- Do not try to fix what is beyond repair.
- Burn the existing tax code and adopt something that was fair to everyone.
- I believe in the flat tax. If you can afford a yacht, then pay the tax and if you can only afford a dingy, then pay that tax.
- Look at all the Federal Money we could save if we could downsize IRS. OF course, Turbo tax would go out of business and what about all the CPA's?
- I don't see this happening in my life time because those governing my life are spending our money before it is in the coffers rather than after.
- Why we are in debt? If I personally can't manufacture money just because I want to buy something I can't afford, why should the Federal Government!
- As a single woman making a decent salary I pay 26% in taxes because I don't have any debt to write off. I live within my means but it is becoming more and more difficult. I received a bonus in December and 30% was taken out for taxes which is outrageous.
- If I was receiving any benefit that could justify this, then I could rationalize the cost but I receive $0.00 benefit from my government. From my perspective, my government only makes my life more difficult.
- The Federal Government is managing issues that should be in the domain of the States and has become unviable.
- I can empathize with Large Corporations moving out of the USA.
- It is audacious to hear that the President, and he certainly make a lot more than I do, only pays 18%.
- There is something definitely wrong with this picture and yet, somehow we are supposed to save for retirement?
- The rich do get richer and the poor do get poorer and the middle class evaporates.
- Didn't we learn anything from this last depression/recession!
- You need a middle class to keep this great country on an even keel.
- Keep the attorneys away, far away from drafting any new tax code because they just make things complicated. They can't help themselves, it's in the DNA.
