State benefits. States that borrow funds have 2 to 3 years to repay the loan, depending on the month the loan is received. If a State does not fully repay all loans within the 2 to 3 year period, employers in the State become subject to an annual reduction in the offset credit against the gross Federal unemployment tax rate of at least 0.3 percent. This means the net Federal tax rate, currently 0.7 percent, becomes subject to annual increases of at least 0.3 percent, up to a maximum of 3.4 percent, until sufficient revenue has been raised through such increases to repay the State's entire outstanding loan balance.

There are two potential credit reductions that are in addition to the annual 0.3 percent reduction. In the fourth year, in addition to another 0.3 percent reduction, employers in the State face a reduction equal to the amount that 2.7 percent exceeds the State's average tax rate on taxable wages in the calendar year to which the reduction applies. In the fifth year and thereafter, employers face a reduction, in addition to another 0.3 percent, equal to the higher of the amount of the additional fourth year reduction or the amount that the State's 5-year benefit cost rate exceeds the State's average tax rate on taxable wages in the calendar year to which the reduction applies. (The benefit-cost rate is benefits divided by taxable wages.)

Effective April 1, 1982, through December 31, 1987, States must pay interest on new Federal unemployment loans that are not repaid by the end of the fiscal year in which they are obtained. The interest rate is the same rate paid by the Federal Government on State reserves in the unemployment trust fund for the quarter ending December 31 of the preceding year, but not higher than 10 percent per annum. Interest payments are credited to the General Fund of the U.S. Treasury.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Effective January 1, 1983, the Senate amendment would increase the Federal unemployment tax wage base from $6,000 to $7,000. (This will require States, in order for employers to qualify for the 2.7 credit against the gross Federal tax rate, to have a State unemployment tax wage base of at least $7,000.)

The gross Federal unemployment tax rate would be increased from 3.4 to 3.5. Employers in States with approved State programs will continue to receive the 2.7 offset credit, so the standard net Federal tax would be 0.8 percent. This provision also is effective January 1, 1983.

Effective January 1, 1985, the Senate amendment would increase the gross Federal tax rate to 6.2 percent. This includes a permanent tax of 6.0 percent plus a temporary 0.2 percent that would remain in effect until all outstanding general revenue loans to the Federal Extended Unemployment Compensation Account (EUCA) have been repaid. The offset credit would increase to 5.4, so the net Federal tax rate would remain at 0.8 percent until the EUCA account has paid off all general revenue loans, when it would drop to 0.6 percent. The wage base remains at $7,000.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with the following modifications. States that, under State law in effect as of August 10, 1982, allow certain specified industries to pay a non-experience based State unemployment tax rate that is below 5.4 percent could provide for such industries to reach gradually the new 5.4 standard tax rate. Annual increases in the State unemployment tax rate for such industries could be limited to no less than 20 percent of the difference between the rate paid by an employer as of August 10, 1982 and 5.4 percent.

The allocation of Federal unemployment tax revenues among accounts in the Federal trust fund is modified to provide that 60 percent of the revenue raised by the 0.8 tax rate (or 0.48 percentage points) will be allocated to the Employment Security Administration Account (ESAA) and 40 percent (or 0.32 percentage points) to the Extended Benefits Account (EUCA). The Secretary will be required to make repayments to the General Fund of the Treasury from the EUCA account whenever he determines that the amount in the account exceeds the amount required to meet Federal extended benefit costs for the next 3 months. The conference agreement also provides, upon repayment of the Federal general revenue advances to EUCA (and elimination of the 0.2 percent tax), 90 percent of FUTA revenues will be allocated to ESSA and 10 percent of EUCA, as under current law.

The conference agreement allows States to make Federal unemployment loan repayments from State trust fund accounts in lieu of further reductions in the credit against the gross Federal unemployment tax rate, provided several requirements are met. First, the State account must have sufficient funds or sufficient income to enable it to repay an amount equal to at least the sum that the credit reduction would have generated plus any advances made to the State during the year. Second, after making this repayment, the State must retain enough funds in its account to pay all State benefits for the next 3 months (from November 1). Finally, the State must have made a change in its law, after the date of enactment of this bill, and after receiving the first advance, that has resulted in an increase in the solvency of its unemployment compensation system.

The conference agreement drops the additional credit reduction based on the State's previous 5-year benefit cost rate that begins in the fifth year a State is subject to annual reductions in the credit against the gross FUTA because of outstanding Federal unemployment loans. This amendment applies to a debtor State in any tax year, beginning after December 31, 1982, in which the State has taken no action during the 12-month period ending on September 30 which has reduced the solvency of the State unemployment trust fund.

Effective for interest due after December 31, 1982, the conference agreement permits States with high unemployment to reduce payments of interest on Federal unemployment loans to 25 percent of the amount due in any year, and thereby extend the payment of the total interest obligation over a 4-year period. (Interest would be charged on any deferred amount.) A State would be able to extend payment of interest due in any calendar year in which the State insured unemployment rate equaled or exceeded 7.5 percent during the first 6 months of the preceding calendar year.

b. Exclusion from FUTA of wages paid to certain students

Present law

Under current law, wages paid to a student under age 22 who is enrolled full-time in a work study or internship program are exempted from the Federal unemployment tax (FUTA) if the work performed is an integral part of the student's academic program.

House bill

The House provision exempts from FUTA tax any wages paid to a student enrolled full-time in a work-study or internship program, regardless of age, for work that is an integral part of the student's academic program, effective for services performed after the date of enactment.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House provision. In addition, for tax year 1983 only, the conferees agreed to exempt from FUTA, wages paid by certain summer camps to employees who are full-time students.

c. Extension of exclusion from FUTA of wages paid to certain alien farmworkers

Present law

Under the Immigration and Nationality Act, residents of foreign countries who do not intend to abandon such residency may be admitted to the United States to work for a temporary period of time during the peak agricultural crop seasons. Prior to 1982, wages paid to such alien farmworkers were excluded from Federal unemployment (FUTA) taxes.

House bill

The House provision extends for 2 years—from January 1, 1982, to January 1, 1984—the provision of prior law that excluded wages paid to certain alien farmworkers from FUTA taxes. The provision is effective upon date of enactment.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House provision.

3. Extension of Social Security hospital insurance taxes and Medicare coverage to Federal employees

Present law

Federal employees generally are not subject to social security hospital insurance taxes nor does their employment qualify them for Medicare coverage.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Federal employment would become subject to the hospital insurance portion of the FICA tax, effective January 1, 1983, and the newly covered Federal employment would be used in determining eligibility for protection under medicare part A (hospital insurance). A transitional provision would provide credit for additional hospital insurance quarters of coverage for certain Federal employees who have attained age 57 by 1983, and who otherwise would not qualify for medicare protection even though they have made hospital insurance tax contributions based on their Federal employment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, with several clarifying and other changes, as follows: All Federal employment currently excluded from FICA taxes would be covered, except for certain services performed by penal inmates, medical interns and student nurses, and temporary emergency employment; hospital insurance quarters of coverage would be earned and credited in the same way as for other covered employment (i.e., specified amounts of covered earnings in a year would result in specified numbers of quarters of coverage); and the transitional provision, which would apply to Federal employees who perform service during and before January 1983, would give such employees credit toward medicare eligibility (up to the minimum amount required) for past Federal employment. Employees of States and localities, including the District of Columbia, would continue to be exempt from FICA taxes.

The conference agreement permits individuals who have worked for the Federal Government to obtain medicare benefits if they file and meet the insured status and other disability eligibility requirements of the social security disability cash benefits program, even though no such cash benefits would otherwise be payable. The medicare application would be treated as an application for disability benefits (for purposes of determining eligibility to medicare).

The Secretary of Health and Human Services and the Director of the Office of Personnel Management are required fully to inform Federal employees (particularly those who might be or become eligible for medicare benefits because of a disability) of the terms and conditions of medicare eligibility.

G. Excise Tax Provisions

1. Airport and airway taxes

Present law

There is a 5-percent tax on domestic air passenger tickets, the revenues from which go into the general fund. In addition, there is a 4-cents-per-gallon tax on gasoline used by noncommercial aviation and there are taxes on aircraft tires and tubes; the revenues from these taxes currently go into the Highway Trust Fund.

House bill

No provision.

However, H.R. 4800 as reported by the Committee on Ways and Means would have provided the following aviation excise tax rates for the period July 1, 1982–December 31, 1983: (1) 5-percent air passenger ticket tax; (2) 5-percent air freight waybill tax; (3) $5 per person international departure tax; (4) 12-cents-per-gallon tax on gasoline and nongasoline fuels used by noncommercial aviation; and (5) extension of the present taxes on aircraft tires and tubes. Revenues from these aviation excise taxes would have been transferred to the Airport and Airway Trust Fund for the period July 1, 1982–December 31, 1983, and the Airport and Airway Trust Fund statute would have been transferred to the Internal Revenue Code, effective July 1, 1982.

H.R. 4800 also would have made three other modifications to the application of the air passenger ticket tax:

(1) Effective July 1, 1982, the 6-hour layover rule would have been increased to 12 hours for purposes of determining whether the flight is treated as uninterrupted international travel subject only to the departure tax (i.e., not subject to the domestic ticket tax).

(2) The Secretary of the Treasury would have been granted the authority to waive the 225-mile zone rule if Canada or Mexico entered into a "qualified agreement" regarding the tax to be applied to persons traveling by air between the United States and that country with the objective of eliminating double taxation of travel between the countries or within the 225-mile zone.

(3) The requirement that the ticket fare and tax be shown by trip segments would have been repealed, effective from the date of enactment of the bill. The requirement for separately showing the total airfare and total ticket tax was retained.

In addition, H.R. 4800 would have repealed the present prohibition against charging aviation users for overtime costs associated with services provided by the U.S. Customs Service personnel during regularly scheduled hours on Sundays and holidays.

Senate amendment

Tax provisions

The Senate amendment makes the following permanent changes in aviation excise taxes: (1) increases the domestic air passenger ticket tax to 8 percent; (2) reimposes the prior 5-percent tax on air freight waybills; (3) reimposes the prior $3 per person international departure tax; (4) increases the tax on noncommercial aviation gasoline to 12 cents per gallon; (5) imposes a 14-cents-per-gallon tax on other noncommercial aviation fuels; (6) continues the tax on aircraft tires and tubes at present rates; and (7) provides an exemption from the fuels and air passenger ticket taxes for helicopters not utilizing Federal-aid airports or Federal airway facilities where used in (a) timber operations or (b) natural resource exploration or development. The tax changes are effective for tickets, waybills, and fuels purchased after August 31, 1982.

Trust fund provisions

Revenues from these aviation excise taxes are appropriated to the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, effective September 1, 1982. The Senate amendment also transfers the Airport and Airway Trust Fund statute to the Internal Revenue Code, effective September 1, 1982, and extends the trust fund expenditure authority on a permanent basis. The trust fund expenditure purposes are updated to include the Airport and Airway System Development Act of 1982 (as added by title IV of the Senate amendment).[1]

Tax termination provision

Title IV (sec. 406(e)) of the Senate amendment contains a provision which would terminate the aviation excise taxes going into the Trust Fund and the authority to make trust fund expenditures for airway improvement program costs (under sec. 407—airway facilities and equipment, research, engineering and development, and operations and maintenance expenses), if amounts obligated in any fiscal year for airport development are less than 85 percent of the amounts authorized. The termination of tax and trust fund spending provisions could be overridden by a joint resolution of the Congress.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment with certain changes. The exemptions for helicopters from the fuels and air passenger ticket taxes are retained but only for those helicopters involved in timber operations and in hard mineral resource exploration and development.

The conference agreement does not include the provision of the Senate amendment for the automatic termination of the excise taxes that go into the trust fund and of the authorizations for the airway improvement program. Instead, the authority to make expenditures from the trust fund will expire after September 30, 1987, and the aviation excise taxes (and the transfer of tax revenues to the Airport and Airway Trust Fund) will terminate after December 31, 1987.

In addition, the conference agreement includes the three modifications from H.R. 4800 relating to the air passenger ticket tax, these modifications also being effective September 1, 1982.

2. Increase in cigarette excise taxes

Present law

A manufacturers excise tax equal to $4 per thousand (8 cents per pack) is imposed on small cigarettes (i.e., cigarettes weighing no more than three pounds per thousand). Generally, a tax equal to $8.40 per thousand is imposed on large cigarettes, except that higher rates apply to large cigarettes that exceed 6.5 inches in length.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The manufacturers excise taxes on small and large cigarettes are doubled effective for cigarettes removed after December 31, 1982, and before October 1, 1985. A floor stocks tax equal to the excess of the new tax rates over the pre-1983 rates is imposed on cigarettes held for sale on January 1, 1983, by any person other than a retailer. The floor stocks tax must be paid on or before January 18, 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment; however, the conferees desire to clarify their intent regarding the interpretation of two rules of the floor stocks tax applicable to cigarettes removed before January 1, 1983, and held for sale on that date.

The conferees intend that the exemption from the floor stocks tax for cigarettes held for sale by retailers apply only to cigarettes held at the location where they are normally sold to consumers. For example, cigarettes held for sale on the shelves of a retail store will be exempt as held by a retailer, but cigarettes held in warehouses or other similar facilities where retail consumers do not have regular access to them are not to be treated as held by a retailer.

The conferees further understand that financial hardship could result in some circumstances if payment of the entire floor stocks tax were required on or before January 18, 1983. It is the intent of the conferees that the Treasury Department exercise its present authority over establishment of the time and method for paying cigarette excise taxes to permit extensions of time of up to 30 days for payment of the floor stocks tax in circumstances where the taxpayer demonstrates that financial hardship would result from payment of the tax on the date otherwise prescribed.

3. Increase in telephone excise tax

Present law

The excise tax on local and long-distance telephone services and teletypewriter exchange service is 1 percent in calendar years 1982, 1983, and 1984. The tax is scheduled to terminate for bills rendered on or after January 1, 1985.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Under the Senate amendment, the tax rate is increased to 2 percent in calendar year 1983, 3 percent in 1984 and 1985, and 2 percent in years after 1985.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement increases the telephone excise tax to 3 percent for calendar years 1983–1985, and terminates the tax after 1985.

4. Windfall profit tax provisions

a. Windfall profit tax TAPS adjustment repeal

Present law

The windfall profit tax base price of Sadlerochit oil is adjusted upward by the amount by which the Trans-Alaska Pipeline System (TAPS) tariff falls below $6.26.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The TAPS adjustment is repealed effective for oil removed after December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

b. Windfall profit tax on Alaska Native Corporations

Present law

Under present law, certain domestic crude oil the producer of which is a native corporation "organized under" the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (as in effect on January 21, 1980) is exempt from the windfall profit tax.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment clarifies this exemption by providing that certain domestic crude oil, the producer of which is a corporation "organized pursuant to" the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (including a wholly owned subsidiary) is exempt Indian oil within the meaning of the windfall profit tax.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

5. Expansion of Dingell-Johnson Fund taxes

Present law

A 10-percent manufacturers excise tax is imposed on the sale of fishing rods, creels and reels, and on artificial lures, baits, and flies by a manufacturer, producer, or importer. Revenues from the tax are appropriated for the Dingell-Johnson Fund program for transfer to the States to support fish restoration and management projects.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment expands the items of fishing equipment subject to the 10-percent tax and imposes a new 3-percent tax on certain recreational boats and boating accessories. Revenues from these taxes are appropriated to the Dingell-Johnson Fund.

The amendment also changes the time for paying the manufacturers excise taxes on fishing equipment and boats and boating equipment from monthly or semi-monthly to quarterly. Further, an amount equal to revenues from the tariffs on fishing equipment and on yachts and pleasure craft is appropriated for the Dingell-Johnson Fund program.

The Senate amendment is generally effective on October 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

H. Other Provisions

1. Exclusion from income of National Research Service Awards

Present law

National Research Service Awards made through 1981 are treated as excludable scholarships or fellowship grants.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment extends the Federal income tax exclusion for National Research Service Awards for two additional years. Thus, the exclusion applies to awards made in 1982 and in 1983.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

2. Annual accrual accounting method for certain joint ventures

Present law

The taxable income from farming of a corporation (or a partnership of which a corporation is a partner) generally must be computed using the accrual method of accounting with the capitalization of preproductive period expenses (sec.447(a)). Preproductive period expenses are expenses (other than interest, taxes, or losses from casualty, drought, or disease) attributable to property having a crop of a yield that are incurred during the preproductive period of such property. The preproductive period for property is generally the period before the disposition of the property or the disposition of the first marketable crop or yield from the property.

This requirement, however, does not apply to subchapter S corporations, certain family corporations, or small corporations that meet a gross receipts test. Such corporations, and partnerships which have no other type of corporation as a partner, may use the cash method of accounting and may deduct preproductive period expenses when they are paid. The requirement to use the accrual method with the capitalization of preproductive period expenses also does not apply to the business of operating a nursery or a sod farm or the business of forestry or the growing of timber.

A special rule provides that certain corporations may use the "annual" accrual method of accounting (sec. 447(g)). Under the annual accrual method of accounting, preproductive period expenses are not capitalized, but are deducted currently. Corporations that qualify for this special rule are corporations that raise crops (such as sugar cane) which are harvested at least 12 months after planting. In addition, the corporation must have used the annual accrual method for the 10-year period ending with its first taxable year beginning after 1975, and must have continued to use such method for each taxable year after its first taxable year beginning after 1975.

In the case of a corporation that acquired substantially all the assets of a farming trade or business from another corporation in a transaction in which neither corporation recognized any gain or loss, the acquiring corporation is treated as having used the annual accural method for the period such method was used by the predecessor corporation to compute the taxable income from the acquired farming business.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

A "qualified partnership" generally is treated the same as a corporation for purposes of the annual accrual accounting rules of secton 447(g). A qualified partnership is a partnership engaged in the trade or business of growing sugarcane, each of the partners of which is a corporation other than a subchapter S corporation or a personal holding company. The Senate amendment applies to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment with certain clarifications. Under the conference agreement, a qualified partnership must be engaged in the trade or business of growing sugarcane and substantially all of the partnership activities must involve the growing of sugarcane. Growing sugarcane, however, does not have to be the principal activity of each of the partners.

3. Extension and revision of targeted jobs credit

Present law

The targeted jobs credit is available, on an elective basis, for hiring individuals from one or more of nine target groups. The credit is equal to 50 percent of the first $6,000 of wages paid for the first year of employment and 25 percent of the first $6,000 of wages paid for the second year of employment to a target group individual.

The credit is available for wages paid to eligible individuals who begin work for the employer before January 1, 1983.

An authorization of $30 million of appropriations is provided for fiscal year 1982 for the expenses of administering the certification system (including the performance of quality control reviews) and of providing publicity to employers.

An individual is a member of a targeted group if the individual is:

(1) an economically disadvantaged youth aged 16 through 19 participating in a cooperative education program,

(2) a recipient of money payments under a State or local general assistance program,
(3) an economically disadvantaged youth aged 18 through 24,
(4) a handicapped individual undergoing vocational rehabilitation,
(5) an economically disadvantaged Vietnam-era vetern,
(6) an SSI recipient,
(7) an economically disadvantaged ex-convict,
(8) an AFDC recipient or work incentive employee; or
(9) an involuntarily terminated CETA employee.

An individual may not be treated as a member of a targeted group unless the employer requests or receives a certification from the designated local agency before the day on which the individual begins work for the employer.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Extension of credit and authorization.—The credit is made available with respect to any member of a targeted group who begins work on or before December 31, 1985.

The $30 million authorization is extended to each of fiscal years 1983, 1984, and 1985.

Cooperative education students.—The requirement that cooperative education students must be economically disadvantged to be members of a targeted group is eliminated. The credit for cooperative education students is 30 percent of the first $3,000 of wages paid for the first year of employment and 15 percent of the first $3,000 of wages paid for the second year of employment.

General assistance recipients.—Recipents of non-cash, as well as cash, general assistance payments are members of a targeted group.

Summer youth.—A new targeted group is added, consisting of economically disadvantaged youths who are 16 or 17 years of age on the hiring date and who have not worked for the employer before the period for which the employer claims the credit. The credit for this group is 85 percent of up to $3,000 of wages paid for services attributable to any 90-day period between May 1 and September 15, effective for individuals beginning work for the employer after July 1, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision, with several modifications.

First, the credit is made available with respect to any member of a targeted group who begins work on or before December 31, 1984.

Second, the conference agreement does not contain the changes relating to cooperative education students. Under present law, for cooperative education students, the certification that an individual is a member of a targeted group is issued by the participating school. The determination of whether the student is a member of an economically disadvantaged family is made by the State employment security agency (SESA). However, the conferees intend that, whenever feasible, the SESA's exercise the authority they have under present law to contract with the schools to perform the initial eligibility determination as to whether the cooperative education students are economically disadvantaged. (The SESA's would continue to be responsible for the final determination of economically disadvantaged status, however.)

Third, the addition of summer youth group is made effective for individuals who begin work for the employer after April 30, 1983. A technical amendment is added to make clear that if an individual continues to work for an employer after having been a qualified summer youth employee, the certification of the individual as a member of another targeted group is to be determined on the basis of facts on the date on which the individual is certified as a member of the second targeted group rather than on the basis of the facts on the day the individual is hired by the employer.

Fourth, the target group consisting of individuals involuntarily terminated from CETA jobs will be terminated for individuals who begin work for the employer after December 31, 1982.

Fifth, the $30 million ceiling on the authorization of administrative funds will be eliminated, so that appropriations will be authorized for such sums as may be necessary in fiscal years 1983 and 1984. The conferees intend that some of these funds should be used to evaluate the effectiveness of the credit in improving the employment situation of the target groups.

Sixth, the Secretary of Labor will be required to submit annual quality control reports to the Congress reviewing the accuracy of the process by which the eligibility of individuals as members of targeted groups is determined.

Seventh, certifications will be valid if requested or received on or before the day the individual begins work for the employer.

4. Certain payments to foreign government officials or employees

Present law

Taxpayers cannot deduct payments to foreign government officials or employees if those payments would be illegal under U.S. law (if U.S. law applied).

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Payments to foreign government officials or employees which are otherwise deductible would not be disallowed on grounds of illegality under U.S. law except payments made illegal by the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act. The provision would apply to payments made after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment but adds a technical amendment.

5. Debt management provisions

Present law

a. Rate of interest on U.S. savings bonds

The Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, may increase the investment yield on any U.S. savings bond above the current rate in any 6-month period by no more than 1 percentage point (annual rate, compounded semiannually).

b. Long-term U.S. bonds

Bonds are defined as obligations of the United States which have a maturity when issued that is longer than 10 years. The rate of interest that may be paid on a bond may not exceed 4¼ percent, except that up to $70 billion in outstanding bonds with rates of interest above 4¼ percent may be held by the public.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

a. Rate of interest on U.S. savings bonds

The Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, is allowed to fix the investment yield on any U.S. savings bond. The Secretary also is authorized to provide for increases and decreases in the yield on any outstanding U.S. savings bond. With this authority, however, the Secretary may not decrease the yield on any bond below the minimum yield guaranteed at the time of its issuance for the period the bond is held.

This provision is effective on enactment.

b. Long-term U.S. bonds

The Senate amendment provides an additional $40 billion increase in the exception from the interest rate ceiling. This action raises the exception to $110 billion.

This provision is effective on enactment.

Conference agreement

a. Rate of interest on U.S. savings bonds

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

b. Long-term U.S. bonds

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, with a modification requiring that all bonds issued under the additional exception must be issued in registered form.

6. Disclosure of Tax Returns

a. Disclosure of tax return information for nontax criminal investigation purposes

Present law

Overview

Tax returns and taxpayer return information (i.e., return information submitted to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) by the taxpayer or his representative) may be disclosed for Federal nontax criminal investigation purposes only on the grant of an ex parte order by a Federal district court judge. Return information that is submitted to the IRS by someone other than the taxpayer or his representative may be secured on written request by certain officers and employees of the Federal government. The IRS, in certain circumstances, may disclose return information on its own initiative.

Disclosure pursuant to court order

Returns and taxpayer return information may be disclosed by the IRS to personnel of other Federal agencies for nontax criminal investigation purposes only on the grant of an ex parte order by a Federal district court judge.

Personnel to whom tax information may be disclosed

Tax information may be disclosed only to officers and employees of a Federal agency who are personally and directly engaged in the preparation for any administrative or judicial proceeding (or any investigation that may result in such a proceeding) pertaining to the enforcement of a Federal nontax criminal statute.

Individuals who may authorize an application for court-ordered disclosure

The following individuals may authorize the application for a court order: the head of a Federal agency, the Attorney General, the Deputy Attorney General, or an Assistant Attorney General.

Court order standards

A Federal district court judge may grant an order for disclosure if the judge determines that:

(1) There is reasonable cause to believe, based upon information believed to be reliable, that a specific criminal act has been committed;

(2) There is reason to believe that the return or return information is probative evidence of a matter in issue related to the commission of such criminal act; and

97-588 O 82 43

(3) The information sought to be disclosed cannot reasonably be obtained from any other source, unless it is determined that, notwithstanding the reasonable availability of the information from another source, the return or return information sought constitutes the most probative evidence of a matter in issue relating to the commission of such criminal act.

Application for disclosure of return information other than taxpayer return information

The head of any Federal agency, the Attorney General, the Deputy Attorney General, or an Assistant Attorney General may obtain return information (other than taxpayer return information) by written request to the IRS. (This category of information is tax information that the IRS has received from someone other than the taxpayer under investigation or his representative.)

Contents of application

A request for return information (other than taxpayer return information) must set forth, among other information, the specific reason or reasons why the disclosure is or may be material to the proceeding or investigation.

Taxpayer identifying information

The name and address of a taxpayer may be disclosed, pursuant to written request, for use in a nontax criminal investigation.

Disclosure of return information (other than taxpayer return information) to apprise appropriate officials of possible criminal activities

Return information (other than taxpayer return information) that may constitute evidence of a violation of Federal criminal laws may be disclosed by the IRS to the extent necessary to apprise the head of the appropriate Federal agency charged with the responsibility of enforcement of such laws.

Under this provision, the taxpayer's identity may be disclosed if there is return information (other than taxpayer return information) that may constitute evidence of a violation of Federal criminal laws.

Use of tax information in administrative or judicial proceedings

In general, returns or return information disclosed by the IRS to a Federal agency may be entered into evidence in any administrative or judicial proceeding pertaining to enforcement of a nontax Federal criminal statute. A return or return information that was disclosed pursuant to a court order may be entered into evidence only if the court finds that it is probative of a matter in issue relevant in establishing the commission of a crime or the guilt of a party.

House bill

No provision. However, H.R. 6475 (as ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means) is identical to the Senate amendment.

Senate amendment

Overview

The primary changes made by the Senate amendment include: (1) the modification of the standards for the granting of an ex parte order for the disclosure of tax returns and return information and allowing Federal district court magistrates to issue those orders; (2) an expansion in the number of personnel who would be permitted to request disclosure; (3) new authority allowing court-ordered disclosure of return information for purposes of locating Federal fugitives from justice; and (4) new authority for the IRS to disclose return information, on its own initiative, in emergency circumstances.

The provisions take effect on the day after the date of enactment.

Disclosure pursuant to court order

The Senate amendment allows a Federal district court magistrate, as well as a Federal district court judge, to grant an ex parte order for the disclosure of returns or return information.

Personnel to whom tax information may be disclosed

The Senate amendment expands the category of personnel to whom disclosure can be made to include officers and employees of a Federal agency who are personally and directly engaged in any Federal grand jury proceeding pertaining to enforcement of a Federal nontax criminal statute.

Individuals who may authorize an application for court-ordered disclosure

The Senate amendment eliminates the authority of Federal agency heads (other than the Attorney General) to authorize disclosure applications. However, the number of individuals within the Department of Justice who can authorize applications is expanded to include: the Associate Attorney General, any United States Attorney, any special prosecutor, and any attorney in charge of a criminal division organized crime strike force.

Court order standards

Under the Senate amendment, a Federal district court judge or magistrate may grant an order for disclosure of tax returns or return information if the judge or magistrate determines that:

(1) There is reasonable cause to believe, based upon information believed to be reliable, that a specific criminal act has been committed;

(2) There is reasonable cause to believe that the return or return information is or may be relevant to a matter relating to the commission of such act; and

(3) The return information is sought exclusively for use in a Federal criminal investigation or proceeding concerning such act, and the information sought to be disclosed cannot reasonably be obtained, under the circumstances, from another source.

With respect to the third standard, it would not be reasonable to obtain tax information from another source if, for example, the information cannot be obtained in an expeditious manner in a case where time is an essential factor, or if an attempt to obtain the information elsewhere would seriously impair a criminal investigation or proceeding.

Disclosure to locate Federal fugitives from justice

Persons who may authorize an application for court-ordered disclosure will be permitted also to authorize an application for the disclosure of returns and return information solely for the purpose of locating fugitives.

A Federal district court judge or magistrate may authorize a disclosure order if the judge or magistrate determines that:

(1) A Federal arrest warrant relating to the commission of a Federal felony offense has been issued for an individual who is a fugitive from justice;

(2) The return of such individual or return information with respect to such individual is sought exclusively for use in locating such individual; and

(3) There is reasonable cause to believe that such return or return information may be relevant in determining the location of such individual.

It is intended that this provision will be used to locate fugitives who are considered to be violent or dangerous or who pose a substantial threat to society.

Application for disclosure of return information other than taxpayer return information

The Senate amendment expands the number of individuals who can authorize a written request for disclosure to include the Inspector General of any Federal agency, the Associate Attorney General, the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, any United States Attorney, any special prosecutor, and any attorney in charge of a criminal division organized crime strike force.

Contents of application

A request for return information (other than taxpayer return information) must set forth, among other information, a showing of the specific reason or reasons why the disclosure is or may be relevant to (rather than material to) the proceeding or investigation.

Taxpayer identifying information

A taxpayer's social security number, as well as the taxpayer's name and address, may be disclosed, pursuant to written request, for use in a nontax criminal investigation.

It is intended that taxpayer identity information be treated as taxpayer return information unless return information (other than taxpayer identity information) is requested and disclosed pursuant to such written request.

Disclosure of return information to apprise appropriate officials of criminal activities or emergency circumstances

The IRS is provided with additional authority to disclose return information (including taxpayer return information) in certain emergency circumstances.

Specifically, under circumstances involving an imminent danger of death or physical injury to any individual, the IRS is permitted to disclose return information to the extent necessary to apprise appropriate officers or employees of any Federal or State law enforcement agency of such circumstances. Furthermore, under circumstances involving the imminent flight of any individual from Federal prosecution, the IRS may disclose return information to the extent necessary to apprise appropriate officers or employees of any Federal law enforcement agency of such circumstances.

Such disclosures will be subject to the safeguard and annual reporting requirements of section 6103(p). Moreover, it is intended the the IRS utilize its disclosure authority in an efficient and effective manner. The provision relating to imminent flight from Federal prosecution is intended to cover individuals who could be prosecuted for flight from prosecution, as a separate Federal offense, and circumstances where an individual has attempted to change identity or intends to flee from the country.

Use of tax information in judicial or administrative proceedings

The use of returns and return information in judicial or administrative proceedings not involving tax administration is expanded.

Specifically, this information may also be disclosed in any judicial or administrative proceeding pertaining to the enforcement of a civil forfeiture that is related to a nontax Federal criminal statute or to the extent required by court order pursuant to 18 U.S.C. sec. 3500 or rule 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. The purpose of these modifications to the disclosure law is to facilitate the disclosure of tax information for legitimate law enforcement needs while, at the same time, preserving the basic principle that a taxpayer's return should generally be treated as confidential and should be disclosed, in only a limited number of circumstances, where those law enforcement needs outweigh the need to preserve taxpayer confidentiality. In agreeing to these provisions, the conferees have fulfilled a commitment made by the conferees on the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 to take appropriate legislative action in this area.

b. Civil damages for unauthorized disclosure of returns and return information

Present law

A person who knowingly or negligently discloses a return or return information with respect to a taxpayer, in violation of the disclosure restrictions, may be sued in a civil action for damages in a district court of the United States.

House bill

No provision. However, H.R. 6475 (as ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means) contains a provision that is identical to the Senate amendment.

Senate amendment

If a U.S. officer or employee knowingly or negligently discloses return information in violation of the disclosure restrictions, the wronged party will be permitted to bring a civil action for damages against the U.S. (rather than against the officer or employee). Of course, an officer or employee who makes a wrongful disclosure still will be subject to all administrative disciplinary actions as well as potential criminal sanctions.

The provision applies to disclosures made after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

c. Disclosure of returns and return information for use in certain audits by the General Accounting Office

Present law

The General Accounting Office currently has access to tax returns and return information for the purpose of conducting an audit of the Internal Revenue Service or the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, and for the purpose of auditing the safeguards used by other agencies to safeguard returns and return information. However, before the GAO receives tax returns or return information in connection with an audit, it must notify the Joint Committee on Taxation of the audit. The Joint Committee may disapprove an audit by a vote of at least two-thirds of its members within 30 days of receipt of notice of the proposed audit.

In addition, the GAO is permitted access to returns and return information when it is acting as an agent for the Committee on Ways and Means, Committee on Finance, or Joint Committee on Taxation.

House bill

No provision. However, H.R. 6475 (as ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means) contains a provision that is identical to the Senate amendment.

Senate amendment

GAO access to tax returns and return information is expanded to include any returns or return information obtained by a Federal agency for use in any agency program or activity. This information will be open (upon written request) to officers and employees of the GAO, and only to the extent necessary in, auditing such program or activity. Furthermore, the GAO is permitted access to returns and return information that have not been obtained by a Federal agency in certain circumstances, provided that the agency is authorized to obtain the information for use in the program or activity that is the subject of the GAO audit. This "second-tier" access is limited to return information that may be disclosed under Code secs. 6103(l) or (m). The Internal Revenue Service may refuse to disclose tax information to the GAO if such disclosure would identify a confidential informant or seriously impair a civil or criminal tax investigation.

The pre-audit notification procedures and Joint Committee veto authority of present law are retained. This notification should include (1) a description of the audit to be undertaken, including its scope and purpose; (2) an explanation of the use that will be made of tax information; and (3) assurance that in using tax information, and in formulating its recommendations which will result from the audit of programs that involve the use of tax information, the GAO will consider any potential impact on tax administration and taxpayer confidentiality.

In addition, within 90 days after the completion of any audit with respect to which the GAO had access to tax returns or return information, the GAO is required to notify the Joint Committee on Taxation of the completion. Such written notification will include (1) a description of the use of the returns and return information by the Federal agency involved; (2) such recommendations with respect to the use of returns and return information by the Federal agency as the Comptroller General deems appropriate; and (3) a statement of the impact of any such recommendations on the confidentiality of returns and return information and on tax administration. The GAO also is expected to notify the Joint Committee of any recommendations that will affect tax administration, directly or indirectly.

The present law authority for the GAO to gain access to tax information when it is acting as an agent for the Committee on Ways and Means, the Committee on Finance, or the Joint Committee on Taxation is retained. Moreover, the GAO may continue audit activity, which involves access to tax information, pursuant to any current agency designation, which is in process as of the date of enactment.

The provision takes effect on the day after the date of enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment. The conferees expect that before the GAO requests "second-tier" access (that is, access to return information that may be disclosed under Code secs. 6103 (l) or (m) but which has not been so disclosed), it will take into account the burdens that such access might impose upon the Internal Revenue Service.

7. Veterans organizations

Present law

A domestic post or organization of war veterans (or an auxiliary unit or society of, or a trust or foundation for such post or organization) is tax exempt if at least 75 percent of its members are "war veterans" and substantially all the other members are veterans or cadets, or are spouses, widows, or widowers of such individuals, and if no part of its net earnings inures to the benefit of any private individual.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment modifies the membership requirement to allow tax exemption for a veterans organization (which satisfies the other requirements of present law), if 75 percent of its members are past or present members of the U.S. Armed Forces (whether or not war veterans) and its remaining membership consists substantially of cadets or spouses, widows, or widowers of past or present members of the U.S. Armed Forces or of cadets.

The provision is effective on enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment, but with an additional amendment which also allows exemption for any veterans association founded before 1880, 75 percent of the members of which are past or present members of the U.S. Armed Forces, and the primary purpose of which is to provide insurance and other benefits to veterans and their dependents.

8. Amateur athletic organizations

Present law

Athletic organizations that teach youth or are affiliated with charitable organizations may qualify for tax exemption and eligibility to receive tax-deductible contributions if they meet the general requirements for charitable or educational organizations. Also, present law expressly provides that certain other athletic organizations may qualify for tax exemption and tax-deductible contributions if organized and operated exclusively to foster national or international amateur sports competition, but only if no part of the organization's activities involve the provision of athletic facilities or equipment and only if no part of the net earnings of the organization inure to the benefit of any private individual.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment allows tax-exempt status to amateur athletic organizations that conduct national or international competition in Olympic sports, or support and develop amateur athletes for such competition, whether or not the organization provides facilities or equipment to its members. The provision is effective as of October 5, 1976.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement generally follows the Senate amendment, with a modification to delete the restriction of the Senate bill that limits its application to sports listed on the program of the Olympic games or Pan-American games. Also, the conferees are concerned that some taxpayers may claim deductions for transfers to or for the use of amateur athletic organizations in cases where there is a direct benefit from the transfer to the taxpayer or other persons. The conferees intend that this provision does not modify the rules of existing tax law that a deduction is not allowed when there is a substantial, direct, personal benefit to the taxpayer or to any other person other than the amateur athletic organization.

9. Applicability of private foundation rules

Present law

Restrictions on business holdings

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 provided that private foundations generally may not own more than 20 percent of a business. Under transitional rules in the 1969 Act, foundations which, alone or in combination with related persons, owned more than 75 percent or alone owned more than 95 percent of businesses on May 26, 1969 have 15 or 20 years, respectively, to reduce their ownership interests to specified levels.

Charitable trusts

Under provisions enacted in the 1969 Act, trusts with solely charitable interests are generally subject to the private foundation rules, including the business holdings restrictions and the charitable distribution requirements.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Restrictions on business holdings

The Senate amendment provides that the Otto Bremer Foundation, the El Pamor Foundation, the Houston Endowment, the Public Welfare Foundation, and the Sand Springs Home may indefinitely retain certain business interests held on May 26, 1969, if the foundation meets certain conditions. Also, the Senate amendment provides that the Ahmanson Foundation will have an additional five years to meet the divestiture requirements with respect to certain stock held on May 26, 1969.

Charitable trusts

The Senate amendment provides that the New London Day Trust is not subject to the private foundation rules applicable to charitable trusts, effective for taxable years beginning after November 20, 1978.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

10. Clarification of tax status of certain members of religious orders

Present law

Present law exempts from the term "employment", for FICA tax purposes, service performed by a duly ordained, commissioned, or licensed minister of a church in the exercise of the ministry or by a member of a religious order in the exercise of duties required by such order. Likewise, "wages", for purposes of income tax withholding, does not include remuneration paid for similar services.

The Internal Revenue Service generally takes the position that a member of a religious order who is instructed by the order's superiors to obtain employment with a third party is an employee of the third party, not of the religious order, and must include the remuneration remitted to the order in gross income whether or not the member has taken a vow of poverty. Under this position, the remuneration is subject to FICA and income tax withholding.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

Income derived from services of certain members of religious orders from salaries from the Public Health Service in a leprosarium is income of the religious organization, rather than income of the members. The provision, which benefits the Daughters of Charity, applies to services performed after September 30, 1977.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

11. Study of alternative tax systems

Present law

No specific provision.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Secretary of the Treasury is instructed to conduct a study, to be submitted to the tax-writing committees within 6 months after the date of enactment, of the advisability of replacing only the Federal individual income tax, or both the Federal individual income tax and the Federal corporate income tax, with an alternative tax system, such as a simplified tax based on gross income, a consumption tax, and the current income tax system with a broadened base and lower rates.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

12. Study of monetary policy

Present law

No specific provision.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Secretary of the Treasury is instructed to submit to the tax-writing committees, no later than 6 months after the date of enactment, a study of the effects on capital markets of using the growth of debt as the long-term target of monetary policy, and using total liquid assets as the interim target of monetary policy.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the Senate amendment.

13. New Jersey general revenue sharing allocation

Present law

Only taxes assessed and collected by a qualifying unit of government are counted toward the jurisdiction's tax effort under the general revenue sharing allocation.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The New Jersey Franchise and Gross Receipts Taxes shall be deemed an adjusted tax of units of local government for the purpose of allocating revenue sharing funds for the quarterly period beginning on October 1, 1982. This change will remain in effect for future quarterly payment periods only if New Jersey amends its Franchise and Gross Receipts Taxes statute to provide for local retention and collection.

This provision is effective for revenue sharing payments made with respect to the quarterly payment period in the quarter beginning October 1, 1982, and ending December 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

14. Relief for the Jefferson County Mental Health Center, Lakewood, Colorado

Present law

Employees of a nonprofit organization are excluded from social security coverage unless the organization files with the Internal Revenue Service a certificate waiving its exemption from taxation.

House bill

No provision. However, H.R. 1635, as reported by the House Committee on the Judiciary on September 22, 1981, and passed by the House on October 6, 1981, is identical to the Senate amendment.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment authorizes the payment of $50,000 to the Jefferson County Mental Health Center, Lakewood, Colorado, in full settlement of its claims against the United States for repayment of the $74,128 the Center refunded to its employees for individual social security contributions after the Internal Revenue Service erroneously advised the Center that the contributions had been incorrectly withheld. The provision is effective on enactment.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

15. Award of reasonable litigation costs where taxpayer prevails and government position was unreasonable

Present law

a. Attorneys fees

A taxpayer who prevails in civil tax litigation in the Federal courts (other than the U.S. Tax Court) may be awarded reasonable attorneys fees and other litigation costs, unless the court finds that the position of the United States was substantially justified or that special circumstances make an award unjust.

b. Damages for delay in Tax Court

If a Tax Court proceeding has been instituted by the taxpayer merely for delay, the Court may award damages to the United States in an amount not to exceed $500.

House bill

a. Attorneys fees

General rule.—A taxpayer who prevails in civil tax litigation in the Federal courts, including the U.S Tax Court, may be awarded reasonable attorney fees and other litigation costs. The taxpayer may recover litigation costs only if the position of the United States in the case was unreasonable.

Dollar limitation on awards.—The maximum award is $50,000.

Third-party costs.—In litigation where the deductibility of contributions by a taxpayer to a charitable organization is the most significant issue, the organization (as well as the taxpayer) may recover costs incurred by it in the litigation if the taxpayer prevails, even though the charity is not a party to the action.

Effective date.—The attorneys fees provision applies to U.S. Tax Court cases begun after 1982, and to other Federal tax cases pending on, or begun after, October 1, 1981. The provision does not apply to cases begun after September 30, 1984.

b. Damages for delay in Tax Court

If U.S. Tax Court proceedings have been brought by a taxpayer primarily for delay, or if the taxpayer's position in a case is frivolous or groundless, the Court may award damages to the United States of up to $5,000, effective for Tax Court cases begun after 1981.

Senate amendment

No provision. However, a similar provision is included in H.R. 4717 as passed by the Senate.

a. Attorneys fees

General rule.—Generally the same as the House bill, except that the Senate provision provides explicitly that the taxpayer has the burden of establishing that the government's position was unreasonable.

Dollar limitation on awards.—The maximum award is $25,000. There is a special rule generally requiring the joinder or consolidation of multiple actions or actions involving the same taxpayer for the purpose of awarding attorney fees.

Third-party costs.—A taxpayer may recover costs for a third party incurred by that party on behalf of the taxpayer.

Effective date.—The attorneys fees provision applies to civil tax litigation, including U.S. Tax Court cases, begun after May 31, 1982. The provision does not apply to cases begun after May 31, 1987.

b. Damages for delay in Tax Court

Similar to the House bill, except that the maximum damages that may be awarded to the United States are $2,500 and the provision is effective for Tax Court cases begun after May 31, 1982.

Conference agreement

a. Attorneys fees

The conference agreement follows the Senate provision, except for effective dates. The provision applies to civil tax litigation, including U.S. Tax Court cases, begun on or after March 1, 1983. The provision does not apply to cases begun after December 31, 1985.

b. Damages for delay in Tax Court

The conference agreement follows the House bill (maximum $5,000 award), except for the effective date. The provision applies to Tax Court cases begun on or after January 1, 1983.

16. Personal holding companies

Present law

A corporation actively engaged in a lending or finance business is excluded from the personal holding company tax provisions if the corporation has qualifying business expenses equal to at least 15 percent of the first $500,000 of ordinary gross income from its lending or finance business, plus 5 percent of such ordinary gross income from $500,000 to $1 million.

The term "lending or finance business" is defined to include the business of making loans with maturities of not more than 60 months.

House bill

Effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1981, the House bill modifies the business expense test to require a lending or finance company to have qualifying business expenses equal to at least 15 percent of the first $500,000 of ordinary income from the lending or finance business, plus 5 percent of such ordinary gross income in excess of $500,000. Thus, 5 percent of ordinary gross income in excess of $1 million will be added to the qualifying business expense test of present law.

In addition, effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1980, the House bill increases the 60-month loan maturity limitation to 144 months, and the definition of a lending or finance business is amended to include the business of making loans in indefinite maturity credit transactions.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House bill.

17. Additional refunds relating to repeal of the excise tax on buses

Present law

The Energy Tax Act of 1978 repealed the prior law 10-percent manufacturers excise tax on buses effective after November 9, 1978. The Act also contained provisions effectively repealing the tax for buses sold after April 19, 1977 and before November 10, 1978, if a claim for refund was filed with the IRS and if the tax collected from ultimate purchasers was reimbursed before September 5, 1979.

House bill

The House bill extends the last date for reimbursing ultimate purchasers of buses to December 31, 1982, and permits the reimbursement to occur at the same time a refund from IRS is received. The provision applies only to taxpayers that filed a claim for refund before September 5, 1979.

Senate amendment

No provision. However, an identical provision is included in H.R. 4717 as passed by the Senate.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement follows the House bill.

18. Modification of rules as to acceleration of accrual of taxes

Present law

Under the accrual method of accounting, an expense generally is deductible for the taxable year in which all the events which determine the fact of the liability have occurred and the amount of the deduction can be determined with reasonable accuracy.

However, present law also provides that, if a taxing jurisdiction changes the date for imposing a deductible tax so that the tax would be deductible for an earlier period under the general rule, an accrual-basis taxpayer may not deduct the tax in the earlier period. Instead, the taxpayer may deduct the tax for the period that the tax otherwise would have been deductible as if the taxing jurisdiction had not accelerated the date for imposing the tax.

House bill

Under the House bill, an accrual-basis taxpayer may accrue a deduction for taxes on the liability date of the tax, even if that date has been accelerated by the taxing jurisdiction. However, the taxpayer is not allowed to take two deductions for taxes for a taxable year, and must account for the disallowed deduction by establishing a suspense account (which preserves the deduction until the level of tax is reduced or the taxpayer terminates its existence).

The provision applies to changes in tax liability dates that occur after the date of enactment. However, in the case of a State franchise tax based on income the assessment date of which has been changed, a taxpayer which first accrued such tax after the date of the change and which has consistently accrued the deduction for the tax on the new liability date could continue to accrue the deduction on the date used, without complying with the suspense account requirements under the provision.

Senate amendment

No provision.

Conference agreement

The conference agreement does not include the House provision.

19. Reassigning VHF television licenses

Present law

Present law does not contain any provisions on reassigning VHF licenses.

House bill

No provision.

Senate amendment

The Senate amendment adds a new section 331 to Title III of the Communications Act of 1934. New Jersey and Delaware are the only two States that do not have a commercial VHF television station. The amendment affirms the congressional intent that it is in the public interest for every State to have at least one VHF television station. In order to implement that intent, the amendment provides that, upon notice by any licensee in another State that it agrees to the reallocation of its channel to a community in a State in which there is no such channel, the Federal Communications Commission shall order the reallocation and issue a license to the licensee for such purpose.

This provision will remove impediments which currently discourage a licensee in a State which has more than one VHF television station from voluntarily moving to a State which has none. It is the intention of Congress that any current licensee which exercises the option of seeking the transfer of its license to an unserved State under the terms of this section will move its studio and offices, to and operate for the public benefit of the unserved State.

The conference agreement follows the Senate amendment.

PART THREE

CONTENTS OF AIRPORT AND AIRWAY IMPROVEMENT PROVISIONS

TITLE V

AIRPORT AND AIRWAY IMPROVEMENT

Title IV of the Senate amendment to H.R. 4961 consisted of the Airport and Airway System Development Act of 1982. The House bill contained no comparable provisions. The joint explanatory statement that follows contains a description of the Senate provisions and the conference substitute for each provision.

1. SHORT TITLE

Senate amendment:

Provides that the act may be cited as the "Airport and Airway System Development Act of 1982".

Conference substitute:

Provides that the Act may be cited as the "Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982".

2. DECLARATION OF POLICY

Senate amendment:

Sets forth as policies and findings: that the safe operation of the airport and airway system will continue to be the highest aviation priority; that the continuation of airport and airway improvement programs, including both development and planning activities, and more effective management and utilization of the Nation's airport and airway system are required to meet current and projected growth in aviation; that this Act should be administered so as to provide adequate navigation aids and airport facilities, including special emphasis on the development of reliever airports, for points where scheduled commercial air service is provided; that aviation facilities should be built and operated with due regard to providing substantial relief from current and projected noise impacts on nearby communities; that airports which have the ability to finance their capital and operating needs without Federal assistance should be encouraged to voluntarily withdraw from eligibility for such assistance; and that the Federal administrative requirements placed upon airport sponsors can be reduced and simplified through the use of single project applications to cover all airport improvement projects.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate except for deletion of the provision encouraging airports to finance their needs without Federal assistance and the addition of the following: a statement regarding the providing of reliever heliports; a qualification of the goal of installing precision approach systems by reference to available funds and other safety needs; and a statement that it is in the national interest to develop in metropolitan areas an integrated system of airports. In addition, the conference substitute includes a more detailed statement to encourage and promote multimodal transportation planning.

3. DEFINITIONS

Senate amendment:

The Senate amendment contains many of the definitions contained in the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 with some technical changes to conform to the present bill. The following are new or modified definitions:

(1) "airport development": in addition to items covered in the existing law, this definition would make the preparation of plans and specifications, including field investigations incidental thereto, eligible; broaden the definition of airport development for environmental, safety or security reasons; make newly eligible the acquisition or installation of safety or security equipment which the Secretary approves for use, even if the use of such equipment is not required by the Secretary; make the acquisition or installation of aviation-related weather reporting equipment eligible; and set forth items eligible as airport development which are related to improving noise compatibility at public-use airports (these items are eligible under the present act; however, this provision would newly provide that the elements of airport noise compatibility programs approved by the Secretary are eligible as airport development).

(2) "airport noise compatibility planning" and "airport noise compatibility program": these terms are taken from the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 and are defined here for inclusion in the definition of airport development in this bill.

(3) "airport planning" would be defined as such planning as the Secretary may prescribe by regulation, and specifically includes airport system planning and airport noise compatibility planning.

(4) "airport system planning" in the present Act would be modified to make explicit several concepts inherent in the present definition. The words "initial as well as continuing" have been inserted to clarify that airport system planning is a continuous process. The definition would also make eligible for funding as airport system planning a State's development of certain airport construction and development standards.

(5) "block grant", "block grant supplement", "applicant State", "participating State", and "State development report" are defined for purposes of the block grant program in the Senate amendment.

(6) "commercial service airport": any airport which the Secretary determines to either: (A) enplane 2,500 or more passengers annually and receive scheduled passenger service of aircraft; or (B) enplane 10,000 or more passengers annually, is a commercial service airport.

(7) "eligible airport" is defined with reference to the provision of the Senate amendment relating to voluntary withdrawal from the program.

(8) "passengers enplaned" means revenue passengers enplaned in the United States who are flying between domestic, territorial, or international points via aircraft, whether scheduled or nonscheduled.

(9) "primary airport" is a new term meaning any "commercial service airport" determined by the Secretary to have enplaned .01 percent or more of the total number of passengers enplaned annually, both scheduled and nonscheduled, at all commercial service airports.

(10) "project" means a project or separate projects submitted together for the accomplishment of airport development or airport planning, including the combined submission of all projects which are to be undertaken at an airport in a fiscal year.

(11) "public-use" airport is a new term meaning any public airport or any reliever airport whether publicly or privately owned, which is or is to be available for use by the public. This bill would provide that airport development and planning funds may be distributed for use at public-use airports.

(12) "reliever airport" is defined as an airport designated by the Secretary as having the function of relieving congestion at a "primary airport".

(13) "sponsor" is any public agency which individually or jointly with other public agencies, submits to the Secretary, in accordance with this Act, an application for financial assistance for a public airport. A "sponsor" can also be any private owner of a public-use airport which submits to the Secretary, in accordance with this Act, an application for financial assistance for a public-use reliever airport. A sponsor can also be a participating State.

(14) "State" means a State of the United States, the District of Columbia, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Conference substitute

Same as the Senate amendments, except as follows:

(1) Airport Development: The conference substitute includes within this definition the acquisition of equipment to measure runway surface friction.

(2) Definitions and references relating to noise abatement are deleted, as the noise compatibility programs are to be eligible for fiscal year 1983 and thereafter only under the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 (although the funding will continue to be provided under the airport improvement program in this bill). For fiscal year 1982, a special provision is added to include the noise related programs from the Senate amendment within the definitions of airport development, so that applicants can apply for noise projects under this bill as well as under ASNA for fiscal year 1982.

(3) The definitions relating to block grants and eligible airports are deleted because of the deletion of the substantive provisions to which these terms refer.

(4) "commercial service airport" is modified to delete the alternative test of 10,000 enplanements.

(5) "public-use airport" is modified to add privately-owned airports whih annually enplane 2,500 passengers and receive scheduled service.

(6) "reliever airport" is modified to add the condition that to be a reliever an airport must provide more general aviation access.

(7) "State" is modified to include all the insular areas.

4. NATIONAL PLAN OF INTEGRATED AIRPORT SYSTEMS

Senate amendment:

Provides that the Secretary shall review and revise as necessary the existing national airport system plan.

Provides that in revising the National Airport System Plan, the Secretary shall consult to the extent feasible with other Federal and public agencies and with the aviation community.

Provides that the Department of Defense shall make domestic military airports available for civil use to the maximum extent feasible. The Comptroller General is to report to Congress within 180 days on the feasibility of joint civil and military use of military airports, including cost estimates. Within one year the Secretaries of Defense and Transportation are to submit a plan for joint civil and military use.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment with respect to the issue of joint use of military airports.

The Conference substitute continues the requirement of a system plan for the national air transportation system. The plan shall include the type and estimated cost of eligible airport development necessary to provide a safe, efficient and integrated system of public use airports to meet the needs of civil aeronautics, the national defense, and the postal service. Airport development identified by the plan shall not be limited to the requirements of any classes or categories of public use airports and in reviewing and revising the plan the Secretary shall consider the needs of and consult with all segments of civil aviation.

The Conference substitute also clarifies that the plan should provide for the development of an integrated system of public use airports. To emphasize the importance of this concept, the plan is designated as the National Plan of Integrated Airport Systems.

The concept of Integrated Airport Systems has special application to the metropolitan areas of the country. The basic objective of the Integrated Airport System is to develop a master plan for airport site selection based on the airspace capacity of a given area.

The cornerstone of the Integrated Airport System concept is its emphasis on the development and improvement of reliever airports. These airports not only relieve congestion in our major metropolitan areas by attracting air traffic away from the busier air carrier facilities, but also provide badly needed access to these areas for general aviation. Implementation of a viable reliever system is therefore critically needed to increase the safety and capacity of our national airport system while giving full recognition to the importance of general aviation for the economic development of these areas.

Because the conferees recognize the importance of improving our reliever system without further delay, the Conference Report sets aside a substantial portion of ADAP funds to accomplish these objectives. Accordingly, the Conference Report would fund reliever airports at a minimum of 10 percent of the total funds made available under the ADAP program—an amount which could result in reliever funding at an average of approximately $80 million per year over the 6-year period covered by the legislation.

It is critical that we implement the Integrated Airport System in metropolitan areas at the earliest possible date. The same concepts can be applied to rural areas throughout the U.S. where a number of communities in need of air transportation and airport services could establish an airport authority or by joint powers agreement adopt and implement the integrated airports concept.

The Conference Report includes a number of provisions to ensure that high priority is given to the integrated airport concept. As has been discussed, the National Airport System Plan will now focus on the integrated airport concept, and there will be guaranteed minimum funding for integrated airport system planning. In addition, the policy statements of the Act have been amended to emphasize the importance of this concept and to provide that in establishing priorities for the distribution of funds, the Secretary may give priority to projects that are consistent with integrated airport system plans.[1]

5. NAVIGATION AIDS

Senate amendment:

Under the bill, the Secretary may require a sponsor, as a condition to receiving the grant, to perform certain site preparation work associated with the acquisition, establishment, or improvement of air navigation facilities under section 307(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(b)). This section clarifies that the cost of any such work is to be paid for from appropriated funds made available to the Secretary for airway facilities and equipment.

Conference substitute:

Same as Senate amendment.

6. AIRPORT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Senate amendment:

Authorizes the Secretary to make grants for airport development and planning in aggregate amounts of $450 million for fiscal year 1982; $1,050 million for fiscal years prior to October 1, 1983; $1,843.5 million for the fiscal years prior to October 1, 1984; $2,755.5 million for the fiscal years prior to October 1, 1985; $3,772.5 million for the fiscal years prior to October 1, 1986; and $4,789.7 million for the fiscal years prior to October 1, 1987. This insures that authorizations which are not appropriated from the Trust Fund in any given fiscal year are carried forward.

The Secretary is precluded from incurring obligations for airport development after September 30, 1987, except for apportioned funds which remain available after such date.

[1] For a further discussion of these important concepts, see the remarks of Cong. Don Clausen as printed in the August 9, 1967 Congressional Record, beginning on p. 10234.

The amendment precludes obligation for airport development at any airport that has elected not to receive such Federal assistance under the bill. It also spells out the guidelines for obligations incurred by the Secretary for airport development at privately owned reliever airports.

Finally, the Senate amendment provides for a termination of aviation taxes and the authority of the Secretary to carry out certain programs if the amount made available for airport development grants is less than 85 percent of authorized levels.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate except that there is no provision for airports electing not to receive Federal assistance. Also the provision that the Secretary receive assurances that a privately owned reliever or commercial service airport receiving funds continue to function as a public-use airport during the economic life of the project is modified to require a minimum of ten years for that assurance. The provision relating to termination of taxes was referred to the conferees on the tax portion of the bill.

7. AIRWAY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Senate amendment:

Authorizes appropriations from the Trust Fund for the procurement of air navigational facilities; research, engineering and development activities; payment of a portion of the operation and maintenance costs of the national airspace system; and other activities related to airway improvement.

The authorization for each fiscal year for the acquisition, establishment, and improvement of air navigation facilities remain available in future fiscal years to the extent that appropriations for that fiscal year are less than the authorization. The amounts authorized are $261,000,000 for fiscal year 1982; $725,000,000 for fiscal year 1983 (an aggregate amount of $986,000,000 for fiscal years 1982 and 1983); $1,393,000,000 for fiscal year 1984 (an aggregate amount of $2,379,000,000 for fiscal years 1982 through 1984); $1,407,000,000 for fiscal year 1985 (an aggregate amount of $3,786,000,000 for fiscal years 1982 through 1985); $1,377,000,000 for fiscal year 1986 (an aggregate amount of $5,163,000,000 for fiscal years 1982 through 1986); and $1,164,000,000 for fiscal year 1987 (an aggregate amount of $6,327,000,000 for fiscal years 1982 through 1987).

For research, engineering and development, and demonstration projects the authorizations are $72,000,000 for fiscal year 1982; $134,000,000 for fiscal year 1983; $286,000,000 for fiscal year 1984; $269,000,000 for fiscal year 1985; $215,000,000 for fiscal year 1986; and $193,000,000 for fiscal year 1987. The amounts appropriated are to remain available until expended.

The Senate amendment provides that all FAA operating expenses may be funded from the Trust Fund, and the authorizations from the Trust Fund for operations and maintenance are as follows: $800,000,000 for fiscal year 1982; $1,559,000,000 for fiscal year 1983; $1,355,000,000 for fiscal year 1984; $1,363,000,000 for fiscal year 1985; $1,388,000,000 for fiscal year 1986; and $1,444,000,000 for fiscal year 1987. These funds are mandatorily reduced by a like amount in the succeeding fiscal year to any reductions made in the minimum authorized levels for ADAP or F&E in any fiscal year covered by the bill. From these funds, the Secretary is authorized to reimburse the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for the cost of providing the FAA with weather reporting services. These amounts are limited to the following: $26,700,000 for fiscal year 1983, $28,569,000 for fiscal year 1984, $30,569,000 for fiscal year 1985, $32,709,000 for fiscal year 1986, and $34,998,000 for fiscal year 1987.

In addition the Senate amendment contains provisions similar to those in existing law establishing the priority of the Trust Fund for airport and airway programs, preserving sufficient amounts in the Trust Fund for such programs, and prohibiting the use of the Trust Fund for administrative expenses, except as otherwise provided in the bill.

Finally the Senate amendment places a cap on the total amount of Trust Fund moneys which may be expended in a fiscal year of 75 percent of the FAA's total expenditures for that year.

Conference substitute:

Same as Senate, with the following exceptions:

Of the amounts authorized for research, engineering and development, and demonstration projects, a specified maximum amount is authorized for facilities, engineering and development.

Only direct costs to flight check, operate, and maintain air navigation facilities are included as eligible operating expenses. The amount authorized from the Trust Fund for operations and maintenance is $800,000,000 for fiscal year 1982 and for later years is a multiple of the amount actually made available for airport development, airport planning, and noise abatement. The multiple is 2.44 for fiscal year 1983, 1.57 for fiscal year 1984, 1.39 for fiscal year 1985, 1.28 for fiscal year 1986, and 1.34 for fiscal year 1987.

The amount authorized from the Trust Fund for operations and maintenance for any fiscal year is reduced by twice the amount that authorizations exceed the appropriations for facilities and equipment for that fiscal year.

The 75 percent overall cap in the Senate amendment is not included in the bill.

The Conference Substitute's authorization levels for Facilities and Equipment reflect the funding levels requested by the Administration for funding the first five years of the National Airspace System Plan for modernization of the airways system. Committees in both the House and the Senate have held extensive hearings on the National Airspace System Plan, and the conferees are generally supportive of the Plan. However, many aspects of the Plan cannot be developed or analyzed in detail until implementation begins, and in view of the magnitude and complexity of the Plan it is likely that there will have to be adjustments as the Plan is carried out. Clearly, there will be a need for vigorous oversight and monitoring during the implementation of the Plan.

The conferees believe that the requirements imposed by section 504(b) of the Conference Substitute for the formulation and an annual updating of a National Airways System Plan will be especially useful in facilitating Congressional oversight. Section 504(b) requires an annual review, revision, and republication of the Plan at the beginning of each fiscal year. Each Plan must set forth, for a 10-year period, the research, engineering, and development and the facilities and equipment necessary for an airspace system that provides the highest degree of safety in air commerce.

In implementing the National Airspace System Plan, the Conferees expect that the Secretary will ensure that the rules and regulations issued pursuant to Public Law 89–306 (Brooks Act) are strictly adhered to. This Act is founded upon two basic objectives: (1) ADP resources should be procured as economically and efficiently as possible, using full and open competition; and (2) only those resources should be procured which are needed and which can improve the operation of government programs and activities. The Conferees believe these principles to be sound and if followed will greatly increase the likelihood of success of the plan.

The first two years of each Plan will contain detailed annual estimates of the number, type, location, and costs of required facilities and services, costs of R.E.&D. and manpower levels required. The third, fourth, and fifth years of each Plan will contain the estimates of the total cost of each major program for the three-year period and any additional major research program, acquisitions, and manpower changes required to meet the long-range objectives. Finally, each Plan will contain 10-year investment Plan which addressed the long-range objectives for the airway system.

Beyond this comprehensive annual Plan, the Secretary is required to provide the Congress a detailed annual report on the operation of the national airway system during the previous fiscal year and a review of the year's programs intended to improve safety and efficiency of the system. The annual report must include discussions of any significant problems encountered in the program, a summary of funds committed in each major program area, and a report on amounts appropriated but not expended for such programs. The conferees expect these annual reports to address the problems raised by the General Accounting Office in its report, AFMD–82–66, "Examination of the Federal Aviation Administration's Plan for the National Airspace System."

With active and continued oversight by the House and Senate Committees with jurisdiction in this area, supported by the requirements imposed by section 504(b) modernization of the airway system can proceed with a full understanding and justification of the choices and decisions made.

Funds authorized for research, engineering, and development shall be distributed in accordance with:

Those line items under Facilities Engineering and Development (FE&D) were previously funded from general revenues and are to remain separately identified from Research Engineering and Development (RE&D) which is primarily aimed at accomplishing the National Airspace System (NAS) Plan to modernize the ATC System.

Notwithstanding the purposes for which funds are authorized in the above table, these funds may be used for any other research, development, and demonstration program or project including related or supporting facilities and equipment under section 312(c) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 if notice of such program or project has been given to the Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives; the Committees on Science and Technology, and Appropriations of the U.S. House of Representatives; the President of the Senate; and the Committees on Commerce, Science and Transportation, and Appropriations of the Senate, in a manner containing a full and complete statement of the proposed program or project and the facts and circumstances relied on in support of such program or project, and (1) a period of thirty days has passed after the date such notice was received, or (2) each such Committee has transmitted to the Secretary of Transportation before the expiration of such period written notice that such Committee has no objection to the proposed action.

The Conferees support the intent of the FAA to modernize the Air Traffic Control System through the implementation of the National Airspace System Plan which was produced as directed by the Committee on Science and Technology in H. Res. 202 approved by the House October 19, 1981. Because of the significant technological complexities and costs involved, the Conferees believe it is extremely important that continued oversight be sustained.

In this regard, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration is requested to submit to the House Committee on Science and Technology and the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation, not later than April 1, 1983, and annually thereafter, a report that summarizes activities under the NAS program. This should include, but not be limited to, historical data that compares achievements versus plans in terms of productivity, safety, costs, schedules, and milestones. Modifications of the Plan for subsequent year should also be identified.

8. APPORTIONMENT OF FUNDS

Senate amendment:

Provides an apportionment to primary airports based on an enplanement formula that is the same as in existing law. The amount of ADAP funds made available to primary airports is 55 percent in fiscal year 1982 and 50 percent thereafter. The amount apportioned to each primary airport will be increased by 10 percent in fiscal 1984, 20 percent in fiscal 1985, 25 percent in fiscal 1986, and 30 percent in fiscal 1987. The maximum apportionment to a primary airport is $12,500,000. Passenger enplanements are determined for the preceding calendar year.

The second apportionment is to States for airports other than reliever airports, primary airports, and airports that withdraw from the program. Ten percent of ADAP funds are apportioned to States, with one-half of one percent going to insular areas and the remaining 99.5 percent going to the States (including Puerto Rico) according to a population and area formula. Each State is apportioned an additional amount for each of fiscal years 1984 through 1987, increasing from $150,000 to $240,000 per fiscal year.

Amounts remaining in the Trust Fund shall constitute a discretionary fund.

In addition, the Secretary may apportion amounts to airports in the State of Alaska in the same manner as amounts were apportioned for fiscal year 1980.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate, except:

(1) There is a cap on apportionments to primary airports of 50 percent.

(2) In addition to the maximum apportionment to a primary airport, there is a minimum apportionment of $200,000 per fiscal year.

(3) The apportionment to States is 12 percent of ADAP funds and is for general aviation and reliever airports. One percent is set aside for insular areas, which may also use the money for nonprimary commercial service airports, and 99 percent for States (including Puerto Rico). The additional apportionment to States under the Senate amendment is not included in the conference substitute.

(4) The provision allowing apportionments to airports in Alaska under the 1970 Act is qualified so that not more than 110 percent of the amount so apportioned to a commercial service airport in Alaska is obligated at that airport during the fiscal year from these apportioned funds. In no event shall any primary airport be apportioned less under this paragraph than it would be apportioned under the section governing primary airport apportionments.

The Conferees are concerned about the effect on the discretionary fund of the naming of specific ADAP or Facilities and Equipment projects in legislation or report language. The ADAP program contemplates that a large proportion of funding be available on a discretionary basis. This is the only way that we will be able to build and implement an integrated system of public use airports while addressing project needs which are too large to fit annual enplanement funds or which are urgently needed for safety. It is also the only way that new airports can normally be funded. Similarly, the F&E program must be administered so that funds will go where the safety needs are greatest.

In recent years, the tendency to name specific projects in committee reports has grown more widespread. These named projects threaten to use up discretionary funds so that there will be no real discretion left. For example, in fiscal year 1981, a total of 38 specific ADAP projects were named in DOT Appropriations legislation. Grants to these airports totaled $43.5 million in fiscal year 1981. This practice has the potential of using up a significant portion of the discretionary fund.

The problem becomes particularly acute with the limited availability of funds for the ADAP and F&E programs. It will not be possible to fund all projects seeking ADAP and F&E grants and it will be necessary for the Secretary to establish priorities to determine which projects should be funded. The Conferees expect the Secretary to establish these priorities solely on the basis of the criteria set forth in the authorizing legislation. Projects which qualify for funding and have a high priority under the statutory criteria should not be denied funding in favor of projects which have a lower priority under the statutory criteria but are mentioned in legislative history. The criteria established by the authorizing legislation should not be construed as being overruled or amended during the life of that authorization by other subsequently enacted legislation or legislative history, unless such legislation specifically and expressly amends the authorizing law to establish new criteria or priorities.

9. MINIMUM FUNDING

Senate amendment:

Establishes minimum levels of funding for the following categories of airports:

(1) reliever airports: 10 percent of ADAP funds during the 6-year period of the bill;

(2) each nonprimary commercial service airport that received Federal assistance for fiscal year 1980, for high priority projects: the amount the airport would have been apportioned under the primary apportionment formula for fiscal years 1983–1987, or five times the airport's 1980 apportionment, whichever is greater; and

(3) airports other than relievers or commercial service airports: $300,000,000 for the 6-year period of the bill.

Conference substitute:

Provides the following minimum levels of funding for each fiscal year of the bill:

(1) reliever airports: 10 percent of ADAP funds made available for obligation;

(2) for noise compatibility planning and carrying out noise compatibility programs: 8 percent of ADAP funds made available for obligation;

(3) nonprimary commercial service airports and certain noncommercial service airports that received Federal assistance during fiscal year 1981: 5.5 percent of ADAP funds made available for obligation, an amount which does not include apportionments to airports in Alaska; and

(4) for integrated airport system planning: one percent of ADAP funds made available for obligation.

The Secretary is not required to meet these requirements if there are not enough applications to enable the Secretary to obligate the minimum amount required.

With regard to noise compatibility grants, the Conferees recognize the value of public building soundproofing especially where this type of grant aids in the efficiency of certain essential functions such as education.

Of major concern to the conferees is the financial threat to privately-owned relievers in major metropolitan areas. Large hub areas in particular need such aviation facilities to separate commercial and general aviation traffic, but the land is often more valuable if converted to other commercial uses. In such instances it is important that the Federal Government assist local governments in preserving these essential reliever airports. As a result, for the first time, this bill proposes to fund projects at privately-owned public use airports, which may prove sufficient in some instances. In other instances, these reliever funds could be used to assist in the outright purchase of privately owned relievers. For example, such purchase plans have been discussed for airports in the Chicago area, North Las Vegas, Southern California, and other major metropolitan areas. The conferees expect the Administrator to make every effort to accommodate such needs where they are essential to the maintenance of reliever airports.

10. USE OF APPORTIONED FUNDS

Senate amendment:

Provides the "form of obligation" which the Secretary shall use to obligate apportioned funds, either by project grant or block grant.

Amounts apportioned are available for obligation by grant agreement during the fiscal year for which they were first authorized to be obligated and the 2 fiscal years immediately following.

A sponsor of a primary airport is permitted to use funds apportioned to it at any public airport of the sponsor which is in the NASP. A sponsor of a primary airport may also waive receipt of all or a portion of its funds on condition that the funds be used at another public-use airport in the State or geographical area.

Conference substitute:

Same as Senate, except for deletion of references to block grants. Funds apportioned to a State are made available to general aviation and reliever airports in that State.

11. PROJECT GRANTS: APPLICATION; APPROVAL

Senate amendment:

This section provides some of the requirements which must be set forth in an application for a project grant for airport development or airport planning and requirements which must be met by the Secretary of Transportation before approving such project grant applications.

The provision sets forth who is eligible to apply to the Secretary for a project grant for airport development or airport planning with the proviso that no public agency may submit an application if such submission is prohibited by State law.

This section also provides that within 180 days of enactment a sponsor may submit a project-grant application for any project for which either an application had been filed before September 30, 1980, or if the project was carried out after September 30, 1980, and before enactment of this Act.

Each primary airport is to notify the Secretary of the fiscal year in which it intends to apply for apportioned funds.

The section provides conditions which must be met by the Secretary before project applications for airport planning or development may be approved.

Conference substitute:

Essentially the same as the Senate amendment, except that a condition in the Senate amendment that the Secretary not approve a project unless he is satisfied that the project is consistent with the purposes of the title is not included, and two additional provisions are added: (1) a provision that no environmental impact statement is required for a project if it would allow nonstage 2 aircraft to be replaced with stage 2 aircraft at the airport; and (2) a provision that priority may be given to projects that are consistent with integrated airport system plans.

12. U.S. SHARE OF PROJECT COSTS

Senate amendment:

Provides that, generally, the U.S. share of allowable project costs payable on account of any project funded under this Act shall not exceed 90 percent of allowable project costs.

For primary airports enplaning .25 percent or more of the total number of passengers enplaned annually at all commercial service airports, the U.S. share of allowable cost payable shall not exceed 75 percent of allowable project costs. As in existing law, an increased Federal share is provided for projects in those States in which certain public land acreage exceeds 5 percent of the States total area.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment, except that instead of stating that the U.S. share shall not exceed a certain percentage, the substitute states that the U.S. share shall be that percentage.

13. SPONSORSHIP REQUIREMENTS FOR PROJECT GRANTS

Senate amendment:

Sets forth requirements which must be met by sponsors before project grant applications may be approved. These continue many of the requirements and provisions of section 16 of existing law for certain nondiscrimination, safety and other reporting requirements for airport sponsors which accept Federal funds. Two new provisions were added. One is that airports receiving assistance under this program must dedicate all revenues generated by the airport for the capital operating costs of that airport, the local airport system, or other local facilities which are owned by the owner or operator of the airport and used for the transportation of passengers or property. This provision is designed to ensure that airport systems which are receiving Federal assistance are utilizing all locally generated revenue for the systems which they operate. Airports that are part of a unified ports authority are exempt from this requirement if covenants or assurances in previously issued debt obligations or controlling statutes require that these funds are available for use at other port facilities.

However, airports users should not be burdened with "hidden taxation" for unrelated municipal services.

This provision is not intended to apply to revenue generated by facilities which are located on airport property but are unrelated to air operations or services which support or facilitate air transportation. It would accordingly not apply to revenue generated by such facilities as a water reservoir or a convention center which happen to be located on airport property, but which serve neither the airport nor any air transportation purpose. It would apply to such facilities as terminal concessions and parking lots serving the terminal or other air transportation purposes.

The language regarding "local facilities which are owned or operated by the owner or operator of the airport and used for the transportation of passengers or property" was included to make clear the intent that the requirement would not prohibit the use of revenues for the purpose of retiring indebtedness on consolidated bonds which have been used in some jurisdictions to finance multimodal transportation facilities which are owned or operated by the owner or operator of an airport and used for transportation of passengers or property but which are not themselves airport facilities.

The second new provision relates to land acquired for noise compatability purposes. It requires that when such land is acquired, the sponsor must, at the earliest possible time, and subject to the retention or reservation of the interest or right necessary to ensure that the land is used only for purposes which are compatible with noise levels of the operation of the airport, use it best efforts to dispose of such land. When such land is disposed of the provision requires that the proceeds of the disposition shall be refunded to the United States for the Trust Fund on a basis proportionate to the U.S. share of the cost of acquisition of the land.

The Senate amendment continues existing provisions of law relating to compliance with sponsorship requirements.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate with the following additions:

(1) an assurance that each air carrier using an airport will have the right to service itself or use a fixed-based operator;

(2) an assurance that there will be no exclusive right for the use of an airport by providers of aeronautical services; use of an airport by a single FBO is not to be construed as an exclusive right if it would be unreasonably costly, burdensome, or impractical for more than one FBO to provide the service, and if allowing more than one FBO would require reduction of the existing FBO's leased space;

This provision shall not be construed to allow an airport operator to enter into a lease agreement with a fixed base operator (FBO) which guarantees such FBO an exclusive right to provide aeronautical services on the airport. In addition, it shall not preclude a new FBO from leasing airport property which is not then subject to an existing lease between an airport operator and another FBO.

(3) proceeds from the disposition of land previously acquired for noise compatibility may be reinvested in an approved project.

14. BLOCK GRANTS TO STATES

Senate amendment:

Permits States to apply to the Secretary to distribute the funds apportioned to that State for airport development.

Conference substitute:

No comparable provision.

15. ACCEPTANCE OF CERTIFICATION; CONSULTATION

Senate amendment:

Requires that the Secretary put a maximum reliance on sponsor certification as a means of administering grants, under the bill.

This section also continues the requirement in existing law that airport operators receiving funds consult with parties using the airport prior to undertaking an airport development project.

Conference substitute:

The substitute continues the requirement that in making a decision to undertake airport development under the Act, a sponsor shall undertake reasonable consultations with affected parties using the airport at which the project is proposed. The FAA has implemented this requirement by publishing in the Airport Development Aid Program Handbook an extensive description of such matters as the time at which consultations should take place, and the scope of consultation required to be meaningful. The FAA's description establishes the type of consultation contemplated by the reported bill and should be continued.

With respect to certification, the Secretary is authorized to require a certification from a sponsor that the sponsor will comply with all requirements imposed by the Act. The substitute provides that nothing in the certification provision affects the Secretary's responsibilities under specified Federal laws.

16. GRANT AGREEMENTS

Senate amendment:

This section outlines the duties of the Secretary and the sponsor of a project when grants are approved. The section provides that unless and until an agreement has been executed, the United States may not pay, or be obligated to pay any portion of the costs which have been or may be incurred in connection with a project. Further, the provision requires that the total obligation of the Federal Government may not exceed the amount specified as the maximum Federal obligation in the grant agreement, except in the case of airport development in which case such amount may be increased by 10 percent and by an additional amount equal to 50 percent of any increase in project cost attributable to land acquisition.

Also provides that increases in the maximum obligation of the United States in the case of grants under the 1970 Act may be paid only from funds recovered by the United States under that Act.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate with the clarification that in the case of increased costs attributable to land acquisition, the increase allowed shall be based upon current credible appraisals.

17. PROJECT COSTS

Senate amendment:

Eligible project costs are those associated with carrying out the project, and which are directly connected to the costs of the project. Indirect costs, such as administrative and salary costs, are not permitted to be paid for as a part of the project costs. Costs are eligible if they were incurred after the contract grant agreement was signed and are consistent with the terms of the contract. The act permits funding for the cost of field surveys, preparation of plans and specifications, acquisition of land and other direct costs associated with an airport development or planning project. The Secretary may agree to pay for only those reasonable costs associated with the project. However, the Secretary cannot pay for costs which are in excess of the amount previously agreed to in the contract as the Secretary's share. In the event the Secretary wishes to audit project costs, he is permitted to establish whatever regulations considered necessary to that task.

Terminal development costs are eligible, up to 50 percent of project costs. In the case of a primary airport, not more than 60 percent of the airports apportionment may be used for this purpose, and in the case of a non-primary commercial service airport not more than $200,000 may be used in a fiscal year. These funds can only be approved after all necessary safety, security, passenger enplaning/deplaning facilities, and equipment have been provided at the airport.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate except that a primary airport can use the greater of $200,000 or 60 percent of its apportionment for terminal development. In addition a $25,000,000 cap is placed upon terminal development at commercial service airports which were not eligible for terminal development assistance in fiscal year 1980. Third, the prohibition on funding indirect costs is not included. Finally, the substitute includes a provision continuing the eligibility of costs incurred for the retirement of the principal of bonds issued for terminal development work performed between 1970 and 1976.

18. PAYMENTS UNDER GRANT AGREEMENTS

Senate amendment:

Defines the terms under which advance payments may be made to airport sponsors by the Secretary. This closely follows existing law. The time and amount are to be determined by the Secretary with the total amount committed not to exceed 90 percent of the project cost. The sponsor must certify that advance payments will not exceed allowable project costs. If they do, the sponsor must return the excess to the Secretary. If work for the project is not completed within a reasonable time, the Secretary is entitled to reclaim any part of the advance payment.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment.

19. PERFORMANCE OF CONSTRUCTION WORK

Senate amendment:

Entitles the Secretary to inspect and approve any construction work accomplished with funds obligated under project grants.

The amendment provides that contracts in excess of $2,000 for work under project grants for airport development approved under the bill which involve labor shall comply with the Davis-Bacon Act. The section further provides that Vietnam era and disabled veterans are to be given preference in hiring (with the exception of executive, administrative and supervisory positions). These priority hiring requirements are only enforceable when such individuals are available and qualified to perform the work to which the employment relates.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment.

20. USE OF GOVERNMENT-OWNED LANDS

Senate amendment:

This section closely follows current law. The Secretary is empowered to seek authority from the head of a department or agency having control over certain nonexempted public lands, to turn over to an airport sponsor for the purpose of meeting future airport development needs. The Secretary can reach agreement to transfer the title to, interest in, or an easement of such property or airspace to the airport sponsor. The head of the department or agency must respond to the Secretary's request within 4 months with a decision. If a determination is made that the title to or use of the land by the airport is not inconsistent with the needs of the department or agency, the land can be turned over, with the approval of the U.S. Attorney General, and without cost to the United States.

As in the existing Act, these lands may not include any U.S. owned or controlled national park, forest, monument, recreation area, or other area administered by the National Park Service, the National Wildlife Refuge System, or the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. This exemption also includes Indian reservations.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment.

21. FALSE STATEMENTS

Senate amendment:

This section duplicates section 25 of the present law. It allows for the imprisonment of up to 5 years, or a fine of up to $10,000, or both, for any person who attempts to willfully defraud the United States, by making false statements or representations with respect to the cost, quality, or quantity of material provided in connection with an airport project constructed with Federal funds.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate.

22. ACCESS TO RECORDS

Senate amendment:

This section imposes the same requirements as section 26 of the existing law. Grant recipients are required to keep detailed and complete accounts of all costs and work performed in connection with an airport project in order to facilitate an effective audit.

The Secretary may establish recordkeeping requirements which are considered necessary to ensure an effective audit, and these requirements must be reviewed annually. The Secretary and the Comptroller General of the United States are given authority to examine and audit any records or papers pertinent to grants under the bill.

In the case where an independent audit is performed in association with a Federal project, a certified copy of the audit must be filed with the Comptroller General of the United States within 6 months after the close of the fiscal year in which the audit was made. The Comptroller must make annual reports to Congress on or before April 15 each year with the results of these audits.

Congress is to have access to all information made available to the Secretary and the Comptroller General.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment.

23. GENERAL POWERS

Senate amendment:

This section gives the Secretary General authority to conduct public hearings, investigations and institute those regulations and procedures which he considers necessary to perform his duties under the bill. This duplicates section 27 of existing law.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment.

24. CIVIL RIGHTS

Senate amendment:

This section gives the Secretary authority to promulgate regulations to ensure that no person is discriminated against on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, or sex in connection with the work on a project supported by Federal funds released pursuant to the bill. This language tracks that of section 30 in the present law and is a responsibility in addition to those obligations set out in title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Conference substitute:

Same as Senate amendment.

25. JUDICIAL ENFORCEMENT

Senate amendment:

This section is new and would make clear that the Secretary, acting through the Attorney General, has the right to obtain judicial enforcement against persons who violate the provisions of the bill or the rules, regulations, requirements, or orders issued pursuant thereto.

Conference substitute:

No comparable provision.

This action in no way affects any rights which the Department of Transportation may have to judicial enforcement.

26. VOLUNTARY WITHDRAWAL FROM PROGRAM

Senate amendment:

This section permits any airport to elect not to receive airport development funds. If an airport chooses to defederalize, it remains eligible for Federal assistance for land acquisition and noise abatement.

The provision requires the Secretary of Transportation to conduct a study on whether, and to what extent, those airports which have the ability to finance their capital and operating needs without Federal assistance should remain eligible for airport development funds. The report must be submitted to Congress no later than one year from enactment of this bill. The study must review how a defederalization program might work and how a passenger facility charge might be imposed.

Conference substitute:

The conference substitute retains only the study and report requirements.

27. WAIVER OF OBLIGATIONS

Senate amendment:

This section directs the Secretary to issue procedures pursuant to which airports which no longer receive airport development funds may exercise the airport's option to terminate existing assurances, requirements or contractual obligations that are tied to the acceptance of these funds.

Conference substitute:

No comparable provision.

28. REPEALS; EFFECTIVE DATE; SAVINGS PROVISIONS; SEPARABILITY

Senate amendment:

This section specifies that the effective date of the bill is its date of enactment and that on that date sections 1 through 31 of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 are repealed. It also includes a savings provision to permit certain sections of the 1970 Act to continue in effect under the new bill, including one directed to keeping amounts apportioned before October 1, 1980, available for obligation.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment, except that sections 1 through 30 of the 1970 Act are repealed.

29. REPORT TO CONGRESS ON TRUST FUND

Senate amendment:

This section modifies a provision in the existing law which requires an annual report to Congress on operations under the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 to require only a simple financial statement itemizing the income, obligations, expenditures, and uncommitted balance in the Airport and Airway Trust Fund.

Conference substitute:

Continues the existing annual report.

30. STANDARDS FOR RUNWAY FRICTION

Senate amendment:

This section amends section 612 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 regarding airport operating certificates. In section 612 the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration is directed to impose on certificated airports such conditions and limitations as are determined to be necessary to insure safety in air transportation. This amendment would add grooving and other friction treatment of primary and secondary runways as an item to be considered by the Secretary in making this determination.

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment.

31. EQUAL AERONAUTICAL ACCESS

Senate amendment:

This section of the bill amends section 308 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1349) to continue the same standard of access at any federally assisted airport that exists in current law. The language of the provision is modeled after that which is contained in existing sponsorship agreements now used by Secretary of Transportation in awarding grants-in-aid to federally assisted airports.

Conference substitute:

Deletes Senate provision but adds another provision relating to the exclusive right of use issue, to say that the providing of services at an airport by a single fixed-based operator (FBO) shall not be construed as an exclusive right if it would be unreasonably costly, burdensome, or impractical for more than one FBO to provide the services and if it would require a reduction in the existing FBO's leased space.

32. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS

Senate amendment:

This section provides clarification of definitions for the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979.

Conference substitute:

Contains additional conforming amendments to the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 and technical amendments to other laws.

33. SECURITY SCREENING IN FOREIGN AIR COMMERCE

Senate amendment:

This section extends through fiscal year 1982 existing law that authorizes an appropriation for unreimbursed security costs in international air transportation. Any appropriation made under this section is limited to not more than $9.75 million. The Secretary of Transportation is required to submit a recommendation to the Congress on amounts due specific air carriers under this section.

Conference substitute:

The conference substitute authorizes appropriations of $15 million for reimbursement of security costs. Compensation is to be provided only with respect to amounts expended on or before the 180th day after the date of enactment of the International Air Transportation Competition Act of 1979.

34. SAFETY CERTIFICATION OF AIRPORTS

Senate amendment:

Under current law, the authority of the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration to issue airport operating certificates is limited to airports that are served by air carriers certificated by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). This section substitutes a new standard for airport certification based upon the number of revenue passengers enplaned (2,500 per year) or the size of air carrier aircraft using the facility (more than 30 passenger seats).

Conference substitute:

Same as the Senate amendment except that the only standard for airport certification is the one based on size of aircraft (more than 30 passenger seats).

35. PART-TIME OPERATION OF FLIGHT SERVICE STATIONS

Senate amendment:

The purpose of this provision is to limit the number of Flight Service Stations which may be part-timed or closed from the date of enactment until September 30, 1983, and to provide certain standards for their closure or part-timing thereafter.

Conference substitute:

Essentially the same as the Senate amendment.

36. CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES

Senate amendment:

This section provides that nothing in the Act shall be construed as altering the jurisdiction of the Senate Commerce Committee or the House Public Works Committee over the Airport and Airway Development Program.

Conference substitute:

No comparable provision.

37. CONTRACTING AUTHORITY

Senate amendment:

No provision

Conference substitute:

This section provides that in contracting out for the operation of any airport facility by any State or political subdivision thereof, the Secretary of Transportation is to assure that any contract, lease, or other agreement by which the State or political subdivision would undertake the responsibility for operating an airport facility must contain a provision holding the United States Government harmless from liability for acts or omissions of an employee or agent of the State or subdivision. Thus, for example, the U.S. Government could not be held liable for the action of an employee or agent of a State or political subdivision who has negligently provided air traffic control services which result in an aircraft accident or incident. On the other hand, to the extent an employee or agent of such State or political subdivision was strictly following F.A.A. procedures and the procedures were determined to be at fault rather than their application, the provisions of established tort law applicable to liability of the United States would be undisturbed by this section.

The Farmington, New Mexico, control tower is illustrative of the application of this provision. The control tower is now staffed and operated by private air traffic controllers at approximately half the costs associated with F.A.A. personnel. On October 1, 1982, the F.A.A. plans to staff the tower with F.A.A. controllers for 16 hours a day, 7 days a week, which are the hours of operation under existing contracted services. This provision provides the authority for the City of Farmington to continue the operations of the control tower by private controllers and maintain overall continuity. With the use of F.A.A. funds to pay the costs associated with contracted air traffic control services, the heavy burden of financially supporting the control tower is removed from the City of Farmington.

The Conferees expect that before contracting out for the operation of airport facilities by any State or political subdivision, the F.A.A. will assure that such locality will fully comply with all applicable safety regulations in their operation of such facilities.

38. STUDY OF AIRPORT ACCESS

Senate amendment:

No provision.

Conference substitute:

Provides that the Secretary shall appoint a Task Force of specified government agencies and aviation groups to study the problem of allocating the use of airport facilities and airspace. The Chairman of the Task Force shall be the Chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board. The Task Force shall begin meeting not later than 90 days after enactment and shall complete its study not later than 120 days after the Task Force first meets.

39. K–9 TEAMS

Senate amendment:

No provision.

Conference substitute:

Authorizes the Secretary of Transportation to continue the Explosive Detection K–9 Team Training Program for fiscal years 1981–1987 at an authorized level from the Trust Fund of $130,000 to $150,000 per fiscal year.

40. RELEASE OF CERTAIN DEED RESTRICTIONS

Senate amendment:

No provision.

Conference substitute:

Contains standard provisions giving the Secretary of Transportation authority to grant releases from deed restrictions to four airports: Crystal City, Texas; Brownwood, Texas; Grand Junction, Colorado; and Newport, Arkansas.

41. CONTINUATION OF CERTAIN CERTIFICATES

Senate amendment:

No provision.

Conference substitute:

Extends for 2 years beyond the date of expiration any certificate issued under section 401(d)(8) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, pursuant to the Trans-Atlantic Route Proceeding, or in the California/Southwest-Mexico Route Proceeding.

42. STATE TAXATION

Senate amendment:

No provision.

Conference substitute:

This section provides that States may not tax at a level which unreasonably burdens or discriminates against interstate commerce. The provision makes current law which prohibits the assessment, levying, or collecting of taxes on motor carrier property in a manner different from that of other commercial and industrial property, applicable to air carriers.
